You will be liable for our costs as well as for our reasonable attorneys' fees, to the extent permitted by law, whether incurred as a result of collection or in any other dispute involving your account. This includes, but is not limited to, disputes between you and another joint owner; you and an authorized signer or similar party; or a third party claiming an interest in your account. This also includes any action that you or a third party takes regarding the account that causes us, in good faith, to seek the advice of an attorney, whether or not we become involved in the dispute. All costs and attorneys' fees can be deducted from your account when they are incurred, without notice to you.

(4) Deposits

We will give only provisional credit until collection is final for any items, other than cash, we accept for deposit (including items drawn "on us"). Before settlement of any item becomes final, we act only as your agent, regardless of the form of indorsement or lack of indorsement on the item and even though we provide you provisional credit for the item. We may reverse any provisional credit for items that are lost, stolen, or returned. Unless prohibited by law, we also reserve the right to charge back to your account the amount of any item deposited to your account or cashed for you which was initially paid by the payor bank and which is later returned to us due to an allegedly forged, unauthorized or missing indorsement, claim of alteration, encoding error, counterfeit cashier's check or other problem which in our judgment justifies reversal of credit. You authorize us to attempt to collect previously returned items without giving you notice, and in attempting to collect we may permit the payor bank to hold an item beyond the midnight deadline. Actual credit for deposits of, or payable in, foreign currency will be at the exchange rate in effect on final collection in U.S. dollars. We are not responsible for transactions by mail or outside depository until we actually record them. We will treat and record all transactions received after our "daily cutoff time" on a business day we are open, or received on a day we are not open for business, as if initiated on the next business day that we are open. At our option, we may take an item for collection rather than for deposit. If we accept a third-party check or draft for deposit, we may require any third-party indorsers to verify or guarantee their indorsements, or indorse in our presence.

(5) Withdrawals

Important Terms for Accounts Where More Than One Person Can Withdraw. Unless clearly indicated otherwise on the account records, any of you, acting alone, who signs to open the account or has authority to make withdrawals may withdraw or transfer all or any part of the account balance at any time. Each of you (until we receive written notice to the contrary) authorizes each other person who signs or has authority to make withdrawals to indorse any item payable to you or your order for deposit to this account or any other transaction with us.

Postdated Checks. A postdated check is one which bears a date later than the date on which the check is written. We may properly pay and charge your account for a postdated check even though payment was made before the date of the check, unless we have received written notice of the postdating in time to have a reasonable opportunity to act. Because we process checks mechanically, your notice will not be effective and we will not be liable for failing to honor your notice unless it precisely identifies the number, date, amount and payee of the item.

Checks and Withdrawal Rules. If you do not purchase your check blanks from us, you must be certain that we approve the check blanks you purchase. We may refuse any withdrawal or transfer request which you attempt on forms not approved by us or by any method we do not specifically permit. We may refuse any withdrawal or transfer request which is greater in number than the frequency permitted by our policy, or which is for an amount greater or less than any withdrawal limitations. We will use the date the transaction is completed by us (as opposed to the date you initiate it) to apply any frequency limitations. In addition, we may place limitations on the account until your identity is verified.

Even if we honor a nonconforming request, we are not required to do so later. If you violate the stated transaction limitations (if any), in our discretion we may close your account or reclassify your account as another type of account. If we reclassify your account, your account will be subject to the fees and earnings rules of the new account classification.

If we are presented with an item drawn against your account that would be a "substitute check," as defined by law, but for an error or defect in the item introduced in the substitute check creation process, you agree that we may pay such item.

Cash Withdrawals. We recommend you take care when making large cash withdrawals because carrying large amounts of cash may pose a danger to your personal safety. As an alternative to making a large cash withdrawal, you may want to consider a cashier's check or similar instrument. You assume full responsibility of any loss in the event the cash you withdraw is lost, stolen, or destroyed. You agree to hold us harmless from any loss you incur as a result of your decision to withdraw funds in the form of cash.

Multiple Signatures, Electronic Check Conversion, and Similar Transactions. An electronic check conversion transaction is a transaction where a check or similar item is converted into an electronic fund transfer as defined in the Electronic Fund Transfers regulation. In these types of transactions the check or similar item is either removed from circulation (truncated) or given back to you. As a result, we have no opportunity to review the signatures or otherwise examine the original check or item. You agree that, as to these or any items as to which we have no opportunity to examine the signatures, you waive any requirement of multiple signatures.

Notice of Withdrawal. We reserve the right to require not less than 7 days' notice in writing before each withdrawal from an interest-bearing account, other than a time deposit or demand deposit, or from any other savings deposit as defined by Regulation D. (The law requires us to reserve this right, but it is not our general policy to use it.) Withdrawals from a time account prior to maturity or prior to any notice period may be restricted and may be subject to penalty. See your separately provided notice of penalty for early withdrawal.

(6) Ownership of Account and Beneficiary Designation

These rules apply to this account depending on the form of ownership and beneficiary designation, if any, specified on the account records. We reserve the right to refuse some forms of ownership and beneficiary designations on any or all of our accounts unless otherwise prohibited by law. We make no representations as to the appropriateness or effect of the ownership and beneficiary designations, except as they determine to whom we pay the account funds.

Single-Party Account. Such an account is owned by one party.

Multiple-Party Account. Such an account is payable on request to one or more of two or more parties, whether or not a right of survivorship is mentioned.

Multiple-Party Account - Tenancy by the Entireties. The account is owned by two parties who are married to each other and hold the account as tenants by the entirety.

(7) Rights at Death

Single-Party Account. At the death of a party, ownership passes as part of the party's estate.

Multiple-Party Account With Right of Survivorship. At death of party, ownership passes to the surviving party or parties.

Multiple-Party Account Without Right of Survivorship. At death of party, deceased party's ownership passes as part of deceased party's estate.

Single-Party Account With Pay-on-Death Designation. At death of the party, ownership passes to the designated pay-on-death beneficiaries and is not part of the party's estate.

Multiple-Party Account With Right of Survivorship and Pay-on-Death Designation. At death of last surviving party, ownership passes to the designated pay-on-death beneficiaries and is not part of the last surviving party's estate.

(8) Business, Organization, and Association Accounts

Earnings in the form of interest, dividends, or credits will be paid only on collected funds, unless otherwise provided by law or our policy. You represent that you have the authority to open and conduct business on this account on behalf of the entity. We may require the governing body of the entity opening the account to give us a separate authorization telling us who is authorized to act on its behalf. We will honor the authorization until we actually receive written notice of a change from the governing body of the entity.

(9) Stop Payments

The rules in this section cover stopping payment of items such as checks and drafts. Rules for stopping payment of other types of transfers of funds, such as consumer electronic fund transfers, may be established by law or our policy. If we have not disclosed these rules to you elsewhere, you may ask us about those rules.

We may accept an order to stop payment on any item from any one of you. You must make any stop-payment order in the manner required by law, it must be made in a signed and dated writing, and we must receive it in time to give us a reasonable opportunity to act on it before our stop-payment cutoff time. Because the most effective way for us to execute a stop-payment order is by using an automated process, to be effective, your stop-payment order must precisely identify the number, date, and amount of the item, and the payee.

You may stop payment on any item drawn on your account whether you sign the item or not. Your stop-payment order is effective for six months. Your order will lapse after that time if you do not renew the order in writing before the end of the six-month period. We are not obligated to notify you when a stop-payment order expires.

If you stop payment on an item and we incur any damages or expenses because of the stop payment, you agree to indemnify us for those damages or expenses, including attorneys' fees. You assign to us all rights against the payee or any other holder of the item. You agree to cooperate with us in any legal actions that we may take against such persons. You should be aware that anyone holding the item may be entitled to enforce payment against you despite the stop-payment order.

Our stop-payment cutoff time is one hour after the opening of the next banking day after the banking day on which we receive the item. Additional limitations on our obligation to stop payment are provided by law (e.g., we paid the item in cash or we certified the item).

(10) Telephone Transfers

A telephone transfer of funds from this account to another account with us, if otherwise arranged for or permitted, may be made by the same persons and under the same conditions generally applicable to withdrawals made in writing. Limitations on the number of telephonic transfers from a savings account, if any, are described elsewhere.

(11) Amendments and Termination

We may amend or delete any term of this agreement. We may also add new terms to this agreement. In addition, we may suspend, modify, convert, or terminate a service, convert this account to another account type, or close this account for any reason. For any of these types of changes, we will give you reasonable notice in writing by any reasonable method including by mail, by any electronic communication method to which you have agreed, on or with a periodic statement, or through any other method permitted by law. If we close the account, we will tender the account balance to you or your agent personally, by mail, or by another agreed upon method.

Reasonable notice depends on the circumstances, and in some cases, such as when we cannot verify your identity or we suspect fraud, it might be reasonable for us to give you notice after the change becomes effective. For instance, if we suspect fraudulent activity with respect to your account, and if we deem it appropriate under the circumstances and necessary to prevent further fraud, we might immediately freeze or close your account and then give you notice.

Unless otherwise indicated in the notice of change, if we have notified you of a change to your account, and you continue to have your account after the effective date of the change, you have accepted and agreed to the new or modified terms. You should review any change in terms notice carefully as the notice will provide important information of which you may need to be aware.

We reserve the right to waive any term of this agreement. However, such waiver shall not affect our right to enforce the term at a later date.

If you request that we close your account, you are responsible for leaving enough money in the account to cover any outstanding items or transactions to be paid from the account. Once any outstanding items or transactions are paid, we will close the account and tender the account balance, if any, to you or your agent personally, by mail, or by another agreed upon method.

Any items and transactions presented for payment after the account is closed may be dishonored. Any deposits we receive after the account is closed may be returned. We will not be liable for any damages for not honoring any such debits or deposits received after the account is closed.

Note: Rules governing changes in interest rates are provided separately in the Truth-in-Savings disclosure or in another document. In addition, for changes governed by a specific law or regulation, we will follow the specific timing and format notice requirements of those laws or regulations.

(12) Correction of Clerical Errors

Unless otherwise prohibited by law, you agree, if determined necessary in our reasonable discretion, to allow us to correct clerical errors, such as obtaining your missing signature, on any account documents or disclosures that are part of our agreement with you. For errors on your periodic statement, please refer to the Statements section.

(13) Notices

Any written notice you give us is effective when we actually receive it, and it must be given to us according to the specific delivery instructions provided elsewhere, if any. We must receive any notice in time to have a reasonable opportunity to act on it. If a notice is regarding a check or other item, you must give us sufficient information to be able to identify the check or item, including the precise check or item number, amount, date and payee. Notice we give you via the United States Mail is effective when it is deposited in the United States Mail with proper postage and addressed to your mailing address we currently have on file. Notice we give you through your email of record, or other electronic method to which you agreed, will be treated as delivered to you when sent. Notice to any of you is notice to all of you.

(14) Statements

Your Duty to Report Unauthorized Signatures (Including Forgeries and Counterfeit Checks) and Alterations on Checks and Other Items. You must examine your statement of account with "reasonable promptness." If you discover (or reasonably should have discovered) any unauthorized signatures (including forgeries and counterfeit checks) or alterations, you must promptly notify us of the relevant facts. As between you and us, if you fail to do either of these duties, you will have to either share the loss with us, or bear the loss entirely yourself (depending on whether we used ordinary care and, if not, whether we substantially contributed to the loss). The loss could be not only with respect to items on the statement but other items with unauthorized signatures or alterations by the same wrongdoer.

You agree that the time you have to examine your statement and report to us will depend on the circumstances, but will not, in any circumstance, exceed a total of 30 days from when the statement is first sent or made available to you.

You further agree that if you fail to report any unauthorized signatures or alterations in your account within 60 days of when we first send or make the statement available, you cannot assert a claim against us on any items in that statement, and as between you and us the loss will be entirely yours. This 60-day limitation is without regard to whether we used ordinary care. The limitation in this paragraph is in addition to that contained in the first paragraph of this section.

Your Duty to Report Other Errors or Problems. In addition to your duty to review your statements for unauthorized signatures and alterations, you agree to examine your statement with reasonable promptness for any other error or problem - such as an encoding error or an unexpected deposit amount. Also, if you receive or we make available either your items or images of your items, you must examine them for any unauthorized or missing indorsements or any other problems. You agree that the time you have to examine your statement and items and report to us will depend on the circumstances.

© 2023 Wolters Kluwer Financial Services, Inc.
All rights reserved.

However, this time period shall not exceed 60 days. Failure to examine your statement and items and report any errors to us within 60 days of when we first send or make the statement available precludes you from asserting a claim against us for any errors on items identified in that statement and as between you and us the loss will be entirely yours.

Errors Relating to Electronic Fund Transfers or Substitute Checks (For consumer accounts only). For information on errors relating to electronic fund transfers (e.g., online, mobile, debit card or ATM transactions) refer to your Electronic Fund Transfers disclosure and the sections on consumer liability and error resolution. For information on errors relating to a substitute check you received, refer to your disclosure entitled Substitute Checks and Your Rights.

Duty to Notify if Statement Not Received. You agree to immediately notify us if you do not receive your statement by the date you normally expect to receive it. Not receiving your statement in a timely manner is a sign that there may be an issue with your account, such as possible fraud or identity theft. Absent a lack of ordinary care by us, a failure to receive your statement in a timely manner does not extend the time you have to conduct your review under this agreement.

(15) Reimbursement of Federal Benefit Payments

If we are required for any reason to reimburse the federal government for all or any portion of a benefit payment that was directly deposited into your account, you authorize us to deduct the amount of our liability to the federal government from the account or from any other account you have with us, without prior notice and at any time, except as prohibited by law. We may also use any other available legal remedy to recover the amount of our liability.

(16) Temporary Account Agreement

If the account documentation indicates that this is a temporary account agreement, each person who signs to open the account or has authority to make withdrawals (except as indicated to the contrary) may transact business on this account. However, we may at some time in the future restrict or prohibit further use of this account if you fail to comply with the requirements we have imposed within a reasonable time.

(17) Setoff

We may (without prior notice and when permitted by law) set off the funds in this account against any due and payable debt any of you owe us now or in the future. If this account is owned by one or more of you as individuals, we may set off any funds in the account against a due and payable debt a partnership owes us now or in the future, to the extent of your liability as a partner for the partnership debt. If your debt arises from a promissory note, then the amount of the due and payable debt will be the full amount we have demanded, as entitled under the terms of the note, and this amount may include any portion of the balance for which we have properly accelerated the due date.

This right of setoff does not apply to this account if prohibited by law. For example, the right of setoff does not apply to this account if: (a) it is an Individual Retirement Account or similar tax-deferred account, or (b) the debt is created by a consumer credit transaction under a credit card plan (but this does not affect our rights under any consensual security interest), or (c) the debtor's right of withdrawal only arises in a representative capacity. We will not be liable for the dishonor of any check when the dishonor occurs because we set off a debt against this account. You agree to hold us harmless from any claim arising as a result of our exercise of our right of setoff.

(18) Check Processing

We process items mechanically by relying almost exclusively on the information encoded in magnetic ink along the bottom of the items. This means that we do not individually examine all of your items to determine if the item is properly completed, signed and indorsed or to determine if it contains any information other than what is encoded in magnetic ink. You agree that we have exercised ordinary care if our automated processing is consistent with general banking practice, even though we do not inspect each item. Because we do not inspect each item, if you write a check to multiple payees, we can properly pay the check regardless of the number of indorsements unless you notify us in writing that the check requires multiple indorsements.

We must receive the notice in time for us to have a reasonable opportunity to act on it, and you must tell us the precise date of the check, amount, check number and payee. We are not responsible for any unauthorized signature or alteration that would not be identified by a reasonable inspection of the item. Using an automated process helps us keep costs down for you and all account holders.

(19) Check Cashing

We may charge a fee for anyone that does not have an account with us who is cashing a check, draft or other instrument written on your account. We may also require reasonable identification to cash a check, draft or other instrument. We can decide what identification is reasonable under the circumstances and such identification may be documentary or physical and may include collecting a thumbprint or fingerprint.

(20) Truncation, Substitute Checks, and Other Check Images

If you truncate an original check and create a substitute check, or other paper or electronic image of the original check, you warrant that no one will be asked to make payment on the original check, a substitute check or any other electronic or paper image, if the payment obligation relating to the original check has already been paid. You also warrant that any substitute check you create conforms to the legal requirements and generally accepted specifications for substitute checks. You agree to retain the original check in conformance with our policy for retaining original checks. You agree to indemnify us for any loss we may incur as a result of any truncated check transaction you initiate. We can refuse to accept substitute checks that have not previously been warranted by a bank or other financial institution in conformance with the Check 21 Act. Unless specifically stated in a separate agreement between you and us, we do not have to accept any other electronic or paper image of an original check.

(21) Remotely Created Checks

Like any standard check or draft, a remotely created check (sometimes called a telecheck, preauthorized draft or demand draft) is a check or draft that can be used to withdraw money from an account. Unlike a typical check or draft, however, a remotely created check is not issued by the paying bank and does not contain the signature of the account owner (or a signature purported to be the signature of the account owner). In place of a signature, the check usually has a statement that the owner authorized the check or has the owner's name typed or printed on the signature line.

You warrant and agree to the following for every remotely created check we receive from you for deposit or collection: (1) you have received express and verifiable authorization to create the check in the amount and to the payee that appears on the check; (2) you will maintain proof of the authorization for at least 2 years from the date of the authorization, and supply us the proof if we ask; and (3) if a check is returned you owe us the amount of the check, regardless of when the check is returned. We may take funds from your account to pay the amount you owe us, and if there are insufficient funds in your account, you still owe us the remaining balance.

(22) Unlawful Internet Gambling Notice

Restricted transactions as defined in Federal Reserve Regulation GG are prohibited from being processed through this account or relationship. Restricted transactions generally include, but are not limited to, those in which credit, electronic fund transfers, checks, or drafts are knowingly accepted by gambling businesses in connection with the participation by others in unlawful Internet gambling.

(23) ACH and Wire Transfers

This agreement is subject to Article 4A of the Uniform Commercial Code - Fund Transfers as adopted in the state in which you have your account with us. If you originate a fund transfer and you identify by name and number a beneficiary financial institution, an intermediary financial institution or a beneficiary, we and every receiving or beneficiary financial institution may rely on the identifying number to make payment. We may rely on the number even if it identifies a financial institution, person or account other than the one named. You agree to be bound by automated clearing house association rules. These rules provide, among other things, that payments made to you, or originated by you, are provisional until final settlement is made through a Federal Reserve Bank or payment is otherwise made as provided in Article 4A-403(a) of the Uniform Commercial Code. If we do not receive such payment, we are entitled to a refund from you in the amount credited to your account and the party originating such payment will not be considered to have paid the amount so credited. Credit entries may be made by ACH. If we receive a payment order to credit an account you have with us by wire or ACH, we are not required to give you any notice of the payment order or credit.

(24) International ACH Transactions

Financial institutions are required by law to scrutinize or verify any international ACH transaction (IAT) that they receive against the Specially Designated Nationals (SDN) list of the Office of Foreign Assets Control (OFAC). This action may, from time to time, cause us to temporarily suspend processing of an IAT and potentially affect the settlement and/or availability of such payments.

(25) Facsimile Signatures

Unless you make advance arrangements with us, we have no obligation to honor facsimile signatures on your checks or other orders. If we do agree to honor items containing facsimile signatures, you authorize us, at any time, to charge you for all checks, drafts, or other orders, for the payment of money, that are drawn on us. You give us this authority regardless of by whom or by what means the facsimile signature(s) may have been affixed so long as they resemble the facsimile signature specimen filed with us, and contain the required number of signatures for this purpose. You must notify us at once if you suspect that your facsimile signature is being or has been misused.

(26) Convenience Account Agent (Single-Party Accounts only)

A convenience account, as defined by Florida law, means a deposit account other than a certificate of deposit, in the name of one individual, in which one or more individuals have been designated as agent with the right to make deposits to and withdraw funds from or draw checks on such account on the owner's behalf. A single individual is the owner, and the agent is merely designated to conduct transactions on the owner's behalf. The owner does not give up any rights to act on the account, and the agent may not in any manner affect the rights of the owner or beneficiaries, if any, other than by withdrawing funds from the account. The owner is responsible for any transactions of the agent. We undertake no obligation to monitor transactions to determine that they are on the owner's behalf. The owner may terminate the agency at any time, and the agency is automatically terminated by the death of the owner. However, we may continue to honor the transactions of the agent until: (a) we have received written notice or have actual knowledge of the termination of agency, and (b) we have a reasonable opportunity to act on that notice or knowledge. We may refuse to accept the designation of a convenience account agent.

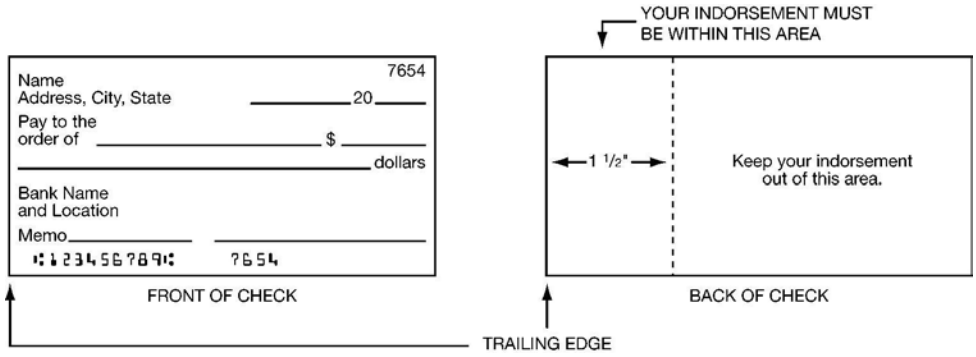
(27) Restrictive Legends or Indorsements

The automated processing of the large volume of checks we receive prevents us from inspecting or looking for restrictive legends, restrictive indorsements or other special instructions on every check. For this reason, we are not required to honor any restrictive legend or indorsement or other special instruction placed on checks you write unless we have agreed in writing to the restriction or instruction. Unless we have agreed in writing, we are not responsible for any losses, claims, damages, or expenses that result from your placement of these restrictions or instructions on your checks. Examples of restrictive legends placed on checks are "must be presented within 90 days" or "not valid for more than $1,000.00." The payee's signature accompanied by the words "for deposit only" is an example of a restrictive indorsement.

(28) Account Transfer



This account may not be transferred or assigned without our prior written consent.

(29) Indorsements

We may accept for deposit any item payable to you or your order, even if they are not indorsed by you. We may give cash back to any one of you. We may supply any missing indorsement(s) for any item we accept for deposit or collection, and you warrant that all indorsements are genuine.

To ensure that your check or share draft is processed without delay, you must indorse it (sign it on the back) in a specific area. Your entire indorsement (whether a signature or a stamp) along with any other indorsement information (e.g., additional indorsements, ID information, driver's license number, etc.) must fall within 1 1/2" of the "trailing edge" of a check. Indorsements must be made in blue or black ink, so that they are readable by automated check processing equipment.

As you look at the front of a check, the "trailing edge" is the left edge. When you flip the check over, be sure to keep all indorsement information within 1 1/2" of that edge.

It is important that you confine the indorsement information to this area since the remaining blank space will be used by others in the processing of the check to place additional needed indorsements and information. You agree that you will indemnify, defend, and hold us harmless for any loss, liability, damage or expense that occurs because your indorsement, another indorsement, or information you have printed on the back of the check obscures our indorsement. These indorsement guidelines apply to both personal and business checks.

(30) Death or Incompetence

You agree to notify us promptly if any person with a right to withdraw funds from your account(s) dies or is adjudicated (determined by the appropriate official) incompetent. We may continue to honor your checks, items, and instructions until: (a) we know of your death or adjudication of incompetence, and (b) we have had a reasonable opportunity to act on that knowledge. You agree that we may pay or certify checks drawn on or before the date of death or adjudication of incompetence for up to ten (10) days after your death or adjudication of incompetence unless ordered to stop payment by someone claiming an interest in the account.

(31) Fiduciary Accounts

Accounts may be opened by a person acting in a fiduciary capacity. A fiduciary is someone who is appointed to act on behalf of and for the benefit of another. We are not responsible for the actions of a fiduciary, including the misuse of funds. This account may be opened and maintained by a person or persons named as a trustee under a written trust agreement, or as executors, administrators, or conservators under court orders. You understand that by merely opening such an account, we are not acting in the capacity of a trustee in connection with the trust nor do we undertake any obligation to monitor or enforce the terms of the trust or letters.

(32) Credit Verification

You agree that we may verify credit and employment history by any necessary means, including preparation of a credit report by a credit reporting agency.

(33) Legal Actions Affecting Your Account

If we are served with a subpoena, restraining order, writ of attachment or execution, levy, garnishment, search warrant, or similar order relating to your account (termed "legal action" in this section), we will comply with that legal action as required by applicable law. However, nothing in this agreement shall be construed as a waiver of any rights you may have under applicable law with regards to such legal action. Subject to applicable law, we may, in our sole discretion, choose to freeze the assets in the account and not allow any payments or transfers out of the account, or take other action as may be appropriate under the circumstances, until there is a final court determination regarding the legal action. We may do these things even if the legal action involves less than all of you. In these cases, we will not have any liability to you if there are insufficient funds to pay your items because we have withdrawn funds from your account or in any way restricted access to your funds in accordance with the legal action and applicable law. Any fees or expenses we incur in responding to any legal action (including, without limitation, attorneys' fees, and our internal expenses) may be charged against your account, unless otherwise prohibited by applicable law. The list of fees applicable to your account(s) - provided elsewhere - may specify additional fees that we may charge for responding to certain legal actions.

(34) Account Security

Your Duty to Protect Account Information and Methods of Access. Our policy may require methods of verifying your identity before providing you with a service or allowing you access to your account. We can decide what identification is reasonable under the circumstances. For example, process and identification requirements may vary depending on whether they are online or in person. Identification may be documentary or physical and may include collecting a fingerprint, voiceprint, or other biometric information.

It is your responsibility to protect the account numbers and electronic access devices (e.g., an ATM card) we provide you for your accounts. You should also safeguard your username, password, and other access and identifying information when accessing your account through a computer or other electronic, audio, or mobile device or technology. If you give anyone authority to access the account on your behalf, you should exercise caution and ensure the trustworthiness of that agent. Do not discuss, compare, or share information about your account numbers with anyone unless you are willing to give them full use of your money. An account number can be used by thieves to issue an electronic debit or to encode your number on a false demand draft which looks like and functions like an authorized check. If you furnish your access device or information and grant actual authority to make transfers to another person (a family member or coworker, for example) who then exceeds that authority, you are liable for the transfers unless we have been notified that transfers by that person are no longer authorized. Your account number can also be used to electronically remove money from your account, and payment can be made from your account even though you did not contact us directly and order the payment.

You must also take precaution in safeguarding your blank checks. Notify us at once if you believe your checks have been lost or stolen. As between you and us, if you are negligent in safeguarding your checks, you must bear the loss entirely yourself or share the loss with us (we may have to share some of the loss if we failed to use ordinary care and if we substantially contributed to the loss).

Positive Pay and Other Fraud Prevention Services. Except for consumer electronic fund transfers subject to Regulation E, you agree that if we offer you services appropriate for your account to help identify and limit fraud or other unauthorized transactions against your account, and you reject those services, you will be responsible for any fraudulent or unauthorized transactions which could have been prevented by the services we offered. You will not be responsible for such transactions if we acted in bad faith or to the extent our negligence contributed to the loss. Such services include positive pay or commercially reasonable security procedures. If we offered you a commercially reasonable security procedure which you reject, you agree that you are responsible for any payment order, whether authorized or not, that we accept in compliance with an alternative security procedure that you have selected. The positive pay service can help detect and prevent check fraud and is appropriate for account holders that issue a high volume of checks, a lot of checks to the general public, or checks for large dollar amounts.

(35) Instructions From You

Unless required by law or we have agreed otherwise in writing, we are not required to act upon instructions you give us via facsimile transmission, email, voicemail, or phone call to a facsimile number, email address, or phone number not designated by us for a particular purpose or for a purpose that is unrelated to the request or instruction.

(36) Monitoring and Recording Telephone Calls and Account Communications

Subject to federal and state law, we may monitor or record phone calls for security reasons, to maintain a record, and to ensure that you receive courteous and efficient service. You consent in advance to any such recording.

To provide you with the best possible service in our ongoing business relationship for your account, we may need to contact you about your account from time to time by telephone, text messaging, or email. In contacting you about your account, we may use any telephone numbers or email addresses that you have previously provided to us by virtue of an existing business relationship or that you may subsequently provide to us.

You acknowledge that the number we use to contact you may be assigned to a landline, a paging service, a cellular wireless service, a specialized mobile radio service, other radio common carrier service, or any other service for which you may be charged for the call. You acknowledge that we may contact you by voice, voicemail, or text messaging. You further acknowledge that we may use pre-recorded voice messages, artificial voice messages, or automatic telephone dialing systems.

If necessary, you may change or remove any of the telephone numbers, email addresses, or other methods of contacting you at any time using any reasonable means to notify us.

(37) Claim of Loss

The following rules do not apply to a transaction or claim related to a consumer electronic fund transfer governed by Regulation E (e.g., an everyday/one-time consumer debit card or ATM transaction). The error resolution procedures for consumer electronic fund transfers can be found in our initial Regulation E disclosure generally titled, "Electronic Fund Transfers." For other transactions or claims, if you claim a credit or refund because of a forgery, alteration, or any other unauthorized withdrawal, you agree to cooperate with us in the investigation of the loss, including giving us an affidavit containing whatever reasonable information we require concerning your account, the transaction, and the circumstances surrounding the loss. You will notify law enforcement authorities of any criminal act related to the claim of lost, missing, or stolen checks or unauthorized withdrawals. We will have a reasonable period of time to investigate the facts and circumstances surrounding any claim of loss. Unless we have acted in bad faith, we will not be liable for special or consequential damages, including loss of profits or opportunity, or for attorneys' fees incurred by you. You agree that you will not waive any rights you have to recover your loss against anyone who is obligated to repay, insure, or otherwise reimburse you for your loss. You will pursue your rights or, at our option, assign them to us so that we may pursue them. Our liability will be reduced by the amount you recover or are entitled to recover from these other sources.

(38) Early Withdrawal Penalties (and involuntary withdrawals)

We may impose early withdrawal penalties on a withdrawal from a time account even if you don't initiate the withdrawal. For instance, the early withdrawal penalty may be imposed if the withdrawal is caused by our setoff against funds in the account or as a result of an attachment or other legal process. We may close your account and impose the early withdrawal penalty on the entire account balance in the event of a partial early withdrawal. See your separately provided notice of penalty for early withdrawal for additional information.

(39) Changes in Name and Contact Information

You are responsible for notifying us of any change in your name, address, or other information we use to communicate with you. Unless we agree otherwise, notice of such a change must be made in writing. Informing us of your address or name change on a check reorder form is not sufficient. We will attempt to communicate with you only by use of the most recent information you have provided to us. If provided elsewhere, we may impose a service fee if we attempt to locate you.

(40) Resolving Account Disputes

We may place an administrative hold on the funds in your account (refuse payment or withdrawal of the funds) if it becomes subject to a claim adverse to (1) your own interest; (2) others claiming an interest as survivors or beneficiaries of your account; or (3) a claim arising by operation of law. The hold may be placed for such period of time as we believe reasonably necessary to allow a legal proceeding to determine the merits of the claim or until we receive evidence satisfactory to us that the dispute has been resolved. We will not be liable for any items that are dishonored as a consequence of placing a hold on funds in your account for these reasons.

(41) Waiver of Notices

To the extent permitted by law, you waive any notice of non-payment, dishonor or protest regarding any items credited to or charged against your account. For example, if you deposit an item and it is returned unpaid or we receive a notice of nonpayment, we do not have to notify you unless required by federal Regulation CC or other law.

FIRST PORT CITY BANK

BUSINESS ONLINE BANKING & Master Cash Management Agreement

Rev 6-2024

The following information represents the Business Online Banking and Master Cash Management Agreement between City of Fernandina Beach FL (collectively, "Customer", "you", "your", "yours") and First Port City Bank ("Financial Institution," "we," "our," "ours"), dated _____, 20____ . This Master Agreement, including, as applicable, any related Authorization Form, the signature card, rate and fee schedule, and any applicable Product Schedule and other instructions and the terms and conditions contained herein relating to specific Services that may be provided in connection herewith (collectively, this "Master Agreement"), sets forth the terms and conditions governing the provision of Online Banking and Cash Management Services to you or anyone authorized by you and describes your and our rights, responsibilities and obligations. The Authorization Form for Online Banking and Cash Management Services is attached hereto as Exhibit "A" and is made an integral part of this Master Agreement. By completing and signing the Authorization Form, and/or using one or more of the Services, Customer agrees to, and shall be bound by, the terms, conditions, and provisions in this Master Agreement, including those for each Service the Customer has selected. Financial Institution, in its sole discretion, may not permit Customer to use the Service until Financial Institution has determined that Customer has accepted or executed the applicable documentation and otherwise provided appropriate information and specifications for the use of the Service, and until Financial Institution has had a reasonable opportunity to review the Authorization Form and activate the Service. In any event, Customer agrees that the use by Customer of any Service shall, without any further action or execution or acceptance of any documentation on the part of Customer, constitute Customer's acceptance of and agreement to Financial Institution's terms and conditions for the use of such Service as may be in effect as of the time of such usage, whether set forth in this Master Agreement, any applicable Product Schedule or otherwise prescribed by Financial Institution. In the event of a conflict between the terms of this Master Agreement and those of any Authorization Form, or Product Schedule, the terms of the Authorization Form, or Product Schedule as applicable, shall govern and control with respect to the Service at issue. To activate the Service, you must have at least one Account with us linked to the Service.

Therefore, in consideration of the mutual promises contained herein and other good and valuable consideration, the receipt and sufficiency of which is hereby acknowledged, you and Financial Institution, intending to be legally bound, do hereby agree as follows:

1. Definitions.

The following terms and definitions apply when used in this Master Agreement.

1.1. "Access Device" means access equipment, including but not limited to a personal computer or a Mobile Device that meets the requirements for use of the Service.

1.2. "Access Device System" means all software, hardware, Access Devices, or other equipment necessary to access the Services.

1.3. "Account" or "Accounts" means one or more checking, savings, money market deposit or loan account that you have with us.

1.4. "Account Access" means your ability to access account and transaction information on Accounts and transfer funds between Accounts through the Internet.

1.5. "Account Agreement" means the agreement between you and us that governs the use of your Account including the deposit account agreement, any funds availability agreement, electronic funds transfer agreement or disclosure, line of credit agreement, and our schedule of fees and charges.

1.6. "Authorization Form" means the Authorization for Online Banking and Cash Management Services form attached hereto as Exhibit "A."

1.7. "Bill Payment Account" means the Account(s) you have authorized us to debit for payment made to Payee(s) in connection with the Online Banking Service.

1.8. "Bill Payment Service" means our service available through Online Banking that allows you to pay or transfer funds to designated Payees based upon your instructions to us, via an Access Device.

1.9. "Bill Payment" or "Payment" means the remittance of funds, initiated through Online Banking Service, from a Bill Payment Account to a Payee.

1.10. "Biometric Logon" means an authentication method to assist in verifying your identity through collecting your unique facial or fingerprint image (image capture) or your voice characteristics (audio capture).

1.11. "Business Day(s)" means 09:00 a.m. to 04:30 p.m. ET (Standard or Daylight) Monday through Friday. Federal Holidays are not included. Some online transaction deadlines may vary from this definition.

1.22. "Transfer Day" means Monday - Friday, to 4:00 p.m., ET (Standard or Daylight). Federal holidays are not included.

Other definitions may be set forth elsewhere in this Master Agreement.

2. Setup and Use of Online Access Services.

2.1. Eligibility.

To have access to the Services you must be an authorized user of the Software you select, if required for use with the Equipment. You must also have at least one eligible deposit account with us. If you have more than one Account, you will have access through the Service to the Accounts you specify on the Authorization Form. If you specify more than one Account on the Authorization Form, we will "link" the Accounts together. Accounts which are "linked" under the Services will have one common owner and signer. Any signer, acting alone, must be authorized to access a linked account. Any non-linked account will not be accessible through the Service. Financial Institution may un-link any Account with or without notice in its sole discretion. Prior to your first use of Online Banking, Financial Institution will assign you a Username and Temporary Password, Biometric Logon, and/or other means of authentication approved by Financial Institution (collectively referred to as the "Access Code(s)"), required to gain access to Online Banking. The Online Banking system will ask you to change your Password the first time that you use the system.

"Eligible Accounts" include the following:

1. Checking (Demand Deposit) Accounts
2. Savings Accounts
3. Money Market Accounts
4. Loans
5. Certificates of Deposit

2.2. Security Procedure.

The use of the Access Code, in addition to other authentication methods described below, is a security procedure established by Financial Institution to authenticate the identity of the person attempting to gain access to the Service. The security procedure is not designed for the detection of errors. We may require you to change your Access Code from time to time for security reasons. You should keep your Access Code in a secure location. Any person having access to your Access Code will be able to access these Services and perform all transactions, including reviewing Account information and making Transfers to other Accounts and to other persons. You are responsible for safeguarding the Access Codes. Providing these Access Codes to another person effectively constitutes a grant of authority to access your accounts.

You agree to comply with the "Security Procedures" and any other Security Procedures Financial Institution directs you to use, and you acknowledge and agree that the Security Procedures, including (without limitation) any Access Code, password, personal identification number, user identification technology, multifactor token ("Security Device"), certificate, layered security, or other element, means, or method of authentication or identification used in connection with a Security Procedure, constitute commercially reasonable security procedures under applicable law for the initiation of the Services you utilize, including without limitation, transfers and access to confidential information. You authorize us to follow all instructions entered and transactions initiated using applicable Security Procedures unless and until you have notified us, according to notification procedures prescribed by us, that the Security Procedures or any Security Device has been stolen, compromised, or otherwise become known to persons other than you or your representative(s) and until we have had a reasonable opportunity to act upon such notice. You agree that the initiation of a transaction or instructions using applicable Security Procedures constitutes sufficient authorization for Financial Institution to execute such transaction or instruction notwithstanding any particular designation by you of authorized persons or signature requirements identified on any signature card or other documents relating to your deposit account maintained with Financial Institution, and you agree and intend that the submission of transactions and instructions using the Security Procedures shall be considered the same as your authorized written signature in authorizing us to execute such transaction or instruction. You acknowledge and agree that you shall be bound by all transactions initiated using such Security Procedures, whether authorized or unauthorized, and by all transactions and activity otherwise initiated by you, to the fullest extent allowed by law. You further acknowledge and agree that the Security Procedures are not designed to detect error in the transmission or content of communications or transaction initiated by you and that you bear the sole responsibility for detecting and preventing such error.

2.2.1. You agree to appoint and designate an administrator (the "Administrator") who will be authorized and responsible for creating and maintaining subsequent Usernames, Passwords, and tokens on your behalf, including assigning and revoking access privileges for persons to use the Service, ("User") and providing new and subsequent Security Devises to those Users. Financial Institution will provide Customer's designated Administrator, through United States postal mail, secure email and/or phone call as selected by Financial Institution at Financial Institution's option, with a User ID number and Password, and tokens to be distributed by the Administrator to each User with respect to one or more of the Services. Customer understands that the Administrator has the capability of providing administrative privileges identical to that of the Administrator to any User, including the ability to create and maintain subsequent User accounts and assigning and revoking access privileges. If these privileges are granted by the Administrator to a User, that User will also be considered an Administrator. Customer will be required to use the Security Device each time it accesses ACH, Remote Deposit (RDC) and/or Wire Services. Customer acknowledges that any Administrator shall have the ability to control security levels such as Service access and Service transaction limits, including without limitation the ability to assign dollar amount limits to transfers of funds. You also agree that the Administrator shall also have the authority on behalf of Customer to electronically accept and approve all agreements and amendments to agreements by and between Financial Institution and Customer, including but not limited to this Master Agreement.

2.2.2. You agree to keep all Security Procedures and Security Devices protected, secure, and strictly confidential and to provide or make available the same only to your authorized representative(s). You agree not to disclose or provide any Security Procedures or Security Devices to any unauthorized person. You also agree that Users shall not share Security Devices with each other. Where you can change or modify a Security Procedure from time to time (e.g., a password or Username), you agree to change those frequently to ensure the integrity of the Security Device. You agree to notify us immediately, according to notification procedures prescribed by us, if you believe that any Security Procedures or Security Device have been stolen, compromised, or otherwise become known to persons other than you or your authorized representative(s) or if you believe that any transaction or activity is unauthorized or in error. In the event of any actual or threatened breach of security, we may issue you a new Security Device or establish new Security Procedures as soon as reasonably practicable, but we shall not be liable to you or any third party for any delay in taking such actions. You agree to indemnify, defend all claims, and hold Financial Institution harmless from any loss, damages, or expenses, including but not limited to attorney's fees, caused by you, your employees', or agents' failure to keep the Security procedures or Security Device confidential and secure.

2.2.3. You agree to notify us immediately, according to notification procedures prescribed by us, if the authority of any authorized representative(s) shall change or be revoked. You shall recover and return to us any Security Devices in the possession of any of your authorized representative(s) whose authority to have the Security Device has been revoked.

2.2.4. We reserve the right to modify, amend, supplement, or cancel any or all Security Procedures, and/or to cancel or replace any Security Device, at any time and from time to time in our discretion. We will endeavor to give you reasonable notice of any change in Security Procedures; if we may make any change in Security Procedures without advance notice to you if we, in our judgment and discretion, believe such change to be necessary or desirable to protect the security of our systems and assets. Your implementation and use of any changed Security Procedures after any change in Security Procedures shall constitute your agreement to the change and your agreement that the applicable Security Procedures, as changed, are commercially reasonable and adequate for the purposes intended.

The Financial Institution will provide access to services selected by the Customer from time to time during the term of this Agreement subject to the terms stated in this document and, where applicable, the ACH Rules. The list of available services from which the Customer may select is detailed in the Customer Setup Questionnaire (Schedule A). You will designate in the fields provided in Schedule A the Services you are selecting as of the date of this Agreement. You may select additional Services or delete Services, but no such selection or deletion shall be operative until such time as we have received written notice of your election to add or delete Services and you have executed such supplemental agreements, if applicable, as we may deem appropriate. We will have a reasonable time after receipt of such notice to implement the requested Service. Supplemental agreements relating to the Services selected by the Customer shall be executed concurrently with this Agreement, or at such later time as additional Services are requested.

Services are generally accessible 24 hours a day, seven days a week, except that the Services may be inaccessible for a reasonable period daily for system maintenance. We are not liable under this Master Agreement or any applicable Product Schedule for failure to provide access due to a system failure or due to other unforeseen acts. We may modify, suspend, or terminate access to the Services at any time and for any reason without notice or refund of fees you have paid. The Financial Institution may change the terms and conditions of this Master Agreement or any applicable Product Schedule from time to time to conform with changes or advancements in our services, or as required by law or regulation. All such changes will be made according to the procedures outlined in Section 9.10. The use of Online Banking after the effective date of such changes will constitute your consent to the changes.

2.4. Equipment and Software Requirements.

To use the Services, you must first obtain your own personal Access Device with Internet connection capability and related equipment (the "Hardware"). You also must provide the type of Internet access required by the Hardware and/or Software, which requires a web browser with Java scripting capabilities and 128-bit SSL encryption. Also recommended is an internet connection speed of Cable, DSL, T1 or higher. , with one of the following supported browsers: Microsoft, Goggle Chrome, Firefox or Safari

Once the Hardware has been properly connected and any required Internet access has been established, you will be able to access the Services. You are and will remain solely responsible for the purchase, hookup, installation, loading, operation and maintenance of the Hardware, Software, and the Internet access service to your Access Device, and for all related costs. You are solely responsible for virus protection and maintenance of your Access Device. Financial Institution shall have no responsibility for failures, interruption, or other defects in the Services, which are occasioned by incompatible, improperly installed or improperly maintained hardware and software. The Financial Institution may add to, modify, or replace software programs used in conjunction with providing the Services under this Master Agreement or any applicable Product Schedule at its sole discretion and without notice, provided Services rendered to you are not substantially negatively affected or obligations altered. From time to time the Financial Institution may deem it necessary to provide training or retraining classes for you. You agree that you will require appropriate personnel to participate in such training. All rights, title and interest in and to (a) any and all software, including, but not limited to, the object and source codes therefore, and any and all updates, upgrades, fixes and enhancements thereto, together with any and all documentation, user guides and instructions pertaining thereto (everything in this clause (a), collectively, "Software"), and (b) any and all users guides, instructions and other documentation provided to, or used by, you in connection with the Services (everything in this clause (b) collectively, the "Documentation") shall be, and remain, the property of Financial Institution or any third party Software provider, as applicable. Unless otherwise expressly authorized, you may not (a) copy, reproduce, transmit, retransmit, disseminate, display, publish, sell, broadcast, circulate, distribute, transfer, assign, commercially exploit, reverse engineer, revere compile or create derivative works of, the Software in any form or (b) copy, reproduce, transmit, retransmit, disseminate, display, publish, sell, broadcast, circulate, distribute, transfer, assign, commercially exploit the Documentation.

3. Business Online Access Services.

3.1. Available Services.

Business Customers may use the Services to:

1. Make transfers between Accounts you may have with us.
2. Make Payments to a Payee from your Account(s) (Bill Payment Service).
3. Obtain Account balances. Your account balance is generally current as of 9:00 a.m. EST (Standard or Daylight) of each Business Day but may not include current transactions (such as checks cashed by a teller on the Business Day). In addition, your account balance may show funds that have been credited to your account but are not yet available for withdrawal.
4. Review recent transactions in your Accounts.
5. Transfer money to make loan payments.
6. Transfer money from Line of Credit to transactional accounts.
7. Communicate directly with Financial Institution via the Online Banking Secure Mail center.
8. Download account information in various formats.
9. Issue stop payment orders.
10. View check images.
12. Use the Bill Payment Service.
13. *Originate ACH entries.
14. *Subscribe to and use Positive Pay Services.
15. *Subscribe to and use Lockbox Services.

16. *Initiate Wire Transfer requests.
17. *Subscribe to and use Remote Deposit Capture
18. Utilize other services made available by Financial Institution from time to time

These activities are limited to the extent noted herein and, in the agreements, governing your various accounts with us.

*You must execute the applicable Product Schedules and be approved by the Financial Institution to use these services.

3.2. Additional Services.

Information about new services may be obtained from our website at www.firstportcity.com Not all the products or services described on the Financial Institution's website are available in all geographic areas. Therefore, you may not be eligible for all the products or services described. We reserve the right to determine your eligibility for any product or service. By using these services when they become available, you agree to be bound by the terms and conditions contained in this Master Agreement or separate agreements covering these services.

3.3. Restrictions; Limits.

In most cases you may use Online Banking to gain access to deposit accounts in which you have an unrestricted right to withdraw funds. However, the Financial Institution, as it may determine at any time and from time to time in its sole discretion, may deny Online Banking account access, restrict Online Banking account transactions, or place limits on the specific dollar amount of funds that may be withdrawn or transferred from any account.

3.4. Vendor.

You acknowledge and agree that the Service can be provided by an independent third-party service provider ("Vendor") as selected by Financial Institution, and that both the Vendor and the Service are subject to change from time to time without notice to you. You further acknowledge, agree, and stipulate that the Vendor is an independent contractor providing software and data transmission services and is not your agent or Financial Institution's agent. Neither the Financial Institution nor the Vendor is responsible for the actions or omissions of the other.

We will use reasonable efforts to make the Service available for your use on a continuous basis. The Service may be unavailable for short periods of time for regular or emergency system maintenance. We will endeavor to have our scheduled maintenance occur during non-peak hours. In addition, accessibility to the Service may be interrupted because of conditions beyond our control, including outages in Internet, cellular or other communications availability. We will use diligent efforts to re-establish the Services as promptly as possible. We do not promise the Service will always be available for your use. We may elect to discontinue this Service at any time. If we choose to discontinue the Service, we will provide you with reasonable notice in advance of that fact. We always reserve the right to take action to protect our systems and information, including denial of access to users of the Service.

4. Other Services and Additional Information.

4.1. Account Access.

Transfers and Payments from your Account will be deducted on the date you instruct us to process them. If the date you schedule a Transfer or Payment falls on a weekend or holiday, we will process your transaction the next Transfer Day. We may refuse to act on your Transfer instructions or Payment request if sufficient funds, including funds available under any overdraft protection plan, are not available in your Account on the date you want us to make the Transfer or Payment.

4.2. Processing Fund Transfers.

We can process a Transfer until 4:00 p.m. ET (Standard or Daylight) on a Transfer Day. If you request a Transfer after the cutoff time, the Transfer will be processed the following Transfer Day. If you schedule a Transfer for a future date, we will process the transaction after the close of business on that date, if that day is a Transfer Day.

You are fully obligated to us to provide sufficient funds for any payments or transfers you make or authorize to be made. If we complete a payment or transfer that you make or authorize and we subsequently learn that you have insufficient funds for the transaction, you agree that we may reverse the transaction or offset the shortage with funds from any other deposit account(s) you have with us to the extent permissible by the applicable law and the terms of any other relevant agreements.

If there are insufficient funds in your Account to make a Transfer or Payment, we may refuse to make the Transfer or Payment or we may make the Transfer or Payment and overdraw your Account. In either event, you are responsible for any non-sufficient funds ("NSF") charges that may apply.

4.3. Canceling Transfers or Payments.

You may cancel a pending Transfer or Payment transaction. However, to do so, we must receive your instructions to cancel prior to the cutoff time on the Transfer Day the transaction is scheduled to be processed. If we don't receive your instruction to cancel a transaction before that time, we may process the transaction.

4.4. Transfer(s) from Savings/Money Market Deposit Accounts.

Federal regulations no longer require us to limit, either by contract or in practice, the number of certain types of transfers from savings and money market deposit accounts.

4.5. E-Mails.

The Financial Institution will not immediately receive e-mails that you send. Therefore, you should not rely on e-mail if you need to communicate with the Financial Institution immediately. For example, if you need to stop payment on a check, to report a lost or stolen card, or to report an unauthorized transaction from one of your accounts, you should contact the Financial Institution immediately by calling the Online Banking Department (see Section 9.6). E-mail messages sent to the Financial Institution may not be secure. Do not send e-mail to the Financial Institution that contains any personal, non-public information. The Financial Institution will not act based on your e-mail requests until the Financial Institution receives your message and has a reasonable opportunity to act.

4.6. Overdrafts: Order of Payments, Transfers, and Other Withdrawals.

If funds are withdrawn from any of your accounts by means of electronic funds transfers, other than through Online Banking on the same business day as an Online Banking transaction, and if the account contains insufficient funds to enable both the electronic funds transfer and the Online Banking transfer to be made, then the electronic funds transfer will have priority and the Online Banking transfer will be refused or will result in an overdraft on your account. This is at the Financial Institution's sole discretion.

4.7. Bill Payment Service.

4.7.1. You can arrange, at your option, for the payment of your current, future, and recurring bills from your designated Bill Pay Account. For Bill Payment Service, your Payee list may include utility companies, merchants, financial institutions, insurance companies, individuals, etc. within the United States whom you wish to pay through Bill Payment Service. The Service maintains relationships with thousands of companies and manages their contact information for you. If the address or contact information changes, the companies contact the Service directly. If you search for a Company you wish to pay in the application and no results are found, you must enter the contact information manually. You must include the full name of the Payee and a complete mailing address and telephone number for each Payee, along with your account number with the Payee, the amount of the Payment, and whether the Payment is recurring. The Financial Institution reserves the right to decline to make Payments to certain persons and entities. You agree that Payments to Billers outside the United States or its territories are prohibited through the Service. Payments for taxes, Payments that are court-ordered, and government Payments are discouraged and must be scheduled at your own risk. For recurring Payments, it is the responsibility of the account owner or designated authorized users to update Payee account information such as address changes, account numbers, etc.

Payments are posted against your ledger balance, plus the available credit on your overdraft protection, if any, or other line of credit.

4.7.2. The earliest possible Scheduled Payment Date for each Payee (typically four (4) or fewer Business Days from the current date) will be designated within the application when you are scheduling the payment. Therefore, the application will not permit you to select a Scheduled Payment Date less than the earliest possible Scheduled Payment Date designated for each Payee. When scheduling payments, you must select a Scheduled Payment Date that is no later than the actual Due Date reflected on your Biller statement unless the Due Date falls on a non-Business Day. If the actual Due Date falls on a non-Business Day, you must select a Scheduled Payment Date that is at least one (1) Business Day before the actual Due Date. Scheduled Payment Dates must be prior to any late date or grace period. The Service offers Rush Delivery for an additional fee. Information about pricing is available within the system when Rush Delivery is selected.

You may schedule Payments to be initiated on a future date or on the same date of each month. Changes to previously scheduled Payments must be made before 5:00 p.m. ET (Standard or Daylight) the Business Day before the day it is to be initiated. If the transaction shows an (IN PROCESS) status, then the Payment cannot be modified or deleted. Although you can enter Payment information through the Service twenty-four (24) hours a day, seven (7) days a week, the Financial Institution only initiates on Business Days. Funds must be available in your Account on the scheduled payment date. After funds are withdrawn from your Account to make a Payment, we may make the Payment either by transferring funds electronically to the Payee or by mailing the Payee a check. If the Payment is sent electronically, the money is withdrawn from your account one business day after processing begins. If the company or person cannot receive electronic payments, we print a check and mail it to the address you provide. For some checks, the money is withdrawn one business day after processing begins. For others, the money is withdrawn when the company or person deposits or cashes the check. The Bill Payment Service will indicate whether a Payee is paid electronically or by check.

When you create a new Payee in the Bill Payment service, it has a temporary status until we have had sufficient time to set up the account and, for your business Payees, verify information about your account. The Bill Payment service may provide a calendar feature that estimates the expected date of delivery of a scheduled Payment. This feature is an estimate only and not a guarantee of Payment delivery on that date. You should schedule a Payment to a new Payee at least three (3) Business Days before any Payment due date, to allow us time to set up the Payee and verify information about your account with the Payee. Financial Institution is not liable for any service fees or late charges levied against you due to postal delays or processing delays by the Payee. There is no limit on the number of Payees or number of Payments that may be authorized. Financial Institution may, in its sole discretion, establish maximum payment amounts and aggregate daily limits. Electronic Payments are subject to the availability of sufficient funds in the designated checking account. However, Financial Institution reserves the right to impose limits at some future date, with proper written notice. You acknowledge and agree that if you describe a Payee inconsistently by name and account number, scheduled Bill Payment transactions to the Payee will occur based on the account number, even if it identifies a person other than the named Payee.

For all subsequent Payments, you agree to allow at least one to three (1-3) Business Days for electronic payments and at least three to five (3-5) Business Days for check payments between the date you schedule a Payment to be initiated and the Payment due date (that is, the due date shown on your invoice or provided in your agreement with the payee, not taking into account any applicable grace period). If you do not, you will be fully responsible for all late fees, finance charges or other actions taken by the Payee. If you schedule your Payment and follow all instructions provided, and the Payment is not received by the Payee in a timely manner, a representative of Financial Institution will work with the Payee on your behalf to have any late fees or charges reversed.

When you schedule a Bill Payment that will be made by check, you authorize us to issue a check drawn on your qualified designated checking account for the requested amount. If sufficient funds are not available in your designated account when the check is presented for payment, we may refuse to honor the check and return it unpaid. At our sole discretion, we may elect to pay the check regardless of the insufficient funds. In either event, your qualified designated account will be charged our then current fee for processing insufficient items, whether the check is paid or returned, as applicable. You are responsible for any loss or penalty that you may incur due to a lack of sufficient funds or other conditions that may prevent the withdrawal of funds from your account.

4.7.3. If Payment is to be made electronically and your Account does not have sufficient funds to make a Payment as of the date the transfer or Payment is attempted or scheduled to be made, the Transfer or Payment will be canceled, and no further attempt will be made by Financial Institution to make the Transfer or Payment. Financial Institution shall have no obligation or liability if it does not complete a Transfer or Payment because there are insufficient funds in your account to process a transaction. In all cases, you are responsible for either making alternate arrangements for the Payment or rescheduling the Payment through the Service. In the case of recurring Payments, only the Payment currently scheduled will be canceled. Recurring Payments scheduled for future dates will not be affected.

4.7.4. Recurring Payments and Transfers are those made for the same amount, on the same date, on a weekly, bi-monthly, monthly basis, etc. Once started, recurring Payments and Transfers will be made automatically until you delete the Payment or Transfer or upon expiration. If the Payment is not a recurring Payment, it will be a "one-time Payment." One-time Payments do not recur and are not made until you enter the Payee and amount of the current bill and submit the Payment. A recurring Bill Payment Service check transaction that you want deleted must be deleted or the next Payment date changed five (5) Business Days before the desired Deliver By date. If the recurring payment is sent electronically, you must cancel the recurring model one (1) business day before the Deliver By date.

A stop payment cannot be placed on an Electronic Bill Payment transaction once issued. However, a stop payment can be placed on a Bill Payment transaction by Bill Payment check any time prior to 4:00 p.m. ET (Standard or Daylight) the business day before such check is scheduled for final payment.

There is no fee for deleting a Payment initiated through Bill Payment; however, a fee will apply for a stop on a Bill Payment check.

In the event a Payment is returned to us for any reason, you authorize us, in our sole and absolute discretion, to either research and correct the Payment information or to void the Payment and re-credit your Account.

4.7.5. If you do not schedule or process a Payment via the Bill Payment Service for any three (3) month period, we may terminate your Bill Payment Service. If you close your Bill Payment Account, or if we terminate your Bill Payment Service, your online bill payment information will be lost and all pending payments will be cancelled. If you decide to terminate the Bill Payment Service, you agree to cancel all future bill payments at the same time you cancel your Bill Payment Service, either by deleting those payments yourself using the Bill Payment Service or by calling us. This will ensure that future payments made by you will not be duplicated. We will automatically delete all outstanding payment orders (all one-time Payments and all Recurring Payments) once your Bill Payment Service has been terminated. Termination of the Bill Payment Service will not automatically close your Accounts and will not affect your obligations arising from past Bill Payment transactions.

4.8. Mobile Banking

4.8.1. The Mobile Banking Service is similar to Online Banking Service and refers generally to any service allowing an existing customer to access and view Accounts from a web-enabled mobile phone or device ("Mobile Device") whose network allows secure SSL traffic and supports WAP browsers. We do not guarantee the functionality of the Service on all wireless devices or networks; however, generally, the Service should be compatible with any web-enabled mobile phone or other Mobile Device, regardless of make, model, or mobile service provider. This proprietary solution adapts to any screen size and can change dynamically to present items on any screen in a pleasing format. The Mobile Banking Service allows you to view transaction history, view Account balances, view account transaction history, transfer funds between Accounts, pay bills to payees, view alerts and, if you have selected the Mobile Remote Deposit (or Remote Deposit) Service, remotely make deposits. In most cases you may use the Service to gain access to deposit accounts in which you have an unrestricted right to withdraw funds. However, the Financial Institution, as it may determine at any time and from time to time in its sole discretion, may deny Service account access, restrict Service account transactions, or place limits on the specific dollar amount of funds that may be withdrawn or transferred from any account. We will not be responsible for any errors or failures from any malfunction of your Mobile Device, or any malicious software or other problems related to the Mobile Device used with our Services. From time to time, we may develop additional mobile banking services. As we develop such services, you will have the opportunity to add them to your Mobile Banking Service, provided you have compatible wireless hardware and software.

4.8.2. To use the Service, you must have an open account at the Financial Institution, register for Online Banking Services, and have a compatible Mobile Device. During the registration process, you will enter your mobile phone number as well as other information we require to authenticate your identity. You will be provided with further instructions on how to access the Service using a software application ("App") or the browser on your Mobile Device. During this registration process, you will be required to provide your Online Banking Service identification credentials ("Access Code") that you must use each time you access the Service.

4.8.3. In addition to other Security Procedures provided for in this Agreement, the use of the Access Code, your Mobile Device, and Biometric Logon are security procedures established by Financial Institution to authenticate the identity of the person attempting to gain access to the Service. Biometric Logon is an authentication method to assist in verifying your identity. It collects your facial or fingerprint (image capture), or your voice biometric (audio recording). The security procedure is not designed for the detection of errors. We may require you to change your Access Code from time to time for security reasons. You should keep your Access Code in a secure location. Any person having access to your Access Code or your Biometric Logon will be able to access these Services and perform all transactions, including reviewing Account information and using the Bill Pay Services. With this Access Code, a third party will be able to use your Online Banking Service to add new payees to the Bill Pay Service. You are responsible for safeguarding the Access Codes, including your Biometric Logon, and your Mobile Device. Providing these Access Codes or Biometric Logon to another person effectively constitutes a grant of authority to access your accounts.

4.8.4. Because the Mobile Banking Service is similar to Online Banking Service on a PC, there are security risks associated with the use of the Service. The hardware and software that you use in connection with the Service may be subject to unauthorized tracking or other manipulation by spyware or other malicious code. We are not responsible for advising you of the existence or potential effect of such malicious code, and your use of your hardware and software is at your own risk. We will use commercially reasonable efforts to secure the Service to prevent access by unauthorized persons and to prevent the introduction of any malicious code, such as an Access Device virus. However, no security system is failsafe, and despite our efforts the security of the Service could be compromised, or malicious code could be introduced by third parties. We will provide you with notice if your information is the subject of a security breach as required by applicable law.

4.9. Mobile Deposit Service.

4.9.1. If you are enrolled in the Mobile Deposit Service and you have been approved by the Financial Institution to use the Service, the following terms and conditions are applicable to the Mobile Deposit Service. Your use of Financial Institution's Mobile Deposit Service ("Mobile Deposit Service") is governed by the terms of this Agreement. You acknowledge that e-mail and/or messages displayed on your mobile device will be the primary means of communication for the Mobile Deposit Service. You are responsible for maintaining a current e-mail address and you agree that you will, in a timely manner, review messages and notifications you receive from us and check your Account to confirm it reflects recent activity.

4.9.2. The Mobile Deposit Service allows you to use the Mobile Banking Apps to make deposits to your accounts from home or other remote locations; by taking photos of the front and back of original checks and transmitting the digital images ("images") and associated deposit information to us or our processor with your Mobile Device. To use the Mobile Deposit Service, you must be designated as an authorized signer or owner of an Account that is eligible for this Mobile Deposit Service or be designated by the Administrator and be approved by the Financial Institution.

4.9.3. We may establish per item transaction, daily, and monthly limits on the dollar amount and/or number of Check Images or Mobile Deposits from time to time. The daily and monthly limits are over Business Days and calculated based on your total Mobile Deposit activity across all the Accounts that you use with this service. If you attempt to initiate a Mobile Deposit exceeding these limits, we may reject your Mobile Deposit and you may deposit the check(s) in a manner consistent with other methods for making deposits provided by the Financial Institution (such as at a branch or ATM or by mail). If we permit you to make a Mobile Deposit exceeding these limits, such Mobile Deposit will still be subject to the terms of this Agreement, and we will not be obligated to allow such a Mobile Deposit at other times. Your dollar deposit limit will be disclosed to you at the time that you make the Mobile Deposit. Financial Institution reserves the right to change the limits. Any such change shall be effective immediately and may be implemented prior to your receipt of notice thereof.

4.9.4. Upon acceptance of the Mobile Deposit, Financial Institution shall grant your Account Provisional Credit (as herein defined) for the total amount of the Mobile Deposit or the accepted Mobile Deposit, as applicable. As used herein, "Provisional Credit" means that when we post transactions to your account, the credit is made to your Account subject to final payment of the Checks and subject to the terms of the Deposit Agreement. To determine availability of funds, Financial Institution may hold funds for the period of time permitted by Financial Institution's funds availability disclosure. Mobile Deposit funds are generally available the next Business Day after the Business Day of your deposit unless a hold is placed. If a hold is placed, you will be notified.

4.9.5. You hereby agree that you will only scan and deposit a check(s) as that term is defined in Federal Reserve Board Regulation CC ("Reg CC"). You agree that the image of the check that is transmitted to Financial Institution (each such check and other item a "Check" and, if more than one, "Checks") shall be deemed an "item" within the meaning of Article 4 of the Uniform Commercial Code (1990 Official Text). You further agree that you will not use the Mobile Deposit Service to deposit any Checks or other items that: (a) are payable to any person or entity other than you, (b) are prohibited by Financial Institution's then current Procedures pertaining to the Mobile Deposit Service or are in violation of any law, rule or regulation, (c) you know or suspect, or should know or suspect, is fraudulent or otherwise not authorized by the owner of the account on which the Check is drawn, (d) have not been previously endorsed by a financial institution and are either "substitute checks" (as defined in Reg CC or other applicable federal law or regulation) or "image replacement documents" that purport to be substitute checks, without Financial Institution's prior express written consent, (e) are drawn on financial institutions that are located outside of the United States or Territories of the United States, and (f) are not acceptable to Financial Institution for deposit into a deposit account as provided in the Deposit Agreement, which is incorporated herein by reference and made a part hereof (Checks described in clauses (a) through (g) each a "Prohibited Check" and, collectively, "Prohibited Checks"). If you deposit a Prohibited Check, you agree to indemnify and reimburse Financial Institution for, and hold Financial Institution harmless from and against, all losses, costs, and expenses (including reasonable attorneys' fees) Financial Institution may incur associated with any warranty, indemnity or other claim related thereto. Furthermore, if, after first having obtained Financial Institution's express written consent to do so, you provide Financial Institution with an electronic representation of a substitute check for deposit into an Account instead of an original Check, you agree to indemnify and reimburse Financial Institution for, and hold Financial Institution harmless from and against, any and all losses, costs and expenses (including reasonable attorney's fees) Financial Institution incurs because any such substitute check resulting from such electronic representation does not meet applicable substitute check standards and/or causes duplicate payments.

4.9.6. Each image must provide all information on the front and back of the original Check at the time presented to you by the drawer (the person or entity from whose account the Check was written), including, but not limited to, information about the drawer and the paying financial institution that is preprinted on the original Check, MICR information, signature(s), any required identification written on the front of the original Check and any endorsements applied to the back of the original Check. The image quality must meet the standards established by the American National Standards Institute, the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve, and any other regulatory agency, clearing house or association.

4.9.7. Endorsements must be made on the back of the Check and include (i) your signature, (ii) your account number and (iii) the following statement: "MOBILE DEPOSIT at First Port City Bank ONLY."

4.9.8. You acknowledge and agree that you shall be liable to us for any loss we incur caused by a delay or processing error resulting from an irregular endorsement or other markings placed on the Check by you.

4.9.9. All images processed for deposit through Mobile Deposit will be treated as "deposits" under your current Deposit Account Agreement with us and will be subject to all terms of the Deposit Account Agreement and any amendments to such Agreement. To be eligible for processing on the day transmitted, Mobile Deposits must be received and accepted by Financial Institution on or before 4:00 p.m. EST or other cut-off time established by Financial Institution from time to time (the "Cut-Off Time") on a Business Day that the Financial Institution is open. A Mobile Deposit that is received after the cut-off time shall be deemed to have been received on the Business Day following the Business Day on which the Mobile Deposit is received by Financial Institution. When we receive an image, we will confirm that you have submitted the image via a message displayed on your Mobile Device. Your submission confirmation does not mean that the image contains no errors or that it has been approved for crediting. A status of "pending" does not indicate that the submitted item has been accepted. You will not receive a subsequent notification that a submitted image has been credited to your Account. You agree that Financial Institution has no obligation to accept a Mobile Deposit and, therefore, we reserve the right to reject any Mobile Deposit or the Images or other information contained therein transmitted through this Service, at our discretion, without liability to you. If your submission is rejected, you will receive an e-mail of such rejection from the Financial Institution. It is your responsibility to check notifications from the Financial Institution for any rejected submissions and contact the Financial Institution to address the reason for such rejection. You acknowledge and agree that Financial Institution shall have no liability to you for failing to provide notice of rejection of a Mobile Deposit. You agree that you shall be solely liable for, and Financial Institution shall not have any liability whatsoever to you for, any Mobile Deposit or the Images or other information contained therein that are not received by Financial Institution. You also agree to be liable for Mobile Deposits or the Images or other information contained therein that are intercepted or altered by an unauthorized third party or dropped during transmission.

4.9.10. Original Checks. After you have received confirmation that your Mobile Deposit has been accepted for deposit, you should mark the Check as having been deposited. You agree to securely store the original Check for a period of ten (10) calendar days from the date of the Image transmission (the "Retention Period"). During the Retention Period, you shall take appropriate security measures to ensure that: (a) the information contained on such Checks shall not be disclosed, (b) such Checks will not be duplicated or scanned more than one time and (c) such Checks will not be deposited or negotiated in any form. Upon expiration of the Retention Period, you shall destroy the original Check you transmitted as an Image using a method of destruction that will result in the paper-based Item being un-processable and all sensitive personal and financial information undecipherable. You hereby indemnify Financial Institution for, and hold Financial Institution harmless from and against, any and all claims, demands, actions, causes of action, losses, and damages, of whatever nature or kind, and regardless of the theory upon which the same is (are) based, caused directly or indirectly by, arising out of, related to, in connection with or resulting wholly or partially from, the destruction of original Checks by you. During the Retention Period, you agree to promptly provide the original Check to the Financial Institution upon request.

4.9.11. You agree that, in the event you are not able to capture, process, produce or transmit a Mobile Deposit to Financial Institution, or otherwise comply with the terms hereof or of the Procedures, for any reason, including, but not limited to, communications, equipment or software outages, interruptions or failures, you will make the deposit in a manner consistent with other methods for making deposits provided by Financial Institution until such time that the outage, interruption or failure is identified and resolved. You hereby acknowledge and agree that Financial Institution shall not be liable to you for any loss or damage of any nature sustained by you as the result of your inability to use the Mobile Deposit Service. The deposit of original Checks through these other methods shall be governed by the terms and conditions of the Deposit Account Agreement and not by the terms of this Agreement.

4.9.12. If Images of Checks deposited by you are dishonored or otherwise returned unpaid by the drawee financial institution, or are returned by a clearing agent for any reason, including, but not limited to, issues relating to the quality of the Image, you understand and agree that, since you either maintain the original Check or have destroyed it in accordance with the Original Check provisions in this agreement, the original Check will not be returned, and Financial Institution may charge back an Image of the Check to your Account. You understand and agree that the Image may be in the form of an electronic or paper reproduction of the original Check or a substitute check. Unless otherwise instructed by Financial Institution, you agree not to deposit the original Check if an Image or other debit as previously described is charged back to you.

4.9.13. Your Warranties. You make the following warranties and representations with respect to each image:

- Checks Deposited. You shall only deposit Checks that are authorized by this Agreement, the Procedures, and the Deposit Agreement.
- Image Quality. Each Image transmitted by you to Financial Institution contains an accurate representation of the front and the back of each Check and complies with the requirements of this Agreement.
- Accuracy of Information. All data and other information submitted by you to Financial Institution, including, but not limited to, data contained in the MICR line of each Check is complete and accurate and complies with the requirements of this Agreement.
- No Duplicates. You will not: (i) create duplicate Images of the Checks, (ii) transmit a duplicate Image or File to Financial Institution, or (iii) deposit or otherwise negotiate the original of any Check of which an Image was created. You further warrant that no subsequent transferee, including but not limited to Financial Institution, a collecting or returning bank, drawer, drawee, payee, or endorser, will be asked to pay the original Item from which the Image(s) was created or a duplication (whether paper or electronic, including ACH entries) of the Item(s).
- No Loss. No subsequent transferees of the Item(s), including but not limited to Financial Institution, a collecting or returning bank, drawer, drawee, payee, or endorser, shall sustain a loss as the result of the fact that the Image was presented for payment or returned instead of the original Check.
- Information. All information provided by you to Financial Institution is true, complete, and accurate.
- Authority and Legality. (i) This Agreement is valid and enforceable against you in accordance with its terms; and (ii) the entry into, and performance of, this Agreement by you will not violate any law, or conflict with any other agreement, to which you are subject.
- No Litigation. There is no action, suit or proceeding pending or, to your knowledge, threatened, which if decided adversely, would adversely affect your financial condition or operations.
- Transactions. All Checks and transactions are, and will be, bona fide. All signatures on Checks are authentic and authorized.
- Rule Compliance. You will submit Images in compliance with this Agreement, the Procedures, applicable law, and the Rules.

4.9.14. Indemnification and Liability; Third Party Claims. In addition to the other indemnities set forth in this Agreement, you hereby indemnify Financial Institution and each of its parents, subsidiaries and affiliates and their respective officers, directors, employees, members, partners, agents, insurers and attorneys (each an "Indemnified Party" and, collectively, the "Indemnified Parties") for, and hold each of the Indemnified Parties harmless from and against, all actions, causes of action, claims, damages, liabilities and expenses (including reasonable attorneys' fees) of any nature or kind (including those by third parties) arising out of, or related to, this Agreement, including all actions, causes of action, claims, damages, liabilities and expenses arising out of, related to or resulting from: (a) your (i) failure to report required changes, (ii) transmission of incorrect data to Financial Institution or (iii) failure to maintain compliance with the Rules, (b) (i) Financial Institution's provision of the Service, or (ii) Financial Institution's action or inaction in accordance with, or in reliance upon, any instructions or information received from any person reasonably believed by Financial Institution to be you, (c) your breach of any of your representations, warranties, covenants or other agreements or responsibilities under this Agreement and/or (d) your breach or violation of any Rules; provided, however, you are not obligated to indemnify Financial Institution for any damages solely and proximately caused by Financial Institution's gross negligence or willful misconduct.

5. Limitations.

Your use of these Services is subject to the following limitations:

5.1. Dollar Amount.

There may be a limit on the dollar amount of the transactions you can make using these Services. Security reasons limit the dollar amount of transactions, and these limits are subject to change from time to time. Payment can only be made with U.S. currency.

5.2. Frequency.

In addition to the Federal banking regulations that restrict the number of transfers and withdrawals, there may be limits on the number of transactions you can make using these Services. These limits are for security reasons and are subject to change.

5.3. Foreign Transactions.

No Payments may be made to Payees outside the United States unless the Customer has been specifically approved by the Financial Institution.

5.4. Additional Limitations.

Additional limitations may be contained in this Master Agreement or the applicable Product Schedule. Your ability to initiate transactions may also be limited by the terms of other agreements you have with the Financial Institution or by applicable law.

6. Parties' Responsibilities.

6.1. Your Responsibility.

6.1.1. Physical and Electronic Security.

6.1.1.1. You are solely responsible for providing for and maintaining the physical, electronic, procedural, administrative, and technical security of data and systems in your possession or under your control. We are not responsible for any Access Device viruses (including, without limitation, programs commonly referred to as "malware," "keystroke loggers," and/or "spyware"), problems or malfunctions resulting from any Access Device viruses, or any related problems that may be associated with the use of an online system. Any material downloaded or otherwise obtained is obtained at your own discretion and risk, and Financial Institution is not responsible for any damage to your Access Device or operating systems or for loss of data that results from the download of any such material, whether due to any Access Device virus or otherwise. You are solely responsible for maintaining and applying anti-virus software, security patches, firewalls, and other security measures with respect to your operating systems, and for protecting, securing, and backing up any data and information stored in or on your operating systems. Financial Institution is not responsible for any errors or failures resulting from defects in or malfunctions of any software installed on your operating systems.

6.1.1.2. You acknowledge and agree that it is your responsibility to protect yourself and to be vigilant against e-mail fraud and other internet frauds and schemes (including, without limitation, fraud commonly referred to as "phishing" or "pharming"). You agree to educate your representative(s), agents, and employees as to the risks of such fraud and to train such persons to avoid such risks. You acknowledge that Financial Institution will never contact you by e-mail to ask for or to verify Account numbers, Security Devices, or any sensitive or confidential information. In the event you receive an e-mail or other electronic communication that you believe, or has reason to believe, is fraudulent, you agree that you shall not respond to the e-mail, provide any information to the e-mail sender, click on any links in the e-mail, or otherwise comply with any instructions in the e-mail. To the extent allowed by law, you agree that Financial Institution is not responsible for any losses, injuries, or harm incurred by you because of any electronic, e-mail, or internet fraud.

6.1.1.3. In the event of a breach of the Security Procedure, you agree to assist Financial Institution in determining the manner and source of the breach. Such assistance shall include, but shall not be limited to, providing Financial Institution or Financial Institution's agent access to your hard drive, storage media and devices, systems and any other equipment or device that was used in breach of the Security Procedure. You further agree to provide to Financial Institution any analysis of such equipment, device, or software or any report of such analysis performed by you, your agents, law enforcement agencies, or any other third party. Your failure to assist Financial Institution shall be an admission by you that the breach of the Security Procedure was caused by a person who obtained access to your transmitting facilities or who obtained information facilitating the breach of the Security Procedure from you and not from a source controlled by Financial Institution.

6.1.2. Reporting Unauthorized Transactions.

You should notify us immediately if you believe your Username or Password have been lost or stolen, that someone has gained access to the Security Procedure, or that someone has transferred or may transfer money from your Account without your permission or if you suspect any fraudulent activity on your Account. To notify us, call us at the number provided in Section 9.6 between 9:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. ET (Standard or Daylight) during a Business Day.

6.1.3. Duty to Inspect.

You shall inspect all transaction history, reports, journals, and other material evidencing the output of the Service(s) performed by Financial Institution. You must report all errors to the Financial Institution for Services performed and indicated in the transaction history, reports, journals, and other material evidencing the output of the Service(s) or otherwise reported to you daily by the close of business on the banking day following the day on which the Service(s) is rendered. You must report all other errors within a reasonable time not to exceed thirty (30) days from the date that the error is made. Failure of you to promptly report errors within such specified time shall preclude you from asserting against the Financial Institution any claims arising from the error or any loss caused by the error.

6.1.4. Financial Information.

Financial Institution may periodically request information from you to evaluate a continuation of the Service(s) to be provided by Financial Institution hereunder and/or adjustment of any limits set by this Master Agreement or any applicable Product Schedule. You agree to provide the requested financial information immediately upon request by Financial Institution, in the form required by Financial Institution. If you refuse to provide the requested financial information, or if Financial Institution concludes in its sole discretion that the credit risk related to you is unacceptable, Financial Institution may terminate the Service according to the provisions hereof. You authorize Financial Institution to investigate or re-investigate at any time any information provided by you in connection with this Master Agreement or any applicable Product Schedule or any Services and to request reports from credit bureaus and reporting agencies for such purpose.

6.1.5. Deadlines.

You shall deliver or transmit all data or information to Financial Institution by the deadline(s) specified in this Master Agreement or any applicable Product Schedule and the Operating Instructions. Financial Institution shall have no obligation to process data or perform the Service if the data is not received by the Financial Institution by the specified deadline.

6.1.6. Payment for Services.

6.1.6.1. You agree to pay Financial Institution the fees established by Financial Institution for rendering the Services under the terms of this Master Agreement or any applicable Product Schedule. Depending on which Online Banking services you subscribe to, you will be charged the applicable Online Banking fees as set forth in our General Information and Fee Schedule hereby incorporated by reference and made a part hereof. Once you have subscribed, you will be charged the applicable Monthly Fee(s) whether you use Online Banking or not.

6.1.6.2. The Financial Institution may change or add any fees for Online Banking by the procedures outlined in Section 8 for amending this Master Agreement. Fees charged for Online Banking under this Master Agreement are in addition to any service charges or fees that apply to your accounts with us.

6.1.6.3. You authorize the Financial Institution to deduct all applicable Monthly Fees from any Account listed on the Authorization Form. If you close the Account(s) associated with the Service, Fees may be deducted from any other account you maintain with us or any of our affiliates. Furthermore, Financial Institution may set off against any amount it owes to you to obtain payment of your obligations under this Master Agreement or any applicable Product Schedule.

6.1.6.4. In addition to the Service fees, you agree to pay for all taxes, tariffs and assessments levied or imposed by any government agency in connection with the Service, this Master Agreement, and/or the software or equipment made available to you (excluding any income tax payable by Financial Institution). You are also responsible for the costs of any communication lines and any data processing charges payable to third parties.

6.1.7. Available Funds.

Financial Institution may refuse to accept an Entry if there are not sufficient collected and available funds in your account on the day we initiate the ACH transaction or on the date of payment. We may place a hold on funds pending the Financial Institution's processing of the Entry. If the Financial Institution determines, in its sole discretion, that the Customer does not have adequate funds to cover a credit Entry, Financial Institution may delay execution of the Entry until we receive adequate assurance from you that funds will be available. Nothing contained in this Agreement, or any course of dealing between the Financial Institution and the Customer, shall be construed as a commitment or obligation on the part of the Financial Institution to extend credit to the Customer.

6.1.8. Data and Information Supplied by You.

You shall transmit or deliver data and other information in the format and on the media as provided for in the Product Schedule and the Operating Instructions if applicable or as otherwise required by the Financial Institution in conjunction with rendering the Service(s) selected by you. You shall have the sole responsibility of ensuring the accuracy and correctness of the data transmitted. You acknowledge and agree that Financial Institution shall not examine the data for correctness and the Financial Institution shall not have any responsibility for detecting errors in the data transmitted by you. The data transmitted by you must be legible, correct, and complete. Financial Institution shall not process, and Financial Institution shall not be liable to you for failure to process the data if it is not in the format specified by Financial Institution or if the data is incomplete. Financial Institution shall not be liable for errors or omissions caused by data that is rejected as the result of your failure to provide the data in accordance with the standards specified in the Master Agreement or any applicable Product Schedule and the Operating Instructions.

6.1.9. Use of Services.

You will use the Services only for your own internal business use in accordance with the terms of this Master Agreement. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, you agree not to make the Services available or allow use of the Services in a computer bureau service business, time-sharing, or otherwise disclose or allow use of the Service by or for the benefit of any third party. FURTHER, YOU REPRESENT AND WARRANT THAT NONE OF THE ACCOUNTS HAVE BEEN ESTABLISHED OR ARE BEING OR WILL BE USED FOR PERSONAL, FAMILY OR HOUSEHOLD PURPOSES AND THAT YOU ARE NOT A "CONSUMER" UNDER REGULATION E - ELECTRONIC FUNDS TRANSFER ACT (HEREIN, "REG. E").

6.1.10. Prohibited Transactions.

You agree not to use or attempt to use the Services (a) to engage in any illegal purpose or activity or to violate any applicable law, rule or regulation, (b) to breach any contract or agreement by which you are bound, or (c) to engage in any internet or online gambling transaction, whether or not gambling is legal in any applicable jurisdiction, (d) to engage in any activity or business that would result in you being or becoming a "money service business" as defined in the Bank Secrecy Act and its implementing regulations without notice to and approval from Financial Institution, (e) to create or deposit a Remotely Created Check, as that term is defined in Federal Reserve Board Regulation CC, or (f) to engage in any transaction or activity that is not specifically authorized and permitted by this Agreement. You acknowledge and agree that Financial Institution has no obligation to monitor your use of the Services for transactions and activity that is impermissible or prohibited under the terms of this Agreement; provided, however, that Financial Institution reserves the right to decline to execute any transaction or activity that Financial Institution believes violates the terms of this Agreement.

6.1.11. Other Customer Requirements.

6.1.11.1. Beneficial Ownership Reporting and Certification. Customer represents and warrants to Financial Institution that the beneficial ownership (as that term is defined in the Anti-Money Laundering Act of 2020, Public Law No. 116-283, §6403) of Customer as identified in the Deposit Account opening process remains true and correct as of the date Customer enters into this Master Agreement or that Customer has provided Bank with written confirmation of the current beneficial ownership information. Further, Customer represents and warrants that Customer shall immediately notify Financial Institution in writing of any changes, and to complete all forms requested by Financial Institution, regarding a change in substantial control of Customer and/or any change of ownership or control of 25% or more of the ownership interests in Customer.

6.1.11.2. Data Security and Personally Identifiable Information. To the extent you come into possession, custody or control of any Personally Identifiable Information or other non-public information, including information (1) provided by a consumer to you, (2) resulting from any transaction with the consumer or any service performed for the consumer, or (3) otherwise obtained by you with regard to a consumer, including account information (collectively "PII"), you represent and warrant to Financial Institution and its Vendors that you will protect such PII by rendering it unreadable and inaccessible by persons who do not have legal authority to access such PII.

6.2. The Financial Institution's Responsibilities.

Financial Institution agrees to use ordinary care in rendering Services under this Master Agreement and any applicable Product Schedule. You recognize and agree that ordinary care does not mean error free. You agree to pay all attorneys' fees, costs and expenses Financial Institution may incur in collecting any sums you owe to Financial Institution for overdrafts, service charges or otherwise or in enforcing any rights Financial Institution may have under the terms of this Master Agreement and any applicable Product Schedule or applicable law, rule or regulation applicable to your account(s) or the Services rendered by Financial Institution under this Master Agreement and any applicable Product Schedule. You also agree to pay all attorneys' fees, costs, and expenses that Financial Institution may incur as the result of defending any claim or action made against Financial Institution by you, or on your behalf where Financial Institution is found not to be liable for such claim. In no event shall Financial Institution be liable to you for attorneys' fees incurred by you in any action brought by you against Financial Institution.

Our sole responsibility for an error in a transfer will be to correct the error. Without limiting the generality of the forgoing, we will not be responsible for the following matters, or for errors or failures of our Services as result of:

- Access. We will not be liable under this Master Agreement or any applicable Product Schedule for failure to provide access or for interruptions in access to our Services due to a system failure or due to other unforeseen acts or circumstances.
- Your Access Device Equipment & Your Software. We will not be responsible for any errors or failures from any malfunction of your Access Device, or any virus or other problems related to your computer equipment used with our Services. We are not responsible for any error, damages or other loss you may suffer due to malfunction or misapplication of any system you use, including your browser (see requirements in Section 2.4 of this Agreement), your Internet service provider, your personal financial management or other software (such as Quicken®, QuickBooks® and/or NetSuite®, for example, or any equipment you may use (including your telecommunications facilities, Access Device hardware and modem) to access or communicate with the Online Banking Services.
- Any Transaction or Instruction. We will not honor a request for a Transfer if:
    - It exceeds your collected and available funds on deposit with the Financial Institution; (b) it is not in accordance with any condition indicated by you and agreed to by the Financial Institution; (c) the Financial Institution has reason to believe it may not be authorized by you; (d) it involves funds subject to hold, dispute, or legal process preventing their withdrawal; (e) it would violate any provision of any present or future risk control program of the Federal Reserve or any current or future rule or regulation of any other federal or state regulatory authority; (f) it is not in accordance with any other requirement stated in this Master Agreement or any Financial Institution policy, procedure or practice; or, (g) it is for the protection of the Financial Institution or you, the Financial Institution has reasonable cause not to honor.

Privacy and Confidentiality.

6.3. Privacy/Information Sharing.

The importance of maintaining the confidentiality and privacy of the information provided by you is one of our highest priorities. We may disclose information about your Accounts or the Transfers you make: (a) where it is necessary for completing the transfers or processing or maintaining your Accounts; (b) in order to verify the existence or condition of your Accounts for a third party such as a credit bureau or merchant; (c) in order to comply with legal process, government agency or court orders; (d) to companies that perform marketing services on our behalf or to other financial institutions with whom we have joint marketing agreements; or (e) otherwise as permitted by law. An explanation of our privacy policy will be provided to you separately in the manner required by applicable law. Please review it carefully. Our privacy policy may change from time to time and is always available on our website and at our Financial Institution locations.

6.4. Confidential Information.

All information of a business nature relating to the assets, liabilities or other business affairs disclosed to the Financial Institution by you and your customers in connection with this Master Agreement and any applicable Product Schedule is confidential. Financial Institution shall not, without the express written consent of you, disclose or permit access to any such information by any person, firm or corporation and Financial Institution shall cause its officers, employees, and agents to take such action as shall be necessary or advisable, to preserve and protect the confidentiality of disclosing such information to persons required to have access thereto for the performance of this Master Agreement and any applicable Product Schedule, or to any other party to which the Financial Institution may be required by law to report such information. You agree to hold confidential and to use only in connection with the Service provided under this Master Agreement and any applicable Product Schedule all information furnished to you by Financial Institution or by third parties from whom Financial Institution has secured the right to use the Service, including, but not limited to, Financial Institution's product and service pricing structure, system design, programming techniques or other unique techniques. In addition, should you at any time receive or acquire any information relating to another customer of the Financial Institution, you shall promptly return such information to Financial Institution and not reveal such information to any other party and shall not make use of such information for your own benefit. Financial Institution and your obligations and agreements under this paragraph shall not apply to any information supplied that was known to either party prior to the disclosure by the other or is or becomes generally available to the public other than by breach of this Agreement, or otherwise becomes lawfully available on a non-confidential basis from a third party who is not under an obligation of confidence to either party. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein, it is authorized and agreed by the parties hereto that the performance of said Service is or might be subject to regulation and examination by authorized representatives of the Comptroller of the Currency, the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, the Board of Directors of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, and/or a State regulatory agency and you agree to the release of your reports, information, assurances, or other data as may be required by them under applicable laws and regulations. You agree that any specifications or programs developed by the Financial Institution in connection with this Master Agreement and any applicable Product Schedule or supplied or made available to you by Financial Institution are the exclusive property of Financial Institution, its agents, suppliers, or contractors, and further agrees that such material shall not be copied or used in any manner or for any purpose without the express written consent of Financial Institution. This clause shall survive the termination of this Master Agreement.

7. Termination.

7.1. Termination Upon Written Notice.

Either you or the Financial Institution may terminate this Master Agreement, any applicable Product Schedule, and your Online Banking subscription at any time upon giving at least thirty (30) days prior written notice of the termination to the other party. If you terminate Online Banking, you authorize the Financial Institution to continue making transfers you have previously authorized and continue to charge monthly fees until such time as the Financial Institution has had a reasonable opportunity to act upon your termination notice. Once the Financial Institution has acted upon your termination notice, the Financial Institution will make no further transfers from your accounts, including any transfers you have previously authorized. If the Financial Institution terminates your use of Online Banking, the Financial Institution reserves the right to make no further transfers from your accounts, including any transactions you have previously authorized.

7.2. Immediate Termination.

Either party shall have the right to terminate this Master Agreement, any applicable Product Schedule, and your Online Banking subscription immediately by giving written notice to the other if such other party: (i) ceases to conduct its business in the ordinary sense, (ii) has any substantial part of its property become subject to any levy, seizure, assignment or application for sale for, or by, any creditor or government agency, (iii) is a party to an acquisition or (iv) in the reasonable judgment of the party seeking termination, experiences an adverse change in its financial condition or business which impairs the ability of such party to perform its obligations under this Master Agreement or any applicable Product Schedule, (v) fails to perform its obligations under this Master Agreement or any applicable Product Schedule or defaults under any other agreement between the parties or (vi) makes any warranty or representation which proves to be false or misleading.

Notwithstanding the foregoing or Section 8.1, Financial Institution may immediately terminate this Master Agreement and/or any applicable Product Schedule without notice if, (a) you or we close your Account(s), or (b) in Financial Institution's sole discretion, Financial Institution determines that you have abused the Online Banking Service or Financial Institution believes that it will suffer a loss or other damage if the Master Agreement and/or applicable Product Schedule is not terminated.

7.3. Rights Cumulative.

Financial Institution's election to terminate this Master Agreement and/or any applicable Product Schedule is in addition to all other remedies that may be available to Financial Institution and will not affect any obligations you may have to Financial Institution. Any reinstatement of the Service under this Master Agreement and/or any applicable Product Schedule will be at Financial Institution's sole discretion and must be agreed upon in writing by an authorized representative of Financial Institution.

7.4. Rights/Duties Upon Termination.

Upon termination of this Master Agreement and/or any applicable Product Schedule, any property or rights of a party in the possession of the other party, tangible or intangible, shall be returned to owner thereof within ten (10) business days (2 weeks) after the later to occur of (i) termination of the Master Agreement and/or any applicable Product Schedule or (ii) the last date that such party receives any such property or rights.

Upon termination of this Master Agreement and/or any applicable Product Schedule, (i) you will promptly pay to Financial Institution all sums due or to become due under this Master Agreement and/or applicable Product Schedule, and (ii) you shall have no further right to make use of the Service or any system or software which may have been provided in connection with the Service.

8. Changes in Terms and other Amendments.

The Financial Institution may amend the terms of this Master Agreement and any applicable Product Schedule alter, change, or modify the Services provided under the terms of this Master Agreement and any applicable Product Schedule (including the fees and charges for Services listed) or any supplemental agreement at any time in its sole discretion by giving written notice to you. If required by agreement or by applicable law, notice will be given for the required applicable number of days in advance of such amendments by mailing a copy of the amendment to you at your most recent address shown on our records or, if you have previously agreed, by providing notice delivered to the last email address you have provided us. Your continued use of the Services shall constitute your agreement to such amendment. No amendments requested by you shall be effective unless received in writing by Financial Institution and agreed to by the Financial Institution in writing.

9. Other Provisions.

9.1. Electronic Notices.

We may deliver to you any required disclosures and other notices concerning these Services or your Accounts by e-mail or other appropriate electronic means in accordance with Financial Institution's Electronic Statement Delivery Authorization and Agreement.

You may use e-mail to contact us about inquiries, maintenance and/or some problem resolution issues. E-mail may not be a secure method of communication. Thus, we recommend you do not send confidential personal or financial information by e-mail. There may be times when you need to speak with someone immediately (especially to report a lost or stolen Password, or to stop a payment). In these cases, do not use e-mail. Instead, you should call us at the number provided in Section 9.6.

9.2. Hours of Operation.

Our representatives are available to assist you from the hours of 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. ET (Standard or Daylight), Monday through Friday, except holidays, by calling the number provided in Section 9.6.

9.3. Ownership of Website.

The content, information and offers on our website are copyrighted by Financial Institution and/or Vendor and the unauthorized use, reproduction, linking or distribution of any portions is strictly prohibited. You agree not to copy, display, distribute, download, license, sub-license, modify, publish, repost, reproduce, reuse, sell, transmit, create a derivative work from or otherwise use for public or commercial purposes, the information and materials on the Sites, except as provided in this Master Agreement, without our express written permission. Unless otherwise noted, all other trademarks, service marks, and logos used on the Financial Institution's sites are the trademarks, service marks or logos of Financial Institution, or others as indicated.

9.4. Web-linking Practices.

Financial Institution may provide access to information, products or services offered on other third-party web sites. The Financial Institution is not responsible for, nor does control, the content, products, or services provided by linked sites. The Financial Institution does not endorse or guarantee the products, information or recommendations provided by linked sites, and is not liable for any failure of products or services advertised on those sites. In addition, each third-party site may provide less security than the Financial Institution and have a privacy policy different than that of the Financial Institution. Your access, use and reliance upon such content, products or services is at your own risk.

9.5. Geographic Restrictions.

The Services described in this Master Agreement and any application for credit, deposit services, and brokerage services available at our web site are solely offered to citizens and residents of the United States of America residing within the United States of America. Citizens and residents may not be able to access these Services outside the United States of America.

9.6. Contact Information.

In case of questions about your electronic transactions contact customer service at:

First Port City Bank
Attn: Deposit Operations
Bainbridge, GA 39818 Phone: (229) 246-6200

Customer shall provide its current contact information to Financial Institution on Exhibit A and Customer shall immediately notify Financial Institution if such contact information changes. Any notice provided to Customer by Financial Institution to the address on Exhibit A, as amended from time to time, or to the address for any of Customer's accounts with Financial Institution shall be deemed effective on the date such notice is sent by Financial Institution.

9.7. Deposit Account Agreement.

You acknowledge and agree that your demand deposit account maintained with Financial Institution is an integral part of the Services offered by Financial Institution and that all transactions and Services initiated or processed pursuant to this Master Agreement are subject to the terms and conditions of the rules, regulations, and agreement ("Deposit Account Agreement") governing accounts in effect from time to time between you and Financial Institution. The Deposit Account Agreement is expressly incorporated herein by reference. The terms and conditions of this Master Agreement shall control over any inconsistent terms and conditions of the Deposit Account Agreement. You acknowledge that you have signed and executed all agreements, resolutions, signature cards and forms governing your demand deposit account required by Financial Institution. If you have not signed the foregoing forms required by Financial Institution, by signing this Master Agreement, you acknowledge that you have read the contents of and agree to be bound by the terms of those forms, agreements and documents, and adopt and ratify, as an authorized signatory(s), the signature(s) of any person(s) who has signed a signature card or any check on your account. You also agree to establish all accounts that must be opened in conjunction with the Service provided by Financial Institution.

9.8. Security Interest.

To secure the payment and performance of your obligations set forth herein and under any Service Agreement(s), you grant to Financial Institution a security interest in and pledges and assigns to Financial Institution all of your right, title, and interest in the following described property, whether now owned or hereafter existing or acquired and wherever located: (a) All your monies, instruments, savings, checking and other accounts (excluding IRA, Keogh, trust accounts and other accounts subject to tax penalties if so assigned) that are now or in the future in Financial Institution's custody or control; (b) any other collateral described in any security instrument securing your obligations to Financial Institution under this Agreement or any other obligation of Third-Party to Financial Institution; and (c) all proceeds and products of the property as well as any replacements, accessions, substitutions, and additions to any of the above.

9.9. Effective Dates.

The effective date of this Master Agreement and any applicable Product Schedule shall be the date upon which the Agreement is executed by you and accepted by Financial Institution.

9.10. Internet Disclaimer.

For any Service(s) described in the Agreement utilizing the Internet, Financial Institution does not and cannot control the flow of data to or from Financial Institution's network and other portions of the Internet. Such flow depends in large part on the performance of Internet Services provided or controlled by third parties. The actions or inactions of such third parties can impair or disrupt your connections to the Internet (or portions thereof). Financial Institution cannot guarantee that such events will not occur. Accordingly, Financial Institution disclaims all liability resulting from or related to such events and in no event shall Financial Institution be liable for any damages (whether in contract or in tort) that are attributable to the public Internet infrastructure, your ability to connect to the Internet, or Financial Institution's ability to connect to the Internet on your behalf.

9.11. Recording and Use of Communications.

Customer and Financial Institution agree that all telephone conversations or data transmissions between it or its agents made in connection with this Agreement may be electronically recorded and retained by either party by use of any reasonable means. Financial Institution shall not be obligated to make such recordings.

9.12. Limitation of Liability.

9.12.1. YOU AGREE THAT FINANCIAL INSTITUTION SHALL NOT BE RESPONSIBLE OR LIABLE TO YOU OR TO ANY OTHER PARTY FOR CONSEQUENTIAL, INDIRECT, SPECIAL EXEMPLARY, PUNITIVE, OR INCIDENTAL DAMAGES ARISING OUT OF THE USE BY YOU OF ANY SERVICE EVEN IF YOU, FINANCIAL INSTITUTION OR FINANCIAL INSTITUTION'S SERVICE PROVIDER HAVE BEEN SPECIFICALLY ADVISED OF THE POSSIBILITY OF SUCH DAMAGES.

9.12.2. TO THE FULLEST EXTENT ALLOWED BY LAW, FINANCIAL INSTITUTION'S LIABILITY TO YOU UNDER THIS MASTER AGREEMENT OR ANY APPLICABLE PRODUCT SCHEDULE SHALL BE LIMITED TO CORRECTING ERRORS RESULTING FROM FINANCIAL INSTITUTION'S FAILURE TO EXERCISE ORDINARY CARE OR TO ACT IN GOOD FAITH. WITHOUT LIMITING THE GENERALITY OF THE FOREGOING, IN NO EVENT WILL FINANCIAL INSTITUTION BE LIABLE TO YOU FOR AN AMOUNT GREATER THAN THE FEES ACTUALLY PAID BY YOU AND RECEIVED BY FINANCIAL INSTITUTION DURING THE SIX (6) MONTH PERIOD IMMEDIATELY PRECEDING THE DATE ON WHICH THE CLAIM FIRST ACCRUED, WHICH SHALL BE DETERMINED BY THE EARLIER OF THE DATE WHEN YOU FIRST BECAME AWARE OF THE CLAIM OR THE DATE WHEN, THROUGH THE EXERCISE OF REASONABLE CARE, YOU REASONABLY SHOULD HAVE BECOME AWARE OF THE CLAIM.

9.12.3. YOU ACKNOWLEDGE AND AGREE THAT YOUR USE OF THE SERVICES SHALL BE AT YOUR SOLE RISK AND THAT THE SERVICES ARE PROVIDED BY FINANCIAL INSTITUTION ON AN "AS IS" BASIS.

9.12.4. EXCEPT AS EXPRESSLY SET FORTH IN THIS MASTER AGREEMENT, FINANCIAL INSTITUTION MAKES NO, AND HEREBY DISCLAIMS ANY AND ALL, REPRESENTATIONS OR WARRANTIES, EXPRESS OR IMPLIED, IN LAW OR IN FACT, WHATSOEVER TO YOU OR TO ANY OTHER PERSON AS TO THE SERVICES OR ANY ASPECT THEREOF, INCLUDING (WITHOUT LIMITATION) ANY WARRANTY OF MERCHANTABILITY, FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE, QUALITY, ACCURACY, OR SUITABILITY. YOU AGREE THAT NO ORAL OR WRITTEN ADVICE OR REPRESENTATION OBTAINED FROM ANY FINANCIAL INSTITUTION EMPLOYEE OR REPRESENTATIVE SHALL CREATE A WARRANTY OR REPRESENTATION FOR PURPOSES OF THIS MASTER AGREEMENT OR ANY SERVICES TO BE PERFORMED PURSUANT HERETO.

9.12.5. FINANCIAL INSTITUTION MAKES NO REPRESENTATION OR WARRANTY, EITHER EXPRESS OR IMPLIED, TO YOU AS TO ANY ACCESS DEVICE HARDWARE, SOFTWARE, OR EQUIPMENT USED IN CONNECTION WITH THE SERVICES (INCLUDING, WITHOUT LIMITATION, YOUR ACCESS DEVICE SYSTEMS OR RELATED EQUIPMENT, YOUR SOFTWARE, OR YOUR INTERNET SERVICE PROVIDER OR ITS EQUIPMENT), OR AS TO THE SUITABILITY OR COMPATIBILITY OF FINANCIAL INSTITUTION'S SOFTWARE, INTERNET DELIVERED SERVICE, EQUIPMENT OR COMMUNICATION INTERFACES WITH THOSE THAT YOU USE, OR AS TO WHETHER ANY SOFTWARE OR INTERNET DELIVERED SERVICE WILL PERFORM IN AN UNINTERRUPTED MANNER, INCLUDING (BUT NOT LIMITED TO) ANY WARRANTY OF MERCHANTABILITY OR FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE.

9.12.6. FINANCIAL INSTITUTION SHALL NOT BE RESPONSIBLE OR LIABLE FOR ANY ERRORS OR FAILURES RESULTING FROM DEFECTS IN OR MALFUNCTIONS OF YOUR ACCESS DEVICE HARDWARE OR SOFTWARE, FOR THE QUALITY OF PERFORMANCE OR LACK OF PERFORMANCE OF ANY ACCESS DEVICE SOFTWARE OR HARDWARE OR INTERNET DELIVERED SERVICES SUPPLIED BY FINANCIAL INSTITUTION TO YOU IN CONNECTION WITH THIS MASTER AGREEMENT, OR FOR THE TRANSMISSION OR FAILURE OF TRANSMISSION OF ANY INFORMATION FROM YOU TO FINANCIAL INSTITUTION OR FROM FINANCIAL INSTITUTION TO YOU. FINANCIAL INSTITUTION SHALL NOT BE RESPONSIBLE FOR NOTIFYING YOU OF ANY UPGRADES OR ENHANCEMENTS TO ANY OF YOUR ACCESS DEVICE HARDWARE OR SOFTWARE.

9.13. Relationship of Parties.

Customer and Financial Institution acknowledge and agree that the relationship between Financial Institution and Customer is that of an independent contractor and that this Master Agreement does not establish or create a general agency, joint venture, partnership, or employment relationship between them.

9.14. Force Majeure.

The Financial Institution shall not be responsible for any liability, loss, or damage resulting from Financial Institution's failure to perform any Service or to perform any other obligations under this Master Agreement and any applicable Product Schedule which is caused by an act of God, fire, floods, adverse weather or atmospheric conditions or other catastrophes; war, sabotage, riots, acts of public enemy, or acts of governmental authority or the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve; labor difficulties; equipment or Access Device failure or destruction or the unavailability, interruption, or malfunction of communications facilities or utilities; delays or failure to act by you or third parties and their personnel; criminal acts; or generally any cause reasonably beyond the Financial Institution's control.

9.15. Reimbursement.

Any reimbursement by Financial Institution for any liability hereunder may be made either directly to you or by adjustment of the aggregate ledger and collected balances of your accounts.

9.16. Indemnification.

In addition to other indemnification and liability provisions elsewhere in this Master Agreement and any applicable Product Schedule, to the fullest extent allowed by law, you will be liable for, hold harmless, and will indemnify Financial Institution, and their employees and agents from and against all claims of any sort by third parties or others arising out of this Master Agreement and any applicable Product Schedule, including all losses and expenses incurred by Financial Institution arising out of your failure to report required changes, transmission of incorrect data to Financial Institution, or failure to maintain compliance with all laws, regulations and rules. Except for those losses caused directly by Financial Institution's failure to exercise ordinary care or to act in good faith, you agree to indemnify and hold Financial Institution, its officers, directors, shareholders, agents, employees, and affiliates, and their respective officers, directors, agents and employees, harmless from and against any and all losses, costs, suits, damages, claims, liabilities and expenses (including reasonable attorneys' fees) arising from or related in any way to (i) any Services performed in connection with this Master Agreement and any applicable Product Schedule, (ii) Financial Institution's action or inaction in accordance with or reliance upon any instructions or information received from any person reasonably believed by Financial Institution to be an authorized representative of you or Authorized User, (iii) your breach of any of your covenants, agreements, responsibilities, representations or warranties under this Master Agreement and any applicable Product Schedule, and/or (iv) your breach of applicable laws, rules or regulations.

9.17. ARBITRATION AND WAIVER OF JURY TRIAL.

YOU AND FINANCIAL INSTITUTION AGREE THAT THE TRANSACTIONS PROCESSED UNDER THIS MASTER AGREEMENT OR ANY PRODUCT SCHEDULE INVOLVES "COMMERCE" UNDER THE FEDERAL ARBITRATION ACT ("FAA"). ANY CONTROVERSY OR CLAIM BETWEEN YOU AND FINANCIAL INSTITUTION, OR BETWEEN YOU AND ANY OF FINANCIAL INSTITUTION'S OFFICERS, EMPLOYEES, AGENTS OR AFFILIATED ENTITIES, THAT ARISES OUT OF OR IS RELATED TO ANY SERVICE PROVIDED UNDER THIS MASTER AGREEMENT OR ANY PRODUCT SCHEDULE, WHETHER BASED ON CONTRACT OR IN TORT OR ANY OTHER LEGAL THEORY, INCLUDING CLAIMS OF FRAUD, SUPPRESSION, MISREPRESENTATION AND FRAUD IN THE INDUCEMENT (COLLECTIVELY, ANY "CLAIM"), WILL BE SETTLED BY BINDING ARBITRATION UNDER THE FAA. THE PARTIES SHALL WORK IN GOOD FAITH TO SELECT AND AGREE UPON AN ARBITRATOR WITHIN THIRTY (30) DAYS AFTER A DEMAND FOR ARBITRATION BY EITHER PARTY. THE ARBITRATOR SHALL HAVE SOLE DISCRETION TO USE ANY COMMERCIAL ARBITRATION RULES, UNLESS OTHERWISE AGREED TO IN WRITING BY THE PARTIES; PROVIDED, HOWEVER, THAT TO THE EXTENT THE ARBITRATION RULES CONTAIN PROVISIONS REGARDING THE USE OF ANY CONSUMER ARBITRATION RULES, THE FORUM OF ANY SUCH ARBITRATION, THE ALLOCATION OF FEES FOR ANY SUCH ARBITRATION AND/OR ANY OTHER PROVISIONS CONTRARY TO THIS MASTER AGREEMENT, THOSE RULES ARE DELETED AND/OR EXPRESSLY SUPERSEDED BY THIS MASTER AGREEMENT. TO THE EXTENT ANY AMBIGUITY EXISTS BETWEEN THE ARBITRATION RULES AND THIS MASTER AGREEMENT, THIS MASTER AGREEMENT SHALL CONTROL. IF THE PARTIES CANNOT AGREE UPON AN ARBITRATOR, THEN EACH PARTY SHALL DESIGNATE AN ARBITRATOR REPRESENTATIVE AND THE ARBITRATOR REPRESENTATIVES SHALL SELECT THE ARBITRATOR. IF A CLAIM IS SUBMITTED TO ARBITRATION, (A) YOU WILL NOT HAVE THE RIGHT TO GO TO COURT OR TO HAVE A JURY TRIAL; (B) YOU WILL NOT HAVE THE RIGHT TO ENGAGE IN PRE-ARBITRATION DISCOVERY EXCEPT AS PROVIDED IN THE ARBITRATION RULES; (C) YOU WILL NOT HAVE THE RIGHT TO HAVE ANY CLAIM ARBITRATED AS A CLASS ACTION UNDER THE ARBITRATION RULES OR UNDER ANY OTHER RULES OF CIVIL PROCEDURE; (D) THE ARBITRATOR'S DECISION WILL BE FINAL AND BINDING WITH LIMITED RIGHTS TO APPEAL; AND (E) THIS MASTER AGREEMENT SUPERSEDES ANY PRIOR ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION AND/OR ARBITRATION AGREEMENT THAT MAY EXIST BETWEEN YOU AND FINANCIAL INSTITUTION. THIS AGREEMENT TO ARBITRATE DISPUTES WILL SURVIVE THE CLOSING OF YOUR ACCOUNT AND THE TERMINATION OF THIS MASTER AGREEMENT OR ANY PRODUCT SCHEDULE. ANY ARBITRATION TAKING PLACE UNDER THIS AGREEMENT SHALL BE CONDUCTED IN THE STATE OF GEORGIA, OR SUCH OTHER LOCATION AGREED UPON IN WRITING BY THE PARTIES.

9.18. Governing Law.

These terms and conditions of this Master Agreement and any applicable Product Schedule shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the State of Georgia, without regard to its conflict of law provisions and without regard to your state of residence.

9.19. Enforcement.

The prevailing party in any such action shall be entitled, subject to applicable law, to payment by the other party of its reasonable attorney's fees (which may be or include the allocatable cost of in-house counsel) and costs, including fees for any litigation, arbitration, mediation, appeal, or bankruptcy proceedings, and any post-judgment collection actions, if applicable.

9.20. Compliance with Laws, Rules, and Regulations.

You agree to comply with all existing and future instructions used by the Financial Institution for processing transactions. You further agree to comply with and be bound by all applicable state or federal laws, rules and regulations affecting the use of checks, drafts, fund transfers, and ACH transactions, including but not limited to, rules and procedural guidelines established by the Federal Trade Commission ("FTC"), the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve, the National Automated Clearing House Association ("Nacha") and any other clearinghouse or other organization in which Financial Institution is a member or to which rules Financial Institution has agreed to be bound. These laws, procedures, rules, regulations, and definitions shall be incorporated herein by reference.

9.21. Miscellaneous Provisions.

9.21.1. Headings. The headings and captions contained in this Master Agreement and any applicable Product Schedule are included only for convenience of reference and do not define, limit, explain, or modify this Master Agreement and any applicable Product Schedule or its interpretation, construction, or meaning.

9.21.2. Severability. The holding of any provision of this Master Agreement and any applicable Product Schedule as invalid, illegal, or unenforceable, in whole or in part, shall not affect the other provisions of this Master Agreement and any applicable Product Schedule, which shall remain in full force and effect.

9.21.3. Waiver. No waiver by the Financial Institution (whether in writing or not) of any term, condition, or obligation of you under this Master Agreement and any applicable Product Schedule shall bind the Financial Institution to waive the same term, condition, or obligation again, nor shall any other provision, condition, term, or obligation hereof be affected by such a waiver.

9.21.4. Binding Effect. This Master Agreement and any applicable Product Schedule shall inure to the benefit of and be binding upon the successors, heirs, trustees, and permitted assigns of the parties hereto.

9.21.5. Entire Agreement. This Master Agreement and any applicable Product Schedule constitutes the entire agreement between the parties hereto concerning the subject matter hereof. All contemporaneous agreements or understandings concerning the subject matter hereof, whether oral or written, are merged into this Master Agreement.

9.21.6. Transfers and Assignments. You cannot transfer or assign any rights or obligations under this Master Agreement and any applicable Product Schedule without Financial Institution's written consent. The Financial Institution may assign its rights and delegate its duties under this Master Agreement and any applicable Product Schedule to a company affiliated with the Financial Institution or to any other party.

Cash Management Delegation of Authority

This form is to be used when Customer wishes to delegate authority to sign various authorization forms to someone other than the person who signed the Authorization for Cash Management Services (Exhibit A).

By signing below, Customer authorizes the incumbent of the specified position listed in Section A or each person listed in Section B below, acting alone, to execute documents that Financial Institution may request, and any amendments or renewals pertaining to the use of Services, including but not limited to designating one or more persons authorized to initiate, amend, cancel, confirm, or verify the authenticity of instructions to Financial Institution for Services (whether given orally, electronically, or by fax instructions) and to revoke any authorization granted to such person as he or she deems appropriate. The signer of this form has the same authority described above for each Service with Financial Institution, unless otherwise specified. Financial Institution is entitled to rely on this delegation until written notice of its revocation is received by Financial Institution.

Guidelines for Completion: Fill out either Section A or Section B, or both, depending on your specific needs. To delegate authority to any person holding a specific title, fill out Section A (copy of current Corporate Resolution required). To delegate authority to specific individuals by name, fill out Section B.

For each name or title, indicate "All" in the "Service" column if the person or title has authority to sign documents for all Services which Customer receives from Financial Institution. Otherwise, indicate specific Services for which the person or title has authority. For each name or title, indicate the entity or entities for which the person or title has authority to sign documents.

This Bank Highlights Report was compiled from financial data as reported to federal regulators. Although the financial data obtained from these sources is consistently reliable, the accuracy and completeness of the data cannot be guaranteed by BauerFinancial Inc.

Stars	BauerFinancial's proprietary rating. (See below.)
Total Assets	The size of the institution.
Profit (Loss)	The dollar amount of net income (or loss) for the period noted.
Return on Assets & Equity	Ratios regarding profitability - higher ratios indicate higher net income. (Calculation = Annualized year-to-date profit or loss as a percent of average assets or equity.
Leverage Capital Ratio	The ratio of capital to assets. Banks must maintain a ratio of at least 5% to be considered 'well-capitalized' by regulators.
Nonperforming Assets	Loans past due 90 days or more + nonaccrual loans + other real estate owned (generally acquired via repossession).

Star Ratings:

BauerFinancial star ratings classify each institution based upon a complex formula factoring in current and historical data. The first level of evaluation is the capital level of the institution followed by other relevant data including, but not limited to: profitability, historical trends, loan delinquencies, repossessed assets, reserves, regulatory compliance, proposed regulations and asset quality. Negative trends are projected forward to compensate for the lag time in the data. BauerFinancial employs conservative measures when assigning these ratings and consequently our analysis may be lower than those supplied by other analysts or the institutions themselves. More than four decades of experience has shown this to be a prudent course of action. As a general guideline, however, the following groupings were used:

5-Stars	Superior. These institutions are recommended by Bauer.
4-Stars	Excellent. These institutions are recommended by Bauer.
3½-Stars	Good.
3-Stars	Adequate.
2-Stars	Problematic.
1-Star	Troubled.
Zero-Stars	Our lowest rating.
FDIC	Institution has failed or is operating under FDIC conservatorship.

Peer Groups:

Group 1	Banks with: foreign and domestic offices; assets>=$100 bill; and/or adv. approach banks
Group 2	Assets >= $3 billion
Group 3	Assets >= $1 billion and < $3 billion
Group 4	Assets >= $300 million and < $1 billion
Group 5	Assets >= $100 million and < $300 million
Group 6	Assets < $100 million

FUNDS AVAILABILITY POLICY DISCLOSURE

This disclosure describes your ability to withdraw funds at Primesouth Bank. It only applies to the availability of funds in your transaction accounts (e.g., checking accounts). We reserve the right to delay the availability of funds deposited to accounts that are not transaction accounts for periods longer than those outlined in this policy. Please ask us if you have a question about which accounts are affected by our availability policy.

For purposes of this disclosure, the terms "you" or "your" mean customer and the terms "our," "we," or "us" mean Primesouth Bank.

YOUR ABILITY TO WITHDRAW FUNDS. Our policy is to make funds from your cash and check deposits available to you on the first business day after the day we receive your deposit. Electronic direct deposits will be available on the day that we receive the deposit. Once they are available, you can withdraw the funds in cash, and we will use the funds to pay checks that you have written. For determining the availability of your deposits, every day is a business day, except Saturdays, Sundays, and federal holidays. If you make a deposit before the close of business on a business day that we are open, we will consider that day to be the day of your deposit. However, if you make a deposit after the close of business or on a day that we are not open, we will consider the deposit made on the next business day we are open.

DEPOSITS AT OTHER LOCATIONS. This availability policy only applies to funds deposited at Primesouth Bank. Please inquire for information about the availability of funds deposited at other locations.

LONGER DELAYS MAY APPLY. In some cases, we will not make all of the funds that you deposit by check available to you on the first business day after we receive your deposit. Depending on the type of check that you deposit, funds may not be available until the second business day after the day of your deposit. The first $275.00 of your deposits, however, may be available on the first business day after the day of deposit. If we are not going to make all of the funds from your deposit available on the first business day, we will notify you at the time you make your deposit. We will also tell you when the funds will be available. If your deposit is not made directly to one of our employees, or if we decide to take this action after you have left the premises, we will send you the notice by the day after we receive your deposit. If you will need the funds from a deposit right away, you should ask us when the funds will be available.

In addition, funds you deposit by check may be delayed for a longer period under the following circumstances:

(a) if we believe a check you deposit will not be paid;
(b) if you deposit checks totaling more than $6,725 on any one day;
(c) if you redeposit a check that has been returned unpaid;
(d) if you have overdrawn your account repeatedly in the last six months; or
(e) if an emergency condition arises that would not enable us to make the funds available to you, such as the failure of computer or communications equipment.

We will notify you if we delay your ability to withdraw funds for any of these reasons, and we will tell you when the funds will be available. They will generally be available no later than the seventh business day after the day of your deposit.

SPECIAL RULES FOR NEW ACCOUNTS. If you are a new customer, the following special rules will apply during the first 30 days your account is open.

Funds from electronic direct deposits to your account will be available on the day we receive the deposit. Funds from deposits of cash, wire transfers, and the first $6,725 of a day's total deposits of U.S. Treasury checks, U.S. Postal Service money orders, cashier's, certified, teller's, traveler's, and federal, state and local government checks will be available on the first business day after the day of deposit if the deposit meets certain conditions. For example, the checks must be payable to you. The excess over $6,725 will be available on the ninth business day after the day of your deposit. If your deposit of these checks (other than a U.S. Treasury check) is not made in person to one of our employees, the first $6,725 will not be available until the second business day after the day of your deposit. Funds from all other check deposits will be available on the ninth business day after the day of your deposit.

DEPOSITS AT PROPRIETARY AUTOMATED TELLER MACHINES (ATMs). Funds from deposits (cash or checks) made at an ATM that we own or operate will be available on the second business day after the date of your deposit. However, the first $275.00 of the deposit, funds from checks drawn on Primesouth Bank and deposited at an ATM located at one of our branch offices and funds from U.S. Treasury checks that are payable to you will, be available on the first business day following the day we receive your deposit. If you make a deposit at an ATM that is owned and operated by us before 4:00pm ET on a business day that we are open, we will consider the deposit made that day. However, if you make a deposit at an ATM that is owned and operated by us after 4:00pm ET or on a day that we are not open, we will consider the deposit made on the next business day we are open.

All ATMs that we own or operate are identified as our machines.

Business Continuity Management Plan

This plan provides guidelines for the PrimeSouth Bank (PSB) staff, partners, and third-party service providers to recover critical operations based on priorities justified by the business impact of each service disruption. It includes:

1. An Executive Overview of the Business Continuation Plan
2. A Business Impact Summary
3. A Disaster Recovery Strategy
4. Roles and Responsibilities for the Crisis Management Team
5. Guidelines for the Recovery of IT Services

QUICK REFERENCE GUIDE

General Guidelines

- If the emergency threatens life or company assets, please take emergency response measures before implementing this plan. If there are injuries, please dial 911 for emergency assistance.

- The Crisis Management Team (CMT) should be notified immediately. (The Team's contact information is on Page 4.)

- The Crisis Management Team should bring a resumption plan and be prepared to travel. CMT members should always have their IDS with them.

- The safety of the staff is of the utmost importance. Please ensure that all staff members are accounted for, and their status is known. Please use Appendix A—Personnel location form immediately upon disaster.

- If the disaster happens after business hours, a calling tree process will be followed to streamline the communication flow. Please see the Calling Tree/Notification Checklist in Appendix B for Staff notification. There are alert notifications for regular business hours and after hours; ensure that you are working under the correct procedures.

- The CMT Leaders must decide on the location of the command center and the frequency of the status call that will be used by the staff immediately following the disaster. In addition, the CMT Leaders must determine if an assembly location will be used for the staff immediately following the disaster. If possible, the recovery site should also be determined. Refer to Appendix E for assembly sites, command centers, and/or recovery site(s).

- If access to the building is temporarily granted, CMT should refer to Appendix C for a list of critical resources to be retrieved.

- A Disaster Assessment checklist (Appendix G) needs to be documented upon declaration of the disaster with the appropriate recovery strategies documented.

- CMT members must use Status Reports (Appendix H) to ensure adequate documentation is provided during the event.

- Refer to Appendix F for Communication Guidelines when talking to staff, service providers etc. DO NOT TALK TO THE NEWS MEDIA

- If possible, the CMT will meet in advance of a potential disaster (e.g., a Hurricane) to make proactive decisions and monitor the status of the impending disaster.

- DR Process & Procedures = Share Drive (G: Bank Policies & Procedures) & PrimeCentral

- PrimeSouth Bank Website for DR Status/Updates: www.primesouth.com

Corporate Crisis Management Team (CMT)

CMT Role	Employee	Home / Cell	Description
CMT Leader	Rogier Kamerling	414-897-4520	Coordinate overall recovery and resumption and make critical decisions.
Alternate CMT Leader	Adam Smith Sheri Johnson	912-309-1663 923-614-3029	Assumes responsibility if the CMT Leader is unavailable.
Public Relations Leader	Jim Walker	310-904-3840	Process media/press inquiries and provide press statements.
IT Coordinator	Jim Jowers Chad Bristow	912-310-0550 912-288-5070	Coordinate systems recovery to allow the resumption of critical business activities.
Information Security Coordinator	Josh Dasher	912-293-3668	Coordinate information security.
Retail Coordinator	Jessica Trull	912-722-0861	Coordinate recovery and resumption for Retail Operations.
Lending/Credit Coordinator	Tony Crews Adam Smith	912-266-6575 912-309-1663	Coordinate recovery and resumption for Lending.
Back Office Deposit Operations Coordinator	Jessica Trull Julia Sharpe	912-722-0861 912-614-1728	Coordinate recovery and resumption for Back Office Deposit Operations.
Treasury Coordinator	Sharon Chandler Liz Steele	352-215-4940 352-441-5300	Coordinate recovery and resumption for Treasury.
Back Office Loan Operations Coordinator	Stephanie Vinzant Frank Ferra	904-206-2359 912-399-7649	Coordinate recovery and resumption for Back Office Loan Operations.
Human Resources / Administration Leader	Sheri Johnson Teamwork Services	912-614-3029 912-265-8500	Ensure staff safety and address urgent needs, emergency contact information, and beneficiary information.
Security Coordinator	Mandie Capps	912-614-9793	Ensure staff safety, deal with urgent needs, and ensure facility security.
Accounting & Finance Coordinator	Rogier Kamerling Claire Auffenberg	414-897-4520 469-233-0658	Coordinate recovery and resumption for Accounting & Finance.
Risk Coordinator	Adam Smith Mandie Capps Melissa Hendricks	912-309-1663 912-614-9793 912-614-3067	Coordinate recovery and resumption for Risk functions.
Mortgage Coordinator	Drew Miller Bobby Lamb	912-254-1515 912-294-4053	Coordinate recovery and resumption for Mortgage.

Succession Procedure:

If the CMT leader is unavailable, the alternate will lead response and recovery activities. If the alternate is unavailable, the division coordinators will appoint a leader. The leader will be the highest-ranking employee on site. If there is a tie, the most senior employee will be assigned the role.

The CMT Leader will call each CMT member after completing the team notification. The recovery site staff or Crisis Management Team should be informed of key staff's availability.

Assembly Site:

If the disaster renders the primary facility unavailable and an assembly site is needed, staff shall meet at the Assembly Site during the emergency.

Command Center:

The Waycross Office will serve as the primary disaster recovery command center. The Brunswick Downtown Office will serve as an alternate command center. The CMT Leader will designate an alternate command center if neither is available.

Recovery Site:

The Waycross Office will serve as the primary disaster recovery location for disasters that do not affect the HQ location. If the Waycross Office is determined to be the Disaster location, the CMT Leader will designate an alternate recovery center. In most cases, the alternate recovery site will be the Jesup Office.

Alternative Work Site:

The remote offices will serve as alternative workplace locations.

Other alternative locations will be employee’s homes if a shared workspace is not required for their continued services.

Business Continuity Strategy

Why plan?

Business survival is the primary rationale for business continuity management planning. Avoidance of monetary loss, damage to our reputation, and ethical and legal obligations to employees, members, and shareholders all support planning. Without adequate planning, the organization is forced to react to a disaster without an understanding of its recovery priorities and a rational, justified approach to the resumption of critical operations. The delays caused by a lack of planning may be financially fatal. (For example, technical resources like hot sites (a functional site as a backup) and communications services require long lead times to acquire and configure). History shows that most companies that suffer a disaster that causes an extended disruption to information processing do not survive more than two years after the disaster.

During, for example, the NYC attack on the World Trade Center, the anthrax attack on the US Postal Service, and the COVID-19 Pandemic, many lessons were learned, and some re-learned. The most important lesson was that businesses change over time. Today, we depend more on communications and systems support than just a few years ago. For PrimeSouth Bank, business operations depend highly on online services, and the company relies on its network and outsourced systems to provide core processing. Recovery of PrimeSouth Bank services and the critical business functions needed must be prioritized and planned to achieve our business goals.

Who will manage the execution of the plan if a disaster occurs?

Following best practices, company management has designated a Crisis Management Team (CMT) to guide mission-critical decisions during a disaster. PrimeSouth Bank CMT is a cross-functional group of business unit executives who manage all business functions and, as a result, are best prepared to guide the company during a crisis. Although these individuals are not directly involved in the IT recovery operation, this team guides on the priority of recovered services. They also understand the impact on operations and are prepared to communicate with staff, clients, partners, members, and other stakeholders during a disaster. They provide the oversight required for effective planning and execution, meeting security objectives, and regulatory compliance for business resumption and disaster recovery.

Based upon the justification and prioritization established by the CMT, PrimeSouth Bank will prioritize recovery activities, recommend approval of associated budgets, and establish accountability for preparedness to execute its Business Continuity Management Plan (BCMP) and IT Disaster Recovery Plan (DRP). Based upon the company's needs, the cross-functional CMT will include membership from Executive Management, Branch Operations, Core Processing, Information Technology (IT), and other critical business functions.

What are the Business Continuity Management Plan (BCMP) Objectives?

The PrimeSouth Bank BCMP and integrated IT Disaster Recovery Plan (DRP) have been written to achieve these critical objectives as required by PrimeSouth Bank business and operational needs, regulatory requirements, and industry best practices:

1. Assess the impact of service disruption on each business process to establish a clear justification for recovery planning.
2. Prioritize recovery operations to restore the most critical services first.
3. Limit the magnitude of any loss by:
    a. Minimizing the duration of service disruption to the critical applications,
    b. Avoiding data corruption
    c. Maintaining data confidentiality
4. Assure regulatory compliance.
5. Establish clear guidelines to accelerate the recovery process in a coordinated manner by:
    a. Defining methods to assess damage and justify disaster declaration.
    b. Delegating roles to every staff member.
    c. Defining procedures to recover prioritized systems.
6. Provide a foundation to train, test, and measure the effectiveness of PrimeSouth Bank’s recovery plan.

What is the Disaster Recovery Strategy?

PrimeSouth Bank will recover services at an alternate branch if a disaster is declared, which determines that the disaster has impacted the Waycross location and is unavailable. The company's primary application set, Horizon, is hosted by FIS in Little Rock, AR.

PrimeSouth Bank leverages redundant backup servers at the Gloucester and Waycross locations. Additional cloud backups are available if needed. The Waycross Office and the Brunswick–Downtown Office are connected to the Jacksonville data center and all other offices. In the event of a disaster to the production environment in the Waycross Office, all other locations could failover to the Gloucester office for continued server and core activity. This strategy of outsourced relationships by the institution provides limited disaster impact and increased flexibility, reducing the possibility of extended service disruptions.

By leveraging the existing backup solution, PrimeSouth Bank can utilize the surviving offices for continued operations. The close regional proximity also allows for efficient coordination and use of the PrimeSouth Bank employees and resources for disaster planning and testing. Most PrimeSouth Bank disasters would not affect the primary command center and recovery site.

PrimeSouth Bank staff will resume all client services at the recovery site specified in this plan. The goal is to leverage PrimeSouth Bank relationships and existing partner infrastructure to accelerate the recovery of services. PrimeSouth Bank client data will be collected and processed manually in a temporary or partial disaster until network connections are re-established. By combining off-line operating capabilities with local partnerships and their capabilities, PrimeSouth Bank is well positioned to meet its client requirements for service in the event a disaster is declared.

If the institution were to experience a long-term service disruption, core processing services would be recovered at a new, longer-term facility to be determined. PrimeSouth Bank has engaged in a relationship with FIS to provide the recovery of communications capabilities so that PrimeSouth Bank can access FIS Horizon and related services through any of their recovery sites.

In addition to this flexible relationship, PrimeSouth Bank has established procedures to train staff for emergency operations. Service resumption tasks have been standardized in this plan to reduce the complexity of both training and emergency operations.

What is included in the PrimeSouth Bank Disaster Recovery Plan?

This plan has been organized to consolidate the following information.

1. Prioritization for business process recovery on a justified basis.
2. A guide for service resumption.
3. A strategy to guide IT disaster recovery operations.
4. Guidelines to define coordinated actions by PrimeSouth Bank departments during business resumption.
5. Contact lists, inventories, and procedures to assist recovery.
6. Service Provider support for business resumption in primary or alternate facilities.

In the body of this plan, the priority of system recovery is defined, and guidelines are provided to staff to execute the recovery. PrimeSouth Bank conducted a Risk Assessment and Business Impact Analysis (BIA) to establish those priorities. Executive Management has approved the complete Risk Assessment and BIA, which is available for employees to review in more detail. PrimeSouth Bank's Board of Directors has also reviewed the PrimeSouth Bank Risk Assessment and BCMP plans during Board meetings. PrimeSouth Bank focuses on defining recovery processes, establishing supporting infrastructure to recover client services first, and restoring support for PrimeSouth Bank staff. This document outlines that the recovery process will be transparent for mission-critical functions. Still, it may require several days to restore non-critical IT services and reconnect staff to critical business functions.

This BCMP plan has been developed based on PrimeSouth Bank's continued efforts to deploy reliable systems to enhance business continuation for threats and risks that could interrupt service for shorter periods. Fault tolerance, data security, and data integrity controls are designed to be integrated into PrimeSouth Bank's IT architecture to reduce potential service outages from device failures. Uninterrupted power supplies (UPS) prevent operational disruptions to PrimeSouth Bank caused by failures in the electrical utility. The IT DR plan considers redundancy and recovery availability for all mission-critical systems.

This Disaster Recovery plan will be implemented when the CMT determines an event has occurred preventing sustained IT operations for critical business functions for at least 36 hours from any facility. When authorized by the CMT, this plan guides staff to their failover facilities. At a minimum, the CEO or designated alternate must approve the company's disaster declaration. Each resumption plan includes a template to guide the data collection to assess the disaster and provide the required facts to the CMT for consideration in declaring a disaster. This plan integrates actions needed to be performed by all critical staff as well as IT and other support services required to continue operations with the least amount of disruption possible. By combining service resumption planning at the department level with IT disaster recovery planning, PrimeSouth Bank will be better prepared to provide reliable service to its clients and a safe work environment for its staff.

In addition to the priority for service recovery, this plan includes guidelines for the IT department and other operating units to guide the recovery of critical services. The guidelines are flexible to accommodate potential disruptions from various threats and hazards. This plan is tested annually and updated as required to incorporate changes to the company's operating environment and recognize new threats and vulnerabilities.

Recovery Guidelines

When notified by the Corporate CMT or the Alternate CMT that the Business Resumption Plan (BRP) has been activated, the staff's primary responsibilities will be to use their resources to support the recovery effort of their assigned responsibilities and to activate their recovery procedures.

CMT Responsibilities / Checklist

Read the entire section before performing any assignments.

General

The primary responsibility of the CMT Member is to provide leadership of the recovery effort and coordinate support for the recovery effort. Other responsibilities include:

1. Participate in Resumption meetings with the Crisis Management Team Leader (CMT).
2. Direct the Business Continuity efforts of your team.
3. Oversee team communications activities.
4. Coordinate all administrative issues with the CMT.
5. Communicate status to customers, vendor partners, and other impacted entities.

Critical Functions

A Business Impact Analysis (BIA) has been conducted, and priority for recovery of services has been established. Please refer to the BIA to determine recovery time objectives. The BIA is available online during non-emergencies.

Normal Business Hours Response

When an emergency occurs during regular business hours, follow the corporate emergency procedures to ensure the safety of all staff, partners, and visitors.

After everyone has evacuated the building, each CMT Leader should complete the Disaster Assessment Guide (Appendix G). The HR leader should also inventory all personnel as outlined in Appendix A. Completed forms should be sent to the CMT Leader to allow location tracking of all employees.

Immediate actions after disaster

In the event of a disaster, staff should evacuate the building and meet at the designated location as deemed by the CMT Leader. CMT Members will inventory staff and any visitors and assess the disaster. Visitors will be identified during evacuation to ensure all visitors are accounted for. The CMT Leader will receive the personnel location forms and identify any missing people. Each department manager will release staff to the appropriate recovery site or alternative workplaces (homes or reciprocal institutions) when all people are accounted for.

Suppose the office is threatened by fire or other threats, including bomb threats or toxic contamination. In that case, staff shall first inform emergency responders and then meet at the designated site, where each CMT Member will complete Appendix A—Personnel Location Form. In addition to completing an inventory of all staff and visitors who evacuated the office, the CMT Leader will assess the disaster and complete the Disaster Assessment Guide—Appendix G.

Immediate actions to be taken by the CMT Leader or assigned alternate:

1. Meet with the CMT Members to assess the staff or personally take a head count to ensure all staff and visitors are safe and accounted for. Notify the Human Resources Leader immediately if anyone is missing, property damage is high, or there are serious injuries.
2. If life or property is at risk, take emergency response actions. Call local law enforcement and other emergency response resources as the situation justifies.
3. Report the disaster situation to the CMT and record all the information and instructions given by the CMT. Use the Communication Guideline in Appendix F as a reference and work paper.
4. Notify personnel not already notified. Use the most current Phone Listing in Appendix B—Calling Tree / Notification Checklist.
5. If instructed by the CEO, CMT, or designed alternative, activate the recovery procedures, and follow any manual recovery procedures.

After Normal Business Hours Response

When notified by the Crisis Management Team that the Business Resumption Plan has been activated, the team member will:

1. Record all the information and instructions the Crisis Management Team gave. Use the Communication Guideline in Appendix F as a guideline and work paper.
2. You may be instructed only to notify your line managers, your entire team, or as many personnel as possible. Use the Team Alert List located in the front of the plan or Appendix B. Record the status of all notifications and give the completed call list to the team leader.

Immediate actions to be taken by the CMT Leader or assigned alternate:

1. Contact the CMT Members assigned to the Crisis Management Team.
2. Have the CMT Members notify as many personnel as possible, alerting them of the disaster and where to report to the next business day. Record the status of all notifications made by the CMT.
3. For managers, if instructed by the Crisis Management Team, report to the Command Center.
4. For employees, if instructed by your manager, report to the Recovery Site and activate your recovery procedures.
5. After contacting your team, have them meet you at the Recovery Site or alternative workplace locations.

Other important information

Business Resumption Plan Copies

The CMT Leader should ensure that all team leaders maintain communication.

Status Report

CMT Members should prepare written status reports hourly for the Crisis Management Team to keep them apprised of the current situation. Use the Status Report Form - Appendix H.

Teamwork Area

The primary requirements for sustaining business are the availability of a phone and Internet connection. PrimeSouth Bank's primary objective for business continuity after a disaster is to ensure that commitment dates and compliance are maintained for all loans, funding, and customer requirements.

Notifications

Notify relevant third parties located in Appendix K of service requests. The information provided should be reviewed with the Crisis Management Team before being called.

Special Official Re-Entry Permit

The institution has a permit authorized by the State of GA for Phase Three Re-entry. The permit holder is authorized to access an area impacted by a disaster before the public to respond to life-threatening hazards, repair critical infrastructure, and/or restore essential commerce. See Appendix Q.

Recovery Steps

The following recovery actions are to be used as a guide. During a disaster, circumstances may dictate that some or all documented steps must be altered. The CMT Leader should use their judgment while managing the recovery/resumption operations.

1. Immediately following the disaster, the CMT Leader will contact the Crisis Management Team Members to find out:

    - Status of the safety of employees and visitors located in disaster location (if applicable).
    - The initial assessment of the damage.
    - The working conditions of the affected site.
    - The initial assessment of the performance and functionality of the network.
    - The availability of the recovery teams designated.
    - The availability of the employees that are in the disaster location.
    - The status of locations which are not part of the disaster zone.
    - The functionality of the network at locations not affected by the disaster.
    - Estimated times for recovery of affected voice, data, and applications.

2. The CMT Leader will call an Executive and CMT Meeting to review the following:

    - Provide high-level status items in Paragraph 1 above.
    - Confirm CMT member availability and designate alternatives if necessary.
    - Review tasks to be performed by the CMT.
    - Establish communication timetables and mediums with status based on available means.
    - Establish personnel requirements (outside of CMT) to determine roles/responsibilities during recovery operations.
    - Establish the most effective communication strategies with personnel not involved in the recovery operation, providing them with direction and disaster updates.

3. The CMT Member – Customer Communication

    - The customer communication CMT Leader and any designated personnel will be assigned to contact customers, advise them of the situation, and when they can expect service to be restored.

4. The CMT Leader and Alternate Leader – Staff allocation

    - Determine if some personnel must travel to the business recovery site.
    - Distribute copies of any forms needed during the recovery operation.
    - Instruct everyone not to make statements to the news media.
    - Personnel should be assigned recovery support duties required by other teams, as needed.
    - Identify the category in which personnel should be alerted. Consider:
        - ✓ Personnel that might need to give aid to other employees.
        - ✓ Personnel needed at the work area to resume normal business functions.
        - ✓ Personnel who should stay home and work remotely via VPN, alternative work site, or remain on standby (they will be needed when the initial group needs rest).
    - Contact personnel who will be needed to report to the assigned work area.
    - Designate space for personnel reporting to the work area.
    - Implement procedures to resume time-dependent functions based on the priority established.
    - Instruct all personnel to carry photo identification and be prepared to show it to security or local authorities.

As the recovery operation progresses, the team should be prepared to return to the affected facility and resume normal business operations.

Business Recovery Work-Area Checklist

Work Area Scenarios

The Crisis Management Team will provide each team leader with a work area for business resumption. One of the following is the scenario that will take place:

1. Work area at the location if the facility is accessible. The Crisis Management Team will provide information about what area the team can use.

2. Work area at the alternate office location.

3. Work area at the Command Center for select CMT members.

4. Work area at home. A home internet connection and a VPN will connect you to PrimeSouth Bank's servers.

Work Area Requirements

PrimeSouth Bank has determined that the recovery site must have the following requirements:

- High-speed access to the internet.
- Voice communications are either through a cell phone or a landline.
- Copy machines and/or printers, as needed.
- Security systems and monitoring, as needed.

Business Recovery Site Information

Guidelines for Travel to the Business Recovery Site

Most disasters are isolated to a single building or block. In those situations, the Business Recovery Site in the local area will be used for recovery. Some catastrophes are community-wide and, as such, may eliminate the option of using the local Business Recovery site. In those instances, we may use more distant, other, or vendor/partner recovery sites. Refer to Appendix E—Recovery Sites and Emergency Assembly Sites for a list of these facilities.

In the case of a distant recovery site, the CMT Leader may divide the available personnel into two groups: those who will go to the Recovery Site first and those who will await further instruction from home. The CMT Leader should not over-commit resources during the first few days.

Each team member should provide directions to the personnel traveling to the Recovery Site. If personnel cannot drive to the backup site and need another arrangement, the manager should arrange the details through the administrative team leader or CMT Leader.

Each team member will provide the Administration team leader or CMT Leader with the names of the individuals, their destination, hotel requirements, an estimate of any travel money needed, and instructions relating to specific personnel. All expenses should be tracked utilizing the form in Appendix M.

If required, the CMT Administration designee will assist with necessary travel arrangements and provide personnel with itineraries, tickets, and advance travel money.

Off-Site Stored Materials

Copies of critical documents, computer/PC backup data, critical supplies, company forms, etc., may be available from several sources:

1. Data Recovery - Hosted Backups

   PrimeSouth Bank maintains hosted data backups in the FIS data center in Phoenix, AZ, and network-related data backups through Veeam cloud systems. Offsite and cloud-based backups are stored locally for a 30-day rotation.

2. Remote Workstations - access to institution functions can be performed remotely through institution-owned devices (laptops). Some items that are contained on these laptops include:
   - Necessary software applications and certificates.
   - Electronic copies of the Business Resumption Plan to guide recovery and collect notes on recovery actions.
   - Electronic copies of any forms, templates, and instructions.
   - Links to frequently visited resources via the web.

Critical Resources to Be Retrieved

Many incidents do not destroy office contents. Depending on the circumstances, cleaning and drying paper, systems, and other critical company resources might be possible. Even if computers, tapes, and hard drives have water, smoke, or soot damage, extracting the information from them might be possible.

Appendix C contains a list of critical items to be recovered, if possible.

Following the incident, if authorities and your facilities staff determine that your affected building is safe to enter, you might be allowed into your building for a short time. This could be for as little as 15 minutes or a half-hour. Provide the equipment list (from Appendix C) to the staff assigned to enter the building for retrieval purposes. This assumes, of course, that the items are salvageable.

Under more severe circumstances, the list of items to be retrieved may have to be submitted to emergency response personnel who may attempt to recover materials.

This list should match the assets with high priorities from the BIA.

Some examples of items you might need to retrieve include servers, routers, fire cabinets, computer disks, computers, selected paper files, and work-in-process.

You should not retrieve family pictures, unimportant files, or information duplicated elsewhere.

Resiliency Plans

Various forms of disasters may impact the financial institution. Amongst the most significant threats that may affect the institution are threats to the physical building, the technical network, and the availability of staff. A new developing threat to many institutions is cyber-attacks. This section discusses these significant threats, and the resilience plans in place.

Cyber Resilience

The increasing sophistication and volume of cyber threats and their ability to disrupt operations or corrupt data can affect the business resilience of financial institutions. The ability of financial institutions to respond effectively to a cyber-attack is critical to business resilience. The institution considers the following mitigating controls:

- Data backup architectures and technology that minimize the potential for data destruction and corruption.
- Independent, redundant alternative communications providers.
- Layered anti-malware strategy.
- Increased awareness of potential insider threats.
- Enhanced incident response plans reflecting the current threat landscape and
- Prearranged third-party forensic and incident management services.

Below are specific cyber risks and the resilience plans to mitigate the threats.

Malware

Malware represents a serious and growing threat to financial institutions. It is focused on achieving high-impact objectives, such as data corruption and unauthorized financial transactions. Anti-malware vendors are continually challenged to keep pace with rapidly proliferating malware threats. For example, "zero-day" exploits can result in significant damage.

Preparedness

To strengthen resilience against malware threats, PrimeSouth Bank uses a layered anti-malware strategy, including integrity checks, anomaly detection, system behavior monitoring, and employee security awareness training, in addition to traditional signature-based anti-malware systems. The institution enforces additional standard controls, such as strong passwords, appropriately controlled mobile devices, DNS filtering, controls over access to social networks, hardened software, and operating systems, and controlled and monitored Internet access.

Response

The institution would work with Safe Systems, FIS, and other relevant IT Information Security Resources to determine the cause of the issue. During the outage, the institution will utilize offline procedures. The institution, UFS Tech (Safe Systems), and any relevant vendors will work to resolve the issue. Depending on the expected length of the outage, the institution would failover to the DR data center.
Refer to the Incident Response Plan for further details.

Insider Threats

Cyber threats can be launched from within a financial institution by a disgruntled employee or someone placed in the financial institution deliberately to carry out a cyber-attack.

Preparedness

The institution considers the possibility that a knowledgeable insider may cause a disruptive event and its potential impact on business resilience. Employee screening, dual controls, and segregation of duties are some examples of controls in place to mitigate the risks of an insider attack.

Response

The institution would work with third-party vendors and other relevant IT Information Security resources to determine the cause of the issue. During the outage, the institution will utilize offline procedures. The institution and any relevant vendors would work to resolve the issue. Depending on the expected length of the outage, the institution would failover to the DR data center. Refer to the Incident Response Plan for further details.

Data or Systems Destruction and Corruption

Cyber-attacks may simultaneously target production data and online backups for destruction or corruption. It may also target the destruction of hardware. Data destruction occurs when data are erased or rendered unusable. Data corruption occurs when data are altered without authorization. Either can happen inadvertently or through malicious intent. In some cases of data corruption, data may appear usable but produce unexpected and undesirable results. A financial institution may not become aware that data has been corrupted for some time after an event and may find it difficult to determine the extent of the problem. Thus, data corruption may have a more significant impact on the financial institution and require a different recovery response than cases of data destruction.

Preparedness

The institution has on-site servers at all offices, which have backup capabilities. Connectivity exists between the Waycross and Brunswick—Downtown Offices and all the other offices. The institution has a connection to Azure.

Response

The institution would work with third-party vendors and other relevant IT Information Security resources to determine the cause of the issue. During the outage, the institution will utilize offline procedures. The institution and any relevant vendors would work to resolve the issue. Depending on the expected length of the outage, the institution would failover to the DR data center.

Distributed Denial of Service

A denial-of-service attack makes a machine or network resource unavailable to its intended users. The institution's primary target is our public-facing and online banking websites. Such an attack would make our online banking and website services unavailable to customers, causing potential reputational damage. As a result, PrimeSouth Bank has the following plan in place.

Preparedness FIS (public website)

Recovery procedures are divided into sequential phases. Each phase contains specific activities and tasks that vary depending on the disaster's location.

Phase 1: Disaster Occurrence

This phase begins with the occurrence of the disaster event and continues until a decision is made to activate the DRP.

- Emergency response measures.
- Notification of management.
- Damage assessment.
- Disaster declaration.

Phase 2: Plan Activation

In this phase, the DRP is activated and put into effect. This phase continues until critical business functions are re-established and computer system service is restored.

- Ensure employee safety.
- Restoration of Technology operations.

Phase 3: Revert to Normal Operations

This phase reverts and restores the original site's technology operations and human functions.

- Terminate rally point and/or remote sites.
- Relocate personnel, records, and equipment.
- Restore Corporate Technology Operations.
- Restore Corporate Human functions.

Preparedness Online Banking

FIS has various monitoring and alerting:

- Independent alerting from the Government, Information Security Partners, Industry SS feeds, etc.
- Alerted network traffic flow spike or anomaly.
- IDS/IPS captures or alerts.
- eBanking system alerts.
- Client reports of significant fraud incidents destined for foreign accounts.

Response Online Banking

FIS systems continually evolve in their sophistication for log and event correlation and analysis. It is widely known that all Internet-facing infrastructures are under constant attack from a variety of automated tools, as well as from targeted attacks. As such, an organization's systems are constantly receiving alerts. Such alerts effectively become a wall of 'white noise' from which accurate and credible threats must be isolated. The phrase 'receiving an alert' indicates that an honest and credible threat has been detected within the white noise. When such an alert is received, the alert is evaluated, and FIS assembles the appropriate response teams. During this phase, technical and communication bridge lines are initiated to identify mitigation and communication steps for the affected client(s).

- Identify Intended Targets: As the alert(s) are further investigated, FIS works to identify the specific site(s) and client(s) being attacked.
- Notify Intended Targets: It should be noted that every financial institution is continuously under attack. Most of these attacks are automatically defended against FIS's standard security controls and procedures (i.e., firewalls, intrusion prevention systems, etc.); therefore, notification will occur only in the event of an impact. In such cases, when the intended targets of the attack are known, FIS notifies the client(s) being attacked and works with them to help identify any affected customers.

- Block Traffic: In many cases, blocking traffic to specific sites is necessary. In the same way that police would set up a roadblock to help stop unwanted traffic, investigate a scene, or protect an area affected by an incident, FIS may block some or all traffic to the specific client site(s) being attacked; this is a vital step in properly mitigating the attack. Once traffic is blocked in the institution(s) being attacked, the FIS environment is stabilized (if necessary), and other financial institutions and their customers can access the FIS eBanking applications and other Internet-facing products at that FIS location.
- Engage Technical Mitigation Steps: Technical mitigation steps are varied. They include, but are not limited to, the following:
    - Engage appropriate Internet Service Providers (ISPs) for mitigation steps, such as:
        - IP blocking,
        - Zombie defense controls, or
        - Enable other countermeasures to filter out attack traffic.
    - Involving 3rd Party DDoS scrubbers in case traffic is determined to be swung to scrubbing centers.
    - Adjusting tactical 'block-and capture-capture' within existing IPS Systems (specific DDoS signatures enabled).
    - Contact law enforcement and remind the client to engage with law enforcement.
    - Monitor and Adjust: The last step in the process verifies that the mitigation is adequate and that the attack has been adequately dealt with. FIS monitors traffic and adjusts mitigation strategies until the DDoS attack has ended.

FIS Client Responsibilities

In addition, FIS reminds client organizations to review and update their security controls regularly. Controls include system limits, alerts, and other security controls for all payment transactions in retail and/or commercial banking solutions. DDoS and 'account takeover' are inherently linked, and many cyber-criminals will attempt to use DDoS to mask an account takeover. Another control organizations are encouraged to practice is educating end customers on their responsibility for securing all devices used to access banking and mobile solutions.

Pandemic Resilience

The FFIEC defines a pandemic as an outbreak of a disease that occurs over a wide geographic area and affects an exceptionally high proportion of the population worldwide.

Scenario

A disease threatens the population, requiring non-essential workers to remain home. Local authorities may enforce additional stay-at-home restrictions and requirements around building capacity and personal protection use.

Preparedness

The institution has developed a Pandemic Plan, Appendix P.

Response

The institution would follow the Pandemic Plan in place, Appendix P.

The CMT would assess the situation. Local and National guidance would be reviewed.

Triggers would be defined based on increasing severity levels, and a course of action would be established at each trigger level.

Critical business functions would be prioritized when leveraging the BIA.

Offices would assess personal protection supplies, and managers would assess staff's access to working remotely.

The CMT would continue to monitor local and national media and take actions relative to defined trigger levels.

PrimeSouth Bank's network and infrastructure allow employees the capability to perform most business functions remotely.

PrimeSouth Bank has a response plan for virus-positive cases. Based on the severity of the virus, this plan may need to be augmented.

Physical Resilience

Physical resilience is the traditional approach to business continuity and includes IT architecture, infrastructure, facilities, and communications.

Scenario

The institution does not have access to or availability of the primary business site; however, it has a viable technical network and the staff to perform critical functions.

Preparedness

The institution has identified recovery sites as listed in Appendix E.

Preparedness strategies for specific event types are defined below.

Response

The institution would assess the damage caused to the primary business site. If it is determined that business cannot resume at this location, an alternate site will be utilized.

Response strategies for specific event types are defined below.

Earthquake

Scenario:

An earthquake occurs during business hours and causes physical damage to a banking center.

Preparedness Strategy:

1. Evacuation plans and assembly sites have been identified for all locations.
2. Refer to Evacuation Plan. Security training includes the Bank's Evacuation Plan.

Response Strategy:

During an Earthquake

1. Guide and assist in moving customers to a safe place away from glass.
2. Get under and hold onto a desk or table or stand against an interior wall.
3. Protect your eyes by pressing your face against your arm.
4. Avoid exterior walls, glass, and heavy furniture (file cabinets, bookcases, and wall cabinets).
5. Remain indoors until the shaking stops.
6. The following steps should be done only if time permits!
    a. End any jobs running on Workstations and sign off. If time permits, unplug any equipment not attached to the UPS. Place all backups in the fireproof safe.
    b. Power down the hardware/systems, proof equipment, and the UPS. Unplug any equipment not attached to the UPS.
    c. c. Place all currency, coins, money orders, cashiers' checks, machine tapes, customer payments, deposits, checks, files, and other necessary items in the vault. Lock all drawers and cabinets and place the drawers and keys in the vault.
    d. Store all files, records, reports, and other items in the vault.
    e. Lock all vaults (without setting timers) and the fireproof safe.

After an Earthquake

1. Check for fire or fire hazards (gas leak or electrical fire)
2. If necessary, when it is safe, evacuate the building. Go to the designated assembly site and wait for further instructions.
3. At the assembly site, the Supervisor will attempt to account for all personnel.
4. If people have been injured or property harmed by the earthquake, contact the CMT and make a report.
5. Check for any injured parties - call 911 for emergency medical services.
6. Notify the CMT Coordinator and provide information on the current situation.
7. Listen to the radio for important news and/or instructions and update the CMT coordinator if an earthquake is localized.
8. The CMT Coordinator will maintain communication and provide instructions regarding branch closures or disruptions of regular operations.
9. Prepare for and expect aftershocks that follow the initial earthquake.

Tropical Storm/Hurricane/Tornado/Severe Weather

TROPICAL STORM WATCH	Tropical Storm conditions are possible in the specified area of the Watch, usually within 36 hours.
TROPICAL STORM WARNING	Tropical Storm conditions are expected in the specified area of the Warning, usually within 24 hours.
HURRICANE WATCH	Hurricane conditions are possible in the specified area of the Watch, usually within 36 hours. During a Hurricane Watch, take immediate action to protect your family and property if a Hurricane Warning is issued.
HURRICANE WARNING	Hurricane conditions are expected in the specified area of the Warning, usually within 24 hours. Complete all storm preparations and evacuate if directed by local officials.
TORNADO WATCH	Be Prepared! Tornadoes are possible in and near the watch area. Review and discuss your emergency plans and check supplies and your safe room. Be ready to act quickly if a warning is issued or you suspect a tornado is approaching. Acting early helps to save lives! Watches are issued by the Storm Prediction Center for counties where tornadoes may occur. The watch area is typically large, covering numerous counties or even states.
TORNADO WARNING	Act! A tornado has been sighted or indicated by weather radar. There is imminent danger to life and property. Move to an interior room on the lowest floor of a sturdy building. Avoid windows. If in a mobile home, a vehicle, or outdoors, move to the closest substantial shelter and protect yourself from flying debris. Your local forecast office issues warnings. Warnings typically encompass a much smaller area (around the size of a city or small county) that may be impacted by a radar tornado identified by a forecaster or by a trained spotter/law enforcement watching the storm.

Scenario:

During severe weather, strong winds and storms can cause flooding and damage to the community and banking center(s).

Preparedness Strategy:

1. Branches have recovery sites identified in Appendix E. Customers would be directed to another location.
2. Affected branch staff would assist at other locations.

Response Strategy:

1. Monitor weather conditions by radio and inform the CMT coordinator and personnel.
2. Be prepared to implement an emergency evacuation plan should it become necessary.
3. If weather is imminent and evacuation is required, turn off electrical power at the circuit breaker box.
4. Notify CMT coordinator.
5. Customers would be directed to another office. Employees would relocate to another office.

During business hours (occupied building).

1. If time and level of danger allow secure cash & negotiables
2. Safely evacuate the building and lock doors upon exiting or take shelter inside
    a. If sheltering is in place, guide and assist customers in moving to a safe place away from glass.
    b. Get under, hold onto a desk or table, or stand against an interior wall.
    c. Protect your eyes by pressing your face against your arm.
    d. Avoid exterior walls, glass, and heavy furniture (file cabinets, bookcases, and wall cabinets).
    e. Remain indoors until the shaking stops.
    f. The following steps should be done only if time permits!
        i. End any jobs running on Workstations and sign off. Any equipment not attached to the UPS should be unplugged if time permits. All backups should be placed in the fireproof safe.
        ii. Power down the hardware/systems, proof equipment, and the UPS. Unplug any equipment not attached to the UPS.
        iii. Place all currency, coins, money orders, cashiers' checks, machine tapes, customer payments, deposits, checks, files, and other necessary items in the vault. Lock all drawers and cabinets and place the drawers and keys in the vault.
        iv. Store all files, records, reports, and other items in the vault.
        v. Lock all vaults (without setting timers) and the fireproof safe.
3. Assemble and account for all employees.
4. The building should not be re-entered until clearance, or a special permit, is used.
5. Coordinate with the CMT coordinator on further action to be taken.

Fire

Scenario:

A fire breaks out in a banking center during business hours and causes physical damage.

Preparedness Strategy:

1. Evacuation plans and assembly sites have been identified for all locations.
2. Refer to Evacuation Plan. Security training includes the Bank's Evacuation Plan.
3. Branches have fire extinguishers that are certified annually.

Response Strategy:

An evacuation plan would be in place for disasters during business hours. Employees and customers within the building would be directed to safe locations.

During business hours (occupied building).

1. Call 911.
2. If time and level of danger allow secure cash & negotiables.
3. Safely evacuate the building and lock doors upon exiting.
4. Assemble and account for all employees.
5. Report the incident and circumstances to the CMT coordinator.
6. The building should not be re-entered until the fire department approves.
7. Coordinate with the CMT coordinator on further action to be taken.

For disasters after hours, the contact list for alarms at each branch would be utilized to communicate with regional staff. Staff from an affected location would be directed to another available area, and customers would be directed to an available location. Website communication and use of local media would be leveraged to communicate the availability of locations and services to customers.

Flood

Scenario:

Excess rain and storms cause flooding in the community, and water damage has occurred to a banking center.

Preparedness Strategy:

1. Branches have recovery sites identified in Appendix E. Customers would be directed to another location.
2. Affected branch staff would assist at other locations.

Response Strategy:

1. Monitor weather conditions by radio and inform the CMT coordinator and personnel.
2. Be prepared to implement an emergency evacuation plan should it become necessary.
3. If flooding is imminent and evacuation is required, turn off electrical power at the circuit breaker box.
4. Notify CMT coordinator.
5. Customers would be directed to another office. Employees would relocate to another office.

Industrial Disaster

Scenario:

A chemical spill from a train, car, or truck spills a harmful chemical liquid. Inhalation can irritate the lungs, causing coughing and shortness of breath. The local community and bank office(s) must be evacuated.

Preparedness Strategy:

1. Evacuation plans and assembly sites have been identified for all locations.
2. Refer to Evacuation Plan. Security training includes the Bank's Evacuation Plan.
3. Branches have fire extinguishers that are certified annually.

Response Strategy:

An evacuation plan would be in place for disasters during business hours. Employees and customers within the building would be directed to safe locations.

During business hours (occupied building).

1. If time and level of danger allow secure cash & negotiables
2. The following steps should be done only if time permits!
    i. End any jobs running on Workstations and sign off. Any equipment not attached to the UPS should be unplugged if time permits. All backups should be placed in the fireproof safe.
    ii. Power down the hardware/systems, proof equipment, and the UPS. Unplug any equipment not attached to the UPS.
    iii. Place all currency, coins, money orders, cashiers' checks, machine tapes, customer payments, deposits, checks, files, and other necessary items in the vault. Lock all drawers and cabinets and place the drawers and keys in the vault.
    iv. Store all files, records, reports, and other items in the vault.
    v. Lock all vaults (without setting timers) and the fireproof safe.
3. Safely evacuate the building and lock doors upon exiting
4. Assemble and account for all employees; may need to assign another assembly site out of proximity of the spill.
5. The building should not be re-entered until Hazmat gives clearance or a special permit is used.
6. Coordinate with the CMT coordinator on further action to be taken.

For disasters after hours, the contact list for alarms at each branch would be utilized to communicate with regional staff. Staff from an affected location would be directed to another available area, and customers would be directed to an available location. Website communication and use of local media would be leveraged to communicate the availability of locations and services to customers.

Bomb Threat

Scenario:

A bomb threat is received, or a suspected bomb is found.

Preparedness Strategy:

1. Refer to Evacuation Plan. Security training includes the Bank's Evacuation Plan.
2. Recovery sites have been identified for all locations for relocation of staff and to service customers.
3. All critical functions can be performed at surviving locations, except accessing local safe deposit boxes.

Response Strategy:

If a bomb threat is received by telephone:

1. Write down information using the BANK SECURITY KIDNAP, HOSTAGE, BOMB THREAT FORM. This form should always be placed near the telephone where it can be easily accessible (i.e., under a desk mat, kept in a manila folder under the phone, etc.).
2. Try to determine from the caller:
    a. Location of the bomb.
    b. Time of explosion.
    c. Type of explosive.
3. Telephone the police, FBI, and CMT.

If a bomb threat is received by mail:

1. Retain the original correspondence and envelope in a plastic bag or large envelope.
2. Minimize handling to preserve fingerprint evidence.
3. Telephone the police, FBI, and CMT.
4. Immediately institute an orderly search by personnel sufficiently familiar with each area of the banking center or department that is subject to the bomb threat to identify any suspicious or foreign object:

    a. Conduct the search to cover subject areas with a minimum number of employees.
    b. Search to avoid alerting customers, invitees, and uninvolved employees.

5. If a suspicious or foreign object is found:

    a. DO NOT move or touch the object.
    b. Immediately institute an orderly evacuation of all customers, invitees, and employees to a safe distance.
    c. Take appropriate steps to secure the building during the evacuation phase. Direct all employees to take all measures essential to secure assets before evacuation.
    d. DO NOT re-enter the building until the police advise it is safe.

Civil Disturbance (Protests/Demonstrations)

Scenario:

Local riots or civil disturbances break out near one of the banking locations.

Preparedness Strategy:

To be prepared, banking center and department managers are to discuss emergency procedures with their personnel as outlined below. This meeting will be documented via an internal memorandum to the Physical Security Officer.

In the event of disturbances involving an entire city, county, or state, the direction will come from the Bank's Senior Management. This procedure will be used if the situation requires that a banking center or department be closed.

Response Strategy:

Anticipation of Civil Disorder

In anticipation of civil disorder, banking center or department managers are responsible for the following:

1. Advising the CMT;
2. Retaining a minimum amount of cash in the teller work area (banking centers only);
3. Maintaining service only to the extent that customer service will not be curtailed; and
4. Alerting staff members.

No Immediate Danger

It is the responsibility of the banking center and department manager personnel to, at a minimum, conduct the following procedures in the event a decision is made to close with no immediate danger to the staff or premises:

1. Notify the CMT of the emergency closing. It is the responsibility of the CMT or designee to notify local law enforcement agencies;
2. Close doors, draw curtains, and inspect premises;
3. Determine the safety of the immediate area and route home available to employees;
4. Set vault clocks and alarms for standard opening time unless advised otherwise by Senior Management; close vault (banking centers only);
5. Direct an employee to deliver work and mail to the nearest banking center outside of the threatened area;
6. Dismiss staff and caution them to remain at home and
7. Turn on all lights, lock all doors, and depart.

Immediate Danger

It is the responsibility of the banking center and department manager personnel to, at a minimum, conduct the following procedures in the event a decision is made to close when immediate danger to the staff or premises exists:

1. Notify the CMT of the emergency closing. It is the responsibility of the CMT to notify local law enforcement agencies;
2. Lock all doors and control customer exit from the facility;
3. Lock vault and evacuate premises; and
4. Notify the CMT after leaving the premises.

Active Shooter

Scenario:

An "active shooter" is an individual who is engaged in shooting or attempting to shoot people in a confined and populated area. In most cases, active shooters use firearms, and there is no pattern or method to their selection of victims (domestic violence is a common exception).

Preparedness Strategy:

The Bank's CMT is responsible for training all employees to help prepare for such an incident. This training should include:

- Reviewing and posting escape routes;
- Reviewing potential hiding locations;
- Recommendations to help ensure staff and customer safety;
- Post-incident meeting location(s);
- Review of pertinent information to deliver during a 911 call;
- Review of interaction with law enforcement; and
- Review U.S. Department of Homeland Security Active Shooter Event guides and videos.

The CMT is responsible for assisting with post-incident activities when safe to do so, such as:

- Triage;
- Damage assessment;
- Communication at appropriate times with:
    - Authorities
    - Staff
    - Board of Directors
    - Family
    - Public
    - Utilities
    - Security services
    - Cleaning services
    - Building maintenance
    - Regulatory authorities
    - Insurance companies
- Securing of building and assets; and
- Review and documentation of the incident. The Bank Security Program, Information Security Policy, Incident Response Policy, and Business Continuity Policy guidelines are reviewed and followed as appropriate.

Response Strategy:

When an Active Shooter is in your vicinity, you must be prepared mentally and physically to deal with the situation. The U.S. Department of Homeland Security recommends the following three actions in response to an active shooter event.

1. RUN

- Have an escape route and plan in mind.
- Activate silent alarm if it can be done safely and without slowing escape.
- Leave your belongings behind
- Evacuate regardless of whether others agree to follow.
- Help others escape, if possible
- Do not attempt to move the wounded.
- Prevent others from entering an area where the active shooter may be.
- Keep your hands visible (to prevent law enforcement from mistaking you as an attacker)
- Keep moving to an area of safety when outside. Remember, the shooter may return and continue firing.
- Call 911 when you are safe.

2. HIDE

- Hide in an area out of the shooter's view.
- Lock the door or block entry to your hiding place.
- Silence your cell phone (including vibrate mode) and remain quiet.
- If possible, put solid walls, doors, furniture, equipment, paper boxes, etc., between you and the shooter.

3. FIGHT

- Fight as a last resort and only when your life is in imminent danger.
- Attempt to incapacitate the shooter.
- Act with as much physical aggression as possible.
- Improvise weapons or throw items at the active shooter.
- Commit to your actions . . . your life may depend on it.
- Remember, everyone has the right to protect their life and the lives of others.

Recommendations for Interaction with Authorities

Information to provide to 911 operations:

- Location of the active shooter
- Number of shooters
- Physical description of shooters
- Number and type of weapons the shooter has.
- Number of potential victims at location

When law enforcement arrives:

- Remain calm and follow instructions.
- Drop items in your hands (e.g., bags, jackets)
- Raise hands and spread fingers.
- Always keep hands visible.
- Avoid quick movements toward officers, such as holding on to them for safety.
- Avoid pointing, screaming, or yelling.
- Do not ask questions when evacuating.

The first officers to arrive on the scene will not stop to help the injured. Expect rescue teams to follow the initial officers. These rescue teams will treat and remove the wounded.

Once you have reached a safe location, law enforcement will hold you until the situation is controlled and all witnesses have been identified and questioned. Do not leave the area until law enforcement authorities have instructed you to.

Liquidity Considerations

During a disaster, power and communications systems may fail (e.g., inoperable ATMs or debit and credit card systems), requiring cash to fulfill customer and business needs. Arrangements to help meet liquidity needs may include:

- Emergency borrowing access.
- Alternative cash delivery.
- Procedures to secure, deliver, and distribute cash.
- Temporary purchase authority guidelines.
- Expense reimbursement options for personnel.
- Higher-limit credit cards or separate checking accounts with designated individuals who can sign emergency checks.

- Discount Window Lending
  - The discount window plays a vital role in supporting the liquidity and stability of the banking system by providing ready access to funding; the discount window helps depository institutions manage their liquidity risks efficiently and avoid actions that have negative consequences for their customers, such as withdrawing credit during times of market stress.

- Discount Window Readiness
  - It is crucial for institutions to maintain operational readiness to borrow from the discount window as part of their contingency funding plans. An institution must have borrowing agreements with its regional Federal Reserve Bank to use the discount window. In addition, pre-pledging collateral at the discount window and conducting periodic transactions, including during regular times, facilitates borrowing by institutions on short notice.

Response

The institution has alternative procedures in place for accessing liquidity needs.

Preparedness

The institution has a contingency funding plan, procedures for reviewing customers' previous day balances to decide on funding, and a Vendor Management program.

The institution maintains various same-day funding sources in case of immediate funding sources. These sources are tested annually.

Areas Evaluated and Plans Developed

All data and records relating to PrimeSouth Bank and its customers should be maintained and stored to allow the institution to recover from any catastrophic event. These may be daily, weekly, monthly, quarterly, annually, or longer, depending on the institution's data backup and record retention policies published as an addendum to this document. This also may include system mirroring. Each assessed critical system, facility, process, or procedure will have a pre-defined recovery strategy in the following sections.

PrimeSouth Bank has implemented a recovery strategy that uses a combination of recovery solutions. Each strategy is further defined below.

The current recovery strategy involves utilizing outsourced technology providers and their associated recovery facilities and an internal recovery solution for each system and application at our designated alternate processing location. The recovery areas fall into two categories:

- ☑ Outsourced Technology Providers Recovery
- ☑ Bank Related Recovery

Reference Business Continuity Management Plan Business Functions Risk Assessment is used to assess the details of resources, vendors, applications, recovery time objective, recovery point objective, and maximum allowable downtime for each business unit.

Services Provided by Outsourced Service Providers

Core Processing System

Recovery Process Owner: FIS, CMT Leader, Retail Coordinator, Back Office Deposit Operations Coordinator, IT Coordinator

Environment Description:

Horizon is the Core Processing System for the institution. This service is outsourced to FIS Banking Solutions, the host site in Little Rock, AR. It provides deposits and loan account processing, batch processing, interface files for check processing systems, and interface files for our telephone banking, internet banking, and Cash Management applications. It is connected to our Bank's primary office location in Waycross and Gloucester via Level 3 MPLS circuits.

Little Rock Data Center is down:

As this service is outsourced, the institution will depend on FIS Banking Solutions' recovery procedures to re-locate processing at FIS Banking Solutions' business continuity location in Chandler, AR, in the event of a disaster event at their location. Disaster events at our location should not affect their ability to process work for the institution or provide access to customer information.

MPLS circuit failure:

If we have a telecommunications issue with the circuit coming into Waycross, it will be rerouted to Gloucester and vice versa. A VPN router in Waycross also functions as a tertiary connection. The institution will route core traffic through the Waycross VPN router if neither MPLS circuit is available.

If connectivity through Waycross were unavailable, the core would be routed through the FIS Jacksonville data center. FIS would be contacted, and a support ticket would be opened.

Data & Application Backup Strategy:

The outsourced provider's current strategy involves nightly backups of each processing region to a dedicated backup server, which is synchronized nightly to the business continuity location. Thirty-one days of backups are kept, and month-end and Year-End backups are kept indefinitely. Recovery location systems are updated when changes are made to root or production system libraries.

Business Continuity Management Plan:

The plan consists of restoring the last backup files at the recovery location and rerouting institution telecommunications access to the recovery box. Recovery plans, interdependencies, and procedures are included in their plan. In the event of a disaster situation at their location, a sample high-level recovery scenario is as follows:

- FIS Banking Solutions Personnel would be engaged in the Chandler, AZ site.
- Verify the operability of site recovery equipment.
- Verify releases of production libraries
- Restore all institution "Region Databases" from the backup.
- Simultaneously swing addressing routes from the production location to the DR site.
- Bring institutions online.
- VPN failover environment is included within the structure.
- Notify the Business Continuity Coordinator that we are up and running.

Internet Banking System

Recovery Process Owner: FIS, Back Office Deposit Operations Coordinator, IT Coordinator

Environment Description:

This system is an outsourced technology service from FIS Banking Solutions, based in the Charlotte, NC, Service Center. It provides Internet banking services to institutions' customers.

Worse-Case Recovery Strategy: The FIS Data Center is unavailable. In a contingency or disaster event at their location, processing will be transferred to FIS Banking Solutions' disaster recovery facility in Little Rock, AR.

Disaster events at our location should not impair Internet banking operations. In the event of a disaster at our primary location, customer maintenance activities could be performed at any of our other branches.

Data & Application Backup Strategy:

Database backups of the Internet Banking server are created nightly and automatically synchronized to the Disaster Recovery IB server database in Little Rock. The only actions that must be taken by FIS staff in the event of a fail-over are to reroute internet traffic from the Charlotte Internet Banking server to the DR server in Little Rock, allow the DR server connectivity to the Horizon host, and the Internet Banking System, and restart the application server software.

Business Continuity Management Plan:

FIS's current plan calls for transferring services to an IB server at its disaster recovery facility in Chandler, AZ.

Item Processing Services System

Recovery Process Owner: FIS, Retail Coordinator, Back Office Deposit Operations Coordinator, IT Coordinator

Environment Description:

The FIS Banking Solutions Center in Little Rock, AR, currently utilizes a series of Dell Servers, the ImageCentre™ application, and an Oracle™ database. It is connected to our institution's locations in Waycross and Gloucester via a Level 3 circuit. Image Centre is utilized to process teller work, generate statements, and view items and reports.

Worse Case Recovery Strategies:

For this service, business continuity issues can take one of several forms, and recovery strategies are built around the type of event. These events can be classified as follows:

- Local events affecting the facilities and/or equipment components of
- PrimeSouth Bank's main office
- Local events affecting the institution's branches (Blackshear, Hyde Park, Jesup, St Simons, Altama)
- Event affecting the service provider.
- Component Failure Events locally
- Component Failure Events at the service provider

Local Event Strategy Main Office:

Local events affecting the institution's main office's ability to do specific image processing-related tasks will be handled by transferring the performance of those activities to a functioning branch location. The BCC will evaluate the facts of each event and decide on activating such recovery procedures. This may be due to a component failure, i.e., a teller capture device not being operational. It may also be invoked for telecommunication failures, power failures, or more catastrophic events such as the destruction of the main office by fire, tornado, or other natural events.

Those activities include the following:

- Amount entry and data correction of main office work, Blackshear, and Brunswick
- Nightly transfer of daily ATE (posting file) to the data center.

Other main office ImageCentre™ activities, such as reviewing reports, will be postponed until the disaster event ends and the central office's capabilities are restored.

Local Event Strategy Branch Offices (Blackshear, Brunswick, Jesup)

The CMT will evaluate local events at any of the branches at the time of the event. The recovery manager responsible for this activity will decide whether to courier counter work to another branch location or delay processing until the event ends. If there is an issue with a scanner, we have spare scanners available at each location.

MPLS circuit failure:

If we have a telecommunications issue with the circuit coming into Waycross, the connection will immediately fail to the Gloucester connection and vice versa. This would occur within 1-2 minutes of the offline MPLS circuit.

If both MPLS circuits to FIS fail, a tertiary connection routes the core processing to the VPN connection in Waycross, where all branches access the VPN through Waycross. The dial-in line to Waycross for FIS access to the router is 912-285-2549.

1. A ticket would be started with FIS/NOC.
2. A ticket would be started with FIS.

Outsourced Provider Event Strategy

Events affecting the service provider will be handled by transferring processing to their recovery facility or utilizing one of their component failure strategies.

Data & Application Backup Strategy

The following is a summary of the center backup strategies:

- Service Provider backs up databases and images nightly.
- Service Provider has pre-located equipment at their Business Continuity location.
- The Service Provider synchronizes data daily to the recovery center.
- Database table changes mirrored to a duplicate server.
- Numerous component failure failovers in the production system
- The Service Provider has a Telco recovery plan.

Cash Management

Recovery Process Owner: FIS, Treasury, Back Office Deposit Operations Coordinator, IT Coordinator

Environment Description:

This system is hosted by FIS D1 Business, an outsourced technology services provider that provides ACH services for our commercial customers. Customers access the application via our website.

Data & Application Backup Strategy:

The institution does not need a backup strategy in this area; the outsourced services provider maintains a complete backup strategy.

Business Continuity Management Plan:

If customers were unable to access the FIS D1 Business site to process ACH, our customers would be notified. Most ACH files sent to the institution are for payroll.

The customer would be advised to write checks for payroll. A customer with an ACH debit file could be submitted using ShareFile to send the NACHA file. The institution would upload the secure NACHA file to the FRB.

Website

Recovery Process Owner: FIS, Retail Coordinator, IT Coordinator

Environment Description:

FIS hosts static web pages for our customers over HTTPS. It also provides our customers with access to Internet Banking, Bill Pay, and Cash Management. The Recovery Process Owner can edit some aspects of the website, but most changes are managed through FIS.

Worse-Case Recovery Strategy:

If the site were down, customers could be provided with the URL for Internet Banking, Bill Pay, and Cash Management to access these applications. Other areas of the website only provide information and forms. Customers would be directed to use the mobile banking app instead of the website.

Data & Application Backup Strategy:

The website is hosted on a server by FIS in Brown Deer, WI. They back this server up nightly, and it is replicated to another FIS in Phoenix, AZ, where it can be brought up in the case of a disaster.

Debit Card Processing

Recovery Process Owner: FIS, Retail Coordinator, Back Office Deposit Operations Coordinator, IT Coordinator

Environment Description:

FIS processes ATM and Debit card transactions for the institution and drives our ATMs. This is an outsourced technology services provider.

Worse-Case Recovery Strategy:

In the event of an event at FIS' Chandler, AZ Data Center, they can recover to the following locations: Brown Deer, WI; Voorhees, NJ; or Little Rock, AR. Transactions could be processed in stand-in mode until the switch to the backup location was complete. There are no local events that should affect the debit card processing capabilities.

Data & Application Backup Strategy:

The institution does not require a backup strategy in this area. The outsourced services provider maintains a complete backup strategy. In a disaster event requiring FIS to move to its recovery location, it will implement its recovery strategy.

Telephone Banking

Recovery Process Owner: FIS, Retail Coordinator, Back Office Deposit Operations Coordinator, IT Coordinator

Environment Description:

Customers use this application to look up account information over the phone.

Worse Case Recovery Strategy:

Customers must utilize online or in-branch services.

Data & Application Backup Strategy:

FIS replicates the site at their disaster recovery location nightly.

Bill Pay

Recovery Process Owner: FIS, Back Office Deposit Operations Coordinator, IT Coordinator

Environment Description:

Customers use this application to pay bills online. It is accessed from our institution's website.

Worse Case Recovery Strategy:

Customers would have to pay any bills themselves until the application was restored.

Data & Application Backup Strategy:

FIS replicates the site at their disaster recovery location nightly.

Loan Origination - Consumer

Recovery Process Owner: FIS, Back Office Loan Operations Coordinator, IT Coordinator

Environment Description:

FIS processes loan origination for the institution. This is an outsourced technology services provider.

Worse Case Recovery Strategy:

If an event occurs at FIS' Little Rock Data Center, the connection can be switched to the Phoenix, AZ, location. Transactions can be processed in stand-in mode until the switch to the backup location is complete. There are no local events that should affect the debit card processing capabilities.

Data & Application Backup Strategy:

The institution does not need a backup strategy in this area. The outsourced services provider maintains a complete backup strategy. If a disaster requires FIS to move to its recovery location, it will implement its recovery strategy.

Loan Origination - Commercial

Recovery Process Owner: FIS, Jack Henry, Back Office Loan Operations Coordinator, IT Coordinator

Environment Description:

FIS and Jack Henry are outsourced technology services providers that process loan origination for the institution, depending on the account.

Worse Case Recovery Strategy FIS:

In the event of an event at FIS' Little Rock Data Center, they can switch their connection to the Phoenix, AZ location. Transactions could be processed in stand-in mode until the switch to the backup location was complete. There are no local events that should affect the debit card processing capabilities.

Worse Case Recovery Strategy Jack Henry:

In the event of an event at Jack Henry Data Center, they can switch their connection to the Phoenix, AZ location. Transactions could be processed in stand-in mode until the switch to the backup location was complete. There are no local events that should affect the debit card processing capabilities.

Data & Application Backup Strategy:

The institution does not need a backup strategy in this area. The outsourced services provider maintains a complete backup strategy. They will implement their recovery strategy in a disaster requiring FIS and Jack Henry to move to their recovery location.

Internet

Recovery Process Owner: ATC, Comcast, AT&T, IT Coordinator

Environment Description:

Employees use the internet to access multiple applications and websites.

Worst-case Recovery Strategy:

Cell phones could be temporarily used to access certain sites if all internet connections are down.

Data & Application Backup Strategy:

If the ATC internet connection is unavailable in Waycross, it will failover to the internet connection at Gloucester.

Brunswick is configured to use Comcast as the primary internet source and ATC as the backup internet source. If Comcast is not available, ATC will be utilized.

Additionally, if either site's internet is down, the internet will route to the opposing site.

Virtualized Servers

Recovery Process Owner: IT Coordinator

Environment Description:

There is a network domain controller, file/print server, and Horizon server that is virtualized for each branch—additionally, Waycross and Gloucester house central servers needed for the institution.

There are two backup servers on the network, one at Waycross and one at Gloucester. Backups run nightly. Gloucester, Altama, Hyde Park, and SSI backup to the Gloucester backup server, and Waycross, Blackshear, Jesup, and Fernandina backup to the Waycross server. Once backups have been completed, replication begins between the Waycross and Gloucester backup servers. An offsite copy of the backups goes to a Third-party Cloud Provider. Full VM restores are performed weekly to validate backups.

Worse Case Recovery Strategy:

If the server fails, we will restore it from a backup. The scenario will dictate which backup copy is used.

Data & Application Backup Strategy:

Nightly backup and replication to Brunswick and Waycross.

Business Continuity Management Plan:

Contact IT to have the server restored from a backup. Thirty days of backups are maintained.

Email

Recovery Process Owner: IT Coordinator

Environment Description:

This cloud-based solution (Microsoft 365) is outsourced to Microsoft.

Worse-Case Recovery Strategy:

Email access will be unavailable if the internet is down. An internet hotspot or mobile device could be used to provide internet service.

Data & Application Backup Strategy:

Backups/connections to multiple data centers. Key personnel have access to email on cell phones via their cellular connection.

Employee Workstations

Recovery Process Owner: IT Coordinator

Environment Description:

Workstations running Windows operating systems.

Worse Case Recovery Strategy:

Spare workstations are always available.

Data & Application Backup Strategy:

By policy, all employees must back up all critical files to the network server, which is replicated between Waycross and Brunswick. Licensed software is managed via Microsoft's volume licensing. Files are also saved to OneDrive, SharePoint, and third-party cloud providers.

Business Continuity Management Plan:

It consists of the following elements:

- Sufficient workstations are available to begin operations at the recovery location.
- Base Images and Teller images are stored on the IT share for these PCs.
- Additional workstations will be purchased, as required, to restore all departments.

Contracts, Vital Records & Forms

Recovery Process Owner: Information Security Officer and Physical Security

Worse Case Recovery Strategy:

All vital contracts with vendors are stored in the Vendor Management software and can be accessed electronically by all branches.

Data & Application Backup Strategy:

Critical data files are stored in the Microsoft 365 Cloud, which Veeam is backing up. Physical documents are stored in fire-proof safes and vault areas.

Business Continuity Management Plan:

The recovery plan provided by the Vendor for VM software and Microsoft. All imaged documents are indexed and stored in ImageCentre.

Personnel

Recovery Process Owner: Human Resources/Administration Team Leader

Worse Case Recovery Strategy:

Direct personnel to other operating locations. If the disaster occurs in Waycross, Administrative personnel will operate remotely. Teller, Loan, and Customer Service personnel will be split among the other operating locations to perform customer service.

Recovery/Backup Strategy:

The plan assumes most personnel have survived the event and can be coordinated to perform necessary business functions. For additional backup assistance for Core Processing and Item Processing operational functions, we have FIS Banking Solutions in Little Rock.

Business Continuity Management Plan:

- Remote work environment
- Succession planning

Facilities

Recovery Process Owner: Human Resources/Administration Team Leader/Physical Security Officer

Worse Case Recovery Strategy:

Our worst-case recovery strategy involves the movement of operations to our Waycross branch location.

Recovery/Backup Strategy:

Alternate PrimeSouth branches for recovery.

Business Continuity Management Plan:

Currently, the plan involves using our Waycross branch and/or other branch locations.

FRB Services (including FedLine)

Recovery Process Owners: Treasury, Back Office Deposit Operations Coordinator, IT Coordinator

Environment Description:

FRB Services processes returns and orders cash, while FedLine processes Fed statements and pushes files to other institutions.

Worse Case Recovery Strategy:

Both FedLine Routers (Waycross & Gloucester) are down, or the connection is lost.

VPN or dial-up will not work:

Primary: use their web-based product with a token Secondary: Correspondent Bank (currently SouthState Bank) would be used to process transactions.

If Unable to connect via VPN, dial-up, or at an alternate site, contact the Fed.

Data & Application Backup Strategy:

The Federal Reserve would be contacted.

Business Continuity Management Plan:

Two employees with tokens will drive to Correspondent Bank.

FIS eEwire

Recovery Process Owners: FIS, Treasury, Back Office Deposit Operations Coordinator, IT Coordinator

Environment Description:

We currently enter all wires into eWire, approve them internally, and then send them to the Fed.

FIS Data Center is down:

As this service is outsourced, the institution will depend on FIS Banking Solutions' recovery procedures to re-locate processing at FIS Banking Solutions' business continuity backup in the event of a disaster event at their primary location. Disaster events at our location should not affect their ability to process work for the institution or provide access to customer information.

Worse-case Recovery Strategy:

Employees cannot connect via VPN, dial-up, or at an alternate site. As needed, they are cross-trained in eWire procedures.

Data & Application Backup Strategy:

The institution does not require a backup strategy in this area. The outsourced services provider maintains a complete backup strategy. If a disaster requires FIS to move to its recovery location, it will implement its recovery strategy.

Third Party Resilience

Third-Party Management

Establishing a well-defined relationship with technology service providers (TSPs) is essential to business resilience. The institution's third-party management program is risk-focused and provides oversight and controls commensurate with the level of risk presented by the outsourcing arrangement. To ensure business resilience, the program includes outsourced activities critical to the financial institution's ongoing operations. Attention to due diligence, contract management, and ongoing monitoring of TSPs is vital to maintaining business resilience. The institution’s Third-Party Risk Management Policy addresses the management of third-party relationships. This section focuses on the business-resiliency aspects of third-party risk management.

Due Diligence

The institution evaluates and performs thorough due diligence before engaging a TSP. The institution considers the maturity of new technologies and gains an understanding of the benefits and risks of engaging TSPs using such technologies during the due diligence process. Improvements in technologies have the potential to strengthen business resilience but may introduce new and different risks (e.g., shared access to data, virtual exploits, and authentication weaknesses). As part of the due diligence, the institution assesses the effectiveness of a TSP's business continuity program, emphasizing recovery capabilities and capacity. In addition, the institution understands the due diligence process the TSP uses for its subcontractors and service providers. Furthermore, the institution reviews the TSP's BCMP program and its alignment with its program, including an evaluation of the TSP's BCMP testing strategy and results to ensure they meet the institution's requirements and promote resilience.

Contracts

The terms of service are defined in written contracts that have been reviewed by the institution based on their risk before execution. Contract terms impacting the institution's ability to ensure effective business resilience are reviewed. These include the following:

- BCMP testing
- Data governance
- Default and termination
- Establishing and monitoring performance standards
- Foreign-based service provider
- Right to audit
- Security issues
- Subcontracting
- TSP updates

Ongoing Monitoring

Management effectively monitors TSP performance throughout the contract. Effective ongoing monitoring assists the institution in ensuring the resilience of outsourced technology services. The institution performs periodic in-depth assessments of the TSP's control environment, including BCMP, by reviewing service provider Business Continuity Management Plan testing activities, independent and/or third-party evaluations, and management information systems (MIS) reports to assess the potential impact on the institution's business resilience. The institution ensures that the results of such reviews are documented and reported to the appropriate management oversight committee or the board of directors. They are used to determine any necessary changes to the institution's BCMP and, if warranted, the service provider contract.

Third-Party Capacity

An increasing concentration risk corresponds to financial institutions' increased use of third-party service providers. In conjunction with industry consolidation, which has resulted in fewer, more specialized TSPs providing services to more significant numbers of financial institutions. This trend increases the potential impact of a scenario where a TSP is required to support recovery services to large financial institutions due to a widespread disaster. In addition, a business disruption at a single TSP may affect critical services provided to many institutions dependent on those services. In both scenarios, the TSP must have sufficient capacity to meet Recovery Time Objectives (RTOs), Recovery Point Objectives (RPOs), and Maximum Allowable Downtime (MADs) needed by the financial institution clients.

Significant TSP Continuity Scenarios

The significant size and client concentration of larger TSPs increase the potential impact of service disruptions across substantial financial industry segments, increasing the importance of resilience for these organizations. Natural disasters, physical threats, and cyber-attacks could significantly affect servicer capabilities. Beyond physical and cyber threats, financial pressures can lead service providers to decide not to invest entirely in appropriate security controls or resilience measures that would facilitate continuity of operations. In extreme economic distress, a servicer may not be financially viable to continue making necessary product updates or operations. Without advance notice or awareness of deterioration in a TSP's financial condition, the financial institution clients might not have appropriate time to make alternate processing arrangements.

TSP Alternatives

It is incumbent on financial institutions and third-party service providers to identify and prepare for potentially significant disruptive events, including those that may have a low probability of occurring but would have a high impact on the institution. Despite such planning, circumstances may cause a service to be unavailable for longer than a committed and tested RTO. In these situations, a financial institution and its TSPs should assess the impact on their respective customers and take the necessary steps to minimize the event's impact. In extreme scenarios where a TSP can no longer effectively perform its responsibilities, a new TSP may have to assume operations. Depending upon the specific circumstances, a new TSP may convert the financial institution to its systems and move them to its data center. Alternatively, the new TSP could assume control of the existing data center running the existing systems. The financial institution may have to move the operations in-house if no alternate TSP is available. The latter is generally not a valid option, as the reasons to outsource include a lack of expertise or financial resources to run services in-house and, therefore, moving them with little or no notice would exacerbate these limitations.

A critical failure at a service provider could have large-scale consequences. PrimeSouth Bank ensures that its TSPs have adequate planning and testing strategies that address severe events to identify single points of failure that would cause wide-scale disruption.

PrimeSouth Bank has implemented steps to plan for the possible failure of critical services. First, the institution discusses scenarios of significant disruptions that may necessitate transitioning critical services to alternate TSPs. Second, the institution assesses the immediate or short-term space, systems, and personnel capacity to absorb, assume, or transfer failed operations. Last, the institution identifies the most plausible range of recovery options and develops Business Continuity Management Plans to restore key services.

Testing with Third-Party TSPs

Testing is a critical step in the cyclical BCMP process. It is sufficient in scope and rigor to demonstrate the ability to meet recovery objectives, regardless of whether a service is performed in-house or outsourced. Third parties provide essential services and are included within the institution's enterprise-wide business continuity testing program. The testing program is based on the institution's established risk prioritization and criticality evaluation of the functions. Testing with third parties discloses the adequacy of both organizations' ability to recover, restore, resume, and maintain operations after disruptions, consistent with business and contractual requirements.

Testing Scenarios

The institution develops plausible and realistic scenarios of threats that disrupt business processes and the institution's ability to meet both business requirements and customers' expectations. These scenarios include those threats that may affect services provided by third parties to test the incident response plan and crisis management, including communication processes with third-party providers and other applicable stakeholders. Testing demonstrates not only the ability to failover to a secondary site but also the ability to restore normal operations. In addition, the institution develops appropriate scenarios to test its response during a significant event or crisis at the TSP. Scenarios include:

- TSP outage or disruption, activating the third party's alternative recovery arrangements. In this scenario, the third party is demonstrating recovery from an outage. At the same time, the client's financial institution has not been directly affected. Still, the TSP may require some response from the client if auto-failover is not used (e.g., changing telecommunication lines or providers).
- Financial institution outage or disruption. In this scenario, the TSP has not been directly affected but must react to address the client's recovery activities and needs.

Testing Complexity

The institution works with TSPs to develop testing strategies that demonstrate the ability to support connectivity, functionality, volume, and capacity using alternate facilities. The testing strategies encompass internal and external dependencies.

Recovery Preparedness

The recovery plan is intended to be a living document. It should reflect the latest information available. CMT Members are responsible for reviewing and updating their plans annually.

The CMT Leader, Alternate CMT Leader, CMT Members, and others who have copies of the team plan will be sent updates whenever the plan changes. The accepted practice is to print and distribute only the page or pages that have been changed rather than the entire plan. The CMT Leader manages the changes and initiates proper version controls.

Annual Plan Review

CMT Leaders: During each review, leadership positions should be checked and assigned to willing and appropriate personnel. All CMT Members will be contacted to ensure they have an updated copy of the plan at an off-site location and know their responsibilities. The CMT Leader and alternates should see the company's staff well enough to fill out the personnel location form accurately.

During each review, CMT Members will review their responsibilities and contact the Recovery Team members assigned to their leadership to ensure appropriate personnel are assigned to the tasks and willing to participate. The CMT Members will review the functions assigned to the Recovery Team to determine their accuracy.

Team Alert List: This section provides contact information for all personnel assigned to leadership roles. This list is prone to change since team members may leave or join the team, names may change due to marriage, and contact information may change. The team leader should send each member a copy of the Recovery Team Alert List to review and update regularly.

Business Impact Analysis (BIA) Document Review: The CMT members will review the document to ensure that all critical assets are still accurately defined.

Manual Recovery Guidelines: This section identifies the strategies for recovering critical functions. The team leader (or designated team member) will review these procedures regularly to ensure the strategies meet the current business objectives and accurately reflect the best possible solution.

Service Provider List: This section identifies the contact information for critical vendors and service providers. The team leader will review this list to determine if it is complete and accurate.

Work-Area Requirements: This section identifies critical resources required to support recovery at the work area site. The team leader will review this list to ensure it is complete and accurate.

Off-Site Stored Materials: This section identifies critical records or resources stored off-site. The team leader will review this list to determine if it is complete and accurate.

Training and Exercises

Updated plans are insufficient if the people assigned to recovery teams do not know what is expected of them. Staff should receive training on general recovery concepts and their team's functions. Exercises help identify needed improvements in strategies and plans and give staff members valuable experience in dealing with the challenges inherent in recovery operations.

The CMT will oversee training and exercises for the BCMP.

Orientation: This is a one-hour overview of the Business Continuity Program. Each team member should attend once a year. It is also available for the general employee population.

CMT Team Exercise: The entire CMT and other employees participate in at least an annual tabletop exercise focusing on their recovery strategies.

Functional Exercises: Actual hands-on test of hardware or connectivity capability at Work Area Recovery Centers. Actual alternate (manual) production processes at an appropriate alternate facility.

Activity Schedule

This document allows PrimeSouth Bank Management to track their plan review, training, and exercise activities for the year. It should be updated annually and presented to the appropriate committee for review. This committee should keep each year's completed activity schedule on file for audit purposes.

D.R. Personnel Safety Plan

In the event of a disaster or emergency, the following procedures should be followed:

1. CMT lead or senior staff member onsite assesses the damage to personnel.
2. CMT lead instructs an uninjured staff member to call 911.
3. The CMT lead instructs uninjured staff members to assist those affected by the event using the emergency equipment in the "Emergency Kit."
4. The CMT lead will instruct an office staff member to put the phones in night mode and take the most recent phone list.
5. The CMT lead evacuates staff and has them assemble at the nearest unaffected assembly site; if any staff cannot evacuate the building, the CMT lead, or a delegate will remain with that staff member.
6. The Branch Security Officer will take a census and determine if any staff is unaccounted for. If staff are missing, contact work with Emergency Services to locate missing staff. If the building is safe, sweep the facility.
7. The CMT lead will instruct all department heads to begin executing the call tree and inform the P.R. lead of the incident.
8. HR personnel will coordinate the necessary services based on the needs of employees or members of the CMT Team
9. The CMT lead will meet 911 emergency services and update them on the event's status.
10. P.R. lead will work with reception staff to update phone messages as needed.

Appendix B –Notification Checklist

In a Disaster, the CMT Contact List and the Branch Alarm Contact List will initiate communication. Each market and business unit will maintain respective call lists of teammates, with Appendix B2 provided as a sample of expectations.

The CMT Leader will make the initial contact (i.e., CEO/President, CMT Alternate, CMT Members).

Once all CMT Members have been notified, they will contact their team members.

Each call will communicate the following:

1) Nature of disaster
2) Those affected by disaster.
3) Where to find disaster updates

Appendix E – Recovery Sites, Assembly, Alternative Work Site, and Command Centers Locations

In the event of a disaster during business hours, staff shall assemble at the location designated by the CMT Leader to inventory staff and assess the disaster. For a fire in the office or other threats, including bomb threats or toxic contamination, staff shall first assemble at the Assembly Location, and the CMT Leader will complete a Personnel Location Form. In addition to completing an inventory of all staff and visitors who evacuated the facility, the CMT Leader will assess the disaster and complete the Disaster Assessment Form in the appendix.

If the disaster renders the primary facility unavailable, staff shall meet at the assembly site during the emergency and report to the recovery locations listed below.

Assembly Site:

In an emergency evacuation, staff shall meet at the Assembly Site; the situation will dictate whether to meet at the local, regional, or distant location.

Command Center:

Employees will utilize this location to control the emergency and ensure the business continues; the situation will dictate whether to meet at the local, regional, or distant location. The CMT Leader will assign an alternate command center if the designated area is unavailable. Employees capable of working remotely from home, hotel, etc., will work as necessary or as able.

Location	Command Center
A (local)	Remote or Waycross 530 Memorial Drive Waycross, GA, 31501
B (regional)	Remote or Brunswick Downtown 710 Gloucester ST Brunswick, GA, 31520

Recovery Site:

Employees will work from this location after the disaster; the situation will dictate whether to meet at the local, regional, or distant location. Employees can work remotely from home, hotel, etc., as necessary or as able.

Appendix F – Communication Guidelines

The attached notification guidelines will be implemented as a part of each business resumption plan. The CMT Lead will contact each CMT Member, who will, in turn, contact the recovery team and individual employees using the following procedures:

Notification Procedure

During notifications of an alert or declared disaster, use this procedure to alert all personnel. Read the guidelines thoroughly before making a call. By using the following instructions, you will not unnecessarily alarm the family members of an employee working at the affected site at the time of the disaster.

Place a phone call and say, "May I speak with (individual)?"

1. If available, provide the information you called to convey.
   - Remind the person not to make public statements about the situation.
   - Remind the person not to call co-workers (unless instructed to) and to advise their family not to call other employees.
   - Record the information in the Contact Status column.

2. If unavailable, say, "Where may I reach (individual)?"
   - If at any location other than the data center, get the phone number. Call the other location and provide the information you want to convey.
   - If the individual was working at the affected site, indicate that you will reach the individual there. DO NOT discuss the disaster with the person answering the phone.
   - Immediately notify the Emergency Contact.
   - Record the information in the Contact Status column.

3. If contact is made with an answering machine, make no statement regarding the situation.
   - Provide your phone number and ask the employee to contact you at that number as soon as possible.
   - Record the information in the Contact Status column.

4. If no answer:
   - Record the information in the Contact Status column.

Notification Call List

Using the team member contact list in the front of the plan, the Team Leader, alternate, or assigned individual should convey the following information when contacting the team personnel:

- Brief description of the problem
- Location of the Emergency Operations Center and/or the Business Recovery Site
- Phone number of the Emergency Operations Center
- Immediate actions to be taken.
- Whether or not the facility can be entered
- Location and time the team should meet.
- All team members should always carry photo identification and be prepared to show it to security or local authorities.
- Instruct everyone notified not to make any statements to the media.

All callers should record the status of everyone they call, noting when the call was placed and whether the person was contacted. If the phone is busy or there is no answer, make a reasonable number of attempts. Forward the completed list to the HR Leader, who will continue to attempt to contact team members.

Notification Checklist

When notified by the Crisis Management Team that the Business Resumption Plan (BRP) has been activated, the Team Leader or alternate should record the following information that will be passed along to Division personnel:

1. Brief description of the problem: _____

2. Location of the Disaster Recovery Center: _____

3. Phone number to contact the Disaster Recovery Center: _____

4. Any immediate support requested by the Crisis Management Team:

5. Whether or not the facility can be entered: Yes ( ) No ( )

If the facility cannot be entered, the location the team should use for a work area or meeting place:

Sample Public Messages

When posting messages to either the PrimeSouth Bank website or the voice response system for public release, the principle is to release only the information that can be verified, which is required to inform staff and visitors. We will use a "less is better" philosophy to reduce the possibility of providing information that may be inaccurate or unverified. The CMT must approve all messages released for public use.

Sample Client Script:

"PrimeSouth Bank has experienced a temporary service disruption. Until further notice, all services will be resumed at the following locations: _____.

I appreciate your patience as we restore service to the affected locations.

Sample Staff Script:

"PrimeSouth Bank has experienced a temporary service disruption at the following locations: _____--. The cause of the disruption was: (if not known, say that the cause is not yet known) _____. Until further notice, all services will be resumed at the following locations: _____.

If you have any questions concerning this temporary service disruption, please call your direct supervisor or the main line. I appreciate your patience as we restore service to the affected locations.

Appendix G – Disaster Assessment Guide

The CMT Leader and members will use the attached Disaster Assessment Guide to assess damage and estimate a recovery timeline. The CMT will review the data collected through this guide to determine whether a disaster will be declared.

If a staff member arrives at the office and a potential disaster progresses, use this guide to collect facts and assess the impact on PrimeSouth Bank. Take immediate action justified by the damage assessment and coordinate with the Crisis Management Team (CMT) as time permits. If personnel safety is evident, take immediate corrective action. The disaster assessment process will follow these steps:

1. Assess the disaster and assemble facts to determine the appropriate action.
2. Stabilize the environment and protect life and property.
3. Coordinate with CMT for joint response coordination.
4. Assess recovery efforts and estimated timeframes.

Disaster Assessment Checklist

Assessment Criteria	Current State	Damage Impact Summary
Staff Availability and Safety Are staff and other people safe? Is staff available to respond to the disaster or resume operations? How quickly can staff be contacted to resume operations?
Building Access and Potential Property Damage Is the facility stable, and is it safe to enter? Do local staff have access to the building? How quickly can access to the building be obtained?
Power and Utility Availability Is power available to support the resumption of operations? If not, how long will restoring power or other critical utilities take?
System and Network Support Is telephone service available? Is access to data through local systems and network connections immediately available? How long will it take to recover voice circuits or data systems support if not?
Service Provider Availability Are any critical service providers required to resume operations? If so, are they available?
Document Availability Are critical forms or documents like instructions and guidelines available to resume operations? If not, how long will it take to assemble essential data documents?
Security Are security mechanisms available? (Alarms, lighting, etc.)

Upon completing the disaster assessment above, document the local determination for steps to recommend to the CMT Leader or actions to be taken for local damage mitigation. If time permits (the building is not on fire or immediate harm to staff or visitors is probable), the CMT Leader will call the Crisis Management Team and coordinate actions. The CMT will consider the disaster assessment collected by the team and assist in determining a course of action for the disaster response. However, the HR Leader must take immediate corrective action to respond to a disaster and stabilize the environment if immediate harm to staff, clients, or property is apparent. Once the immediate danger has been mitigated, coordination with the CMT Leader is required. Before allowing staff to re-enter buildings, resume services, or discontinue ongoing operations, the CMT must be notified.

Appendix N – IT Inventory List

Appendix O – Process Flow Chart

Appendix P – Pandemic Policy

OVERVIEW

Pandemics are epidemics or outbreaks of human infectious diseases that can spread rapidly over large areas, potentially worldwide. Although the timing cannot be predicted, history and science suggest that we will face one or more pandemics this century. Pandemics occur in multiple waves, each lasting numerous weeks, or months. While a pandemic will not damage physical infrastructure, it will threaten all critical infrastructure by removing essential personnel from the workplace for weeks or months, with absenteeism rates between 30% and 40%. As a result, it is believed that traditional business continuity management plans do not adequately prepare an organization for the extreme long-term, catastrophic contingencies and other risks associated with a pandemic.

Banking and Finance sectors have been identified as one of the thirteen critical infrastructure sectors essential to our nation's security, and economic and social stability. Further, in March 2020, FFIEC issued an updated Interagency Statement on Pandemic Planning. The statement states, "Pandemic preparedness is an important part of a financial institution's business continuity management planning. The guidance provides the Council's prudent expectations that regulated institutions should periodically review related risk management plans, including continuity plans, to ensure their ability to continue to deliver their products and services in a wide range of scenarios and with minimal disruption."

PURPOSE

Our Pandemic Planning Policy represents our organization's efforts to develop a program in preparation for such an event. This policy establishes the key expectations and risk management practices our Board or designated committee identified in managing pandemic risks. It is considered a supplement to our institution's Business Continuity Management Plan, which focuses on requirements that may apply to a pandemic event. That Business Continuity Management Plan may address any gaps contained herein. This policy requires our management team to ensure our program is developed and implemented such that it protects, to the extent possible, the interests of our stakeholders and complies with applicable regulatory requirements. It provides a general framework that our board and CMT follow in preparation for such a pandemic event and the associated risks that may arise from it. This guidance is intended to document our readiness should such an event occur. The practical implementation of this policy is designed to mitigate strategic, reputational, operational, transactional, regulatory, or other risks.

MANAGEMENT RESPONSIBILITIES

Pandemic preparedness is an enterprise readiness issue potentially posing a substantial risk to the future viability of our business. Therefore, program development requires the representation/participation of all departments of our institution and adoption at the highest corporate level. Our planning and preparedness activities involve the commitment and support from the Board, our Chief Executive Officer, and senior business leaders from all functional, business, and product areas, including administrative, human resources, legal, information technology support, and key product lines and services. This group will appoint a group member to serve as our organization's pandemic coordinator. This coordinator will establish and oversee pandemic-specific processes and procedures to be followed should they be required. This individual shall also prepare and present to the Board an educational workshop explaining the risks and discussing our organization's options for mitigating pandemic risks. This senior management member will also ensure that we communicate our program throughout our organization and that all employees are appropriately trained regarding their roles and responsibilities.

CMT is responsible for regularly testing the pandemic plan, ensuring appropriate execution, and reporting the testing results to the Board of Directors. In addition to the testing reporting requirements, our CEO will provide a status report on our organization's and our critical vendors/service providers' readiness to the Board of Directors. As the event passes through the various pandemic stages, testing, training, and reporting frequencies will move to quarterly and monthly should the pandemic hit the United States.

BUSINESS IMPACT ANALYSIS

Given the potential effect on staffing resources and their associated services and functions, management will conduct a business impact analysis (BIA) to identify and rank critical personnel, requisite resources, essential functions, necessary interdependencies, and vital services. In the completion of this BIA and in accordance with regulatory guidance and assumptions established by the Department of Homeland Security (DHS), our institution will assume a severe pandemic and an absenteeism rate between 30% and 40%. By doing so, should absenteeism levels be less, our readiness will not be severely impacted. The starting point for such an analysis will be the BIA previously prepared for our Business Continuity Management Plan. However, since a pandemic could last for weeks or even months, some of the services that have a lower priority in a traditional Business Continuity Management Plan may need to be available, given the potentially extended period a pandemic may last.

During this BIA, our organization will:

- Assess and prioritize essential business functions and processes that may be affected by a pandemic based on our estimate of the impact and probability of occurrence on our operations.
- Identify the potential impact of a pandemic on our essential business functions, processes, and supporting resources utilizing the guidance provided in the Department of Homeland Security's Continuity of Operations (COP-E) planning process and the related Pandemic Influenza Preparedness, Response, and Recovery Guide;
- Compare our existing business processes and procedures with what is minimally required to mitigate the severity of potential business disruptions resulting from a pandemic;
- Determine the potential impact of a pandemic on customers: Those that could be affected and those that could have the most significant impact on the (local) economy;
- Identify any legal and regulatory requirements for the institution's business functions and processes;
- Estimate the maximum downtime associated with the institution's business functions and processes that may occur during a pandemic;
- Assess cross-training conducted for key business positions and processes and
- Evaluate the plans of critical service providers for operating during a pandemic.

During this BIA exercise, our organization will also attempt to identify any external factors and how those may affect our ability to continue to provide services. This exercise will include but not be limited to identifying critical interdependencies and how those may impact our operations. Once that has been determined, we will then identify steps that may be taken to mitigate the impact of such potential risk from failures involving these interdependencies. Mitigating risk from these interdependencies may require our institution to reserve essential supplies and proactively perform maintenance on all equipment to ensure sustainability during any potential service disruptions. Such interdependencies could include but are not limited to ATM servicing companies, core processors, item capture providers, IT/network service providers, online banking providers, access to cash, slowness/down telecommunications, etc.

We will perform this analysis to identify a pandemic's potential impact on interdependent service providers and our ability to deliver critical financial services to our customers. We will determine the effect on our institution from the extended absence of such a service will have on our customer base, our reputation, and other factors. We will then assess the likelihood, assuming the pandemic has adversely impacted us. In performing this assessment, we will make certain assumptions, which will be documented within our evaluation. However, we will attempt to maintain sufficient flexibility, allowing us to make necessary adjustments. Once that assessment is complete, the services and functions will be risk ranked from high to low priority, allowing us to focus our resources on the higher-risk services first.

POSITION CLASSIFICATION

Our institution will review all positions, assigning each a classification based on our criticality assessment. The position classifications will be as follows:

- Category One – Positions that must be at work.
- Category Two – Positions that must work but can perform their function from home.
- Category Three – Positions that have been trained to perform category one or two tasks and should be available to stand in for an incapacitated employee.
- Category Four - Positions that can work from home but are not considered essential.
- Category Five—Positions that are not essential personnel and for which there is no need for them to work, given the critical services being provided.

RISK MANAGEMENT PROGRAM

Our organization established the following five primary program elements : (1) Develop a Preventative Program, (2) Establish a strategy consistent with the stage of an outbreak, (3) Develop a comprehensive program framework, (4) Establish and perform periodic testing, and (5) Implement an oversight program to ensure continued compliance.

Preventative Program

Our institution will implement a preventative program to mitigate the risks of a pandemic outbreak. This program will include monitoring potential outbreaks, employee education, communications and coordination with critical service providers and suppliers, and appropriate employee hygiene training and tools.

Monitoring potential outbreaks

Our "Pandemic Risk Coordinator's responsibilities include a requirement that they monitor various organizations for alert levels. These organizations may consist of the World Health Organization and any federal, state, or local Department of Health websites for new guidance on the status of any pandemic events. This individual will also be responsible for remaining abreast of the issue. This may be accomplished by monitoring the following websites:

www.pandemicflu.gov	Center for Disease Control and Prevention
www.cdc.gov/	Center for Disease Control and Prevention www.who.int	World Health Organization

Employee Education

We will periodically update our staff regarding our program, pandemic awareness issues, and cross-training of personnel to ensure we have at least two people who can perform the required tasks necessary for any critical services our organization provides to its clients. Periodically, we will provide awareness training about program requirements for our employees and their families. Such strategies may include those discussed on the www.pandemicflu.gov website. This would include but not be limited to:

- Publicizing the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention "Cover Your Cough" and "Clean Your Hands" programs or other general hygiene programs;
- Encouraging employees to avoid crowded places and public transportation systems;
- Implementing "social distancing" techniques and encouraging customer use of online systems or telephone banking services, ATMs, and drive-up windows; and
- Other non-pharmaceutical interventions developed by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention should be considered.

This training will be accomplished by the employee reviewing websites containing such information. Awareness and educational programs may include posters and other informational items posted throughout our financial institution, employee newsletters, and other communiqué.

Disease Containment/Control Strategies

It is recognized that the implementation of the following steps may have significant economic side effects and social consequences. However, specific protection and response strategies are necessary to limit social interactions and disease spread, thus reducing the potential impact of such a pandemic. Therefore, we will stay informed of governmental containment actions and factor the possible side effects and impacts on our business into our pandemic plan. Governmental disease containment strategies include:

- Isolation: The separation of persons with specific infectious illnesses in their homes, hospitals, or designated healthcare facilities.
- Quarantine: Separation and restriction of the movement, usually of a group of people who, while not yet ill, have potentially been exposed to an infectious agent.
- Social Distancing: Social distancing measures may take the form of modifying the frequency and type of face-to-face employee encounters (e.g. placing moratoriums on hand-shaking, substituting teleconferences for face-to-face meetings, staggering breaks, posting infection control guidelines); establishing flexible work hours or worksite, (e.g. telecommuting); promoting social distancing between employees and customers to maintain three-feet spatial separation between individuals; and implementing strategies that request and enable employees with influenza to stay home at the first sign of symptoms.
- Voluntary or mandatory closure of public places.
- "Snow Days/Weeks" and/or Furloughing Non-Essential Workers: Voluntary or mandatory closure of all non-essential businesses and/or furloughing all non-essential workers.
- Changes in Movement Patterns: Restricting movement at the border, instituting reductions in the transportation sector, and applying quarantine protocols.

Appropriate Hygiene and Tools (http://www.cdc.gov/handwashing/)

Our institution will establish and enforce a proper Hygiene, Cleaning, and Infection Control program. This program consists of the following actions.

- Discussions/reminders about the proper washing of hands
- Ensure that all employees cover their noses and mouths during sneezing and coughing.
- Budget dollars and obtain masks, gloves, wipes, sanitizers, etc., stockpiled by critical institution staff for future use.
- Stockpile critical supplies when we learn that a pandemic flu string has mutated and is easily communicable between humans.
- Place sanitizers next to ATMs so customers may wipe the machines before using them.
- Require all personnel to wipe down/sanitize their work area at the beginning and end of each day.
- Self-Awareness Testing – If a temperature develops, the employee must leave the premises and remain away until they have recovered.
- Put up a plexiglass cough guard where feasible.

Remote Access

A social distancing program may result in a high reliance on employee telecommuting, which strains remote access capabilities such as capacity, bandwidth, and authentication mechanisms. Further, employees who typically work onsite may not have remote access authority or the necessary technology infrastructure to work from home. Our institution will perform an assessment of our remote access capabilities and the technology infrastructure capabilities of those employees who may be required to perform critical tasks from an offsite location. With this assessment, we increased our VPN access licenses to 100 (75% of our employees). We also invested in additional mobile devices, allowing us to have 50% of our staff work remotely. We also reviewed our teams and capabilities and created A & B teams to minimize concurrent team members within our facilities. Our institution will continue to upgrade our systems as necessary to meet the identified needs for our critical systems. Further, we will include our employee's home infrastructure capabilities in our employee categorization program to identify substantial gaps.

Communications

We will leverage the communications plan established as part of our traditional Business Continuity Management Plan to develop a communications program. The CEO or their designee will approve the content and delivery of communications on all matters. Internal communications will describe how we will operate under such a scenario and provide information for managing personal issues (e.g., sick relatives). Communications with customers and media will be restricted to authorized personnel, ensuring that only accurate information about our institution's business operations is reported. A spokesperson will be designated for media communications. Specific customer materials will include guides to using electronic services (ATM, Online Banking, Bill Payment, Telephone Banking, Call Centers, etc.). Our support desk function, flyers, and postings on our organization's website will affect customer communication.

Third-Party Vendors and Service Providers

Our organization will identify all outsourcing and supplier dependencies to determine the level of pandemic risk presented by each relationship considering the following factors:

- Contractual agreements
- Current performance and any related problems
- Vulnerability of the outsourcer to pandemic disruption
- Our organization's vulnerability due to non-performance on the part of the outsourcer.

This identification process will be performed after completing the BIA exercise where critical services have been identified. These service providers and suppliers will be assigned risk ratings coinciding with the risk ranking of their service for BIA purposes. Additionally, we will establish a communication tree with each critical party with multiple contacts to ensure we can contact the organization if necessary. This assessment aims to identify key external risks in our current outsourcing arrangements and determine where mitigating actions may be taken to reduce the potential adverse impact of such dependency.

Once critical service providers and suppliers have been identified, we will contact each organization to discuss/determine/assess their preparedness concerning such an event. This discussion will also address how we will communicate with these providers during such an event and work around any disruptions/issues that may arise. If we identify weaknesses or issues or recommend enhancements, we will monitor the organization's remediation efforts to address these items. We will identify potential alternatives for obtaining the critical services and/or supplies for those critical providers. If the provider has a User Group organization, we will collaborate with the User Group to monitor the organization's program, readiness, and efforts.

Strategies Consistent with the Outbreak Stages

Our organization's Pandemic Coordinator monitors the progression of the disease and its phases at www.pandemicflu.gov. This website reports on the stages reported by the United States Federal Government Response (USG) and the World Health Organization (WHO). As the disease passes from stage two through stage six of the U. S. Government's stages, we will scale our proactive and reactive pandemic preparedness, testing, awareness, and stockpiling activities accordingly. In addition to this indicator, we will monitor for other triggering events, which may require the performance of specific functions. Other triggering events could include situations where critical service providers have implemented their pandemic plans; the flu has been detected in a part of the country where critical service providers are located, neighboring states have been infected, the state or local department of health has announced advisories, etc. Each of these events and the event's severity will require a different response on our organization's part to ensure our readiness.

Continuation of Critical Operations

Projections are that absenteeism could be 30% to 40% during a pandemic outbreak, mainly because personnel need to care for family members and/or desire to avoid contact with other potential carriers. As a result, we believe the possible impact on human resources may pose the most significant risk to our organization and those organizations upon which we depend to support the critical services we provide. With that risk in mind, we intend to take the following steps to mitigate it as much as possible.

- Recognizing that telecommuting will be critical to our overall success, management will access current usage and capacity for online activities and upgrade/enhance the telecommuting infrastructure. Our institution will also ensure that all personnel are trained in the proper use and security of remote access capabilities.
- Promote social distancing as much as possible to minimize staff contact by allowing Category Two personnel to telecommute.
- To the extent possible, our institution may split critical staff who can perform the same functions into teams operating from multiple locations, preventing any physical contact between the two teams.
- Encourage our customers through educational programs to utilize electronic banking services and ATMs for any servicing that does not require face-to-face contact with institution personnel.
- Ensure that our electronic banking infrastructure and service provider are prepared to meet the increased demands that may be placed on their systems due to personnel redirection.
- Plan with ATM service companies to frequently monitor and service our ATMs.
- Review our core processor and other critical service providers' preparedness plans and tests, demonstrating they can provide critical services if they, too, have substantial human resource challenges.
- Advising customers through website announcements and other means in which alternate locations are adequately staffed for any needs that may not be managed at their local branch due to absenteeism.
- Ensure that a call support function is available as an alternative means of customer communication if personnel cannot access our website.
- Stockpile necessary supplies, food, etc., that could be utilized if critical personnel need to remain on site for extended hours due to quarantine or other events.
- Periodically contact our local public authorities seeking information about the actions they may consider and what impact those actions may have on our institution and its operations, especially situations where an employee becomes ill with a highly contagious flu, raising the possibility that other employees may also be affected.
- Prolonged business closures and furloughs may cause extensive financial harm or ruin. As a result, the Board of Directors will take steps to maintain substantial capital and reserve levels in the event of significant asset quality problems due to poor economic conditions.

Pandemic Readiness Testing

Risk monitoring and testing of the pandemic plan is essential to the success of our overall program. Our testing efforts will be such that management has a high degree of assurance that there will be sufficient human resources so that all critical processes, supporting infrastructure systems, and applications will function even during a severe pandemic. Our institution will complete tabletop scenario testing that will include the following:

- Roles and responsibilities of management, employees, key suppliers, and customers;
- Key pandemic planning assumptions;
- Increased reliance on online banking, telephone banking, and call center services; and
- Remote access and telecommuting capabilities.

Our pandemic program testing will include such things as “work at home” days for all critical and essential employees who may need to work offsite to test remote access capabilities and infrastructure, crisis management team communication exercises, tabletop exercises testing various scenarios related to escalated absenteeism rates; additional or modified call tree exercises; and vendor/service provider, community, regional or industry-wide exercises with members of the financial services sector to test the financial sector’s ability to respond to pandemic like issues. Testing results will be reported to CMT and the board, and appropriate updates will be made to the pandemic plan and testing program.

As part of this testing process, we will use some of the assumptions on the CDC website and any other assumptions we believe are appropriate (See Appendix C). As part of this testing process, we will discuss and document the methods we must implement to continue providing critical services and functions. Furthermore, we will determine what areas we need to strengthen from a cross-training perspective to ensure that at least two people, and hopefully three, will have the understanding, knowledge, and written documentation available to assist them in performing the critical tasks and functions they have been assigned.

After an initial validation of our overall program, future testing will also be in phases. It will depend upon which phase the U.S. government is reporting that the pandemic event is in. As the phase approaches six, our testing will become more robust; however, our testing will be limited in the interim. Until the United States reaches stage two, our testing will focus primarily on employee awareness and include tabletop discussions. As such, on an annual basis, each banking department will familiarize themselves with our program. As part of that process, they will also review the steps and actions for their department based on the criticality of the functions and services they provide. As these stages progress, from two through six, the robustness and frequency of testing will increase to ensure that our organization is prepared during a pandemic or a subsequent wave.

Coordination with Outside Parties

Our organization will coordinate information-sharing efforts with other organizations, including critical vendors/service providers, business and community working groups, financial institutions, and outside parties who may support and maintain vital services during a pandemic. Our pandemic coordinator will establish contact with local public health and emergency management teams to review and coordinate our planning efforts and determine the impact that actions they may take under various scenarios will have on our plan.

Program Oversight

The board of directors and the CMT will be responsible for program oversight and maintaining our Pandemic Planning Preparedness program. Program oversight activities will include but not be limited to the following:

- Delegating specific responsibilities to other staff members, including the coordinator, if different than a member of CMT;
- Any changes to the critical services and functions performed by our institution, whether performed internally or outsourced, as the Business Impact Analysis is updated;
- An update on the readiness of all critical vendors who support all our identified critical programs and functions and each vendor's preparedness;
- Reviewing reports prepared by staff about our compliance with our program, our readiness, and our testing efforts;
- Approving material changes to the program addressing changing risks and circumstances;
- Preparing an annual report to the Board regarding our program addressing the overall status of the program, an assessment of our compliance with regulatory requirements, and any recommendations for program changes;
- Annually providing a status update on employee awareness and training regarding Pandemic preparedness;
- Annually reporting on the status of the pandemic threat and any significant updates to the www.pandemicflu.gov website pertinent to our organization and program; and
- The results from any testing that has been performed.

BOARD POLICY RESPONSIBILITIES

The Board of Directors and CMT are responsible for ensuring that our pandemic preparedness and program prepare our institution to function during such an event. The Board is required to review, update, and approve this policy annually or more frequently as needed.

Appendix R – Backup Integrity Test

BACKUP DATA INTEGRITY TEST

Recovery Test Description

Purpose

The purpose of the Backup Data Integrity Test is verify that Primary File Server data can be effectively restored using the bank's current backup solution. This process tests the functionality of an existing backup/restoration service or application, physical media (if applicable), and the restoration destination device. In order to accomplish this, a small representative sample of data is restored and inspected to verify data integrity. This restore does not represent a disaster recovery test. A regular disaster recovery test should be scheduled in accordance with existing Business Continuity Plans.

Procedure

The procedure involved in the Backup Data Integrity Test is to restore network share data from the normal backup of server, BRU710-FILE01, to the file system on BRU710-BACKUP01.

Exhibit A
ACH Origination Service

Part I – Security Procedures

Company understands and agrees that the authenticity of any ACH File or Entry transmitted via Business Online Banking utilizing the ACH Services will be verified pursuant to the following Security Procedures set forth herein.

Dual Control

Unless the box below is checked, Company elects to reject "Dual Control" as a Security Procedure. Dual Control requires two Users to authenticate a transaction as described in the Security and Authentication Schedule. If Dual Control is elected, Company agrees that the individual User designated approve ACH transactions is not the same individual User with authority to initiate ACH transactions or transmit Entries. If the box below is not checked, (i) Company has selected to waive this protection and will allow "single control" over its transactions, requiring only one User to authenticate a transaction and, in such cases, Company accepts full responsibility for unauthorized access, both internal and external to Company, to the ACH Services; (ii) Company understands that Bank recommends Dual Control, but that Company has waived this Security Procedure and wishes to assume the full risk of unauthorized access, be it internal to Company, through the internet, or otherwise; and (iii) Company shall indemnify and hold Bank harmless for any unauthorized access to the ACH Services or Company's accounts, including all resulting losses, costs, and/or attorneys' fees. This indemnification and hold harmless provision shall be in addition to any other protections afforded to Bank due to unauthorized access as provided in the Master Agreement, including, but not limited to, the protections afforded to Bank in the Security and Authentication Schedule.

☐ Check this box only if Company elects Dual Control as a Security Procedure for the ACH Services.

Pre-notifications

Per NACHA Operating Rules, Article Two, Section 2.6.1, prior to the initiation of the first credit or debit Entry to a Receiver's account with an RDFI, an Originator may originate a Pre-notification Entry to the RDFI. Incorporating the Pre-notification process into security procedures enhances Company's ability to mitigate unauthorized ACH transactions by validating that the accounts into which funds are being sent or withdrawn are valid bank accounts. An Originator that has originated a Pre-notification Entry to a Receiver's account may initiate subsequent Entries to the Receiver's account no sooner than the third (3) Business Day following the Settlement Date of the Pre-notification Entry, provided the ODFI has not received a Return or a Notification of Change related to the Pre-notification. If the ODFI receives a Return Entry or a Notification of Change in response to the Pre-notification by the opening of business on the second Business Day following the Settlement Date of the Pre-notification, the Originator must not transmit subsequent Entries to the Receiver's account until it has remedied the reason for the Return Entry or made the correction requested by the Notification of Change. If Company indicates that Pre-notifications will be originated, Company, at the time ACH Origination is implemented by Bank, will be restricted from originating subsequent entries until after the third (3rd) Business Day following the Settlement Date of the Pre-notifications. If the box below is not checked, (i) Company has selected to waive this protection and will require Pre-notification and Company accepts full responsibility for unauthorized ACH transactions; (ii) Company understands that Bank recommends Pre-Notification, but that Company has waived this Security Procedure and wishes to assume the full risk of unauthorized ACH transactions; and (iii) Company shall indemnify and hold Bank harmless for any unauthorized ACH transactions or unauthorized access to the ACH Services or Company's accounts, including all resulting losses, costs, and/or attorneys' fees. This indemnification and hold harmless provision shall be in addition to any other protections afforded to Bank due to unauthorized ACH transactions or unauthorized access as provided in the Master Agreement, including, but not limited to, the protections afforded to Bank in the Security and Authentication Schedule.

☐ Check this box only if Company elects Pre-notification as a Security Procedure for the ACH Services.

Security Procedures:

1. Company ID
2. User ID
3. Password
4. One-time Code (only if out-of-band activity is detected)
5. Security Token (i.e., hard or soft token)
6. Dedicated Computer
   - ☐ Customer elects to utilize the Dedicated Computer security procedure.
   - ☐ Customer rejects the utilization of the Dedicated Computer security procedure.
7. Dual Control (Unless Customer elects to reject Dual Control as a Seurity Procedure by NOT checking the box above.)

SAMPLE

8. Pre-Notifications (Unless Company elects to reject Pre-Notifications as a Security Procedure by NOT checking the box above.)

Company acknowledges that Bank has offered to Company Security Procedures to verify the authenticity of ACH Entries, which Security Procedures Company agrees are commercially reasonable in the context of Company's operation, requirements and internal procedures. If the Company rejects utilizing the Dedicated Computer and/or the Dual Control Security Procedures, Company acknowledges that Bank has offered commercially reasonable Security Procedures to Company in connection with the ACH Services and Company has elected to send ACH Entries to Bank using Company's selected Security Procedures. Company acknowledges and understands that selecting Security Procedures other than all the Security Procedures in 1 through 8 listed above may substantially increase the risk of loss to Company. IF COMPANY REJECTS UTILIZING THE DEDICATED COMPUTER AND/OR THE DUAL CONTROL SECURITY PROCEDURES, COMPANY HEREBY ACKNOWLEDGES THAT IT REJECTS AND REFUSES THE SECURITY PROCEDURES OFFERED BY BANK FOR TRANSMISSION OF ACH ENTRIES TO BANK.

Bank cannot be accountable or responsible for events that occur due to lack of security on Company's part. Company is responsible for the security and integrity of its network and devices and components attached to the network. Thus, Company must guard against malware attacks and other compromises of its systems by unauthorized individuals through the use of sound security principles and sound industry practices, including, wihtout limitation appropriate anti-virus software, firewalls and updated versions of its operating systems. Company warrants that no individual will be allowed to initiate transfers in the absence of proper supervision and safeguards, and agrees to take reasonable steps to maintain the confidentiality of the Security Procedures and any passwords, codes, security devices, and related instructions provided by Bank. If Company believes or suspects that any such information has been accessed by an unauthorized individual, Company will verbally notify Bank immediately, followed by written confirmation. The occurrence of such notification will not affect any transfers made in good faith by Bank prior to the notification and within a reasonable time period to prevent unauthorized transfers.

Data Security:

Limiting access and securely storing ACH data used in the routing and settlement of ACH transactions is a critical data security precaution. Company agrees to protect the confidentiality and integrity of protected, confidential or otherwise sensitive information in accordance with the NACHA Rules, including, without limitation, protecting account numbers used in the intiation of ACH entries by rendering them unreadable when stored electronically. Company's ability to limit access to production data can be done through commercially available software products. Access should be limited to specific programs and user ID's with privileges limited to those required to perform the authorized task (e.g. read-only, read-and-edit-only). Files should be transmitted between ACH participants using methods that protect the confidentiality and integrity of the data including the following:

- Encryption which is a process of scrambling data content according to publicly reviewed algorithms (e.g. AES) through hardware or software in order to protect the confidentiality of a file's contents. The ACH information should remain encrypted while in transit between all parties using commercially acceptable procedures and using security technology that uses AES encryption with a 256 bit key length (minimum standards).

- Integrity is a process of ensuring that files and data content have not been altered between the origination and receiving points. Normally, hash functions such as SHA-1 or MD-5 are employed to provide assurance of data integrity. The ACH information should be transmitted in a way that ensures its integrity using hardware or software methods.

Transmittal of Files:

Company will transmit files to the Bank via secure website access through our Business Online Banking system utilizing agreed upon logon procedures and proper access identification.

Online Wire Transfer Service

Part I – Wire Services Security Procedures

Company understands and agrees that the authenticity of any Payment Order transmitted via Business Online Banking utilizing the Wire Services will be verified pursuant to the following Security Procedures set forth herein.

Unless the box below is checked, Company elects to reject "Dual Control" as a Security Procedure. Dual Control requires two Users to authenticate a transaction as described in the Security and Authentication Schedule. If Dual Control is elected, Company agrees that the individual User designated approve a Payment Order is not the same individual User with authority to initiate or transmit a Payment Order. If the box below is not checked, (i) Company has selected to waive this protection and will allow "single control" over its transactions, requiring only one User to authenticate a transaction and, in such cases, Company accepts full responsibility for unauthorized access, both internal and external to Company, to the Wire Services; (ii) Company understands that Bank recommends Dual Control, but that Company has waived this Security Procedure and wishes to assume the full risk of unauthorized access, be it internal to Company, through the internet, or otherwise; and (iii) Company shall indemnify and hold Bank harmless for any unauthorized wire transactions or unauthorized access to the Wire Services or Company's accounts, including all resulting losses, costs, and/or attorneys' fees. This indemnification and hold harmless provision shall be in addition to any other protections afforded to Bank due to unauthorized wire transactions or unauthorized access as provided in the Master Agreement, including, but not limited to, the protections afforded to Bank in the Security and Authentication Schedule.

☐ Check this box only if Company elects Dual Control as a Security Procedure for the Wire Services.

Security Procedures:

1. Company ID
2. User ID
3. Password
4. One-time Code (only if out-of-band activity is detected)
5. Security Token (i.e., hard or soft token)
6. Dedicated Computer
   - ☐ Customer elects to utilize the Dedicated Computer security procedure.
   - ☐ Customer rejects the utilization of the Dedicated Computer security procedure.
7. Dual Control (Unless Customer elects to reject Dual Control as a Seurity Procedure by NOT checking the box above.)

Company acknowledges that Bank has offered to Company Wire Services Security Procedures to verify the authenticity of Payment Orders, which Wire Services Security Procedures Company agrees are commercially reasonable in the context of Company's operation, requirements and internal procedures. If the Company rejects utilizing the Dedicated Computer and/or Dedicated Dual Control Security Procedures, Company acknowledges that Bank has offered commercially reasonable Wire Services Security Procedures to Company in connection with the Wire Services and Company has elected to send Payment Orders to Bank using Company's selected Security Procedures. Company acknowledges and understands that selecting Security Procedures other than all the Security Procedures in 1 through 7 listed above may substantially increase the risk of loss to Company. IF COMPANY REJECTS UTILIZING DEDICATED COMPUTER AND/OR THE DUAL CONTROL SECURITY PROCEDURES, COMPANY HEREBY ACKNOWLEDGES THAT IT REJECTS AND REFUSES THE WIRE SERVICES SECURITY PROCEDURES OFFERED BY BANK FOR TRANSMISSION OF PAYMENT ORDERS TO BANK.

Bank cannot be accountable or responsible for events that occur due to lack of security on the Company's part. Company is responsible for the security and integrity of its network and devices and components attached to the network. Thus, Company must guard against malware attacks and other compromises of its systems by unauthorized individuals through the use of sound security principles and sound industry practices, including, wihtout limitation appropriate anti-virus software, firewalls and updated versions of its operating systems. Company warrants that no individual will be allowed to initiate transfers in the absence of proper supervision and safeguards, and agrees to take reasonable steps to maintain the confidentiality of the security procedures and any passwords, codes, security devices, and related instructions provided by Bank. If Company believes or suspects that any such information has been accessed by an unauthorized individual, Company will verbally notify Bank immediately, followed by written confirmation. The occurrence of such notification will not affect any transfers made in good faith by Bank prior to the notification and within a reasonable time period to prevent unauthorized transfers.

MASTER TREASURY MANAGEMENT AGREEMENT

This Master Treasury Management Agreement, including, the Enrollment Form and the Service Schedules (each, as defined below) and any other related enrollment form, rate and fee schedule, schedule, addendum, exhibit and other instructions provided in connection herewith and the terms and conditions contained herein (collectively, this "Master Agreement"), sets forth the terms and conditions governing the provision of certain Treasury Management Services (each a “Service” and collectively, the “Services”) by PrimeSouth Bank (“Bank," "we," “us,” "our," or "ours") to you or anyone authorized by you (collectively, "Company," "you," "your," or "yours") and describes your and our rights, responsibilities and obligations regarding the Services.

The Enrollment Form for Online Banking and Treasury Management Services, and any exhibits, schedules or addendums thereto (the “Enrollment Form”) executed by Company in connection herewith is hereby incorporated into and is made an integral part of this Master Agreement. By completing and signing the Enrollment Form, and/or using one or more of the Services, Company agrees to, and shall be bound by, the terms, conditions, and provisions in this Master Agreement, including those for each Service which Company has selected. Bank, in its sole discretion, may not permit Company to use a Service until Bank has determined that Company has accepted or executed the applicable documentation and otherwise provided appropriate information and specifications to Bank for the use of the Service, and until Bank has had a reasonable opportunity to review the Enrollment Form and activate the Service. In any event, Company agrees that the use by Company of any Service shall, without any further action or execution or acceptance of any documentation on the part of Company, constitute Company's acceptance of and agreement to the terms of this Master Agreement and Bank's terms and conditions for the use of such Service as may be in effect as of the time of such usage, whether set forth in this Master Agreement or otherwise prescribed by Bank.

Your use of the Services shall also be subject to any other agreements governing your Accounts with Bank, including, without limitation your Deposit Account Agreement (as defined below) and related Account disclosures, and any other agreements governing your use of our business online banking services (“Business Online Banking”) (collectively, the “Other Agreements”). If there is any conflict between the terms and provision of this Master Agreement and the Other Agreements, the terms and provisions of this Master Agreement shall govern, but only to the extent reasonably necessary to resolve such conflict. In the event of a conflict between the terms of Part I and Part II of this Master Agreement and those of any Enrollment Form, the terms of the Enrollment Form, or Part II of this Master Agreement as applicable, shall govern and control with respect to the Service at issue. In order to activate the Service, you must have at least one Account with us linked to the Service.

This Master Agreement contains “General Terms and Conditions” (Part I) applicable to all of the Services in addition to Service Schedules (Part II) (each, a “Service Schedule”), which explains the specific Services offered by Bank under this Master Agreement and provides additional terms and conditions for each Service, and the Security and Authentication Schedule which provides additional detail with regard to the Security Procedures. By selecting your desired Services using the Enrollment Form and executing the Enrollment Form, you agree to comply with the terms and conditions of this entire Master Agreement, which is inclusive of the terms and conditions of any Service Schedules, user guides, exhibits, attachments, addendums and other enrollment documents required to activate and provide the Services hereunder, and the Security and Authentication Schedule which are hereby incorporated into and are a part of this Master Agreement by this reference. If, following the Effective Date of this Master Agreement, you wish to enroll in additional Services, you may do so by submitting an Addendum to the Enrollment Form or new Enrollment Form to Bank which is acceptable to Bank and executed by an Authorized Signer for your Account. In addition to the Services listed on the Enrollment Form, Bank may, in the future, incorporate and make available to you, new Service offerings under the terms and conditions of this Master Agreement. In such cases, Bank may, in its sole discretion, either update the Master Agreement to reflect the addition of such new Service offerings or provide you with a separate service agreement and/or Enrollment Form for the new Service offering.

PART I - GENERAL TERMS AND CONDITIONS

1. Defined Terms. The following terms and definitions apply when used in this Master Agreement. Other capitalized terms not defined here, have the meaning ascribed to them in this Master Agreement.

a. "Account" or "Eligible Account" means one or more checking, savings, money market deposit or loan account that you have with us.

b. "Account Agreement" means the agreement between you and us that governs the use of your Account including the Deposit Account Agreement, any funds availability agreement, electronic funds transfer agreement or disclosure, line of credit agreement, and our schedule of fees and charges.

c. "Administrator" means the individual(s) authorized by you who will have access to and oversee the use of the Services. The Adminstator(s) are designated by you on the Enrollment Form.

d. "Authorized User" means the individuals authorized by the Administrator to have access to the Services and utilize the Services.

e. "Authorized Signer" means the individuals authorized by Company to have signing authority with regard to Company's Accounts.

f. "Business Day(s)" means 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. local Bank Eastern Time, Monday through Friday, excluding Saturdays, Sundays and holidays recognized by Bank (generally, federal holidays recognized by the Federal Reserve Bank). Some transaction deadlines may vary from this definition.

g. "Deposit Account Agreement" refers to documentation that establishes and governs deposit accounts of Company with Bank.

h. "Electronic" means electrical, digital, magnetic, wireless, optical or electromagnetic technology, or any other technology that entails similar capabilities.

i. "Funds Transfer" or "Transfer" means a transfer of funds, initiated through the Services.

j. "Password" means the confidential identification number or other code assigned to or selected by you for identification purposes in connection with the use of Business Online Banking.

k. "Payee" means any individual, financial institution, educational institution, company, merchant or other entity you wish to pay using the Services.

l. "PC" means a personal computer or mobile device (including any personal data assistant or other wireless access device) that meets the requirements for the use of Business Online Banking.

m. "User" means any Administrator and Authorized User.

2. Setup and Use of Online Access Services.

a. Eligibility. To have access to the Services you must also have at least one Eligible Account with us. If you have more than one Eligible Account, you will have access through the Service to the Eligible Accounts you specify on the Enrollment Form. If you specify more than one Eligible Account on the Enrollment Form, we will "link" the Eligible Accounts together. Eligible Accounts which are "linked" under Business Online Banking will have one common owner and signer. Any signer, acting alone, must be authorized to access a linked Eligible Account. Any non-linked Eligible Account will not be accessible through Business Online Banking. Company shall take all reasonable measures and exercise reasonable precautions to ensure that Company's officers, employees, authorized representatives, and Sub-Users do not use the Services for personal, family, or household purposes or for any other purpose not contemplated by this Master Agreement. Such usage is not authorized and will violate this Master Agreement.

b. Use of Services. You will use the Services only for your own internal business use in accordance with the terms of this Master Agreement. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, you agree not to make the Services available or allow use of the Services in a computer bureau service business, timesharing, or otherwise disclose or allow use of the Service by or for the benefit of any third party. FURTHER, YOU REPRESENT AND WARRANT THAT NONE OF THE ACCOUNTS HAVE BEEN ESTABLISHED OR ARE BEING OR WILL BE USED FOR PERSONAL, FAMILY OR HOUSEHOLD PURPOSES AND THAT YOU ARE NOT A "CONSUMER" UNDER REGULATION E - ELECTRONIC FUNDS TRANSFER ACT (HEREIN, "REG. E").

c. Laws and Regulations; Prohibited Transactions. You hereby acknowledge and agree that you and your Users will access and use each Service only as permitted under this Master Agreement and only for legitimate business purposes, so as not to generate transactions that violate the laws or regulations of the United States, or the State of Georgia, to the extent applicable, or any other applicable law or regulation, including the rules issued by the National Automated Clearing House Association ("NACHA") (such rules, the "NACHA Rules") and any other clearinghouse or other organization in which Bank is a member or to which rules Bank has agreed to be bound, rules and regulations affecting the use of checks, drafts, fund transfers, and ACH transactions, including but not limited to, rules and procedural guidelines established by the Federal Trade Commission ("FTC") and the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve. This includes, but is not limited to, sanction laws administered by the Office of Foreign Assets Control ("OFAC"). It shall be your responsibility to obtain information regarding such OFAC enforced sanctions. (This information may be obtained directly from the OFAC Compliance Hotline at 800-540-OFAC or from the OFAC's web site at www.ustreas.gov/ofac). These laws, procedures, rules, regulations, and definitions shall be incorporated herein by reference. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, you agree not to use or attempt to use the Services (a) to engage in any illegal purpose or activity or to violate any applicable law, rule or regulation, (b) to breach any contract or agreement by which you are bound, or (c) to engage in any internet or online gambling transaction, whet her or not gambling is legal in any applicable jurisdiction, (d) to engage in any activity or business that would result in you being or becoming a "money service business" as defined in Bank Secrecy Act and its implementing regulations, or (e) to engage in any transaction or activity that is not specifically authorized and permitted by this Master Agreement. You acknowledge and agree that Bank has no obligation to monitor your use of the Services for transactions and activity that is impermissible or prohibited under the terms of this Master Agreement; provided, however, that Bank reserves the right to decline to execute any transaction or activity that Bank believes violates the terms of this Master Agreement.

d. Approval. We are under no obligation to approve your use of any Service. The decision to approve your use of any one or more Services is within our sole discretion. Our records will be conclusive as to the Services when we approve your using the Services from time to time and on the dates which we approve your use of such Services. This Master Agreement shall become effective on the Effective Date, but access to a Service may not be granted until Bank has received all information required by the Enrollment Form and Bank has completed its underwriting and approval processes, if applicable to a particular Service. Bank will only be responsible for performing the Services expressly provided for under this Master Agreement for which you have been successfully enrolled. For the purpose of the Master Agreement, we will be deemed to have approved your use of a Service on the date we complete the activation of the Service for you.

e. Credit and Audit Review. Bank's approval of your use of the Services, and your continued use of a Service at any time after initial activation, may be subject to satisfactory credit and audit review by Bank as may be conducted from time to time, at Bank's sole option and discretion, and in accordance with Bank's established credit and auditing criteria. If we require application of underwriting criteria for use of any of our Services, we will generally communicate the nature and content of that criteria and the information you will be required to provide us. We may require one or more personal guarantee(s) of a principal, owner, member, partner, manager, director, or officer of Company or other affiliated third party in our sole discretion. Your failure to meet our underwriting criteria or to provide the required financial, business and operational information when requested shall constitute a breach of this Master Agreement and shall permit Bank to immediately terminate this Master Agreement and the Services provided hereunder.

f. Financial Information. Bank may from time to time request information from you in order to evaluate a continuation of the Service(s) to be provided by Bank hereunder and/or adjustment of any limits set by this Master Agreement. You agree to provide the requested financial information immediately upon request by Bank, in the form required by Bank. If you refuse to provide the requested financial information, or if Bank concludes in its sole discretion that the credit risk of you is unacceptable, Bank may terminate the Service according to the provisions hereof. You authorize Bank to investigate or reinvestigate at any time any information provided by you in connection with this Master Agreement or any Services and to request reports from credit bureaus and reporting agencies for such purpose.

g. User Guides. The Services to which this Master Agreement applies may also be described or referenced in user guides, welcome packages, enrollment documents, processing guides, addenda (each a "User Guide" and collectively "User Guides") (as said User Guides may be updated or amended from time to time) which we will provide to you with respect to some or all of the Services. The User Guides may also contain additional terms and conditions applicable to the Services. Your use of a Service after we provide you with a User Guide which pertains to a Service will constitute your agreement to adhere to and be legally bound by the terms, conditions, requirements, instructions, and information in such User Guides. Each User Guide is an integral part of this Master Agreement and when we provide a User Guide to you, or amend or update a User Guide, it becomes a part of and is incorporated into this Master Agreement. Our records reflecting the dates on which we provide a User Guide to you will be deemed correct and accurate.

h. Supplemental Agreements. Some of the Services may require you to enter into additional or supplemental agreements with us or require you to complete and provide to us information or documentation in, or as part of, schedules, addenda, setup forms, input forms, or other documents we require in connection with these Services. If we approve your using one of these Services, your use or continued use of each of such Services will be conditioned on and subject to your entering into, or completing and providing to us, the foregoing when we so request. These additional or supplemental agreements, as well as any schedules, addenda, forms or other documents will be in a form and substance satisfactory to us and if so indicated, will be a part of this Master Agreement.

i. Third-Party Authorizations. Some of the Services will require you to obtain authorizations from other persons or entities. If we approve your use of one of these Services, your use of each of such Services will be conditioned upon and subject to your obtaining from these persons or entities such authorizations and consents as we may deem necessary or otherwise appropriate. Without limiting the foregoing, each statement of authorization you provide to us must contain a release and indemnification by the person or entity executing the authorization under which such person or entity releases us from any liability related to or arising out of the Service and agrees to indemnify us relative to the Service. At our request, you will provide to us true and exact copies of each such authorization.

j. No Extension of Credit. If a Service involves a debit to any of your Eligible Accounts or any other loan or deposit account you maintain with us, you agree to have available, collected funds in such Eligible Account or other account with sufficient amounts to enable us to make the debit. If we complete a payment or transfer that you make or authorize and we subsequently learn that you have insufficient funds for the transaction, you agree that we may reverse the transaction or offset the shortage with funds from any other deposit account(s) you have with us to the extent permissible by the applicable law and the Other Agreements. Nothing in this Master Agreement will constitute or be deemed a commitment by us to extend credit to you or for your benefit, or to grant you overdraft privileges. We will not have any obligation to make any funds available to you to affect any payment being made by you or to enable you to use any one or more of the Services. Any obligation to extend credit to you or to otherwise make funds available to you must be set out in a separate written agreement executed by you and acceptable to us.

k. Site Inspection and Visitation. We may perform an on-site inspection at any location of your businesses at any time and from time to time in our sole discretion to ensure compliance with the provisions of this Master Agreement. Bank shall not be liable or responsible to you or any third party for any loss, bodily harm, property damage, claims of the introduction of a virus or other malicious code into your system, including any which allegedly delay, alter or corrupt your data, whether related to the transmission of data to Bank, or whether caused by the equipment, Service, Bank, Internet service providers, Internet browsers, or other parties providing communication services to or from Bank to you in connection with Bank's entry on your premises for the purposes of installation or maintenance of equipment and service, and for the purpose of conducting an on-site inspection.

l. Vendors. Bank may contract with one or more outside vendors to provide one or more of the Services ("Vendor") as selected by Bank, and the Vendor is subject to change from time to time without notice to you. By executing this Master Agreement, enrolling in a particular Service, or executing an Enrollment Form, you authorize us and our outside Vendors to provide the Services in accordance with this Master Agreement. You further acknowledge, agree, and stipulate that the Vendor is an independent contractor providing software, data transmission or other services and is not the agent of you or Bank. Neither Bank nor the Vendor is responsible for the actions or omissions of the other.

m. Commonly Controlled Entities. For purposes of this Master Agreement, a "Commonly Controlled Entity" means an entity in which Company or Company's Parent has a direct or indirect majority ownership interest. For purposes of this Master Agreement, "Parent" means a person or entity that has a majority ownership interest in Company. Company, and each Commonly Controlled Entity represent and warrant to Bank: (1) that each of the Commonly Controlled Entities is an entity in which the Company or its Parent has direct or indirect majority ownership interest; (2) that each such entity maintains one or more Accounts with Bank; (3) that each of the Commonly Controlled Entities have provided to Bank an executed Certification of Beneficial Owners Form that shows all beneficial owners, including other entities, owning twenty-five percent (25%) or more interest; (4) that the person accepting this Master Agreement on behalf of the Company is an authorized signatory on each of the Commonly Controlled Entity Accounts with Bank; (5) that the acceptance of this Master Agreement by such person constitutes the acceptance of this Master Agreement, both on behalf the Company and each such Commonly Controlled Entity, for the purpose of granting authority for such person to perform transactions under this Master Agreement; (6) that all actions by such person on behalf of the Company or a Commonly Controlled Entity constitutes the duly authorized action of the Company and/or such Commonly Controlled Entity, as applicable; and (7) that each Commonly Controlled Entity listed is deemed to be a party to this Master Agreement.

i. We, in our discretion, may permit you to access your Accounts maintained at Bank to the Accounts of other Commonly Controlled Entities through the Services, to permit you to perform all banking transactions authorized in this Master Agreement, relating to such Commonly Controlled Entities' Accounts without requiring other signatures or further authorizations of the applicable Commonly Controlled Entities.

ii. You, and each Commonly Controlled Entity, represent to us that you have entered into an agreement in which you agree to perform certain Services, on behalf of Commonly Controlled Entities that requires you to have access to, and authority to conduct banking transactions on behalf of and with respect to, the Commonly Controlled Entities' Accounts maintained at Bank. By signing, you and each Commonly Controlled Entity make such representation to us and authorize us to perform such transactions based upon your instructions.

SAMPLE

iii. You and each Commonly Controlled Entity represent and warrant to us that if Accounts held under different taxpayer identification numbers are linked, the person signing is an authorized signatory for each Commonly Controlled Entity, is authorized to designate the multiple company access included in this Master Agreement, and that no Account included for common access is restricted from such common access by any provisions of Company's charter, bylaws or similar documents or any applicable laws or any existing resolution, declaration or agreement with us and that each of the requested Services has been duly and legally authorized by you and each Commonly Controlled Entity. Where Accounts held under different tax identification numbers are requested to be linked, you, and each Commonly Controlled Entity, acknowledges that we shall rely on the Security Procedure (defined below) to determine your authority to transfer funds or conduct other transactions effecting Accounts or other Commonly Controlled Entities. Company and each Commonly Controlled Entity acknowledges that it is responsible for determining any limitations on access to its Accounts by its officers, employees, or other designated representatives.

iv. Where we permit linkage between Commonly Controlled Entity Accounts, you and each of the Commonly Controlled Entities hereby jointly and severally direct Bank and authorize Bank: (a) to provide complete access by you to Commonly Controlled Entities' Account(s) and (b) to recognize, accept and effectuate all transactions initiated through the Services available under this Master Agreement by you, with respect to Commonly Controlled Entities' Accounts, all without further inquiry regarding: (i) the authority of the person(s) initiating the transaction(s), and (ii) any aspect of the transaction(s) itself. We shall not otherwise be deemed to have any knowledge of the provisions of the agreement between Company and duties thereunder, it being understood that recitation of the said agreement herein is for reference purposes only.

v. By entering into this Master Agreement, you and each Commonly Controlled Entity represent and warrant to us that:

    1. You have fully advised the appropriate owners, officers, and other personnel of Company and each Commonly Controlled Entity regarding the terms hereof, including with respect to, among other things, terms and conditions relating to your rights and obligations with respect to Account linkage matters and with respect to the Commonly Controlled Entity's joint and several obligations hereunder relating to such transactions;
    2. You and each Commonly Controlled Entity fully agree to the bound by the terms hereof in respect of its Accounts, including with respect to, among other things, the charging of fees to its Accounts as described in this Master Agreement;
    3. You and each Commonly Controlled Entity hereby assume all obligations and risks pursuant to the terms of this Master Agreement with respect to transactions affecting you and each Commonly Controlled Entity's Accounts. We shall have no responsibility with respect to the application of funds pursuant to transactions under this Master Agreement, and our obligations with respect to such funds and Account linkage matters shall be limited strictly and specifically to those expressly set forth herein.

vi. Monthly maintenance fees for use of the Services shall be charged to your Account. All transaction fees and charges incurred for specific transactions and Services by Commonly Controlled Entities executed using the Treasury Services shall be charged to the applicable designated Account of the applicable Commonly Controlled Entity.

vii. You and each Commonly Controlled Entity, jointly and severally, hold us harmless and indemnify us for any loss, damage, injury, assessment, judgment, or liability, suffered or incurred by us, and for any claim, proceeding, action or cause of action brought against us (including reasonable attorneys' fees relating thereto), arising from, or in any manner in connection with any transactions executed under the terms and conditions of this Master Agreement.

viii. A Commonly Controlled Entity may withdraw the authority granted under this Master Agreement for your Users to act on behalf of such Commonly Controlled Entity by providing written notice of such withdrawal of authority to us as provided herein, but such written notice shall not be effective until five (5) Business Days after receipt and written acknowledgement of such receipt, by us, or such earlier time as we may effectuate such withdrawal of authority.

ix. The delivery of notices, documents, and correspondence to you in connection with this Master Agreement shall be deemed to be delivery to each Commonly Controlled Entity.

x. You acknowledge and agree that all linked Accounts shall continue to be solely used for business purposes and not for personal, family, or household purposes and you continue to have unlimited liability for transfers from your business Accounts, notwithstanding the provisions of Reg. E, or any standardized literature or disclosures we sent to you.

3. Consent to Contract Electronically.

a. This Consent to Contract Electronically (the "E-Consent") relates to your use of the Services and Electronic interfaces. By executing the Enrollment Form (to which this Master Agreement is incorporated), you consent and agree to proceed with the review and execution of all User Guides, Enrollment Forms, fee schedules, and other agreements and documents used to activate and continue the Services electronically and to the terms of this E-Consent. You may be presented with these agreements or documents electronically (for example, via email, via DocuSign, via Business Online Banking or other Electronic document portal) and will be able to electronically sign said agreements or documents using "check box" style acknowledgements or other means of an electronic signature. You agree that such "check box" style acknowledgements or other means of electronic signature will act as your agreement to the document presented to you.

b. By executing the Enrollment Form to which this Master Agreement is incorporated and pursuant to this Section, you are agreeing: (a) to the presentation of Electronic documents, notices, agreements, and disclosures, (b) that such documents, notices, agreements and disclosures are binding contracts, and (c) that you will accept and, if applicable, execute the applicable documents electronically. You acknowledge that all disclosures required by applicable law are being provided to you electronically. Specifically, you agree:

i. Your execution of the Enrollment Form incorporating this Master Agreement signifies your intent to enter into a binding legal agreement, and that your consent to conduct business electronically applies to all documents that Bank may provide to you or agreements that you will execute with or in favor of Bank.

ii. All documents, including any modifications to such documents, signed using Electronic means are as valid and enforceable as if you executed a paper copy using a "wet ink" handwritten signature.

iii. The authoritative copy of the electronically executed documents (the "Authoritative Copy") shall be the Electronic copy that resides in Bank's document management system. If a paper version of the Authoritative Copy is created, then both the Electronic version and paper version shall be considered originals and shall both be an Authoritative Copy.

iv. You acknowledge that you may request a paper copy of these documents for your records by contacting Bank and specifying those documents you wish to receive.

v. You may withdraw your consent to proceed with the use of Electronic documents, agreements, and disclosures at any time. If you elect to cease the use of Electronic documents, agreements, or disclosures, Bank reserves the right to treat this as a termination of your use of the Services and deny access to the Services. You must notify Bank, in writing, of any intent to withdraw this E-Consent.

vi. You acknowledge that you must maintain current Account and contact information with us and that you must promptly notify us of any change in your email or other electronic address.

vii. In addition to the requirements in Section 4 below, in order to receive Electronic records, you acknowledge that you must have access to:

1. A current version of an Internet browser that Bank supports;
2. An Internet connection;
3. A current version of a program that accurately displays PDF files; and
4. A PC and operating system capable of supporting and storing the above.

4. Equipment Requirements. To use the Services, you must first obtain your own PC with Internet connection capability and related equipment (the "Hardware"). You also must provide the type of Internet access required by the Hardware and/or software, which requires a web browser with Java scripting capabilities and 128-bit SSL encryption. Also recommended is an internet connection speed of 28.8 kbps or higher, and a currently supported and updated internet browser such as Microsoft Edge ® (for Windows), Mozilla Firefox® (for Windows), Google Chrome or Apple Safari® (for Mac OS). Once the Hardware has been properly connected and any required Internet access has been established, you will be able to access the Business Online Banking website. You are and will remain solely responsible for the purchase, hookup, installation, loading, operation and maintenance of the Hardware, software, and the Internet access service to your PC, and for all related costs. You are solely responsible for virus protection and maintenance of your PC. Bank shall have no responsibility for failures, interruption, or other defects in the Services, which are occasioned by incompatible, improperly installed or improperly maintained Hardware and software. Bank may add to, modify, or replace software programs used in conjunction with providing the Services under this Master Agreement at its sole discretion and without notice. From time to time Bank may deem it necessary to hold training or retraining classes for you. You agree that you will require appropriate personnel to participate in such training.

5. Access. Services are generally accessible 24 hours a day, seven days a week, except that the Services may be inaccessible for a reasonable period on a daily basis for system maintenance. We are not liable under this Master Agreement for failure to provide access due to a system failure or due to other unforeseen acts. We may modify, suspend, or terminate access to the Services at any time and for any reason without notice or refund of fees you have paid. Bank may change the terms and conditions of this Master Agreement from time to time to conform with changes or advancements in our services, or as required by law or regulation. Use of Business Online Banking after the Effective Date of such changes will constitute your consent to the changes.

6. Security Procedure.

a. You must designate a username and Password which will be required to gain access to the Services. Prior to your first use of Business Online Banking, Bank will assign your Administrator a Company ID, temporary username and Password (the Company ID, username and Password collectively are referred to as the "Access Codes"), required to gain access to Business Online Banking. The Business Online Banking system will ask you to change your Password the first time that you use the system. The use of the Access Codes, in addition to other authentication methods described below, is a security procedure established by Bank to authenticate the identity of the person attempting to gain access to Business Online Banking and the Services (collectively, the “Security Procedures”). We may require you to change your Access Code from time to time for security reasons. You hereby agree to keep your Access Codes and Security Devices (as defined below) in a secure location. Any person having access to your Access Codes and/or Security Devices will be able to access these Services and perform all transactions, including reviewing Account information and making Transfers to other accounts and to other persons. Providing these Access Codes and/or Security Devices to another person effectively constitutes a grant of authority to access your Accounts and make Transfers.

b. You agree to comply with the Security Procedures and any other Security Procedures Bank directs you to use, including (without limitation) any code, password, personal identification number, user identification technology, token, certificate, layered security, or other element, means, or method of authentication or identification used in connection with a Security Procedure ("Security Devices"). For the avoidance of doubt, the term "Security Devices" includes your Access Codes. A description of these Security Procedures are set forth in the "Security and Authentication Schedule," as may be amended from time to time. For specific Services, the Security Procedures selected and agreed to by you will be provided on the Enrollment Form.

c. You agree that the Security Procedures constitute commercially reasonable security procedures under applicable law for the initiation of the Services you utilize, including without limitation, Transfers, and access to confidential information. You authorize us to follow any and all instructions entered, and transactions initiated using applicable Security Procedures unless and until you have notified us, according to notification procedures prescribed by us, that your Security Device has been stolen, compromised, or otherwise become known to persons other than you or your representative(s) and until we have had a reasonable opportunity to act upon such notice. You agree that the initiation of a transaction or instructions using applicable Security Procedures constitutes sufficient authorization for Bank to execute such transaction or instruction notwithstanding any particular designation by you of authorized persons or signature requirements identified on any signature card or other documents relating to your Account(s) maintained with Bank, and you agree and intend that the submission of transactions and instructions using the Security Procedures shall be considered the same as your authorized written signature in authorizing us to execute such transaction or instruction. You acknowledge and agree that you shall be bound by any and all transactions we receive and verify following the Security Procedures, whether authorized or unauthorized. Further, you acknowledge and agree that you shall be bound by any and all transactions and activity otherwise initiated by you, to the fullest extent allowed by law. You further acknowledge and agree that the Security Procedures are not designed to detect errors in the transmission or content of communications or transactions initiated by you and that you bear the sole responsibility for detecting and preventing such errors.

d. You agree to keep all Security Devices protected, secure, and strictly confidential and to provide or make available the same only to your Users. You agree not to disclose or provide any Security Procedures or Security Devices to any unauthorized person. You also agree that Users shall not share Security Devices with each other. Where you have the ability to change or modify an Access Code or Security Device from time to time (e.g., a password or username), you agree to change such Security Devices frequently in order to ensure the security of the Access Code and Security Device. You agree to notify us immediately, according to notification procedures prescribed by us, if you believe that any Security Procedures, Access Code or Security Device have been stolen, compromised, or otherwise become known to persons other than you or your Users or if you believe that any transaction or activity is unauthorized or in error. In the event of any actual or threatened breach of security, we may issue you a new Security Device or establish new Security Procedures as soon as reasonably practicable, but we shall not be liable to you or any third party for any delay in taking such actions. You agree to indemnify, defend all claims, and hold Bank harmless from any loss, damages, or expenses, including but not limited to attorneys' fees, caused by you, your employees', or agents' failure to keep the Security Procedures or Security Devices confidential and secure.

e. We reserve the right to modify, amend, supplement, or cancel any or all Security Procedures, and/or to cancel or replace any Security Device, at any time and from time to time in our discretion. We will endeavor to give you reasonable notice of any change in Security Procedures; provided that we may make any change in Security Procedures without advance notice to you if we, in our judgment and discretion, believe such change to be necessary or desirable to protect the security of our systems and assets. Your implementation and use of any changed Security Procedures after any change in Security Procedures shall constitute your agreement to the change and your agreement that the applicable Security Procedures, as changed, are commercially reasonable and adequate for the purposes intended.

f. You agree to train your Users with respect to the proper use and implementation of the Security Procedures and Access Devices and to provide ongoing and regular oversight and monitoring of those procedures. You agree to establish and maintain your own internal security procedures and controls to ensure and promote the protection and confidentiality of the Security Procedures and the Access Devices. You will be solely responsible for any loss or damage suffered by you or a third party resulting directly or indirectly from your failure to comply with the required Security Procedures. Additional Users added to your Account(s) are added at Company's sole risk and responsibility. You agree not to disclose or provide any Security Procedures or Security Devices to any unauthorized person.

g. To further enhance your security, you agree to follow these minimum general safety guidelines:

   i. You and your Users will never walk away from your computer while logged on to Business Online Banking or utilizing the Services.
   ii. You and your Users will check your account balances and activity daily and report any suspicious activity immediately to Bank.
   iii. You and your Users will memorize the codes that are part of your Access Devices and change them regularly.
   iv. You and your Users will never disclose any of the Access Devices to any person or entity.
   v. You and your Users will create complex passwords which should include letters, numbers, and special characters.
   vi. You and your Users will read and stay abreast of the best practices for preventing a breach of any of the Security Procedures.

h. You are strongly encouraged to put in place internal controls to ensure that all external requests for Transfers of funds in using the Services are approved by a person other than the person inputting, sending, or delivering the request to Bank ("Dual Control"), as more specifically described in the Security and Authentication Schedule. If you determine that, notwithstanding Bank's recommendation, you wish Bank to accept and process Transfer requests with the approval of only one User, you shall be bound by any payment order (whether or not authorized) issued in Company's name and accepted by Bank pursuant to the approval of such designated User. In the event of unauthorized access to Business Online Banking or your Accounts or unauthorized transactions utilizing the Services, you will be responsible for such unauthorized access or unauthorized transfers if such access or unauthorized transfers could have been prevented through the use of Dual Control and you elected to reject this Security Procedure.

i. You agree to notify us immediately, according to notification procedures prescribed by us if the authority of any User shall change or be revoked. You shall recover and return to us any Security Devices in the possession of any of your Users whose authority to have the Security Device has been revoked.

j. In the event of a breach of the Security Procedure, you agree to assist Bank in determining the manner and source of the breach. Such assistance shall include, but shall not be limited to, providing Bank or Bank's agent access to your hard drive, storage media and devices, systems and any other equipment or device that was used in breach of the Security Procedure. You further agree to provide to Bank any analysis of such equipment, device, or software or any report of such analysis performed by you, your agents, law enforcement agencies, or any other third party. Your failure to assist Bank shall be an admission by you that the breach of the Security Procedure was caused by a person who obtained access to your transmitting facilities or who obtained information facilitating the breach of the Security Procedure from you and not from a source controlled by Bank.

7. Physical and Electronic Security.

SAMPLE

a. You are solely responsible for providing for and maintaining the physical, electronic, procedural, administrative, and technical security of data and systems in your possession or under your control, including, without limitation, your PC. We are not responsible for any computer viruses (including, without limitation, programs commonly referred to as "malware," "keystroke loggers," and/or "spyware"), problems or malfunctions resulting from any computer viruses, or any related problems that may be associated with the use of an online system. Any material downloaded or otherwise obtained is obtained at your own discretion and risk, and Bank is not responsible for any damage to your computer or operating systems or for loss of data that results from the download of any such material, whether due to any computer virus or otherwise. You are solely responsible for maintaining and applying anti-virus software, security patches, firewalls, and other security measures with respect to your PC and operating systems, and for protecting, securing, and backing up any data and information stored in or on your PC or operating systems. Bank is not responsible for any errors or failures resulting from defects in or malfunctions of any software installed on your PC or operating systems.

b. You acknowledge and agree that it is your responsibility to protect yourself and to be vigilant against e-mail fraud and other internet frauds and schemes (including, without limitation, fraud commonly referred to as "phishing" or "pharming"). You agree to educate your representative(s), agents, and employees as to the risks of such fraud and to train such persons to avoid such risks. You acknowledge that Bank will never contact you by e-mail to ask for or to verify Account numbers, passwords or Security Devices, or any sensitive or confidential information, and will never provide links to websites in e-mails that Bank transmits to you. In the event you receive an e-mail or other electronic communication that you believe, or has reason to believe, is fraudulent, you agree that you shall not respond to the e-mail, provide any information to the e-mail sender, click on any links in the e-mail, or otherwise comply with any instructions in the e-mail. To the extent allowed by law, you agree that Bank is not responsible for any losses, injuries, or harm incurred by you as a result of any Electronic, e-mail, or internet fraud.

c. Company is solely responsible for providing for and maintaining the physical, procedural, and administrative, security of data in Company's possession or under Company's control. To the extent you come into possession, custody or control of any Personally Identifiable Information or other non-public information, including information (1) provided by a consumer to you, (2) resulting from any transaction with the consumer or any service performed for the consumer, or (3) otherwise obtained by you with regard to a consumer, including account information (collectively "PII"), you represent and warrant to Bank and its clients, clients, vendors and processors that you will protect such PII by rendering it unreadable and inaccessible by persons who do not have legal authority to access such PII. Further, Company agrees to comply with any and all applicable data security requirements under applicable laws, rules and regulations to protect account numbers used with the Services by rendering such numbers and data unreadable when stored electronically.

8. Duty to Inspect. You shall inspect all transaction history, statements, advices, reports, journals, and other material evidencing the output of the Services performed by Bank. You must report all errors to Bank for services performed and indicated in the transaction history, statements, advices, reports, journals, and other material evidencing the output of the Services or otherwise reported to you daily by the close of business on the Business Day following the day on which the Service is rendered. You must report all other errors within a reasonable time not to exceed thirty (30) days from the date that the error is made. Failure of you to promptly report errors within such specified time shall preclude you from asserting against Bank any claims arising from the error or any loss caused by the error.

9. Creating and Managing Users.

a. Administrators. You shall designate one or more individual users as an Administrator who will oversee your use of the Services. Your designated Administrator must, in your discretion, possess the business knowledge, authority, technical capability and trustworthiness appropriate for an individual charged with controlling the rights of other individual Users to access your banking information and conduct financial transactions on your behalf. The Administrator shall be designated on the Enrollment Form during the services enrollment process. The Administrator shall have access to all Services and your related Accounts. The Administrator will be able to grant access and authority to other Authorized User(s) having a degree of access and authority less than that of the Administrator's level of access and authority with respect to the Services and your Accounts. You agree that you are responsible for any activity connected with any User that you add, including any Administrator that you designate, as well as any Authorized User designated by the Administrator. If Bank has questions or needs information with regard to the Services, it may contact any Administrator or any Authorized Signer who shall have authority to act on Company's behalf with regard to the Services.

b. Creating and Managing Authorized Users. The Administrator may add additional Authorized Users for the Services through our Business Online Banking system or the use of the form acceptable to Bank. Each Authorized User shall create his or her own Password and other authentication tests.

c. User Access. You are responsible for ensuring that the authority of any User to access the Services are properly delegated and administered and are revoked when such User(s) is/are no longer authorized to access the Services. In addition, you are responsible for ensuring the authority of a User with respect to a particular Service (or Services) is revoked when such User is no longer authorized to access such particular Service(s) (including, without limitation, when such User's employment with your organization is terminated or his or her responsibilities or position change within your organization). You must also notify Bank in writing of any such revocation of authority. The Administrator shall have the right to revoke access of an Authorized User. Any Authorized Signer on your Account shall have the right to revoke access of any Administrator or Authorized User. Only the signer of the Enrollment Form or other authorized officer designated by you and acceptable to us may revoke an Administrator's rights. For security, one Administrator may not terminate the rights of another Administrator. You shall notify Bank within one (1) business day of the removal/termination of an Administrator or Authorized User.

You are responsible for the actions of persons who have had their authority to access and use the Services revoked until you give Bank notice of revocation of such authority and Bank has had adequate time to act on such notice. Such notice must be given separately from any other notices given to other Bank departments, by phone at (352) 306-4075. Bank may require additional documentation in connection with the revocation of authority of a User.

10. Services to help prevent fraud. We offer Services to help prevent fraud in connection with your Account, such as the Check Positive Pay Service and the ACH Block/Filter Service (each described in Part II below) and we recommend Company use these Services. In addition, we recommend you use certain industry best practices such as Dual Control. There are consequences if Company does not implement these fraud prevention services we recommend. If we have expressly recommended that you use a fraud prevention service or industry best practice and you either (a) decide not to implement or use the recommended service (such as the Check Positive Pay Service and the ACH Block/Filter Service) or industry best practice or (b) fail to use it in accordance with the applicable service description or this Agreement, then you are responsible for all losses that could have been prevented or mitigated by correct use of the recommended service or best practice

11. Account Designations/Authorizations. You will need to designate which Accounts will be utilized for payments and Transfers. If you designate an Account that requires more than one signature for the withdrawal or Transfer of funds, you agree that we may act upon any instruction that is accepted by Bank in good faith and in compliance with the Security Procedures. (Note: This may mean that we will act upon the instruction of only ONE person, even though the signature card for the Account in question requires two or more signatures on checks.) As long as an instruction pertaining to a particular Service is accepted by Bank in good faith and in compliance with the Security Procedures, the transaction will be deemed authorized by you. The terms of this Master Agreement will override any Other Agreements you have with Bank, corporate resolutions, or signature cards as to this issue.

12. Payment for Services.

a. You agree to pay Bank all the fees and charges established by Bank for rendering the Services under the terms of this Master Agreement (collectively, the "Fees"). Depending on which Services you subscribe to, you will be charged the applicable Fees as set forth in our General Information and Schedule of Fees (the "Fee Schedule") hereby incorporated by reference and made a part hereof.

b. Bank may change or add any Fees by updating its Fee Schedule and providing the same to you or posting the Fee Schedule in Business Online Banking. Fees charged for the Services under this Master Agreement are in addition to any service charges or fees that otherwise apply to your Accounts with us. Company's use of the applicable Service after changes have been made shall constitute Company's agreement to the same.

c. You authorize Bank to deduct all applicable Fees from any Account listed on the Enrollment Form. If you close the Account(s) associated with a Service, Fees may be deducted from any other account you maintain with us or any of our affiliates. Furthermore, Bank may set off against any amount it owes to you in order to obtain payment of your obligations under this Master Agreement.

d. In addition to the Fees, you agree to pay for all taxes, tariffs and assessments levied or imposed by any government agency in connection with the Service, this Master Agreement, and/or the software or equipment made available to you (excluding any income tax payable by Bank). You are also responsible for the costs of any communication lines and any data processing charges payable to third parties.

13. Your Representations and Warranties. You represent and warrant to Bank on each day on which a Service is provided as follows:

a. You are a business entity duly authorized, validly existing and in good standing under the laws of the United States, or the laws of the state in which you were organized;

b. You have all requisite power and authority to enter into this Master Agreement which constitutes a duly authorized, legal, valid, binding and enforceable obligation. Your execution of the Enrollment Form and any other document incorporating this Master Agreement has been duly and validly authorized by all necessary action. Further, the individual or individuals who execute the Enrollment Form or any other document incorporating this Master Agreement for the Services contemplated under this Master Agreement on your behalf is each duly authorized by you to do so;

c. The performance of your obligations under this Master Agreement will not result in a breach of your organizational documents or of the provision of any material contract to which you are a party or by which you are bound;

d. Any transaction contemplated by this Master Agreement or processed utilizing the Services will not be in violation of state or federal law;

e. All formalities will be followed with respect to each Transfer of funds, including but not limited to, proper authorization of individual transactions, maintenance of proper security procedures, and any record keeping requirements with respect thereto;

f. Your use of any Service under this Master Agreement will not facilitate or result in any illegal transactions, including those prohibited by the Unlawful Internet Gambling Enforcement Act, 31 U.S.C. Section 5361 et seq., or otherwise violate any law, regulation, judgment, decree or order that may apply to you;

SAMPLE

g. Your use of the Services pursuant to this Master Agreement are for business purposes only and you will not use the Services primarily for personal, family or household use;

h. There is no lawsuit pending or threatened against you which, if lost, would impair your financial condition or ability to pay Bank under the terms of this Master Agreement;

i. Any information you provide us in connection with your enrollment or application for one or more of the Services is accurate and complete as of the time it is provided, and you will promptly notify us of any material change in that information; and

j. To the extent that you appoint a "Third Party Agent" (auditor, CPA, property manager, business manager, etc.) to perform any activities relating to a Service under this Master Agreement, you are solely responsible for all actions and obligations of such Third Party Agent as if such actions were your direct actions and obligations. You acknowledge that, among other things, this means that you are liable for the Third Party Agent's breaches of warranties and obligations, including liability for indemnification for such breaches, as if you had breached such warranties and/or obligations. You shall undertake all appropriate due diligence of, and investigation into, the business, operations, intellectual property and other rights, financial and other conditions, or rights and creditworthiness, of any Third Party Agent based upon documentation and other information you have deemed appropriate and used to make your own decision to enter into a relationship with any Third Party Agent. Your agreements with any Third Party Agent must include a provision allowing Bank to conduct, upon reasonable notice and during normal business hours an on-site inspection of Third Party Agent's books, records and premises, to ensure compliance with the requirements of this Master Agreement as it relates to any Service with regard to which such Third Party Agent acts on your behalf.

14. Bank's Responsibilities.

a. Bank agrees to use ordinary care in rendering Services under this Master Agreement. You recognize and agree that ordinary care does not mean the Services will be rendered error free. You agree to pay all attorneys' fees, costs and expenses Bank may incur in collecting any sums you owe to Bank for fees, overdrafts, service charges or otherwise or in enforcing any rights Bank may have under the terms of this Master Agreement or applicable law, rule or regulation applicable to your Account(s) or the Services rendered by Bank under this Master Agreement. You also agree to pay all attorneys' fees, costs and expenses that Bank may incur as the result of defending any claim or action made against Bank by you, any third party, or on your behalf. In no event shall Bank be liable to you for attorneys' fees incurred by you in any action brought by you or a third party against Bank in connection with the Services. Our sole responsibility for an error in a Transfer will be to correct the error. Without limiting the generality of the forgoing, we will not be responsible for the following matters, or for errors or failures of our Services as result of the following matters:

i. Access. We will not be liable under this Master Agreement for failure to provide access or for interruptions in access to our Services due to a system failure or due to other unforeseen acts or circumstances.

ii. Your Computer Equipment & Your Software. We will not be responsible for any errors or failures from any malfunction of your PC, computer, or operating system or any computer virus or other problems related to your computer equipment used with our Services. We are not responsible for any error, damages or other loss you may suffer due to malfunction or misapplication of any system you use, including your browser (Mozilla Firefox®, Microsoft Internet Explorer®, or otherwise), your Internet service provider, your personal financial management or other software (such as Quicken® or Microsoft Money®), or any equipment you may use (including your telecommunications facilities, computer hardware and modem) to access or communicate with Business Online Banking.

SAMPLE

iii. Any Transaction or Instruction. We may, in our sole discretion, not honor a request for a Transfer if: (a) it exceeds your collected and available funds on deposit with Bank; (b) it is not in accordance with any condition indicated by you and agreed to by Bank; (c) Bank has reason to believe it may not be authorized by you; (d) it involves funds subject to hold, dispute, or legal process preventing their withdrawal; (e) it would violate any provision of any present or future risk control program of the Federal Reserve or any current or future rule or regulation of any other federal or state regulatory authority; (f) it is not in accordance with any other requirement stated in this Master Agreement or any Bank policy, procedure or practice; or (g) it is for the protection of Bank or you and Bank has reasonable cause not to honor the Transfer.

15. Privacy/Information Sharing.

a. The importance of maintaining the confidentiality and privacy of the information provided by you is one of our highest priorities. We may disclose information about your Accounts or the Transfers you make: (a) to resolve problems associated with your use of the Services or where it is necessary for completing the Transfers or processing or maintaining your Accounts; (b) in order to verify the existence or condition of your Accounts for a third party such as a credit bureau or merchant; (c) in order to comply with legal process, government agency or court orders; (d) to companies that perform marketing services on our behalf or to other banks with whom we have joint marketing agreements; or (e) otherwise as permitted by law. You also acknowledge that support and services related or incidental to a Service may be provided by one or more third parties and that you hereby authorize us to contract and communicate with third parties to provide these support and services. You release us from any liability for failures, acts or omissions of any third party system operator, including but not limited to unauthorized access to, theft or destruction of your information or instructions. Our privacy policy may change from time to time and is always available on our website and at our Bank locations. Should you at any time receive or acquire any information relating to another customer of Bank, you shall promptly return such information to Bank and not reveal such information to any other party and shall not make use of such information for your own benefit.

b. Any materials, software, documentation and other information provided by Bank to you in connection with the provision of any Service pursuant to this Master Agreement constitutes confidential information of Bank, which you agree to keep strictly confidential. You agree to maintain the confidentiality of, and not disclose, any Access Devices or other Security Procedures put in place to access the Services other than to those Users, or employees with a need to know. You may use any materials we provide you only for the purposes for which they were provided, and you agree to notify Bank immediately by telephone at (352) 306-4075 (which notice shall be confirmed in writing) if any materials are lost or if the confidentiality of any materials or Access Devices or other Security Procedures are compromised. You may also email us at treasuryops@primesouth.com or visit one of our branch offices although Bank recommends that you contact us via telephone first.

c. You agree that you shall have sole responsibility for the custody, control and use of the Services and that no individual will be allowed to initiate a request or other instruction to use one or more of the Services without proper authorization and supervision, and implementation of your security controls. If a Service requires the use of Access Devices, or other security measures, Bank will be fully protected in relying on any request that uses the correct user access device or other security measures.

d. Your obligations under this provision shall survive termination of this Master Agreement.

16. Secure Email. Conventional email is not a secure method of communication over the Internet and we recommend that you not send confidential or privileged information to us by conventional email. The message portal contained within Business Online Banking is a secure method of communication that allows messages to be sent and received within Business Online Banking. An electronic message sent by you will not be immediately received by us. No action will be made on an electronic message you send to Bank until Bank has actually received your message and has a reasonable opportunity to respond to it. If you need to contact us immediately, please visit a branch or call us at (352) 306-4075. There may be limitations on your use of electronic messaging from time to time and for certain transactions. The following provisions apply to communications by email:

a. You acknowledge and agree that information communicated via email to or from us may include information related to any or all Services we feel may be of interest to you;

b. You acknowledge and agree that you have been advised of and understand the risks of using email and that Bank is unable to guarantee the authenticity, privacy, or accuracy of information received or sent by email or to monitor the authorization of persons using your email address to send or receive information;

c. If you receive information from Bank via email that you believe is intended for another recipient, you agree to immediately return the information to Bank and delete the communication;

d. You agree that certain information communicated by Bank to you may be confidential in nature. You agree to maintain the confidentiality of such information and to refrain from sharing the information with any other person or entity or form using the information for any non-permitted purpose or for any purpose which is not related to your financial relationship with us;

e. In the event that you believe an unauthorized person has gained access to your email account, you agree to immediately notify Bank so that Bank can cease communication of information to you via email until you and Bank take measures to protect your financial information;

f. Having acknowledged the risks associated with communicating financial information via email, you (i) agree that Bank has no obligation to monitor or investigate the use of your email account, or the source of any email communication received from you bearing your email address, (ii) release Bank from any claim or liability arising from or in connection with any communications sent or received using email, and (iii) agree to indemnify Bank from all claims, losses, expenses, or liability arising from or connected in any way with the use of email as contemplated herein; and

g. To the extent that any Other Agreement between you and Bank requires you to provide Bank with written notice to a particular address regarding any matter, you agree that these provision regarding the use of email do not displace or modify any such requirement for a written notice, and that you agree to comply with any requirement for a written notice without reference to these provisions regarding the use of email.

17. Term and Termination.

a. Term. This Master Agreement will become effective on the Effective Date and shall remain in full force and effect until termination in accordance with the following provisions.

b. Termination Upon Written Notice. We may terminate this Master Agreement, any applicable Service, and your access to Business Online Banking at any time upon giving prior notice of the termination to you. We may provide notice to you by emailing the notice to you at the email address designated you in the Business Online Banking systems, by mailing the notice to you at the last address shown for the Account on our records, or by posting notice in our branches or as otherwise permitted by law. You may terminate this Master Agreement or any applicable Service by written notice to us. If you terminate the Master Agreement or any applicable Service, you authorize Bank to continue making Transfers you have previously authorized and continue to charge Fees until such time as Bank has had a reasonable opportunity to act upon your termination notice. Once Bank has acted upon your termination notice, Bank will make no further Transfers from your Accounts, including any Transfers you have previously authorized. If Bank terminates your use of Business Online Banking, Bank reserves the right to make no further Transfers from your Accounts, including any transactions you have previously authorized.

c. Termination for Inactivity. We may terminate this Master Agreement or any of the Services without notice to you if you do not access or make use of a Service offered hereunder during any consecutive 90-day period. If the Service(s) are terminated, you must contact us to have the Service(s) reactivated before you will be able to schedule any transactions using the Service(s).

d. Immediate Termination. In addition to our other rights contained herein, Bank shall have the right to terminate this Master Agreement, any applicable Service, and your Business Online Banking subscription immediately upon written notice to you if: (i) you cease to conduct your business in the ordinary sense, (ii) any substantial part of your property become subject to any levy, seizure, assignment or application for sale for, or by, any creditor or government agency, (iii) you are a party to an acquisition, (iv) you experience an adverse change in your financial condition or business which impairs your ability to perform your obligations under this Master Agreement, (v) you fail to perform your obligations under this Master Agreement or you default under any Other Agreement you have with Bank or (vi) you make any warranty or representation which proves to be false or misleading. Notwithstanding the foregoing, Bank may immediately terminate this Master Agreement and/or any applicable Service without notice if, (a) you or we close your Account(s), or (b) in Bank's sole discretion, Bank determines that you have abused Business Online Banking, a Service, or Bank believes that it will suffer a loss or other damage if the Master Agreement and/or applicable Service is not terminated.

e. Rights Cumulative. Bank's election to terminate this Master Agreement and/or any applicable Service is in addition to any and all other remedies that may be available to Bank and will not affect any obligations you may have to Bank. Any reinstatement of a Service under this Master Agreement will be at Bank's sole discretion and must be accompanied by any documents required by Bank.

f. Rights/Duties Upon Termination. Upon termination of this Master Agreement and/or any applicable Service, (i) you will promptly pay to Bank all sums and Fees due or to become due under this Master Agreement and/or applicable Service, and (ii) you shall have no further right to make use of the Services or any system or software which may have been provided in connection with the Services.

18. Changes in Terms and other Amendments. Bank may amend the terms of this Master Agreement (which, for the avoidance of doubt, includes all Service Schedules) or add to, alter, change, or modify the Services provided under the terms of this Master Agreement (including the Fees and charges for Services listed) or any supplemental agreement to this Master Agreement at any time in its sole discretion by giving written notice to you. If required by agreement or by applicable law, notice will be given for the required applicable number of days in advance of such amendments by mailing a copy of the amendment to you at your most recent address shown on our records or by providing notice delivered to the last email address you have provided us. Your continued use of the Services subsequent to any such amendment shall constitute your agreement to such amendment. No amendments requested by you shall be effective unless received in writing by Bank and agreed to by Bank in writing.

19. Ownership of Website. The content, information and offers on our website are copyrighted by Bank and/or the applicable Vendor and the unauthorized use, reproduction, linking or distribution of any portions is strictly prohibited. You agree not to copy, display, distribute, download, license, sub-license, modify, publish, repost, reproduce, reuse, sell, transmit, create a derivative work from or otherwise use for public or commercial purposes, the information and materials on the websites, except as provided in this Master Agreement, without our express written permission. Unless otherwise noted, all other trademarks, service marks, and logos used on Bank's sites are the trademark s, service marks or logos of Bank, or others as indicated.

20. Web-linking Practices. Bank may provide access to information, products or services offered on other third party web sites. Bank is not responsible for, nor does control, the content, products, or serviced provided by linked sites. Bank does not endorse or guarantee the products, information or recommendations provided by linked sites, and is not liable for any failure of products or services advertised on those sites. In addition, each third party site may provide less security than Bank and have a privacy policy different than that of Bank. Your access, use and reliance upon such content, products or services is at your own risk.

21. Internet Disclaimer. For any Services described in this Master Agreement utilizing the Internet, Bank does not and cannot control the flow of data to or from Bank's network and other portions of the Internet. Such flow depends in large part on the performance of Internet services provided or controlled by third parties. Actions or inactions of such third parties can impair or disrupt your connections to the Internet (or portions thereof). Bank cannot guarantee that such events will not occur. Accordingly, Bank disclaims any and all liability resulting from or related to such events and in no event shall Bank be liable for any damages (whether in contract or in tort) that are attributable to the public Internet infrastructure, your ability to connect to the Internet, or Bank's ability to connect to the Internet on your behalf.

22. Data and Information Supplied by You. You shall transmit or deliver data and other information in the format and on the media as provided for in the Enrollment Form, this Master Agreement, any Service Schedule and any other operating instructions we may provide or as otherwise required by Bank in conjunction with rendering the Services selected by you. You shall have the sole responsibility of ensuring the accuracy and correctness of the data transmitted by you. You acknowledge and agree that Bank shall not examine the data for correctness and Bank shall not have any responsibility for detecting errors in the data transmitted by you. The data transmitted by you must be legible, correct and complete. Bank shall not process, and Bank shall not be liable to you for failure to process, the data if it is not in the format specified by Bank or if the data is incomplete. Bank shall not be liable for errors or omissions caused by data that is rejected as the result of your failure to provide the data in accordance with the standards specified in the Enrollment Form, this Master Agreement or any applicable Service Schedule or any operating instructions.

23. Other Limitations. Your use of these Services is subject to the following limitations:

    a. Dollar Amount and Frequency. There may be a limit on the dollar amount of the transactions you can make using these Services. Security reasons limit the dollar amount of transactions, and these limits are subject to change from time to time. Payment can only be made with U.S. currency. In addition to the Federal banking regulations that restrict the number of Transfers and withdrawals, Bank may set limits on the number, amount, or Payees of transactions you can make using the Services. These limits are for security reasons and are subject to change. Should you exceed these limits (or other limits set by Bank) you agree that Bank may reject such instructions and you may be notified electronically of the rejection of such instructions.

    b. Foreign Transactions. No payments may be made to Payees outside the United States, unless the Company has been specifically approved by Bank to send payments outside of the United States.

    c. Additional Limitations. In addition to any limitations provided in the Enrollment Form or this Master Agreement, your ability to initiate transactions may also be limited by the terms of Other Agreements you have with Bank or by applicable law. For example, certain accounts may have limits on the number of transfers that can be made during a specified period of time. You agree to comply with such limitations.

24. Contact Information. In case of questions regarding the Services contact customer service at:

25. Notices. Notices from us to you regarding the Services may be in writing delivered to you by first class mail, overnight delivery, hand-delivery, or e-mail, or, if a Service is provided by access to an Internet website, by posting the notice or communication on the website. We may deliver to you any required disclosures and other notices concerning these Services or your Accounts by e-mail or other appropriate Electronic means. Except as otherwise specifically provided herein, notices from you to us regarding any Service shall be delivered by first class mail, hand-delivery, or reputable overnight carrier. Mailed notices shall be provided to us at the address provided above. You may use e-mail to contact us about inquiries, maintenance and/or some problem resolution issues. Bank may not immediately receive e-mail that you send. Therefore, you should not rely on email if you need to communicate to Bank immediately. For example, if you need to stop payment on a check, to report a lost or stolen Access Device, or to report an unauthorized transaction from one of your Accounts, you should contact Bank immediately by calling us at (352) 306-4075. Bank will not take actions based on your email requests until Bank actually receives your message and has a reasonable opportunity to act. Email may not be a secure method of communication. Thus, we recommend you do not send confidential personal or financial information by e-mail.

26. Account Agreement. You acknowledge and agree your Account maintained with Bank is an integral part of the Services offered by Bank and that all transactions and Services initiated or processed pursuant to this Master Agreement are subject to the terms and conditions of the rules, regulations in the Account Agreement, which has been incorporated herein by reference. You acknowledge that you have signed and executed all agreements, resolutions, signature cards and forms governing your Account required by Bank. If you have not signed the foregoing forms required by Bank, by signing this Master Agreement, you acknowledge that you have read the contents of and agree to be bound by the terms of those forms, agreements and documents, and adopt and ratify, as an Authorized Signer, the signature(s) of any person(s) who has signed a signature card or any check on your account. You also agree to establish all accounts that must be opened in conjunction with the Service provided by Bank.

27. Effective Dates. The "Effective Date" of this Master Agreement shall be the date upon which the Enrollment Form is executed by you and accepted by Bank.

28. Limitation of Liability.

a. We will be responsible only for performing the Services expressly provided for in this Master Agreement and shall be liable only for actual damages incurred by you as a result of our gross negligence or willful misconduct in performing those Services. We will not be responsible for any loss, delay, cost, or liability which arises, directly or indirectly, in whole or in part, from (a) your actions or omissions, the actions or omissions of your officers, employees, agents, Users, Third Party Agents, or the actions or omissions of those of third parties which are not within our immediate and reasonable control; (b) your negligence or breach of any agreement with us; (c) any ambiguity, inaccuracy, or omission in any instruction or information provided to us; (d) any error, failure, loss, corruption or delay in the transmission or delivery of data, records, or items due to a breakdown in any computer or communications facility; (e) any force majeure event described in Section 30 below; (f) the application of any government or funds transfer system rule, guideline, policy, or regulation; (g) the lack of available funds in your Account to complete a transaction; or (h) our inability to confirm to our satisfaction the authority of any person to act on your behalf. Except as specifically provided in this Agreement or where applicable law requires a different result, neither we nor our service providers or other agents will be liable for any loss or liability resulting in whole or in part from any act or failure to act of your equipment or software, or that of an Internet browser provider such as Microsoft® (Internet Explorer browser) or Google® (Google Chrome® browser), by an Internet access provider, by an online service provider or by an agent or subcontractor of any of them, nor will we or our service providers or other agents be responsible for any direct, indirect, special or consequential, economic or other damages arising in any way out of your access to or use of, or failure to obtain access to the Services.

b. WITHOUT LIMITING THE GENERALITY OF THE FOREGOING, IN NO EVENT WILL BANK BE LIABLE TO YOU FOR AN AMOUNT GREATER THAN THE FEES FOR THE SERVICES ACTUALLY PAID BY YOU AND RECEIVED BY BANK DURING THE SIX (6) MONTH PERIOD IMMEDIATELY PRECEEDING THE DATE ON WHICH THE CLAIM FIRST ACCRUED, WHICH SHALL BE DETERMINED BY THE EARLIER OF THE DATE WHEN YOU FIRST BECAME AWARE OF THE CLAIM OR THE DATE WHEN, THROUGH THE EXERCISE OF REASONABLE CARE, YOU REASONABLY SHOULD HAVE BECOME AWARE OF THE CLAIM.

c. REGARDLESS OF THE FORM OR NATURE OF ANY CLAIM OR ACTION, YOU AGREE THAT IN NO EVENT SHALL BANK BE LIABLE FOR ANY SPECIAL, CONSEQUENTIAL, PUNITIVE, OR INDIRECT LOSSES OR DAMAGES SUFFERED OR INCURRED BY YOU IN CONNECTION WITH ANY SERVICE CONTEMPLATED BY THIS MASTER AGREEMENT, INCLUDING WITHOUT LIMITATION, SUBSEQUENT WRONGFUL DISHONOR RESULTING FROM BANK'S ACTS OR OMISSIONS, REGARDLESS OF WHETHER BANK KNEW OR SHOULD HAVE KNOWN SUCH LOSSES OR DAMAGES MIGHT BE INCURRED. ANY LIABILITY OF BANK FOR LOSS OF INTEREST SHALL BE CALCULATED USING A RATE EQUAL TO THE FEDERAL FUNDS RATE AT THE FEDERAL RESERVE BANK OF NEW YORK FOR THE PERIOD INVOLVED. BANK SHALL NOT BE RESPONSIBLE FOR YOUR ATTORNEYS' FEES.

29. Disclaimer of Warranties.

a. YOU ACKNOWLEDGE AND AGREE THAT YOUR USE OF THE SERVICES SHALL BE AT YOUR SOLE RISK AND THAT THE SERVICES ARE PROVIDED BY BANK ON AN "AS IS" BASIS. EXCEPT AS EXPRESSLY SET FORTH IN THIS MASTER AGREEMENT, BANK MAKES NO, AND HEREBY DISCLAIMS ANY AND ALL, REPRESENTATIONS OR WARRANTIES, EXPRESS OR IMPLIED, IN LAW OR IN FACT, WHATSOEVER TO YOU OR TO ANY OTHER PERSON AS TO THE SERVICES OR ANY ASPECT THEREOF, INCLUDING (WITHOUT LIMITATION) ANY WARRANTY OF MERCHANTABILITY, FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE, QUALITY, ACCURACY, OR SUITABILITY. YOU AGREE THAT NO ORAL OR WRITIEN ADVICE OR REPRESENTATION OBTAINED FROM ANY BANK EMPLOYEE OR REPRESENTATIVE SHALL CREATE A WARRANTY OR REPRESENTATION FOR PURPOSES OF THIS MASTER AGREEMENT OR ANY SERVICES TO BE PERFORMED PURSUANT HERETO.

b. BANK MAKES NO REPRESENTATION OR WARRANTY, EITHER EXPRESS OR IMPLIED, TO YOU AS TO ANY COMPUTER HARDWARE, SOFTWARE, OR EQUIPMENT USED IN CONNECTION WITH THE SERVICES (INCLUDING, WITHOUT LIMITATION, YOUR COMPUTER SYSTEMS OR RELATED EQUIPMENT, YOUR SOFTWARE, OR YOUR INTERNET SERVICE PROVIDER OR ITS EQUIPMENT), OR AS TO THE SUITABILITY OR COMPATIBILITY OF BANK'S SOFTWARE, INTERNET DELIVERED SERVICE, EQUIPMENT OR COMMUNICATION INTERFACES WITH THOSE THAT YOU USE, OR AS TO WHETHER ANY SOFTWARE OR INTERNET DELIVERED SERVICE WILL PERFORM IN AN UNINTERRUPTED MANNER, INCLUDING (BUT NOT LIMITED TO) ANY WARRANTY OF MERCHANTABILITY OR FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE.

c. BANK SHALL NOT BE RESPONSIBLE OR LIABLE FOR ANY ERRORS OR FAILURES RESULTING FROM DEFECTS IN OR MALFUNCTIONS OF YOUR COMPUTER HARDWARE OR SOFTWARE, FOR THE QUALITY OF PERFORMANCE OR LACK OF PERFORMANCE OF ANY COMPUTER SOFTWARE OR HARDWARE OR INTERNET DELIVERED SERVICES SUPPLIED BY BANK TO YOU IN CONNECTION WITH THIS MASTER AGREEMENT, OR FOR THE TRANSMISSION OR FAILURE OF TRANSMISSION OF ANY INFORMATION FROM YOU TO BANK OR FROM BANK TO YOU. BANK SHALL NOT BE RESPONSIBLE FOR NOTIFYING YOU OF ANY UPGRADES OR ENHANCEMENTS TO ANY OF YOUR COMPUTER HARDWARE OR SOFTWARE. You acknowledge there are certain security, corruption, transmission error and access availability risks associated with using open networks such as the Internet and/or telecommunications lines or circuits and you hereby assume all such risks. If any of these disclaimers are limited or prohibited by law, we make only the warranties specifically permitted by applicable law.

30. Force Majeure. Bank shall not be responsible for any liability, loss, or damage resulting from Bank 's failure to perform any Service or to perform any other obligations under this Master Agreement which is caused by an act of God, fire, floods, adverse weather or atmospheric conditions or other catastrophes; war, sabotage, riots, acts of public enemy, pandemics, or acts of governmental authority or the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve; labor difficulties; equipment or computer failure or destruction or the unavailability, interruption, or malfunction of communications facilities or utilities; delays or failure to act by you or third parties and their personnel; criminal acts; or generally any cause beyond Bank's control.

31. Reimbursement. Any reimbursement by Bank for any liability hereunder may be made either directly to you or by adjustment of the aggregate ledger and collected balances of your Accounts.

32. Indemnification. In addition to other indemnification and liability provisions elsewhere in this Master Agreement, to the fullest extent allowed by law, you will be liable for, hold harmless, and will defend and indemnify Bank, and its affiliates, officers, directors and employees and agents from and against all claims of any sort by third parties or others arising out of this Master Agreement, including all losses and expenses (including attorneys' fees) incurred by Bank arising out of your failure to report required changes, transmission of incorrect data to Bank, or failure to maintain compliance with all laws, regulations and rules. In addition, You hereby agree to reimburse, indemnify, protect, defend and hold Bank, its affiliates and its officers, directors, employees and agents harmless, from and against, any losses, claims, liabilities, fees (including attorneys' fees, costs and investigatory fees) fines or penalties, of any kind whatsoever ("Damages") arising out of or in any way connected with the performance by Bank, its officers, directors, agents and employees, of the Services, including without limitation (a) any actions or omissions taken by Bank in reliance upon the instructions of any of your employees, officers, agents, or third-party agents; (b) any claim of any person that Bank is responsible for any of your acts or omissions or the acts or omissions of any other persons; (c) any failure on your part, or the part of your officers, employees, agents, or third-party agents to comply with this Master Agreement, User Guides, the Enrollment Form, any addendum related to the foregoing or any other applicable law, rule or regulation; (d) any damage or injury to you or any third parties asserted to have arisen out of Bank's performance of its duties and obligations under this Master Agreement; (e) any negligence, fraud or willful misconduct on your part or the part of your employees, directors, officers and agents; (f) any unauthorized use of the Access Devices by unauthorized persons, and/or (g) your breach of any of your covenants, agreements, responsibilities, representations or warranties under this Master Agreement, unless the action complained of was directly caused by Bank's gross negligence or willful misconduct. This indemnification shall survive the termination of this Master Agreement. This indemnification includes any Damages caused by Bank's reliance on instructions received from you or that Bank believed were received from you following the Security Procedures agreed upon by you and Bank.

33. WAIVER OF JURY TRIAL AND ARBITRATION.

a. BANK AND YOU EACH ACKNOWLEDGE THAT THE RIGHT TO TRIAL BY JURY IS A CONSTITUTIONAL ONE, BUT THAT IT MAY BE WAIVED. EACH PARTY, AFTER CONSULTING OR HAVING HAD THE OPPORTUNITY TO CONSULT, WITH COUNSEL OF ITS CHOICE, KNOWINGLY, VOLUNTARILY AND INTENTIONALLY WAIVES ANY RIGHT EITHER OF THEM MAY HAVE TO A TRIAL BY JURY IN ANY LITIGATION BASED UPON OR ARISING OUT OF THIS MASTER AGREEMENT OR ANY OF THE TRANSACTIONS CONTEMPLATED BY THIS MASTER AGREEMENT OR ANY COURSE OF CONDUCT, DEALING, STATEMENTS (WHETHER ORAL OR WRITTEN), OR ACTION OF BANK OR YOU. THESE PROVISIONS SHALL NOT BE DEEMED TO HAVE BEEN MODIFIED IN ANY RESPECT OR RELINQUISHED BY YOU OR US, EXCEPT BY A WRITTEN INSTRUMENT EXECUTED BY EACH PARTY TO THIS MASTER AGREEMENT.

b. YOU AND BANK AGREE THAT THE TRANSACTIONS PROCESSED UNDER THIS MASTER AGREEMENT INVOLVES "COMMERCE" UNDER THE FEDERAL ARBITRATION ACT ("FAA"). ANY CONTROVERSY OR CLAIM BETWEEN YOU AND BANK, OR BETWEEN YOU AND BANK OR ANY OF BANK'S OFFICERS, EMPLOYEES, AGENTS OR AFFILIATED ENTITIES, THAT ARISES OUT OF OR IS RELATED TO ANY SERVICE PROVIDED UNDER THIS MASTER AGREEMENT, WHETHER BASED ON CONTRACT OR IN TORT OR ANY OTHER LEGAL THEORY, INCLUDING CLAIMS OF FRAUD, SUPPRESSION, MISREPRESENTATION AND FRAUD IN THE INDUCEMENT (COLLECTIVELY, ANY "CLAIM"), WILL BE SETTLED BY BINDING ARBITRATION UNDER THE FAA. THE ARBITRATION WILL BE ADMINISTERED BY THE AMERICAN ARBITRATION ASSOCIATION UNDER ITS COMMERCIAL ARBITRATION RULES ("THE ARBITRATION RULES"). IF A CLAIM IS SUBMITTED TO ARBITRATION, (A) YOU WILL NOT HAVE THE RIGHT TO GO TO COURT OR TO HAVE A JURY TRIAL; (B) YOU WILL NOT HAVE THE RIGHT TO ENGAGE IN PRE-ARBITRATION DISCOVERY EXCEPT AS PROVIDED IN THE ARBITRATION RULES; (C) YOU WILL NOT HAVE THE RIGHT TO HAVE ANY CLAIM ARBITRATED AS A CLASS ACTION UNDER THE ARBITRATION RULES OR UNDER ANY OTHER RULES OF CIVIL PROCEDURE; (D) THE ARBITRATOR'S DECISION WILL BE FINAL AND BINDING WITH LIMITED RIGHTS TO APPEAL; AND (E) THIS MASTER AGREEMENT SUPERSEDES ANY PRIOR ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION AND/OR ARBITRATION AGREEMENT THAT MAY EXIST BETWEEN YOU AND BANK. THIS AGREEMENT TO ARBITRATE DISPUTES WILL SURVIVE THE CLOSING OF YOUR ACCOUNT AND THE TERMINATION OF THIS MASTER AGREEMENT.

34. Governing Law. These terms and conditions of this Master Agreement shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the State of Georgia, without regard to its conflict of law provisions and without regard to your state of residence. Any references in this Master Agreement to the "Uniform Commercial Code" or "UCC" shall be the Uniform Commercial Code as in effect for the State of Georgia.

35. Independent Contractor Relationship. Except as may be otherwise expressly provided in this Master Agreement, it is understood and agreed between the parties that Bank is an independent contractor and not an employee, partner, joint venturer, or agent of Company.

36. Cooperation and Loss Recovery Efforts. In the event of any damages for which we or you may be liable to the other or to a third party pursuant to the Services provided under this Agreement, we and you will undertake reasonable efforts to cooperate with each other, as permitted by applicable law in performing loss recovery efforts and in connection with any actions that the relevant party may be obligated to defend or elects to pursue against a third party.

37. Grant of Security Interest. As security for your obligations to us under this Agreement and our provision of the Services, you grant to us a present and continuing security interest in the following: (i) all of your Accounts and all distribution/collection points related to any one or more of your Accounts; (ii) all now existing and all hereafter arising contract rights relating to your Accounts associated with the Services and the distribution/collection points related to any one or more of your Accounts; (iii) all cash, checks, drafts, instruments, chattel paper, money orders, remittances, wire transfers, accounts, securities, and other items of value or payment intangibles belonging to you or payable to you, which are now in or may in the future be in or paid or deposited to your Accounts and which are now in or may in the future be in or deposited in any distribution/collection points related to any of your Accounts; and (iv) all present proceeds and future proceeds of or related to the foregoing accounts, depository/collection points and cash, checks, drafts, instruments, chattel paper, money orders, remittances, wire transfers, accounts, securities, and other items of value or payment intangibles.

38. Joint Accounts. When your use of the Services is linked to one or more joint accounts, we may act on the verbal written or electronic instructions of any Authorized Signer.

39. Joint and Several Liability. If one or more of your Accounts has co-owners, each co-owner will be jointly and severally liable for any obligation which arises from the use of the Services. This joint and several liability shall extend as well to any line of credit accessed through any such Accounts.

40. Contingency Plan. You and we each agree to maintain a business continuity plan ("Business Continuity Plan") for each Service that describes how each party will recover from a Disaster. A "Disaster" shall mean any unplanned impairment or interruption of those systems, resources, or processes that enable standard performance of the applicable Service's functionality. Each Business Continuity Plan shall include a plan for the recovery of critical technology systems, as well as procedures for restoring business operations at the primary location or at a designated recovery site, if necessary. We agree to work with you to establish a plan for alternative communications in the event of a Disaster.

41. Miscellaneous Provisions.

a. Headings; Terms. The headings and captions contained in this Master Agreement are included only for convenience of reference and do not define, limit, explain, or modify this Master Agreement or its interpretation, construction, or meaning. Any singular term in this Master Agreement shall be deemed to include the plural, and any plural term the singular. Whenever the words "include," "includes" or "including" are used in this Master Agreement, they shall be deemed followed by the words "without limitation", and such terms shall not be limited by enumeration or example.

b. Severability. The holding of any provision of this Master Agreement as invalid, illegal, or unenforceable, in whole or in part, shall not affect the other provisions of this Master Agreement, which shall remain in full force and effect.

c. Waiver. No waiver by Bank (whether or not in writing) of any term, condition, or obligation of you under this Master Agreement bind Bank to waive the same term, condition, or obligation again, nor shall any other provision, condition, term, or obligation hereof be affected by such a waiver.

d. Binding Effect. This Master Agreement shall inure to the benefit of and be binding upon the successors, trustees, and permitted assigns of the parties hereto.

e. Entire Agreement. This Master Agreement constitutes the entire agreement between the parties hereto concerning the subject matter hereof. All contemporaneous agreements or understandings concerning the subject matter hereof, whether oral or written, are merged into this Master Agreement.

f. Transfers and Assignments. You cannot transfer or assign any rights or obligations under this Master Agreement without Bank's written consent. Bank may assign its rights and delegate its duties under this Master Agreement to a company affiliated with Bank or to any other party.

g. Recording and Use of Communications. Company and Bank agree that all telephone conversations or data transmissions between them or their agents made in connection with the Services may be electronically recorded and retained by either party by use of any reasonable means. This Section does not create an obligation on the part of Bank to record such conversations or data.

h. Survival. The provisions of this Master Agreement, which by their nature survive expiration or termination of this Master Agreement shall survive.

PART II - SERVICE SCHEDULES

ACH Origination Service Schedule

1. ACH Origination Services. If Bank has underwritten and approved you for use of Bank's Automated Clearing House (ACH) Origination Services (the "ACH Services"), you hereby accept and agree to all terms, conditions, and provisions of this ACH Origination Service Schedule (this "ACH Schedule"), which sets forth the terms and conditions pursuant to which Bank will provide to Company the ACH services outlined herein ("ACH Services"). Company wishes to initiate credit and/or debit Entries (as defined below) through Bank to or from accounts maintained at Bank and in other depository financial institutions by means of the ACH network pursuant to (1) the terms of this ACH Schedule, (2) the rules of the National Automated Clearing House Association (NACHA) (the "NACHA Rules"), and (3) Bank's operating rules and procedures for electronic entries as each of the foregoing may be amended from time to time (collectively, the "Rules"), and Bank is willing to act as an Originating Depository Financial Institution ("ODFI") with respect to such Entries. In the event of conflict between a provision of this ACH Schedule, the UCC, Part I of this Master Agreement, and the Other Agreements, the provisions of this ACH Schedule shall govern, but only to the extent reasonably necessary to resolve such conflict. This ACH Schedule incorporates the exhibits, schedules and worksheets attached to the Enrollment Form or that may otherwise be provided by Bank to Company.

2. Defined Terms. Terms not otherwise defined in this ACH Schedule shall have the meaning ascribed to those terms in the NACHA Rules or Part I of this Master Agreement as applicable. For reference, certain capitalized terms used in this ACH Schedule are defined below. To the extent this definition conflicts with the definition in the NACHA Rules, the definitions in the NACHA Rules will control.

    a. "ACH Network" means the funds transfer system (network) governed by the NACHA Rules which provides for the inter-financial institution clearing of electronic Entries for participating financial institutions.

    b. "Effective Entry Date" means the date placed on an ACH transaction by the Originator of the transaction or the ODFI – it is normally the date the Originator or ODFI intends the transaction to take place.

    c. "Entry" or "Entries" means credit entries or debit entries consistent with the NACHA Rules and shall also mean the data received from Company hereunder from which Bank initiates each Entry.

    d. "File" means a group of ACH Entries stored for delivery to an ACH receiving point.

    e. "Originator" means a company, individual or entity that initiates Entries into the ACH Network.

    f. "Settlement Date" means the date on which settlement occurs, i.e., the funds actually change hands as a result of an ACH Entry.

3. Compliance with Rules and Laws. Company acknowledges it has a copy or has access to a copy of the NACHA Rules. The NACHA Rules may also be purchased online at www.nacha.org. Company agrees to comply with and be subject to the NACHA Rules currently in existence, and any amendments to the NACHA Rules made from time to time. Company agrees that the performance of any action by Bank to debit or credit an account or transfer funds otherwise required by the NACHA Rules is excused from the performance of such action to the extent that the action is inconsistent with applicable law, including the obligations of Bank under any program or regulation administered by OFAC or FinCEN. Company agrees generally and warrants to Bank that all actions by Company contemplated by this ACH Schedule, including the preparation, transmittal, and settlement of Entries and payment orders, shall comply in all material respects with United States laws, regulations, regulatory guidelines and guidance, and official commentaries, including without limitation all regulations, guidelines, and commentaries issued or administered by the United States Treasury Department, the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve, the Federal Financial Institutions Examination Council, OFAC and/or FinCEN. Bank will charge Company with any fines and penalties imposed by OFAC, NACHA, or any organization which are incurred as a result of non-compliance by Company and Company agrees to fully reimburse and/or indemnify Bank for such charges or fines. The duties of Company set forth in the following paragraphs of this ACH Schedule in no way limit the requirement of complying with the provisions of this Section, the Rules and all applicable laws.

4. Credit Approval. In utilizing the ACH Network in performance of the ACH Services, Bank must make certain warranties on behalf of Company. Specifically, Bank is charged with assuring the financial soundness of Company to make the intended Entries. Bank must approve Company for the ACH Services and may request financial information from Company and/or a separate credit agreement. Bank shall also be authorized to obtain a credit report(s) on Company as may be necessary from time to time. Bank may require one or more personal guarantee(s) of a principal, owner, member, partner, manager, director, or officer of Company or other affiliated third party in Bank's sole discretion. After Bank has underwritten and approved Company for use of the Services, Bank may require Company to provide additional information from time to time and Company agrees to provide Bank such financial, business, and operating information as Bank may reasonably request.

5. Transmission of Entries by Company.

   a. Company shall transmit Entries to Bank in compliance with the formatting and other requirements set forth in the NACHA Rules and in any written materials provided by Bank to Company. Company will transmit all debit and credit Entries to Bank on or before the deadlines (the "Cutoff Time") described in Exhibit A to the Enrollment Form for the Entries to be processed on that Business Day. Entries shall be transmitted to Bank no later than the time and the number of days prior to the Effective Entry Date specified in the processing schedule set forth in Exhibit A to the Enrollment Form. For the purposes of this ACH Schedule, the "Settlement Date" with respect to any Entry shall be the Business Day when such Entry is debited or credited in accordance with instructions of Company. Entries received after the Cutoff Time shall be deemed to have been received on the next Business Day.

   b. Company agrees that its ability to originate Entries under this ACH Service Schedule is subject to exposure limits in accordance with the NACHA Rules and as set forth in Exhibit A to the Enrollment Form (the "Exposure Limits"). Company acknowledges that the Exposure Limits are solely for the protection of Bank and its assets. Company understands that daily requests for Entries exceeding this amount are honored solely at the discretion of Bank. The total dollar amount of Entries transmitted by Company to Bank on any one Business Day shall not exceed the lesser of the amount of collected funds in Company's Account or the Exposure Limits set forth in Exhibit A in the Enrollment Form.

   c. Company agrees that it will initiate Entries only for Standard Entry Class ("SEC") Codes for which it has specifically been approved by Bank as set forth in Exhibit A to the Enrollment Form.

   d. Bank is entitled to deem any person having knowledge of any Security Procedure to be a User.

   e. User(s) shall transmit Entries to Bank in computer readable form in compliance with the formatting and other requirements set forth in the Rules or as otherwise specified by Bank in Exhibit A in the Enrollment Form. If any data Files are transmitted by Company to Bank over any Unsecured Electronic Network, Company shall ensure that the data is encrypted in a manner that complies with the Rules.

   f. Company may not reinitiate Entries except as prescribed by the Rules. Company authorizes Bank to transmit all Entries received by Bank from Company in accordance with the terms of this ACH Schedule and to credit or debit Entries to the specified accounts.

6. Transmission of Same Day ACH Entries. If Company is approved by Bank for Same Day ACH (as defined below), Company may initiate both credits and debits to be processed on the same day so long as they are submitted before the deadline provided on Exhibit A of the Enrollment Form ("Submission Deadline") (such Entry, a "Same Day ACH") by selecting that the credits and debits be processed as Same Day ACH within Online Banking. If a Same Day ACH is submitted by the Submission Deadline, that File will be available to the Receiver by 5:00 p.m.

SAMPLE

local Bank ET on the day the File was submitted. Company represents and warrants that Company shall comply with all NACHA Same Day ACH Guidelines, including, but not limited to, adhering to per transaction and aggregate per receiver and per invoice dollar limits, standard class entry restrictions, and submission deadlines. The Company understands and agrees that there may be additional costs associated with Same Day ACH.

7. Data Retention. Company shall retain data and files adequate to permit the remaking of Entries for five (5) Business Days following the date of their transmittal by Bank as provided herein and shall provide such data to Bank upon its request.

8. Credit and Debit Entries; Records Retention. Company shall obtain an authorization ("Authorization Agreement") as required by the NACHA Rules from the person or entity whose account will be debited or credited as the result of a debit or credit Entry initiated by Company and Company shall retain the Authorization Agreement in original form while it is in effect and the original or a copy of each Authorization Agreement for two (2) years after termination or revocation of such Authorization Agreement as stated in the NACHA Rules. The Authorization Agreement must readily be identifiable as either an ACH credit or ACH debit authorization and must clearly and conspicuously state the terms of the authorization. Upon request, Company shall furnish the original or a copy of the Authorization Agreement to any affected Participating Depository Financial Institution within 10 banking days of request, as defined in the NACHA Rules.

9. Processing, Transmittal, and Settlement by Bank. Except as otherwise provided for in this ACH Schedule and if Bank elects to accept Entries, Bank shall:

   a. (i) use commercially reasonable efforts to comply with the instructions of Company, (ii) process Entries received from Company to conform with the file specifications set forth in the NACHA Rules, (iii) transmit such Entries as an ODFI to the ACH processor selected by Bank, (iv) settle for such Entries as provided in the NACHA Rules, and (v) in the case of a credit Entry received for credit to an account with Bank ("On-Us Entry"), Bank shall credit the Receiver's account in the amount of such credit Entry on the Effective Entry Date contained in such credit Entry provided such credit Entry is received by Bank at the time and in the form prescribed by Bank in this ACH Schedule; and

   b. transmit such Entries to the ACH processor by the deposit deadline of the ACH processor, provided: (i) such Entries are completely received by Bank's Cutoff Time; (ii) the Effective Entry Date satisfies the criteria provided by Bank to Company; and (iii) the ACH processor is open for business on such Business Day. Company agrees that the ACH processor selected by Bank shall be considered to have been selected by and designated by Company. Company will receive immediately available funds for any electronic debit Entry initiated by it on the Settlement Date applicable thereto.

10. Payment for Credit Entries and Returned Debit Entries.

    a. Company agrees to pay for all credit Entries issued by Company, User(s), or credit Entries otherwise made effective against Company. Company shall make payment to Bank on the date as determined by Bank in its sole discretion ("Payment Date"). Company shall pay Bank for the amount of each debit Entry returned by a Receiving Depository Financial Institution ("RDFI") or debit Entry dishonored by Bank. Payment shall be made by Company to Bank in any manner specified by Bank. Notwithstanding the foregoing, Bank is hereby authorized to charge the account(s) ("Authorized Account(s)") designated in Exhibit A to the Enrollment Form, as payment for all payments due Bank under this ACH Schedule. Company shall maintain sufficient collected funds in the Authorized Account(s) to pay for all payments due Bank under this ACH Schedule on the Payment Date.

    b. If Bank requires pre-funding, Company shall maintain sufficient collected funds in the Authorized Account(s) to settle for the credit Entries at the time the credit Entries are issued by Company. In the event the Authorized Account does not have collected funds sufficient on the Settlement Date to cover the total amount of all Entries to be paid on such Settlement Date, Bank may take any of the following actions:

i. Refuse to process all credit Entries, in which event Bank shall return the data relating to such credit Entries to Company, whereupon Bank shall have no liability to Company or to any third party as a result thereof;
ii. Process that portion of the credit Entries as Company has sufficient available funds in the Authorized Account to cover, in whatever order Bank in its sole discretion shall elect to process, in which event Bank shall return the data relating to such credit Entries that are not processed to Company, whereupon Bank shall have no liability to Company or any third party as a result thereof; or
iii. In the event Bank elects to process credit Entries initiated by Company and Company has not maintained sufficient available funds in the Authorized Account with Bank to cover them, the total amount of the insufficiency advanced by Bank on behalf of Company shall be immediately due and payable by Company to Bank without any further demand from Bank (which amount hereinafter referred to as the "Liabilities"). In the event that Bank accepts the credit Entries, Company agrees to pay Bank the Liabilities plus interest from the Settlement Date, which is the date the Liabilities arise under the terms of this ACH Schedule. The Liabilities are immediately payable without notice, demand, notice of protest or notice of dishonor. Interest shall accrue at a rate per annum (based upon the number of days elapsed in a 365-day year) equal to two percentage points plus the interest rate published in the Wall Street Journal as the prime rate for U.S. commercial banks.
iv. Company warrants and agrees pursuant to this ACH Schedule that (i) it shall maintain sufficient funds in its Authorized Account on the Payment Date, (ii) the Company's creation of any Liabilities represents a default by Company on its obligations to Bank under this ACH Schedule, and (iii) creation of any Liabilities shall cause Bank business interruption, administrative, lost profit, and other damages.
v. Company acknowledges and agrees that this ACH Schedule does not represent any agreement by Bank to make advances or loan funds. It embodies the rights of the parties to the extent that any Liabilities arise.

11. On-Us Entries. Except as provided in the Section entitled, Rejection of Entries, in the case of an Entry received for credit or debit to an account maintained with Bank (an "On-Us Entry"), Bank shall credit or debit, as applicable, the Receiver's account in the amount of such Entry on the Effective Entry Date contained in such Entry, provided the Rules set forth above are met. If any of those Rules are not met, Bank shall use reasonable efforts to credit or debit, as applicable, the Receiver's account in the amount of such Entry no later than the next Business Day following the Effective Entry Date or at such later time as required or permitted by the Rules.

12. Pre-Funding.

a. Bank reserves the right to require Company to pre-fund an Authorized Account maintained at Bank prior to the Settlement Date of the ACH File. Bank shall determine whether pre-funding is required based on criteria established from time to time by Bank. Bank will communicate directly to Company if pre-funding is required and, if requested by Company, will provide Company with an explanation of its pre-funding criteria. If it is determined that pre-funding is required, Company will provide immediately available and collected funds sufficient to pay all Entries initiated by Company (a) not later than 8:00 a.m. local time two (2) Business Days before each Settlement Date, and (b) prior to initiating any Entries for which pre-funding is required.

b. If checked in Exhibit A to the Enrollment Form, certain transaction types may require pre-funding.

c. If you use ACH pre-funding, at the time we receive an Entry from you, in order to ensure that there are sufficient available, collectible funds in your Authorized Account to fully cover or pay the Entry when we transmit it to the ACH Operator or otherwise process the Entry, we will place an administrative hold or freeze on funds in the Authorized Account that would otherwise be available. The administrative hold or freeze will be on funds in such Authorized Accounts that are not then subject to another administrative hold or freeze, and that are otherwise available. The funds that will be subjected to the administrative hold or freeze will be in an amount sufficient to cover or pay the Entry, which will occur through our automatic debit of your Authorized Account for an Entry transmitted by us at such time on the date of transmittal as we may determine, and for an On-Us Entry at such time on the Effective Entry Date of such Entry as we may determine. Because of the administrative hold or freeze we will place on your Authorized Account and our automatic debit of your Authorized Account to cover or pay such Entry, you must have a balance of available, collectible funds in your Authorized Account sufficient to cover or pay such Entry. If you do not, we may, at our sole discretion, take any series of actions we deem necessary or appropriate, including any of the following: process the Entry as if you were not using ACH pre-funding in which event you will pay to us the amount of the Entry transmitted by us; continue to try to process the Entry; suspend the Entry; or reject the Entry. For each day during which we attempt to process the Entry and we are unable to do so because there are not sufficient funds available or during which the Entry is suspended because of the insufficient funds, we may charge you a daily NSF fee at our then current commercial NSF rate. We may debit the Authorized Accounts to recover the NSF fee we charge you and if there are not sufficient funds in the Authorized Account, we may recover the fees from any other accounts that you maintain with Bank. In addition, we may recover the NSF fees in accordance with the provisions of this ACH Schedule and the Master Agreement.

d. It is your responsibility to fund Authorized Accounts with sufficient available, collectible funds in accordance with this Section in order to avoid a rejection of an Entry by us. Our right to charge the NSF fee is not conditioned upon us providing notice to you that we are unable to process an Entry because of insufficient available, collectible funds.

13. Company as Receiver. If Company is the Receiver of an Entry or other funds transfer, and Bank does not receive final settlement for any payment made to Company by Bank, Company acknowledges and agrees that Company is obligated to Bank for the amount of the payment order and Bank is authorized to charge Company's account(s) for any amount paid to Company.

14. Rejection of Entries. We may reject any Entry: (i) that does not comply with the Rules, (ii) that contains an Effective Entry Date more than thirty (30) calendar days after the Business Day we receive the Entry; (iii) if an On-Us Entry, for any reason for which an Entry may be returned under the Rules; (iv) if you have failed to comply with your Account balance obligations; (v) if you do not adhere to the Security Procedures, and/or (vi) under circumstances that we know or reasonably suspect involve fraudulent, unlawful or disputed acts or that may subject us to an actual or potential loss of any kind. Provided you have complied with the Cut-Off Times, we will notify you no later than the Settlement Date if we reject an Entry. We may notify you by telephone, electronic transmission or other means, and the notice will be effective when given. We will have no liability to you or any third party for our rejection of an Entry or the fact that notice of rejection is not provided earlier than as stated herein. Bank shall have no liability to Company for rejection of an Entry and shall not be liable to pay interest to Company even if the amount of Company's payment order is fully covered by a withdrawable credit balance in an Authorized Account of Company or Bank has otherwise received full payment from Company.

15. Cancellation or Amendment by Company. Company shall have no right to cancel or amend any Entry after its receipt by Bank. However, Bank may, at its option, accept a cancellation or amendment by Company. If Bank accepts a cancellation or amendment of an Entry, Company must comply with the Security Procedures provided in this Master Agreement and Enrollment Form. If such a request is received by Bank before the affected Entry has been transmitted to the ACH processor (or, in the case of an On-Us Entry, before the Receiver's account has been credited or debited), Bank will use reasonable efforts to cancel or amend the Entry as requested, but Bank shall have no liability if the cancellation or amendment is not affected. If Bank accepts a cancellation or amendment of an Entry, Company hereby agrees to indemnify and defend all claims and hold Bank harmless from any loss, damages, or expenses, including but not limited to attorneys' fees, incurred by Bank as the result of its acceptance of the cancellation or amendment.

16. Reversal of Entries.

a. General Procedure. Upon proper and timely request by Company, Bank will use reasonable efforts to effect a reversal of an Entry. To be "proper and timely," the request must be (i) permitted by the Rules; (ii) made within five (5) Business Days of the Effective Entry Date for the Entry to be reversed; (iii) made immediately, not to exceed ten (10) hours, upon Company's discovery of the error; and (iii) be accompanied by a reversal/cancellation request form acceptable to Bank. In addition, if Company requests reversal of a debit Entry, it shall concurrently deposit into the Authorized Account an amount equal to that Entry. Company shall notify the Receiver of any reversing Entry initiated to correct any Entry it has initiated in error. The notification to the Receiver must include the reason for the reversal and be made no later than the Settlement Date of the reversing Entry.

b. No Liability and Reimbursement to Bank. Under no circumstances shall Bank be liable for interest or related losses if the requested reversal of an Entry is not effected. Company shall reimburse Bank for any expenses, losses, or damages it incurs in effecting or attempting to effect the Company's request for reversal of an Entry.

17. Error Detection. Bank has no obligation to discover and shall not be liable to Company for errors made by Company, including but not limited to errors made in identifying the Receiver, or an Intermediary or RDFI or for errors in the amount of an Entry. Bank shall likewise have no duty to discover and shall not be liable for duplicate Entries issued by Company. In the event that Company makes an error or issues a duplicate Entry, Company shall indemnify, defend all claims, and hold Bank harmless from any loss, damages, or expenses, including but not limited to attorneys' fees, incurred by Bank as result of the error or issuance of duplicate Entries.

18. Prohibited Transactions. Company agrees not to use or attempt to use the ACH Services for purposes prohibited by Section 2c of Part I of this Master Agreement. Company acknowledges and agrees that Bank has no obligation to monitor Company's use of the ACH Services for transactions and activity that is impermissible or prohibited under the terms of this Master Agreement; provided, however, that Bank reserves the right to decline to execute any Entry, transaction or activity that Bank believes violates the terms of this Master Agreement. Note: Bank does not currently permit International ACH Transactions ("IAT"). If Company initiates a transaction that should have been classified as an "IAT" under another, permitted SEC transaction code, Company shall bear ALL RISK and shall fully indemnify Bank for any liability, damages, or losses, including costs and attorneys' fees incurred, due to, relating to, or arising from Company's improper classification of the transaction. (This full indemnification supersedes any language to the contrary in this Master Agreement).

19. Prenotification. Company, at its option, may send prenotification that it intends to initiate an Entry to a particular account within the time limits prescribed for such notice in the NACHA Rules. Such notice shall be provided to Bank in the format and on the medium provided in the media format section of such NACHA Rules. If Company receives notice that such prenotification has been rejected by an RDFI within the prescribed period, or that an RDFI will not receive Entries without having first received a copy of the Authorization Agreement signed by its customer, Company will not initiate any corresponding Entries to such accounts until the cause for rejection has been corrected or until providing the RDFI with such authorization within the time limits provided by the NACHA Rules.

20. Notice of Returned Entries and Notifications of Change.

a. Bank shall notify Company by email, through Business Online Banking or other means of the receipt of a returned Entry from the ACH Operator, as that term is defined in the NACHA Rules. Except for an Entry retransmitted by Company in accordance with the requirements of this ACH Schedule, Bank shall have no obligation to retransmit a returned Entry to the ACH Operator if Bank complied with the terms of this ACH Schedule with respect to the original Entry. If a customer of Company returns any transaction, then it is Company's responsibility to collect any funds that are owed. You authorize Bank to charge back returns to your Authorized Account in the amount of any return Entry as soon as this information is made available to Bank. You will promptly provide immediately available funds to indemnify Bank if any debit Entry is returned after Bank has permitted you to withdraw funds in the amount thereof or if any adjustment memorandum that relates to such Entry is received by Bank. You acknowledge that Bank has the right to establish criteria concerning Entries initiated by you and to monitor compliance with such criteria, to include such as permissible return rates, and you agree that should Bank's criteria not be met, Bank is authorized to freeze the assets in your Accounts until such time as such criteria are met, and in such event, Bank also shall have the right to cease further processing of Entries initiated by you until such criteria are met and you are fully in compliance with the provisions of this Master Agreement, the Rules, and applicable law.

b. Company shall notify the Receiver by phone, electronic transmission of receipt of each return Entry no later than one Business Day after the Business Day of receiving such notification from Bank. Bank shall provide Company all information, as required by the NACHA Rules, with respect to each Notification of Change ("NOC") Entry or Corrected Notification of Change ("Corrected NOC") Entry, as those terms are defined in the NACHA Rules, received by Bank relating to Entries transmitted by Company, or Bank may arrange with Company to receive all such information directly from applicable Federal Reserve systems. Unless Bank has arranged for Company to receive such information directly from applicable Federal Reserve systems, Bank must provide such information to Company within two (2) Business Days of the Settlement Date of each NOC or Corrected NOC Entry. Company shall ensure that changes requested by the NOC or Corrected NOC are made within six (6) Business Days of Company's receipt of the NOC information from Bank or prior to initiating another Entry to the Receiver's account, whichever is later.

c. The Company agrees not to originate a transaction where an appliable Authorization Agreement has been revoked. In the event a return Entry or NOC sent to Company is in error, Company shall notify Bank within one Business Day of Entry receipt.

21. Account Reconciliation. Company agrees to notify Bank promptly of any discrepancy between Company's records and the information shown on any periodic statement. If Company fails to notify Bank within fifteen (15) calendar days of receipt of a periodic statement containing such information, Company agrees that Bank shall not be liable for any other losses resulting from Company's failure to give such notice or any loss of interest or any interest equivalent with respect to any Entry shown on such periodic statement. If the Company fails to notify Bank within thirty (30) calendar days of receipt of such periodic statement, the Company shall be precluded from asserting any discrepancy against Bank.

22. Provisional Settlement.

a. Company shall be bound by and comply with the NACHA Rules as in effect from time to time, including without limitation the provision thereof making payment of an Entry by the RDFI to the Receiver provisional until receipt by the RDFI of final settlement for such Entry; and Company acknowledges that it has received notice of that NACHA Rule and the fact that, if such settlement is not received, the RDFI shall be entitled to a refund from the Receiver of the amount credited and Company shall not be deemed to have paid the Receiver the amount of the Entry.

b. For Entries received by Bank to be credited to Company's account(s), Bank shall grant Company's account provisional credit, said amounts being credited to the account(s) subject to final payment by the ODFI and Originator. For the purpose of determining availability of funds, Bank may hold funds for the period of time permitted by Reg CC. For the purposes of determining the time for which funds may be held by Bank under Reg CC, the place of deposit shall be Blackshear, Georgia.

23. Company Representations and Warranties; Indemnity.

a. With respect to each and every Entry transmitted by Company, Company represents and warrants to Bank and agrees that:

SAMPLE

i. Each person or entity shown as the Receiver on an Entry received by Bank from Company has authorized the initiation of such Entry and the crediting or debiting of its account in the amount and on the Effective Entry Date shown on such Entry;
ii. Such authorization is operative at the time of transmittal or crediting or debiting by Bank as provided herein;
iii. Entries transmitted to Bank by Company are limited to those types of credit and debit Entries set forth in Exhibit A to the Enrollment Form;
iv. Entries are originated in accordance with the formatting and other requirements of the NACHA Rules;
v. Company has performed its obligations under this ACH Schedule in accordance with all applicable laws, regulations, and orders, including, but not limited to, the sanctions laws, regulations, and orders administered by OFAC; laws, regulations, and orders administered FinCEN; and any state laws, regulations, or orders applicable to the providers of ACH services including UCC Article 4A as that law is codified in the Official Code of Georgia;
vi. Company has performed OFAC screening on all participants to the Entry and confirmed that no participant is named on any lists maintained by OFAC. If, during an OFAC screening, a "possible match" results, Company will not process the Entry until confirming that there is no actual match. If the OFAC match is confirmed, Company shall block the transaction and report the transaction to OFAC if and to the extent required by the rules, regulations and guidelines of OFAC;
vii. For incoming ACH transmissions, each debit entry is for a sum which, on the Settlement Date with respect to it, will be owing the Company from the party whose account will be debited, is for a sum specified by such party to be paid to Company, or is a correction of a previously transmitted erroneous credit Entry;
viii. Where prenotification is required, Company has complied with all prenotification requirements of the NACHA Rules which includes sending prenotifications six (6) Business Days prior to the first production entry and acting on any changes or returns resulting from these prenotifications (prenotifications are non-mandatory); and
ix. Company is in possession and will retain the original or copy of all Authorization Agreements as required by the NACHA Rules for a period of not less than two (2) years after termination or revocation of such Authorization Agreement and will, upon request of Bank, furnish an original or copy of the Authorization Agreement to Bank.

b. Without limiting the indemnification obligations of Company otherwise contained in this Master Agreement, Company shall defend, indemnify, and hold harmless Bank, and its officers, directors, agents, and employees, from and against any and all actions, costs, claims, losses, damages, or expenses, including attorneys' fees and expenses, resulting from or arising out of (a) any breach of any of the agreements, representations or warranties of the Company contained in this ACH Schedule; or (b) any act or omission of Company or any other person acting on Company's behalf.

24. Additional Company Warranties for Selected Standard Entry Classes. NACHA, in its role of ensuring the safety, security, and viability of the ACH Network, has determined that certain single-use or limited-use consumer authorizations have the potential to increase risk in the ACH system and compromise system effectiveness by increasing the incidence of returned Entries. Therefore, to qualify as an Originator of such Entries, Company hereby warrants to Bank that for each such Entry submitted for processing, Company has obtained all authorizations from the Receiver as required by the NACHA Rules, by Regulation E or other applicable law, and this ACH Schedule. Company indemnifies and holds Bank harmless from any liability arising out of Company's breach of these warranties. PPD and CCD are the only SEC Codes available for origination at this time, though such offering may be available in the future.

25. Security Procedures. In addition to the Security Procedures otherwise set forth in the Master Agreement, Company agrees to be bound by the Security Procedures, attached to the Enrollment Form as Exhibit A, as further described in the Security and Authentication Schedule attached to this Master Agreement. Company understands and agrees that the Security Procedures are commercially reasonable under applicable law for the ACH Services. If an Entry (or request for cancellation or amendments of an Entry) received by Bank purports to have been transmitted or authorized by Company, it will be deemed effective as Company's Entry (or request) and Company shall be obligated to pay Bank the amount of such Entry even though the Entry (or request) was not authorized by Company, provided Bank accepted the Entry in good faith and acted in compliance with the Security Procedures with respect to such Entry. As such, Bank shall not be liable for any losses when Bank has used the Security Procedures and Bank has acted in good faith on the instructions received from Company.

Bank reserves the right to change, amend, replace, or cancel any or all Security Procedures with regard to the ACH Services at any time and from time to time in Bank's discretion. Bank may make any change in Security Procedures without advance notice to Company if Bank, in its judgment and discretion, believes such change to be necessary or desirable to protect the security of Bank's systems and assets. Company's implementation and use of any changed Security Procedures after any change in Security Procedures shall constitute Company's agreement to the change and Company's agreement that the applicable Security Procedures, as changed, are commercially reasonable and adequate for the purposes intended.

26. Reserves. From time to time, Bank may evaluate Company's transaction activity for the purpose of establishing averages for transaction frequency, amount, returns and adjustments. These evaluations will generally occur at least annually and may occur more frequently at Bank's discretion. In connection with these evaluations, Bank reserves the right to require Company to establish reserves with Bank calculated by Bank to cover Company's obligations to Bank arising from its provision of the ACH Services. Reserves may be expressed as a fixed dollar amount or as a "rolling reserve" calculated based on "rolling" averages determined by Bank's periodic evaluations. The amount of reserves required by Bank, if any, will be communicated directly to Company from time to time. Company agrees to establish reserves as required by Bank within fifteen (15) Business Days after receipt of a communication from Bank setting forth the amount of required reserves and the basis of calculation used to determine the amount of reserves. Bank may suspend the ACH Services for Company if Company fails to establish the required amount of reserves within the time period specified by Bank in its communication to Company.

27. Physical and Electronic Security. In addition to, and without limiting the generality of, the Physical and Electronic Security provisions of the Master Agreement, Company specifically acknowledges and agrees that as part of its obligation to provide for the security of data and systems in Company's possession or under Company's control, Company shall comply with the provisions of the NACHA Rules, entitled "Security Requirements," for the safeguarding of Protected Information, as that term is defined in the NACHA Rules.

28. Limitation of Liability.

    a. IN ADDITION TO THE LIMITATION OF LIABILITY PROVISIONS OF PART I OF THIS MASTER AGREEMENT, IN THE PERFORMANCE OF THE ACH SERVICES PROVIDED IN THIS ACH SCHEDULE, BANK SHALL BE ENTITLED TO RELY SOLELY ON THE INFORMATION, REPRESENTATIONS, AND WARRANTIES PROVIDED BY COMPANY PURSUANT TO THIS ACH SCHEDULE, AND SHALL NOT BE RESPONSIBLE FOR THE ACCURACY OR COMPLETENESS THEREOF.

    b. BANK SHALL BE RESPONSIBLE ONLY FOR PERFORMING THE ACH SERVICES EXPRESSLY PROVIDED FOR IN THIS ACH SCHEDULE AND SHALL BE LIABLE ONLY FOR ITS GROSS NEGLIGENCE OR WILLFUL MISCONDUCT IN PERFORMING THOSE ACH SERVICES.

    c. BANK SHALL NOT BE RESPONSIBLE FOR COMPANY'S ACTS OR OMISSIONS (INCLUDING, WITHOUT LIMITATION, THE AMOUNT, ACCURACY, TIMELINESS OF TRANSMITTAL OR AUTHORIZATION OF ANY ENTRY RECEIVED FROM COMPANY) OR THOSE OF ANY OTHER PERSON, INCLUDING, WITHOUT LIMITATION, ANY FEDERAL RESERVE BANK, ACH OPERATOR OR TRANSMISSION OR COMMUNICATIONS FACILITY, ANY RECEIVER OR RDFI (INCLUDING, WITHOUT LIMITATION, THE RETURN OF ANY ENTRY BY SUCH RECEIVER OR RDFI), AND NO SUCH PERSON SHALL BE DEEMED BANK'S AGENT. COMPANY AGREES TO INDEMNIFY BANK AGAINST ANY LOSS, LIABILITY OR EXPENSE (INCLUDING ATTORNEYS' FEES AND COSTS) RESULTING FROM

OR ARISING OUT OF ANY CLAIM OF ANY PERSON THAT BANK IS RESPONSIBLE FOR ANY ACT OR OMISSION OF COMPANY OR ANY OTHER THIRD PARTY.

d. WITHOUT LIMITING THE GENERALITY OF THE FOREGOING PROVISIONS, AND IN ADDITION TO THE "FORCE MAJEURE" PROVISIONS OF PART I OF THIS MASTER AGREEMENT, BANK SHALL BE EXCUSED FROM FAILING TO TRANSMIT OR DELAY IN TRANSMITTING AN ENTRY IF SUCH TRANSMITTAL WOULD RESULT IN BANK HAVING EXCEEDED ANY LIMITATION UPON ITS INTRA-DAY NET FUNDS POSITION ESTABLISHED PURSUANT TO PRESENT OR FUTURE FEDERAL RESERVE GUIDELINES OR IN BANK'S REASONABLE JUDGMENT OTHERWISE WOULD VIOLATE ANY PROVISION OF ANY PRESENT OR FUTURE RISK CONTROL PROGRAM OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE OR ANY RULE OR REGULATION OF ANY OTHER U.S. GOVERNMENTAL REGULATORY AUTHORITY.

e. SUBJECT TO THE FOREGOING LIMITATIONS, BANK'S LIABILITY FOR LOSS OF INTEREST RESULTING FROM ITS ERROR OR DELAY SHALL BE CALCULATED BY USING A RATE EQUAL TO THE AVERAGE FEDERAL FUNDS RATE AT THE FEDERAL RESERVE BANK OF NEW YORK FOR THE PERIOD INVOLVED. AT BANK'S OPTION, PAYMENT OF SUCH INTEREST MAY BE MADE BY CREDITING THE AUTHORIZED ACCOUNT.

29. Third Party Service Providers. You may be using special equipment, services, or software provided by a third party to assist in processing Files hereunder (a "Service Provider"). You agree not to use a Service Provider to transmit files to Bank without first entering into a Service Provider Agreement (as defined below). If you use a Service Provide to transmit Files to Bank and you and the Service Provider have not entered into a Service Provider Agreement, you (a) agree that Service Provider is acting as your agent in the delivery of Files to Bank, and (b) agree to assume full responsibility and liability for any failure of Service Provider to comply with the laws of the United States, the NACHA Rules, and this Master Agreement. Bank will not be liable for any losses or additional costs incurred by you as a result of any error by a Service Provider or a malfunction or equipment provided by a Service Provider. You are solely responsible for maintaining compliance with the requirements of the Service Provider, including obtaining any software updates. Bank's sole responsibility shall be to transmit Bank approved transactions to the ACH Operator and Bank shall not have any responsibility for any File handled by a Service Provider until that point in time when Bank accepts and approves a File from such Service Provider for processing. If Bank authorizes you to use a Service Provider, the terms and conditions governing the relationship between you and the Service Provider shall be governed by a separate agreement between you and the Service Provider ("Service Provider Agreement"). All of your obligations and responsibilities under this Master Agreement will apply to the Service Provider, and your Service Provider Agreement with the Service Provider must so provide. At Bank's request, you will provide a true and exact copy of such Service Provider Agreement to Bank. You shall designate the Service Provider as a User and you agree and acknowledge that you shall be fully responsible for the actions of Service Provider as a User. Notwithstanding the foregoing, you hereby authorize Bank to accept any File submitted by the Service Provider even if the Service Provider has not been designed as a User or if the Service Provider has not executed the Service Provider Agreement. You hereby indemnify and hold Bank harmless from any losses, damages, fines, assessments, costs, and expenses incurred or suffered by Bank or any other person as a result of or arising from your use of the Service Provider, including fines or assessments incurred under or pursuant to the NACHA Rules and attorneys' fees.

30. Inconsistency of Name and Account Number. If Company identifies the Receiver of the Entry by account number or identifying number, or by name and account number or identifying number, Company acknowledges that payment of the proceeds of the Entry to the Receiver shall be made by the RDFI, or by Bank in case of an On-Us Entry, on the basis of the identifying or bank account number even if it identifies a person different from the named Receiver. Company is liable for and must settle with Bank for any Entry initiated by Company that identifies the Receiver by account or identifying number or by name and account or identifying number.

31. Contingency. In the event Company cannot create or transmit a File due to hardware or communications outage, it is the responsibility of Company to have contingency procedures in place. In the event Bank cannot process the File through normal channels, reasonable efforts will be taken by Bank to find alternate means to process the File. Bank will not be held liable for delayed Files in any case resulting from hardware or communication outages or as otherwise provided in the Force Majeure provisions of this Master Agreement.

32. Data Media and Record; Data Retention. All data media, Entries, Security Procedures, and related records used by Bank for transactions contemplated by this ACH Schedule shall be and remain Bank's property. Bank may, at its sole discretion, make available such information upon Company's request. Any expenses incurred by Bank in making such information available to Company shall be paid by Company.

33. Cooperation in Loss Recovery Efforts. In the event of any damages for which Bank or Company may be liable to each other or to a third party pursuant to the ACH Services, Bank and Company will undertake reasonable efforts to cooperate with each other, as permitted by applicable law, in performing loss recovery efforts and in connection with any actions that the relevant party may be obligated to defend or elects to pursue against a third party.

Online Wire Transfer Service Schedule

1. Wire Transfer Services. Company agrees that this Online Wire Transfer Service Schedule (the "Wire Schedule") sets forth the terms and conditions pursuant to which Bank will provide to Company the wire transfer services (the "Wire Services") outlined herein. In the event of conflict between a provision of this Wire Schedule, the UCC, Part I of this Master Agreement, and the Other Agreements, the provisions of this Wire Schedule shall govern, but only to the extent reasonably necessary to resolve such conflict.

2. Authorization to Accept Payment Orders. Company has authorized Bank to act upon, accept and execute all requests and instructions to transfer funds by wire transfer from Company's Accounts maintained at Bank through Business Online Banking (each a "Payment Order," or collectively, "Payment Orders," as that term is further defined in Article 4A of the Uniform Commercial Code). Transfers processed through the Automated Clearing House (ACH) are covered by the ACH Schedule and not this Wire Schedule.

3. Execution and Acceptance of Payment Orders. Company agrees that instructions to initiate Payment Orders via the Wire Services shall only be made by Users within Business Online Banking who have been properly authorized by Company to initiate Payment Orders via the Wire Services (each, and "Authorized Agent"). Bank is hereby authorized to honor, execute, and accept each and every Payment Order received by it in the name of the Company as sender or issued by an Authorized Agent. If Bank elects to accept Payment Orders issued by Company, Bank shall use reasonable efforts to comply with the Payment Order in paying the proceeds to the beneficiary, if Bank is also the beneficiary's bank, or in executing the Payment Order if Bank is not also the beneficiary's bank. Company shall issue the Payment Order to Bank in a timely manner sufficient to allow Bank to ensure that payment is made to the beneficiary on the payment date. Bank shall be entitled to deem any person having knowledge of any Security Device or who complies with the Security Procedures required in order to initiate Payment Orders under this Wire Schedule to be an Authorized Agent. Bank may, in all cases, rely on and accept Payment Orders issued on behalf of Company by any individual(s) authorized by Company to sign checks on any of Company's depository accounts with Bank.

4. Security Procedures.

   a. In addition to the Security Procedures otherwise set forth in the Master Agreement, Company agrees to be bound by the Security Procedures, attached to the Enrollment Form as Exhibit B, as further described in the Security and Authentication Schedule attached to this Master Agreement. Company understands and agrees that the Security Procedures are commercially reasonable under applicable law for the Wire Services and that the Security Procedures afford Company a commercially reasonable level of protection against Payment Orders being initiated by unauthorized persons in light of Company's needs and circumstances. If a Payment Order (or request for cancellation or amendments of a Payment Order) received by Bank purports to have been transmitted or authorized by Company, it will be deemed effective as Company's Payment Order (or request) and Company shall be obligated to pay Bank the amount of such Payment Order even though the Payment Order (or request) was not authorized by Company, provided Bank accepted the Payment Order in good faith and acted in compliance with the Security Procedures with respect to such Payment Order. As such, Bank shall not be liable for any losses when Bank has used the Security Procedures and Bank has acted in good faith on the instructions received from Company.

   b. Bank reserves the right to change, amend, replace, or cancel any or all Security Procedures with regard to the Wire Services at any time and from time to time in Bank's discretion. Bank may make any change in Security Procedures without advance notice to Company if Bank, in its judgment and discretion, believes such change to be necessary or desirable to protect the security of Bank's systems and assets. Company's implementation and use of any changed Security Procedures after any change in Security Procedures shall constitute Company's agreement to the change and Company's agreement that the applicable Security Procedures, as changed, are commercially reasonable and adequate for the purposes intended.

c. Company authorizes Bank to follow any and all instructions given using applicable Security Procedures unless and until Company has notified Bank, according to notification procedures prescribed by Bank, that the Security Procedures have been compromised, or otherwise become known to persons other than Authorized Agents, and until Bank has had a reasonable opportunity to act upon such notice. Company acknowledges and agrees that Company shall be bound by any and all Payment Orders initiated through the use of such Security Procedures, whether authorized or unauthorized, and by any and all transactions and activity otherwise initiated by Authorized Agents to the fullest extent allowed by law, and Bank may rely upon, and will be indemnified and held harmless by Company for acting upon, any such direction, instruction, or information initiated through the use of such Security Procedures. Company agrees that, if Bank complies with the Security Procedures, Bank will not be liable for the amount of any unauthorized Payment Orders which Bank honored in compliance with the Security Procedures. Bank, in its sole discretion, may refuse to process or abide by any instructions from Company in the event: (a) Bank has a good faith belief that the instructions are not authentic; (b) the instructions are incomplete; (c) the instruction and/or identity of the purported Company's Authorized Agent cannot be verified in the sole and absolutely discretion of Bank; or (d) any other condition or requirement for the processing of the instructions as set forth in any agreement governing the Accounts with Bank are unsatisfied.

5. Provisional Payment; Delayed Availability of Funds; Settlement. Any credit Bank gives for a wire transfer is provisional until Bank receives final payment for the amount of the wire transfer. If Bank does not receive final payment for the wire transfer, Company is obligated to pay Bank for the amount of the transfer. Bank reserves the right to delay the availability of funds for deposit without prior notice if, in its sole discretion, Bank deems itself to be at financial or legal risk for the Wire Services performed under this Wire Schedule or otherwise. Bank is not obligated by this Wire Schedule to honor, execute, or accept any Payment Order. If Bank elects to accept Payment Orders issued by Company, Company agrees to settle for all Payment Orders issued by Company, its Authorized Agent(s) or Payment Orders otherwise made effective against Company. Settlement shall be made by Company to Bank in any manner specified by Bank. Notwithstanding the foregoing, Bank is hereby authorized to charge the Account(s) designated by Company (each an "Authorized Account") as settlement for Payment Orders issued by Company. Company shall designate the Authorized Account on Exhibit B of the Enrollment Form. Company shall maintain sufficient collected funds in the Authorized Account to settle for the Payment Order at the time that the Payment Order is issued. Bank may, in its sole discretion, transfer funds from the Authorized Account in excess of the collected balance and thereby create an overdraft. In this event, Company shall promptly reimburse Bank upon demand in the amount of the overdraft together with any interest fees or charges which would otherwise be charged to Company as a result of an overdrawn account based upon Bank's account rules and pricing schedules. If Bank elects to pay Company's Account in the overdraft on any one or more occasions, it shall not be considered a waiver of Bank's rights to refuse to do so at any other time. Bank shall have the right to charge other accounts maintained by Company with Bank that are not designated as an Authorized Account if Bank accepts a Payment Order and the designated Authorized Account does not have sufficient balances to settle for the Payment Order. Bank may process Payment Orders in any order convenient to Bank and Bank may charge items, including settlement for Payment Orders, in any order or sequence selected by Bank.

6. Method of Issuance of Payment Orders.

   a. Issuance of Payment Orders. A Payment Order is considered accepted by Bank when Bank executes it. Company may only issue Payment Orders via Business Online Banking pursuant to this Wire Schedule. Payment Orders issued by other means (e.g., in person, by telephone, or facsimile) are covered by separate agreements. Payment Orders may only be executed on a Business Day. Payment Orders received before the cut-off time established by Bank will be processed on the same Business Day. Payment Orders received on a non-Business Day or after the cut-off time on a Business Day will be treated as being received on the next Business Day. The current wire transfer cut-off time is listed on Exhibit B to the Enrollment Form. The cut-off time is subject to change from time to time at the sole discretion of Bank. The current wire transfer cut-off time may be obtained at any time by contacting Bank. Bank will only accept a Payment Order if the User making the request provides Bank with the necessary information as required by Bank. No instructions or other restrictions limiting Bank's acceptance of Company's Payment Order request shall be effective against Bank unless Bank agrees in writing prior to the sending of such Payment Order that Bank will follow such instructions. However, Bank may, in its sole discretion, elect to act consistently with such instructions or other restrictions which it believes in good faith were made by Company or an Authorized Agent. Bank may execute Payment Orders and communicate requested cancellation or amendment of Payment Order through any intermediary bank, funds transfer system, third party service provider, or third party communication it elects in its sole discretion.

b. Recurring Instructions. Bank will transfer funds on a recurring basis to other Company accounts or third-party accounts as described in written instructions to Bank contained in Exhibit B of the Enrollment Form.

7. Errors in Payment Orders. Company agrees that Bank shall have no obligation to discover errors in Payment Orders and shall not be liable to Company for errors made by Company, including but not limited to errors made in identifying the beneficiary, or an intermediary or beneficiary's bank, or for errors in the amount of the Payment Order. Bank shall likewise have no duty to discover and shall not be liable for duplicate Payment Orders issued by Company. In the event that Company makes an error or issues a duplicate Payment Order, Company shall indemnify, defend all claims, and hold Bank harmless from any loss, damages, or expenses, including but not limited to attorneys' fees, incurred by Bank as the result of completion of the funds transfer.

8. Use of Account Numbers. The Company is notified, and hereby acknowledges and agrees, that in executing or otherwise acting on a Payment Order Bank shall rely solely and exclusively upon identifying account or identification numbers of a beneficiary, beneficiary's bank or intermediary bank and shall not rely on the name of the beneficiary. Likewise, acceptance of a Payment Order may be made by a beneficiary's bank on the basis of an identifying or bank account number even if it identifies a person different from the named beneficiary. Company furthermore agrees that Company' obligation to pay the amount of the Payment Order to Bank is not excused in these circumstances, and Company is liable for and must settle with Bank for any funds transfer initiated by Company that identifies the beneficiary by account or identifying number or by name and account or identifying number. Bank shall have no duty to detect any inconsistency between the name and number contained in a Payment Order and the Company shall be responsible for any inconsistencies. The Company shall indemnify and hold Bank harmless from and against any loss, liability, expense or damage that Bank may incur as a result of such inconsistency, including, without limitation, attorneys' fees and expenses of litigation. Company agrees that Bank shall not be responsible for any delay arising out of Bank's attempt to reconcile inconsistencies between name and account number.

9. Return of Bank's Payment Order Request. If Bank receives notice that a Payment Order transmitted by Bank has been rejected or returned by another party, Bank will notify Company of such rejection or return including the reason given for rejection by telephone, electronic message, via Business Online Banking or U.S. mail. Bank will have no further obligation to transmit the rejected or returned Payment Order if Bank complied with this Wire Schedule with respect to the original Payment Order. If the Payment Order amount has not been paid to the recipient and Bank has received, in full, the Payment Order amount, then Bank will refund to Company the face amount of the Payment Order less Bank's fees and expenses as well as any fees, expenses and taxes of Bank's correspondent or other third party and any US or foreign government agencies, as the case may be. In no event shall Bank be under any obligation to make any refund to Company on account of a Payment Order when the funds have not been returned in full to Bank.

10. Amendments and Cancellations.

a. Once Company provides Bank with a Payment Order, Company cannot cancel or amend the Payment Order. If Company requests such cancellation or amendment, Bank may, in its sole discretion, use reasonable efforts to assist Company in attempting to so cancel or amend the Payment Order, however, Bank has no duty to do so and Bank makes no representation or warranty as to its ability to do so. If Bank attempts to cancel a Payment Order, such Payment Order may be canceled by Company, provided the cancellation instruction is received by Bank, and verified pursuant to the Security Procedures in effect, at a time and in a manner affording Bank a reasonable opportunity to act prior to Bank's fulfillment of the Payment Order. Bank shall not be liable for any losses arising in connection with any failure to cancel or amend any Payment Order after the Payment Order is provided to Bank.

b. Company will bear the cost of any taxes, fees, and expenses incurred in connection with any attempted or actual cancellation or amendment, which taxes, fees, and expenses may be debited from the proceeds of Company's Account and/or deducted from the Payment Order amount, and Company agrees to indemnify and hold Bank harmless from any and all liabilities, costs, losses, and expenses Bank may incur in attempting to cancel or amend any Payment Orders (including, without limitation reasonable attorneys' fees). Any cancellation of a Payment Order by Bank shall relieve Bank of any obligation to act on such Payment Order and any amendment of a Payment Order by Bank shall relieve Bank of any obligation to act on such Payment Order in its un-amended form.

c. Company acknowledges and agrees that after a Payment Order has been accepted by the beneficiary, Bank's return of such funds must be authorized by the beneficiary and Bank has no responsibility to procure the return of such funds. If Company asks Bank to recover funds which Bank has already transferred, Bank shall be under no obligation to do so. Bank may take such action as it deems reasonable under the circumstances, including, for example, sending a request to reverse the transfer to any financial institution that received such funds. In no event, however, shall Bank be deemed to have guaranteed or otherwise assured the recovery of any portion of the amount transferred, nor to have accepted responsibility for any amount transferred. Upon Bank's request, Company shall execute such documents as Bank shall require, including, without limitation, any indemnity agreement in favor of Bank and/or post a bond in favor of Bank in a sufficient amount as determined by Bank.

11. Rejection of Payment Order. If Bank rejects or fails to execute any Payment Order, Bank will make reasonable efforts to notify Company by phone or email of such rejection no later than the Business Day such Payment Order would otherwise have been transmitted by Bank, however, such notice may not be provided until the next Business Day under certain circumstances (e.g., due to the failure to meet request delivery deadlines, etc.). Bank shall have no liability to Company or any third party by reason of the fact that such notice is not given at an earlier time than that provided for herein. If Bank does not execute a Payment Order, Bank shall not be liable to Company or any third party for any damages, losses, liabilities, expenses, or costs. Bank will be under no obligation to honor, either in whole or in part, any Payment Order: (a) which exceeds collected funds in the applicable Account with Bank; (b) which Bank is not able to verify through the use of the Security Procedures or otherwise; or (c) which is not in accordance with this Wire Schedule, the Master Agreement, or any Other Agreement, or any other condition indicated by Company and agreed to by Bank. Notwithstanding the foregoing, Bank, in its sole discretion and without any obligation to do so, may choose to honor a Payment Order which may be drawn on uncollected funds or which will result in an overdraft in Company's account with Bank, and in such instance, Company will be liable to Bank for the amount of such uncollected funds drawn upon or such overdraft plus any additional charges and expenses as provided by the current Account Agreement governing such Account, including reasonable attorneys' fees and costs of collection, if applicable. Bank's election to honor any such Payment Order will not affect Bank's right to refuse to honor any one or more subsequent or other Payment Order. In any case, if Company fails to pay in accordance with this Master Agreement, Bank shall be entitled to request cancellation of the Payment Order, or to undertake any other legal means to collect the amount of the Payment Order, including exercise of right of offset against any funds in any of Company's Accounts with Bank.

12. Use of Correspondents, Agents, and Systems.

a. The Company agrees that in executing any Payment Order Bank may make use of such correspondents, agents, and communication systems as it deems necessary or desirable to execute such Payment Order. To the fullest extent permitted by law (a) such correspondents, agents and systems shall be deemed to be agents of the Company and Bank shall not be liable for any errors, negligence, suspension, or default of any of them or for any failure to identify the beneficiary or any mistake in payment by any of them, and (b) Bank shall not be liable for any errors, mutilations, mis-delivery, or failure of delivery in the transmission of any Payment Order by such correspondents, agents, and communication systems or for any suspension of any means of communication or for any imposition of a censorship, exchange control or other restriction by such correspondents, agents and communication systems, all such risk being borne by the Company.

b. Each Payment Order, amendment, or cancellation thereof, carried out through a funds transfer system will be governed by all applicable funds transfer system rules, whether or not Bank is a member of the system. Any Payment Order or amendment or cancellation thereof may be transmitted by any financial institution by use of the funds transfer system of the Federal Reserve Bank ("Fedwire"). The rights and obligations of Bank and the Company with respect to any Payment Order, any part of which is carried out using Fedwire, will be governed by any applicable laws, the regulations of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, and the operating circulars of the Federal Reserve Bank. The Company acknowledges Bank's right to reserve, adjust, stop payment, or delay posting of an executed Payment Order is subject to the laws, regulations, circulars, and rules described in this Section.

13. Compliance with Laws; Prohibited Transactions. Company agrees to comply with all applicable laws, rules, procedures, and regulations with respect to the use of its Accounts at Bank and its use of the Wire Service described in this Wire Schedule. Company agrees not to use or attempt to use the Wire Services for purposes prohibited by Section 2c of Part I of this Master Agreement. Company agrees that Bank is excused from the performance of any action to debit or credit an Account or transfer funds otherwise required by this Wire Schedule to the extent that such action is inconsistent with United States law, including the obligations of Bank under OFAC or any program administered by the U.S. Treasury's Financial Crimes Enforcement Network (FinCEN).

14. Unauthorized Transactions and Other Errors. All Payment Orders initiated by Company using the Wire Services will be reflected on Company's monthly or periodic account statements provided by Bank. In addition, Payment Orders initiated by Customer may be reflected in a notice or advice of funds transfer provided through Business Online Banking, and in Company's history in Business Online Banking. Company shall immediately notify Bank of any discrepancy between the Payment Order and the related funds transfer, or of any unauthorized transaction or other error, on the earlier of: (i) the next Business Day following receipt of any notice or advice provided through Business Online Banking, or (ii) the tenth (10th) day after receipt of an account statement from Bank, which time limits Company agrees are reasonable. If notification of an unauthorized transaction or other error is communicated orally, it shall be confirmed promptly in writing. The Company will be deemed to have received any advices and statements of account that are mailed by Bank five (5) Business Days after such mailing. Bank shall have no liability to the Company for any loss or damage sustained by the Company arising out of any Payment Order referenced in a statement of account for the Authorized Account or in an individual advice, and no legal proceeding or action shall be brought by Company against Bank to recover such loss or damage, unless (a) Company shall have given the written notice as provided for herein, and (b) such legal proceeding or action shall be commenced within the period established by UCC 4A. Company waives any right to seek or enforce payment of attorneys' fees related thereto. In the event that Company fails to perform these duties with respect to an unauthorized, incorrect, or otherwise improper Payment Order and Bank incurs a loss as a result of such failure, Company shall be liable to Bank for the amount of the loss. Company remains responsible for reporting any errors or other issues as required by the Account Agreement governing Company's Account. For the avoidance of doubt, nothing in this Section 14 shall be deemed to limit the provisions of Section 4 above or otherwise provided in this Agreement, and Bank shall have no liability for any Payment Order accepted by Bank in good faith and in compliance with the Security Procedures which Payment Orders shall be deemed authorized by the Company.

15. Indemnification. Company shall be liable to Bank for and shall indemnify and hold Bank and its affiliates and their respective officers, directors, employees and agents harmless from and against any and all costs, losses, claims, causes of action, damages, expenses (including reasonable attorneys' fees and other legal expenses), liabilities and other losses arising or resulting from any claim of any person with respect to a Payment Order or Bank's performance under this Wire Schedule (including without limitation, any claim of any person that Bank is responsible for any act or omission of Company or any other person), the acts or omissions of Company, or from the provision of invalid or inaccurate data by Company or by any other person or entity acting on Company's behalf, including without limitation (a) a breach by Company of any provision of this Wire Schedule; (b) Bank's debiting or crediting of the account of any person or entity as requested by Company; and (c) the failure to act or the delay of any financial institution other than Bank. Such liability includes, but is not limited to, instances when a current or former User effects one or more wire transfers to Company's detriment, or when unauthorized transactions are affected. This Section shall survive termination of this Wire Schedule, or the termination of the Wire Services provided in this Wire Schedule.

16. Limitation of Liability. In addition to the limitations of liability as set forth in Part I of this Master Agreement and the Other Agreements, except as otherwise stated herein, Bank shall be responsible only for performing the Wire Services expressly described in this Wire Schedule and shall be liable only for its own gross negligence or willful misconduct in performing these Wire Services unless appliable law imposes a higher standard of care. Bank shall not be liable for acts or omission by Company (including, without limitation, errors in the amount, accuracy, or timeliness of transmittal of any Payment Order received from Company or any person purporting to act on behalf of Company) or any other person or entity, including without limitation, any funds transfer systems, any Federal Reserve Bank, any receiving financial institution, and any receiver, any transmission or communications facility, any intermediary or correspondent banks and beneficiary, none of which shall be deemed Bank's agent. Bank is not responsible for verifying ownership of an intended recipient's account or for detecting an error by Company in a Payment Order. Without limitation, Bank shall be excused from delaying or failing to act if caused by legal constraint, interruption of transmission or communication facilities, equipment failure, war, emergency conditions, strikes or other circumstances beyond Bank's control. In addition, Bank shall be excused from delaying or failing to execute a funds transfer due to any changes in the rules, regulations and policies of the Federal Reserve Board that affect Bank's ability to send or receive funds at any time, for any reason, if the funds transfer would result in Bank's exceeding any limitation on its intra-day net funds position established through Federal Reserve guidelines or if the funds transfer would result in violating any present or future risk control program of the Federal Reserve or a rule or regulation of any other governmental regulatory authorities.

17. Account. Company will maintain with Bank at least one Account for the purpose of providing collected funds, for deposit of received funds, and to satisfy all Payment Orders, and pay and deduct service charges in connection with the use of the Wire Service.

18. International Payment Orders. Fund transfers to beneficiaries outside of the United States may be paid to the beneficiary in the foreign currency of the country to which the funds are transferred. It is the responsibility of Company to notify the beneficiary that the funds originated in U.S. dollars may be paid to the beneficiary in the currency of the country to which the funds are transferred at Bank's buying rate of exchange for funds transfers.

19. Company Cooperation. In the event that Bank is entitled under the law governing mistake and restitution to recover from any beneficiary all or any part of a funds transfer made to such beneficiary hereunder, Company shall upon Bank's request but without expense to Bank testify in any legal proceedings and otherwise take any action necessary to assist or enable Bank to recover from such beneficiary. Company hereby consents to Bank's disclosure to government authorities of information concerning the Company and transactions under this Wire Schedule that Bank believes to be appropriate or necessary to fulfill legal recordkeeping and reporting requirements.

20. Furnishing Information; Recording and Records. Upon request the Company will provide Bank with any transaction information necessary for Bank to handle inquiries and tracing, or otherwise to comply with applicable laws and regulations relating to Payment Orders, including but not limited to, dollar amounts, account(s) affected, dates and names of beneficiaries and third parties involved in the transfer. If Bank's records about a Payment Order are different from Company's records, Bank's records will control. Bank's records include its written records and any audio recordings about any Payment Orders.

21. Transactions with Bank. If the Company is a financial institution (as defined in UCC 4A), and under applicable law the Company is not deemed the originator of the order to which a Payment Order relates, the Company agrees to indemnify and hold Bank harmless for any loss or liability owed to such originator to the extent that such loss or liability would not have been incurred if the Company had been an originator.

Check Positive Pay Service Schedule

1. Check Positive Pay Services. In addition to the terms of this Master Agreement, this Check Positive Pay Service Schedule (the "Positive Pay Schedule") governs your use of the check positive pay services described herein (the "Positive Pay Service" or "Check Positive Pay Service"). You may use the Positive Pay Service to quickly identify and act upon fraudulent checks as well as to quickly reconcile your Account(s). You provide Bank with a file detailing all checks you have issued on an Enrolled Account (as defined below). The file is imported into Bank's system for comparison to checks being presented against your Enrolled Account. Through this file, you can instruct Bank to "pay" or "return" checks issued against your Enrolled Account. Where not listed as an Enrolled Account, Bank will not provide the Positive Pay Service as to those non-enrolled Accounts. If there is any change of ownership or signing authority on any of the Enrolled Accounts, notification must be immediately provided to Bank.

2. Defined Terms. The capitalized terms below shall have the following meanings in connection with this Positive Pay Schedule:

    a. "Available Funds" means funds on deposit in an Enrolled Account which are available for withdrawal pursuant to banking regulations and Bank's applicable funds availability schedules and policies.

    b. "Enrolled Account(s)" is defined as your Account(s) at Bank that are enrolled or authorized for the Positive Pay Services pursuant to Exhibit C to the Enrollment Form.

    c. "Exception Check" means a Presented Check where one of the fields on the check does not match one or more of the data fields included in the Issued Check File.

    d. "Exception Check Report" means a record describing Exception Checks which is provided to you by Bank.

    e. "Issued Check File" means a record describing checks written from your Enrolled Account(s), meeting the requirements set forth in this Positive Pay Schedule, and timely provided by you to Bank.

    f. "Pay Request" means your instruction to pay an Exception Check.

    g. "Presented Check" means a check presented for payment in an Issued Check File.

    h. "Return" or "Return Request" means your instructions to not pay and return an Exception Check.

    i. Unless otherwise defined, words or phrases in this Positive Pay Schedule shall have the meanings set forth in Articles 3 and 4 of the UCC.

3. Issued Check File.

    a. You shall submit an Issued Check File to Bank via Business Online Banking. The Issued Check File shall accurately state the check number, issue date, and the exact dollar amount of each check drawn on an Enrolled Account since the last Issued Check File was submitted. You shall update the Issued Check File at any time that a new check is issued that will be the subject of an Issued Check File. Each Enrolled Account shall require an Issued Check File for all checks issued.

    b. You shall submit the Issued Check File in the format specified by Bank. In the event of a system failure of either your or Bank's systems and the Issued Check File cannot be received by Bank or Bank cannot process the Issued Check File, the Issued Check File shall be considered as not received, even if Bank has possession of the Issued Check File. You may set alerts within Business Online Banking to confirm the receipt of the Issued Check File and we recommend you do so. It is your responsibility to confirm, through Business Online Banking, that an Issued Check File has been properly uploaded and confirmed.

SAMPLE

c. The Issued Check File must be received by the cutoff time stated in Exhibit C to the Enrollment Form to be processed to our system for the current Business Day. Any Issued Check File received after this time will be processed on the next Business Day.

4. Payment of Presented Checks and Reporting of Exception Checks.

a. Bank shall compare each Presented Check by check number and amount against each Issued Check File received by Bank. On each Business Day, Bank:

i. May pay and charge to the Enrolled Account each Presented Check that matches by a check number and check amount shown in any Issued Check File.

ii. Shall provide the list of Exception Checks through Business Online Banking via an Exception Check Report.

You may set alerts within Business Online Banking to notify you of the presentation of Exception Checks and we recommend you do so. In the event of system problems and Bank cannot have the Exception Check information in enough time for you to respond by the Exception Check Deadline (as defined below), the Exception Check Deadline will be extended accordingly. The extended deadline will generally be communicated to you via email.

b. Each Presented Check which Bank pays in accordance with this Positive Pay Schedule will be deemed to be properly payable by you and any other signatories on an Enrolled Account regardless of the actual signatures on such Presented Check. Each matching check or other check you authorized Bank to pay will be paid without Bank performing any customary (or any other) check verification procedures, and Bank will have no liability whatsoever for paying the Presented Check if its serial number or amount is altered, if it is counterfeit, bears a forged or unauthorized signature or was otherwise not validly issued.

c. Each Exception Check that Bank returns pursuant to the terms of this Positive Schedule will be deemed not to be properly payable.

d. Each Exception Check Report will be delivered through Business Online Banking and shall list Presented Checks received for which:

i. The check number on the MICR encoding of the Presented Check does not match the number on the Issued Check File;

ii. The check number on the Presented Check is a duplicate of a check number on a previously Presented Check;

iii. The dollar amount on the encoding of the Presented Check does not match the dollar amount on the Issued Check; or

iv. The Presented Check was previously paid.

5. Pay Request/Return Request. You shall review the Exception Checks and Exception Check Report and electronically communicate Pay Requests or Return Requests for all Exception Checks by 11:00 AM, local Bank ET (the "Exception Check Deadline"). You shall contact Bank when deciding to return a check, since the Presented Check will be considered fraudulent. If the electronic system is unavailable, the response to Bank shall be by phone call to (352) 306-4075 and email to treasuryops@primesouth.com by any User on the Enrolled Account and transmitted by the Exception Check Deadline.

6. Pay Default. IF YOU MISS THE EXCEPTION CHECK DEADLINE FOR DETERMINING EXCEPTIONS, THE EXCEPTION CHECKS WILL BE PAID OR RETURNED BY BANK BASED ON COMPANY'S SELECTION DURING SETUP AS PROVIDED ON EXHIBIT C TO THE ENROLLMENT FORM, AND COMPANY AGREES THAT COMPANY SHALL BE DEEMED TO HAVE INSTRUCTED BANK TO PROCESS EACH EXCEPTION CHECK ACCORDINGLY; provided that Bank shall retain the discretion to make the final decision on any Exception Check and may return any Exception Check which is not decided by you prior to the Exception Check Deadline.

7. Checks Not Covered. This Positive Pay Schedule does not cover a check if Bank has already cashed the check or is already committed to honor or pay the item under applicable laws, regulations, or rules governing checks, including the UCC.

8. Limits on Liability.

   a. Bank is not responsible for detecting any error contained in any Issued Check File or Pay Request or Return Request sent by you to Bank.

   b. Except as otherwise stated in this Positive Pay Schedule, Bank will be liable to you only for damages directly from Bank's willful misconduct or gross negligence in the performance of the Positive Pay Service. In addition to the limits of liability provided in Part I of this Master Agreement, Bank will not be responsible for any loss, delay, cost, or liability, which arises, directly and indirectly, in whole or in part, from: (i) your actions or omissions or those of third parties who are not within Bank's immediate and reasonable control; (ii) your negligence or breach of any agreement with Bank; (iii) any ambiguity, inaccuracy, or omission in any information of instructions provided to Bank; (iv) any error, failure, or delay in the transmission of delivery of data, records due to a breakdown in equipment, computer, or communications facility; (v) accidents, strikes, labor disputes, civil unrest, fire, flood, water damages (e.g. form fire suppression systems), or acts of God; (vi) causes beyond Bank's reasonable control; (vii) Bank's inability to confirm to Bank's satisfaction the authority of any person to act on your behalf; or (viii) your failure to provide Bank with the complete and correct data in accordance with this Positive Pay Schedule and Bank's Positive Pay Service instructions.

   c. In addition to any limits of liability provided in Section I of this Master Agreement, except for losses caused solely by (but not Bank's third party processing agent) Bank's gross negligence or willful misconduct, our aggregate liability to you for all claims arising under or related to this Positive Pay Schedule or related to the Positive Pay Service, whether for breach, negligence, infringement, in contract, tort, under statute, or otherwise, shall be limited to an amount equal to the total Fees paid by you for the Positive Pay Service for the prior six (6) month period.

   d. You agree to cooperate with Bank in any loss recovery efforts Bank undertakes to reduce any loss or liability that arises in connection with the Positive Pay Service. You acknowledge that your Fees have been established in contemplation of: (i) these limitations on Bank's liability; (ii) your agreement to review all statements, confirmations, and notifications promptly and notify Bank immediately of any discrepancies or problems; and (iii) your agreement to assist Bank in any loss recovery effort.

9. Properly Payable Checks. THE PARTIES INTEND THAT AN ISSUED CHECK FILE, WHEN PROVIDED TO BANK, SHALL CONSTITUTE YOUR SIGNATURE FOR PURPOSES OF DETERMINING WHETHER A PRESENTED CHECK IS PROPERLY PAYABLE. BY PROVIDING THE ISSUED CHECK FILE TO BANK, YOU WARRANT THAT ALL CHECKS THAT MATCH THE INFORMATION IN THE ISSUED CHECK FILE ARE PROPERLY PAYABLE.

10. Termination. Notwithstanding any termination of the Positive Pay Service, this Positive Pay Schedule shall remain in full force and effect as to all Presented Checks that have been presented to Bank prior to the date of termination. Upon termination, if requested by you, Bank will provide you (or your representative) with an outstanding check report. All provisions of this Positive Pay Schedule that are intended by their terms to survive termination of the Positive Pay Schedule will survive such termination.

11. Company and Bank Communications. You or Bank, at its discretion, may each submit to the other party a revision to any communication provided for under this Positive Pay Schedule. The revised communication must: (a) be sent in its entirety and not in the form of a partial amendment to the communication originally sent; (b) identify the original communication; and (c) be sent in the format and medium, by the deadline(s) and place(s) established by the receiving party. A properly submitted revised communication services to revoke the original communication.

12. Inability to Detect Certain Errors. Bank is not responsible for detecting any error contained in any Issued Check File, Pay Request, or Return Request sent by you to Bank.

13. Accurate Electronic Communications. You are responsible for providing accurate electronic addresses for communication in connection with transactions contemplated in this Positive Pay Schedule. If such electronic address changes, you are responsible for notifying Bank at least five (5) Business Days before such change is requested.

14. Security Procedures. You will provide all instructions in accordance with the Security Procedures set forth in Part I of this Master Agreement. Compliance with those Security Procedures will cause any instructions so issued to be conclusively determined as your instructions. If you are forced to communicate with Bank by email, such as in an emergency, the email must be sent by an Administrator or Authorized Signer on the Enrolled Account. Bank may elect to accept instructions received by email, but Bank may, in its sole discretion, choose not to act on such instructions until Bank is able to call back and confirm the instructions with an Administrator or Authorized Signer, who may have to provide additional identification information.

15. Wrongful Honor.

    a. If Bank pays an Exception Check listed in an Exception Check Report, such payment shall not be a "wrongful honor," if:

        i. You submitted a Pay Request for an Exception Check;

        ii. You did not submit a Pay Request or Return Request and your default selection is to pay Exception Checks; or

        iii. You otherwise directed Bank to pay the Exception Check.

    b. Where a wrongful honor occurs, Bank will be liable to you only for the lesser of the amount of the wrongfully paid check, or your actual damages resulting from Bank's payment of the check.

    c. You will be deemed to have no damages where honoring a check discharges for value of your indebtedness. In addition, you will be deemed to have no damages where the honoring of a check was in compliance with applicable laws or Bank otherwise has a legal defense. Bank may assert your failure to exercise reasonable care under the UCC.

16. Wrongful Dishonor. If Bank dishonors a properly payable check, the following shall apply:

    a. A wrongful dishonor shall only apply if Bank refuses to pay a Presented Check contrary to a Pay Request in compliance with this Positive Pay Schedule;

    b. There shall be no wrongful dishonor if Bank acted on a Return Request issued by you;

    c. There shall be no wrongful dishonor if Bank reasonably believed the Presented Check was not properly payable under UCC Section 4-401;

    d. There shall be no wrongful dishonor if the Issued Check File was not timely transmitted or does not contain information sufficient to determine a match to a Presented Check;

    e. There shall be no wrongful dishonor if there are insufficient Available Funds on deposit in the Enrolled Account;

    f. Where a wrongful dishonor occurs, Bank's liability for wrongful dishonor shall be limited to the types of damages contemplated and shall not exceed the amount of damages recoverable under Article 3 and 4 of the UCC;

SAMPLE

g. Bank shall in no event be liable for consequential, special or punitive damages; and

h. Bank shall have no liability to you for wrongful dishonor where Bank, acting in good faith, returns an Exception Check that is reasonably believed to not be properly payable, or if required to do so by the service of legal process or instructions of regulatory or governmental authorities or courts.

17. Rightful Payment and Dishonor. Where Bank honors an Exception Check as provided in this Positive Pay Schedule, you may not assert that an Exception Check was not properly payable under Georgia law, or otherwise. Where Bank dishonors an Exception Check as provided in this Positive Pay Schedule, you may not assert that the dishonor was wrongful or improper under Georgia law, or otherwise. Bank shall be deemed to exercise ordinary care whenever it rightfully pays or returns an Exception Check in compliance with this Positive Pay Schedule.

18. Stop Payments. Bank shall not pay any Presented Check for which Bank has received from you a "stop payment" order request consistent with the Other Agreements including the agreements governing the Enrolled Account.

19. Over the Counter Checks. Company acknowledges and agrees that the Check Positive Pay Service does not apply to checks personally presented by an individual over the counter to Bank for payment. If a Presented Check is personally presented by an individual over the counter to Bank, Company authorizes Bank to pay the Presented Check, even if the Presented Check was or was not included in the Issued Check File and/or later is presented to Company as an Exception Item. Additionally, Bank shall not have an obligation to notify Company of any check presented by an individual over the counter to Bank for payment.

20. Other Non-Check Items. You agree and understands that the Positive Pay Service applies only to magnetic ink character recognition (MICR) encoded paper checks and documents. Therefore, the Positive Pay Service and this Positive Pay Schedule shall not apply to any electronic funds transfer (EFT), Automated Clearing House (ACH) transaction, or check that has been converted to an ACH transaction that does not contain a serial number. Accordingly, this Positive Pay Schedule shall have no effect with respect to any such transaction on Bank's or your respective rights, obligations, duties, or responsibilities under any other agreements between the parties or applicable law or regulation.

21. Indemnification. In addition to your indemnification obligations in Part I of this Master Agreement, you will indemnify, defend, and hold Bank harmless against any and all actions, proceedings, liabilities, losses, investigative costs, costs (including attorneys' fees), and claims, including without limitation, warranty or statutory claims, resulting or arising in connection with: (a) Bank's processing of checks in accordance with this Positive Pay Schedule or Bank's compliance with your instructions; (b) your actions or omissions, including your negligence, willful misconduct, or breach of any warranty or failure to comply with this Positive Pay Schedule; (c) any misuse of the Positive Pay Service by you or your employees or actions of you or your employees; (d) your failure to comply with applicable state and federal laws and regulations; and (e) actions by third parties, such as an introduction of a virus, that delay, alter, or corrupt the transmission of information to Bank.

22. Notices.

a. You agree to notify Bank if you discover: (i) any error or discrepancy between your records and the information Bank provides to you about Enrolled Account(s) or transactions (e.g., in a statement, confirmation, or electronic report); (ii) unauthorized transactions involving your Account; (iii) a breach in the confidentiality of the password or other Security Procedures used to provide instructions pursuant to this Positive Pay Schedule; or (iv) other problems related to the Positive Pay Service. Nothing herein discharges or modifies your obligations under this Master Agreement and the Other Agreements with Bank to timely review and report any errors in your Enrolled Account statements.

b. You agree that you will receive any notices from Bank relating to the Positive Pay Services through Business Online Banking by text message, email or a secure inbox. Any such notice transmitted shall be treated as received upon transmission.

ACH Block/Filter Service Schedule

1. ACH Block/Filter Services. In addition to the terms of this Master Agreement, this ACH Block/Filter Service Schedule (the "ACH Block/Filter Schedule") governs your use of the ACH block/filter services described herein (the "ACH Block/Filter Service"). The ACH Block/Filter Services Schedule governs your use of the automated clearing house ("ACH") block/filter services described herein (the "ACH Block/Filter Services"). You may use the ACH Block/Filter Services to quickly identify and act upon certain ACH Transactions as specified herein for the Enrolled Account(s) you elect to receive the ACH Block/Filter Services. Where not listed as an Enrolled Account, Bank will not provide the ACH Block/Filter Services as to those non-enrolled Accounts. If there is any change of ownership or signing authority on any of the Enrolled Accounts, notification must be immediately provided to Bank.

2. Definitions. The capitalized terms below shall have the following meanings in connection with this ACH Block/Filter Schedule:

   a. "ACH Transaction(s)" shall refer to certain electronic funds transfers which settle within a financial institution or between financial institutions by means of the Automated Clearing House (ACH) Network according to specified rules and procedures governed by the Federal Reserve Bank and NACHA.

   b. "Available Funds" means funds on deposit in an authorized Enrolled Account which are available for withdrawal pursuant to banking regulations and the Bank's applicable funds availability schedules and policies.

   c. "ACH Credit Entry" shall refer to any ACH Transaction which has the intended result of adding funds to your Enrolled Account(s).

   d. "ACH Debit Entry" shall refer to any ACH Transaction which has the intended result of removing funds from your Enrolled Account(s).

   c. "Enrolled Account(s)" is defined as your Account(s) at Bank that are enrolled or authorized for the ACH/Block Filter Services pursuant to Exhibit D to the Enrollment Form.

3. ACH Block/Filter Services.

   a. As provided in this ACH Block/Filter Schedule and Exhibit D to the Enrollment Form, for each Enrolled Account, Company's ACH Transactions will be processed such that Company may block unauthorized ACH Debit or ACH Credit Entries to the Enrolled Account and filter parties who are authorized to submit ACH Debit or Credit Entries to the Enrolled Account. Except for ACH Transactions with an Authorized Party (as provided below), for each ACH Transaction that is presented against the Enrolled Account, Bank will provide Company with the name of the party presenting the ACH Transaction (the "Presenting Party") and the amount of the ACH Transaction (each, an "Exception Item"). The list of the Exception Items is referred to as the "Exception Item Report." The Exception Item Report will be provided by Bank to Company within Business Online Banking. If Company wishes to allow ACH Transactions from the Presenting Party, Company may (i) approve the Presenting Party as an authorized party to present ACH Transactions (an "Authorized Party") or reject the Presenting Party (a "Rejected Party"), in which case the Exception Item will be rejected and returned.

      i. Authorized Parties, and Authorized Party List. Future ACH Transactions with an Authorized Party will not appear in the Exception Item Report and will be deemed authorized. Collectively, the Authorized Parties approved by Company to submit or receive ACH Transactions are referred to as the "Authorized Party List." If Company later seeks to remove an Authorized Party from the Authorized Party List, it must contact Bank by email at treasuryops@primesouth.com or call 352-306-1776 to have the Authorized Party removed from the Authorized Party List.

      ii. Rejected Parties. Future ACH Transactions to a Rejected Party will appear in the Exception Item Report for Company to review and decision.

SAMPLE

b. With regard to Exception Items appearing in an Exception Item Report, Company must provide Bank the instructions to approve the Presenting Party as an Authorized Party or reject the Presenting Party as a Rejected Party within Business Online Banking no later than 11:00 AM local Bank ET (the "Exception Item Deadline"). For Exception Items which should be rejected, Company's request to reject the Exception Item as a Rejected Party must be received by Bank before the ACH Transaction has been paid. To be effective, a request to reject a Presenting Party as a Rejected Party must be placed in a timely manner and must include any necessary information required by Bank. Bank may also require Company to confirm the request to reject the Exception Item as a Rejected Party in writing sent by mail or personal delivery.

c. IF YOU MISS THE EXCEPTION ITEM DEADLINE FOR DETERMINING EXEPTION ITEMS, THE EXCEPTION ITEM WILL BE REJECTED AND RETURNED, AND COMPANY AGREES THAT COMPANY SHALL BE DEEMED TO HAVE INSTRUCTED BANK TO PROCESS EACH EXCEPTION ITEM ACCORDINGLY; provided that Bank shall retain the discretion to make the final decision on any Exception Item which is not decided by you prior to the Exception Item Deadline.

d. In all cases, Company must provide Bank with all information required by Bank in order to permit Bank to deliver the block and/or filter services for ACH Transactions. Unless Company has provided Bank with sufficient information to block or filter ACH Transactions, Bank may pay and debit or credit the Enrolled Account for each ACH Transaction that is not blocked or filtered.

e. No instructions shall be binding on Bank unless they are received in such time as to provide Bank a reasonable opportunity to act thereon. Bank shall be entitled to rely exclusively on the originator identification number in implementing any ACH block or filter. Notwithstanding any instructions received by Bank in connection with the ACH Block/Filter Services, Bank may charge Company's account via ACH for any fees, charges, or payments in connection with transactions or services provided to Customer or for any ACH Transactions that Bank is required to accept under applicable rules, operating circulars, guidelines, or regulations.

f. Bank will make reasonable efforts to have the ACH Block/Filter Services become effective, to be discontinued, or to have changes in the ACH Block/Filter Services become effective on the date indicated on Exhibit D to the Enrollment Form or as further updated within Business Online Banking, but Bank will not be liable for any failure to start, discontinue, or change the ACH Block/Filter Services by a particular date. Bank retains the right to terminate the ACH Block/Filter Service for any reason including without limitation an excessive number of requests for change in ACH Transactions that are permitted as Exception Items. In the event system problems cause the ACH Block/Filter Services to become unavailable, the Bank will use reasonably efforts to notify Customer of such unavailability.

g. Company shall be solely responsible for purchasing, maintaining, and using adequate software to participate in the ACH Block/Filter Services, all at Company's sole expense.

4. Properly Payable Debit. Any ACH Debit Entry that presented by an Authorized Party is not subject to the block and/or filter services on the terms set forth herein and paid shall be considered properly payable and Company agrees that Bank shall have no liability to Customer for paying such ACH Debit Entry.

5. Not Covered. This ACH Block/Filter Schedule does not cover an ACH Transaction if the Bank has paid an ACH Transaction or is already committed to honor or pay the ACH Transaction under applicable laws, regulations, or rules governing ACHs, including the NACHA Rules. The ACH Block/Filter Services and this ACH Block/Filter Schedule shall not apply to, and are not designed to detect or prevent fraud due to, other types of transactions, which include electronic funds transfer (EFT), wire or check transactions. Accordingly, this ACH Block/Filter Schedule shall have no effect with respect to any such transaction on Bank's or your respective rights, obligations, duties, or responsibilities under any Other Agreements between the parties or applicable law or regulation. In addition, you agree and understand that the ACH Block/Filter Services apply only to certain types of ACH Transactions. In addition, the ACH Block/Filter Services exclude ACH Transactions identified with Standard Entry Class (SEC) Codes of ACK, ADV, ARC, ATX, COR, DNE, ENR, MTE, POP, RCK, SHR, TRC, TRX and XCK since these transactions are either non-monetary or are checks which have been converted to electronic format. Also excluded are any incoming returns and corrections. If an Enrolled Account does not have sufficient Available Funds to pay an ACH Debit Transaction, Bank will not be required to pay any ACH Debit Transactions presented against the Enrolled Account.

6. Limits on Liability; Indemnification.

   a. Company acknowledges that the return of an ACH Transaction may be subject to dispute on the part of the sender. In the event of such a dispute Bank must act according to applicable laws, regulations, and the NACHA Rules, including any attachments or appendices thereto now in effect, or as may be amended from time to time. Company (i) agrees to indemnify and hold Bank harmless from any losses or liabilities (including damages, judgments, levies, executions, expenses, costs, interest, attorneys' fees and legal expenses Bank may suffer or incur as a result of or arising from Bank's payment of an ACH Transaction at the Company's instruction or from the Bank's rejection and return of an Exception Item), and (ii) releases and forever discharges Bank, and its parent, subsidiaries, affiliates, successors, officers, directors, employees and agents, from any and all manner of action or actions, suits, claims, damages, judgments, levies, executions, expenses, costs, interest, attorneys' fees and legal expenses, whether known or unknown, liquidated or not liquidated, fixed, contingent, direct or indirect, which Company may have, or ever can, may or shall have or claim to have against Bank regarding or relating to the return or payment of any ACH Transaction pursuant to provisions of this ACH Block/Filter Schedule.

   b. Except as otherwise stated in this ACH Block/Filter Schedule, Bank will be liable to you only for damages directly from Bank's willful misconduct or gross negligence in the performance of the ACH Block/Filter Services. In addition to the limits of liability provided in Part I of this Master Agreement, Bank will not be responsible for any loss, delay, cost, or liability, which arises, directly and indirectly, in whole or in part, from: (i) your actions or omissions or those of third parties who are not within Bank's immediate and reasonable control; (ii) your negligence or breach of any agreement with Bank; (iii) any ambiguity, inaccuracy, or omission in any information of instructions provided to Bank; (iv) any error, failure, or delay in the transmission of delivery of data, records due to a breakdown in equipment, computer, or communications facility; (v) accidents, strikes, labor disputes, civil unrest, fire, flood, water damages (e.g. form fire suppression systems), or acts of God; (vi) causes beyond Bank's reasonable control; (vii) Bank's inability to confirm to Bank's satisfaction the authority of any person to act on your behalf; or (viii) your failure to provide Bank with the complete and correct data in accordance with this ACH Block/Filter Schedule and Bank's ACH Block/Filter Service instructions.

   c. In addition to any limits of liability provided in Section I of this Master Agreement, except for losses caused solely by (but not Bank's third party processing agent) Bank's gross negligence or willful misconduct, our aggregate liability to you for all claims arising under or related to this ACH Block/Filter Schedule or related to the Block/Filter Services, whether for breach, negligence, infringement, in contract, tort, under statute, or otherwise, shall be limited to an amount equal to the total Fees paid by you for the ACH Block/Filter Service for the prior six (6) month period.

   d. Company and Bank acknowledge that ACH Transactions are originated according to certain processing rules provided in the NACHA Rules which require the use of an Originator name and Originator identification number imbedded in the transaction to identify its source, and this imbedded data is a critical component of Bank's ability to monitor for transactions which Company may want to block or filter. Bank shall act in good faith to process Company's instructions. However, if the identifying information in the ACH Transaction is inconsistent or incorrect, Bank shall be held harmless for posting an ACH Transaction to your Enrolled Account and any dispute related to such a transaction shall be between you and the Originator of the transaction.

   e. You agree to cooperate with Bank in any loss recovery efforts Bank undertakes to reduce any loss or liability that arises in connection with the ACH Block/Filter Service. You acknowledge that your Fees have been established in contemplation of: (i) these limitations on Bank's liability; (ii) your agreement to review all statements, confirmations, and notifications promptly and notify Bank immediately of any discrepancies or problems; and (iii) your agreement to assist Bank in any loss recovery effort.

SAMPLE

7. Termination. Notwithstanding any termination of the ACH Block/Filter Services, this ACH Block/Filter Schedule shall remain in full force and effect as to all ACH Transactions that have been presented to Bank prior to the date of termination. All provisions of this ACH Block/Filter Schedule that are intended by their terms to survive termination of this ACH Block/Filter Schedule will survive such termination.

8. Company and Bank Communications. You or Bank, at its discretion, may each submit to the other party a revision to any communication provided for under this ACH Block/Filter Schedule. The revised communication must: (a) be sent in its entirety and not in the form of a partial amendment to the communication originally sent; (b) identify the original communication; and (c) be sent in the format and medium, by the deadline(s) and place(s) established by the receiving party. A properly submitted revised communication services to revoke the original communication.

9. Accurate Electronic Communications. You are responsible for providing accurate electronic addresses for communication in connection with transactions contemplated in this ACH Block/Filter Schedule. If such electronic address changes, you are responsible for notifying Bank at least five (5) Business Days before such change is requested.

10. Security Procedures. You will provide all instructions in accordance with the Security Procedures set forth in Part I of this Master Agreement. Compliance with those Security Procedures will cause any instructions so issued to be conclusively determined as your instructions. If you are forced to communicate with Bank by email, such as in an emergency, the email must be sent by an Administrator or Authorized Signer on the Enrolled Account. Bank may elect to accept instructions received by email, but Bank may, in its sole discretion, choose not to act on such instructions until Bank is able to call back and confirm the instructions with an Administrator or Authorized Signer, who may have to provide additional identification information.

11. Indemnification. In addition to your indemnification obligations in Part I of this Master Agreement, you will indemnify, defend, and hold Bank harmless against any and all actions, proceedings, liabilities, losses, investigative costs, costs (including attorneys' fees), and claims, including without limitation, warranty or statutory claims, resulting or arising in connection with: (a) Bank's processing of ACH Transactions in accordance with this ACH Block/Filter Schedule or Bank's compliance with your instructions; (b) your actions or omissions, including your negligence, willful misconduct, or breach of any warranty or failure to comply with this ACH Block/Filter Schedule; (c) any misuse of the ACH Block/Filter Services by you or your employees or actions of you or your employees; (d) your failure to comply with applicable state and federal laws and regulations; and (e) actions by third parties, such as an introduction of a virus, that delay, alter, or corrupt the transmission of information to Bank.

12. Notices.

    a. You agree to notify Bank if you discover: (i) any error or discrepancy between your records and the information the Bank provides to you about Enrolled Account(s) or transactions (e.g., in a statement, confirmation, or electronic report); (ii) unauthorized transactions involving your Account; (iii) a breach in the confidentiality of the password or other Security Procedures used to provide instructions pursuant to this ACH Block/Filter Schedule; or (iv) other problems related to the ACH Block/Filter Services. Nothing herein discharges or modifies your obligations under Other Agreements with the Bank to timely review and report any errors in your Enrolled Account statements.

    b. You agree that you will receive any notices from the Bank relating to the ACH Block/Filter Services through Business Online Banking by text message, email or a secure inbox. Any such notice transmitted shall be treated as received upon transmission.

Remote Deposit Capture (RDC) Service Schedule

1. RDC Service. If you have been approved by Bank to utilize the remote deposit capture services (the "RDC Services") as set forth in this Remote Deposit Capture Service Schedule (this "RDC Schedule"), you accept and agree to all terms, conditions, and provisions of this RDC Schedule, which sets forth the terms and conditions pursuant to which Bank will provide to Company the RDC Services. In the event of conflict between a provision of this RDC Schedule, the UCC, Part I of this Master Agreement, and the Other Agreements, the provisions of this RDC Schedule shall govern, but only to the extent reasonably necessary to resolve such conflict.

2. General Description of the Remote Deposit Service. Subject to the terms, provisions, and conditions of this RDC Schedule and any underwriting done by Bank from time to time, Bank will provide the RDC Services to you, which allows you to make deposits to your Account(s) listed in Exhibit E to the Enrollment Form, from your office by scanning checks on a desktop scanner and delivering the images and information required hereby to Bank or Bank's designated processor (a "Processor"). The term Bank and Processor may be used interchangeably when used in relation to any services performed by a Processor on behalf of Bank including, but not limited to, the receipt and processing of images and check data and any notices related thereto. The scanner must capture an image of the front and back of each Check (as herein defined) to be deposited (each an "Image" and, if more than one, "Images") in accordance with Bank's then current procedures pertaining to the RDC Services (the "Procedures") and must read and capture the magnetic ink character recognition ("MICR") line on each Check and all such other data and information as is required by this RDC Schedule. After capture of the Images, the MICR line on each Check and all other required data and information from each Check, you will transmit one or more files containing the Images, the MICR line from each Check and all other required data and information from or pertaining to all Checks and all batched ACH data and other required information (each such file a "File" and, if more than one, "Files") to Bank or Processor via the Internet. Subject to compliance with the terms, provisions and conditions of, and as provided in, this RDC Schedule, Bank will provisionally credit the Account or Accounts designated by you for the amount of the deposit(s) to which the File(s) pertains on the day of receipt of the File(s) and enter the Images into the collection process, in accordance with the provisions of Bank's then current Other Agreements and this RDC Schedule. Company and Bank agree that Bank may convert the Images to ACH entries on Company's behalf. Company hereby appoints Bank as Company's agent for the specific purpose of making the determination and decision to convert the Images to ACH entries. Company and Bank agree that Company shall be and remain the Originator and Bank shall be the Originating Depository Financial Institution, as those terms are defined in the NACHA Rules. Company acknowledges and agrees that Bank may discontinue, and/or change the terms of the RDC Services or any related content, features, products or services associated therewith, at any time without notice or liability to Company or any third party. Company hereby agrees that Bank shall be the exclusive provider of the RDC Services provided in accordance with this RDC Schedule and that Company will not use the same or similar services of any other party.

3. Hardware and Software.

   a. Company understands it must, and hereby agrees to, at its sole cost and expense, use computer hardware and software that meets all technical requirements for the proper delivery of the RDC Services and that fulfills Company's obligation to obtain and maintain secure access to the Internet. Company understands and agrees it may also incur, and shall pay, any and all expenses related to the use of the RDC Services, including, but not limited to, telephone service or Internet service charges. Company is solely responsible for the payment of any and all costs and expenses associated with meeting and maintaining all technical requirements and additional items necessary for the proper use of the RDC Services. Company understands and agrees that it is solely responsible for the operation, maintenance and updating of all equipment, software and services used in connection with the RDC Services and the cost thereof, and Company hereby agrees that it will perform, or cause to be performed, all vendor recommended maintenance, repairs, upgrades and replacements, and such performance shall be rendered by properly trained personnel, whether they are employees of Company or third-party employees. Bank is not responsible for, and Company hereby releases Bank from any and all claims or damages resulting from, or related to, any computer virus or related problems that may be associated with using electronic mail or the Internet. Bank hereby advises Company, and Company hereby agrees, to scan its computer hardware and software on a regular basis using a reliable computer virus detection product in order to detect and remove computer viruses. In connection with its use of the RDC Services, Company shall only use the hardware described in

SAMPLE

Exhibit E to the Enrollment Form (the "Hardware List"), as may be amended by Bank in its discretion, or such other hardware as is approved in advance by Bank and shall only use such software as is approved in advance by Bank.

b. Company acknowledges and agrees that (a) any and all computer programs ("Software"), including, but not limited to, the object and source codes therefore, and any and all updates, upgrades, fixes and enhancements thereto and any and all documentation, user guides and instructions pertaining thereto (everything in this clause (a), collectively, "Program"), and (b) any and all program manuals, users guides, instructions and other documentation provided to, or used by, Company in connection with the RDC Services (everything in this clause (b) collectively, the "Documentation") and all intellectual property rights such as copyrights, patents, and trade secrets, pertaining to the Program and the Documentation, are owned exclusively by Bank and its licensors, represent or contain valuable rights of Bank and its licensors, and are protected under United States patent, copyright, trademark and trade secret laws of general applicability. Company further acknowledges and agrees that all right, title, and interest in and to the Program and Documentation, together with all modifications, enhancements, and derivative works, including all copyright rights, are and shall remain with Bank and its licensors. This RDC Schedule does not create in Company, and does not constitute an assignment of, any rights of Bank and its licensors in and to any copyrights, trade secrets, patents, or other intellectual property rights. Company hereby assigns to Bank and/or its licensors, as directed by Bank, any rights, including any patent, copyright, mask work rights, trademarks, and trade secrets, which now exist or which it may acquire at any time in the future to the Software or the intellectual property rights to the Software, and any other computer code using any of the Program. Company hereby waives any "moral rights" to the Program. Company agrees to cooperate and to take all action reasonably requested by Bank or its licensors in connection with any such assignment.

c. Company shall not at any time, either directly or indirectly, put to issue the scope, validity or ownership of Bank or its licensors' intellectual property rights and shall not do any act, either directly or indirectly, which could reasonably be expected to impair the scope, validity or ownership of such intellectual property rights.

d. Company will not, and will not permit any third party to, (i) copy or use the Program or Documentation except as expressly authorized by this Master Agreement; (ii) rent, distribute or otherwise transfer the Program; (iii) use the Program for third-party training, commercial time-sharing or service bureau use; (iv) alter, change, modify or otherwise create derivative works of the Program; or (v) remove or alter any intellectual property or proprietary notices, legends, symbols, or labels appearing on or in the Program or Documentation. In addition, Company will not reverse engineer, disassemble or recompile any Software, except to the extent expressly permitted by applicable law. If the law of any jurisdiction purportedly authorizes or allows Company to reverse engineer, disassemble or decompile the Software and Company intends or begins to do so in reliance on such law, Company shall notify Bank in writing of its intended or actual activities. In the event of such notice, Bank may immediately terminate this RDC Schedule upon notice to Company.

e. Company will, at its expense, promptly execute and deliver such further documents and take any and all other actions reasonably requested by Bank from time to time, for the purpose of fully effectuating the intent and purposes of this RDC Schedule, and to protect the interests of Bank, its licensors, and their respective successors and assignees.

4. Checks Deposited and Security Interest.

a. You hereby agree that you will only scan and deposit a check(s) as that term is defined in Federal Reserve Board Regulation CC ("Reg CC"). You agree that the image of the check that is transmitted to Bank (each such check and other item a "Check" and, if more than one, "Checks") shall be deemed an "item" within the meaning of Article 4 of the UCC.

b. You further agree that you will not remotely deposit any check or other item that fits within one of the following categories:

i. Check images of items payable to any person or entity other than you;

SAMPLE

ii. Check images of items drawn, or otherwise issued, by Company or any affiliate of Company on any account of Company or such affiliate;
iii. Checks that are prohibited by Bank's Procedures or in violation of any law, rule or regulation;
iv. Check images of items drawn on banks located outside the United States;
v. Check images of items not payable in United States currency;
vi. Check images that are illegible or otherwise do not meet the image quality requirements set forth below;
vii. Check images that contain an alteration to any of the fields on the front of the check or item, or which you know or suspect, or should know or suspect, are fraudulent or otherwise not authorized by the owner of the account on which the check or item is drawn; viii. Images of Checks previously converted to Substitute Checks (as defined by The Check Clearing for the 21st Century Act and its regulations ("Check 21")), or a remotely created check;
ix. Check images with unreadable MICR information;
x. Checks issued by the United States Treasury (e.g., tax refund checks) or issued by the federal or state government (e.g., benefits checks);
xi. Checks are dated more than six (6) months prior to the date of transmission (e.g., a stale check);
xii. U.S. Postal Money Orders, U.S. Savings Bonds, Traveler's Cheques, or money orders; xiii. Convenience checks or checks drawn on a line of credit;
xiv. Checks payable to "Cash;"
xv. Checks that have previously been returned unpaid for any reason;
xvi. Checks that exceed limitations set by Bank from time to time;
xvii. Checks that are remotely created checks; and xviii. Checks that are not acceptable for deposit into the Account as provided in the Other Agreements.

Checks described in Section 4 (b)(i) through 4 (b)(xviii) each a "Prohibited Check" and, collectively, "Prohibited Checks".

c. You grant Bank a security interest in all Accounts or other deposits (whether general or special), and in all funds in such Accounts or other deposits, to secure your obligations to Bank under this RDC Schedule. This security interest will survive termination of this RDC Schedule.

d. Company may be required to maintain a reserve ("Settlement Reserve") of an amount to be solely determined by Bank. Company acknowledges and agrees that any Settlement Reserve will be deposited in a Bank Account for exclusive use by Bank for purposes of offsetting any of Company's obligations under this RDC Schedule. Company grants Bank a security interest in any Settlement Reserve to enable Bank to enforce any obligation owed by Company under this RDC Schedule without notice or demand to Company. Company's obligation to maintain a Settlement Reserve shall survive the termination of this RDC Schedule, with such obligation lasting until all of Company's obligations under this RDC Schedule have been fully offset.

5. Scanning of Checks and Transmission of Files.

a. Company shall properly install and use all software and hardware required by this RDC Schedule or otherwise required for, or related to, the use of the RDC Services. Company shall (a) scan the front and back of each Check to be deposited and thereby capture the image of the front and back of each Check and capture the MICR encoding on, and any other required data from, each Check and (c) transmit the File containing the images of, the MICR line from and all other required data and information from or pertaining to, such Checks and all batched ACH data and other information to Bank or its Processor in accordance with the Procedures, a copy of which Procedures have either heretofore been, or are herewith, provided to Company by Bank, and Company acknowledges receipt thereof.

b. To ensure accuracy, you shall balance the dollar amount of each deposit to the sum of the Checks prior to transmitting the File in accordance with the RDC Security Procedures. You may send multiple Files to Bank or Processor throughout the day.

c. The total dollar value of the Files sent by you to Bank on any day and the dollar amount of any single Image sent by you to Bank on any day shall not exceed the dollar amounts specified in Exhibit E to the Enrollment

SAMPLE

Form (the "Deposit Limits"). If the total dollar value of the Files sent by you to Bank on any day exceeds these Deposit Limits, Bank may, at its option, refuse to accept the File that exceeds the Deposit Limits, or Bank may accept and process the File. You agree not to exceed the Deposit Limits.

d. To be eligible for processing on the day transmitted, Files must be received by Bank no later than fifteen (15) minutes prior to the cutoff time specified in Exhibit E to the Enrollment Form (the "Cutoff Time"). A File is considered received by Bank when a complete copy of such File has been written on a Bank electronic storage device in conformity with Bank's technical and operational requirements. To meet the Cutoff Time, the entire File must be received by Bank prior to the Cutoff Time, and the File must successfully pass the edits for conformity with our technical requirements. For purposes of determining when a File has been delivered and received, Bank's records shall be determinative.

e. A File which is not balanced in accordance with the terms of this RDC Schedule or which is received after the Cutoff Time shall be deemed to have been received on the Business Day following the Business Day on which the File is actually received by Bank. Bank reserves the right to change the number of Files that may be transmitted in a day, the Deposit Limits and the Cutoff Time. All such changes shall be effective immediately and may be implemented prior to your receipt of notice thereof. You may contact Bank at any time to verify the current number of Files that may be transmitted in a day, the Deposit Limits and the Cutoff Time.

6. Maintenance and Destruction of Original Check. Company shall securely store all original Checks for a period of sixty (60) days after Company has received notice from Bank that the File containing the images of such Checks has been accepted (such period the "Retention Period"). During the Retention Period, Company shall take appropriate security measures to ensure that: (a) only authorized personnel shall have access to original Checks, (b) the information contained on such Checks shall not be disclosed, (c) such Checks will not be duplicated or scanned more than one time and (d) such Checks will not be deposited or negotiated in any form. Company shall also implement proper security procedures and internal controls to ensure the confidentiality of any information that is considered to be non-public personal information that is retained by Company. Company shall destroy original Checks upon the expiration of the Retention Period applicable to such Checks. Company will use commercially reasonable methods of destruction approved by Bank to destroy original Checks after expiration of the Retention Period. Company will promptly (but in all events within 5 Business Days) provide any retained Check (or, if the Check is no longer in existence, a sufficient copy of the front and back of the Check) to Bank as requested to aid in the clearing and collection process or to resolve claims by third parties with respect to any Check. Company shall also comply with any applicable retention requirements of its relative state. In case of conflict, the stricter destruction requirement will control.

7. Image and MICR Quality.

a. Each File transmitted by you to Bank shall contain Images of the front and back of the Checks scanned and remotely deposited by you. Each Image of each Check shall be of such quality that the following information can clearly be read and understood by sight review of such Image:

i. The amount of the Check;
ii. The payee of the Check;
iii. The signature of the drawer of the Check;
iv. The date of the Check;
v. The Check number;
vi. The information identifying the drawer and the paying bank that is preprinted on the Check, including the MICR line; and
vii. All other information placed on the Check prior to the time an image of the Check is captured, such as any required identification written on the front of the Check and any endorsements applied to the back of the Check.

b. Each Image shall also meet all standards for image quality established by the American National Standards Institute ("ANSI"), the Check 21 Act, all related laws, rules, or regulations, the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve or any other regulatory agency, clearing house, or association.

SAMPLE

c. You shall also capture and transmit to Bank the full-field MICR encoding on each Check and, you shall ensure that the following information is captured from the MICR line of each Check:

i. The American Bankers Association routing transit number ("RTN");
ii. The number of the account on which the Check is drawn;
iii. When encoded, the amount of the Check; and
iv. When encoded, the serial number and the process control field of the Check.

8. Receipt of File.

a. You agree that you shall be solely liable for, and Bank shall not have any liability whatsoever to you for, any File or the Images or other information contained therein that are not received by Bank or for any File or the Images or other information contained therein that are intercepted or altered by an unauthorized third party.

b. You agree that Bank has no obligation to accept a File and, therefore, may reject any File or the Images or other information contained therein submitted by you. Bank has no obligation to notify you of the rejection of a File or the Images or other information contained therein. Bank shall have no liability to you for the rejection of a File or the Images or other information contained therein or for the failure to notify you of such rejection.

c. Upon receipt of a File submitted by you, Bank may examine such File and the Images and other information contained therein to ensure that you have complied with this RDC Schedule and followed the RDC Security Procedures. If Bank determines that you have not complied with this RDC Schedule or followed the RDC Security Procedures or if errors exist in the Images or other information contained in the File, Bank, in its sole discretion, may either reject the File or elect to correct the error and accept and process the corrected File (a "Corrected File"). As a form of correction, Bank may credit your Account for the full amount of the deposit and make any necessary adjustments to the Account to correct the error. Bank may, at its option, also perform a risk management analysis of one or more Files submitted by you to detect potentially fraudulent Checks, and, in its sole discretion, Bank may reject any such File, or the Images or other information contained therein. If after examination of a File and the Images and other information contained therein, Bank determines that you have complied with this RDC Schedule and processed and transmitted the File in accordance herewith and with the RDC Security Procedures, the File is balanced and the Images meet the requirements of this RDC Schedule, then Bank shall accept the File (an "Accepted File") for deposit to your Account.

d. Notwithstanding the fact that Bank has accepted a File for deposit, any credit made to your Account shall be provisional, and you shall remain liable to Bank for any errors, inaccuracies, breach of warranties and any other loss sustained by, or claim made against, Bank.

9. Provisional Credit and Receipt of Funds. Upon acceptance of the File, Bank shall grant your Account Provisional Credit of the total amount of the Corrected File or the Accepted File, as applicable. As used herein, "Provisional Credit" means that the credit is made to your Account subject to final payment of the Checks and subject to the terms of the Other Agreements. For the purpose of determining availability of funds, Bank may hold funds for the period of time permitted by Bank's availability disclosure.

10. Laws, Rules and Regulations.

a. Company agrees to comply with all existing and future operating procedures used by Bank for processing of transactions. Company further agrees to comply with, and be bound by, all applicable state or federal laws, rules, regulations, orders, guidelines, operating circulars and pronouncements, affecting checks and drafts and ACH transactions, including, but not limited to, all rules and procedural guidelines established by the Federal Trade Commission ("FTC"), the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve, Electronic Check Clearing House Organization ("ECCHO") and any other clearinghouse or other organization in which Bank is a member or to which rules Bank has agreed to be bound (collectively, all such procedures, rules, and regulations, the "Rules").

SAMPLE

b. The Rules are incorporated herein by reference. In the event of conflict between the terms of this RDC Schedule and the Rules, the Rules will control.

11. Collection of Checks. Bank, in its sole discretion, shall determine the manner in which Images shall be presented for payment to the drawee bank. Bank, in its sole discretion, shall select the clearing agents used to collect and present the Images, and Bank's selection of the clearing agents shall be considered to have been designed by you. Bank shall not be liable for the negligence of any clearing agent. Collection of Checks are also subject to the Other Agreements.

12. Contingency Plan. You agree that, in the event you are not able to capture, balance, process, produce or transmit a File to Bank, or otherwise comply with the terms hereof for any reason, including, but not limited to, communications, equipment or software outages, interruptions or failures, you will transport the originals of all Checks to the closest office of Bank and deposit original Checks with Bank until such time that the outage, interruption or failure is identified and resolved. You hereby acknowledge and agree that Bank shall not be liable to you for any loss or damage of any nature sustained by you as the result of the inability of you to use the RDC Services. The deposit of original Checks at an office of Bank shall be governed by the terms and conditions of the Other Agreements and not by the terms of this RDC Schedule. Notwithstanding the foregoing, and to the extent applicable, the following Section of this RDC Schedule dealing with warranties shall apply to the deposit of original Checks.

13. Warranties. You represent, warrant and covenant the following to Bank:

a. Checks Deposited. You shall only deposit Checks that are authorized by this RDC Schedule, the RDC Security Procedures, and the Other Agreements;

b. No Alterations. Neither Company nor any third party has taken any action that would obscure, alter, or impair the capture or transmission of information on the front or back of the Check or that would otherwise prevent Bank or another institution from capturing or processing such information;

c. Image Quality. Each Image transmitted by you to Bank contains an accurate representation of the front and the back of each Check and complies with the requirements of this RDC Schedule;

d. Accuracy of Information. All data and other information submitted by you to Bank, including but not limited to data contained in the MICR line of each Check, is complete and accurate and complies with the requirements of this RDC Schedule;

e. Business Purpose Only. You are not a consumer, and the RDC Services shall be used for business purposes only;

f. No Duplicates. You will not: (i) create duplicate Images of the Checks, (ii) transmit a duplicate Image or File to Bank, or (iii) deposit or otherwise negotiate the original of any Check of which an Image was created. You further warrant that no subsequent transferee, including but not limited to Bank, a collecting or returning bank, drawer, drawee, payee or endorser, will be asked to pay the original Item from which the Image(s) was created or a duplication (whether paper or electronic) of the Item(s);

g. No Loss. No subsequent transferees of the Item(s), including but not limited to Bank, a collecting or returning bank, drawer, drawee, payee or endorser, shall sustain a loss as the result of the fact that the Image was presented for payment or returned instead of the original Check;

h. Information. All information provided by you to Bank is true, complete and accurate and properly reflects the business, financial condition and principal partners, owners or officers, of you. You are not engaged in, or affiliated with, any unlawful businesses, products or methods of selling;

i. Authority and Legality. (i) You are authorized to enter into, and perform your obligations under, this RDC Schedule; (ii) this RDC Schedule is valid and enforceable against you in accordance with its terms; and (iii) the entry into, and performance of, this RDC Schedule by you will not violate any law, or conflict with any other agreement, to which you are subject;

j. No Litigation. There is no action, suit or proceeding pending or, to your knowledge, threatened which, if decided adversely, would impair your ability to carry on its business substantially as now conducted or which would adversely affect your financial condition or operations;

k. Transactions. All Checks and your business transactions are, and will be, bona fide. All signatures on Checks are authentic and authorized;

l. Rule Compliance. You will conduct your business, and submit Checks and Files in compliance with this RDC Schedule, the RDC Security Procedures, applicable law and the Rules;

m. Computer Virus. No Files or Checks contain any computer viruses or other harmful, intrusive, or invasive codes;

n. Check Limits. No files or Checks exceed the limitations set forth in Exhibit E to the Enrollment Form for the daily deposit dollar limit.

14. Returned Checks.

a. Chargeback of Returned Checks. If Images of Checks deposited by you are dishonored or otherwise returned unpaid by the drawee bank, or are returned by a clearing agent for any reason, including, but not limited to, issues relating to the quality of the Image, you understand and agree that, since you either maintain the original Check or have destroyed the original Check in accordance with Section 6 of this RDC Schedule, the original Check will not be returned, and Bank may charge back an Image of the Check to your Account. You understand and agree that the Image may be in the form of an electronic or paper reproduction of the original Check or a substitute check. Unless otherwise instructed by Bank, you agree not to deposit the original Check if an Image or other debit as previously described is charged back to you.

b. Special Instructions. Company may request that Bank re-present returned Images of Checks to the drawee or process returned Images of Checks according to instructions provided by Company to Bank (the "Special Instructions"). These Special Instructions may be given to Bank in a separate document in conjunction with or subsequent to the execution of the Enrollment Form (in which this Master Agreement is incorporated). Bank shall not be bound by such Special Instructions until such time as Bank has agreed in writing to accept the Special Instructions. Notwithstanding the fact that Bank has agreed to accept the Special Instructions, Bank may, in its sole discretion, disregard the Special Instructions and charge the returned Check back to the Company Account to which the Checks were deposited. In the event that Company has requested that returned Images of Checks be re-presented, in no event will Bank re-present an Image of a Check or an ACH entry in excess of the limit established or permitted for the number of times that a Check or ACH entry may be re-presented by the Rules. Company may change or amend the Special Instructions by providing Bank a written request to change or amend the Special Instructions. Changes or amendments to the Special Instructions shall not become effective until acknowledged and accepted in writing by Bank. Company hereby agrees to pay Bank the fees for processing returned Checks and Special Instructions contained in Bank's then current schedule of fees for such services.

15. Confirmation: Account Reconciliation. Bank will provide notice of receipt of deposits to your Account on the periodic statement for such Account. You are responsible for detecting and reporting to Bank any discrepancy between your records and the records Bank provides to you. If you do not detect and notify Bank of such a discrepancy within thirty (30) days of your receipt of any terminal printout, mailed report, or periodic statement, whichever is received first, then such transactions shall be considered correct, and you shall be precluded from asserting such error or discrepancy against Bank.

16. Update Notice. You shall provide written notice to Bank of any changes to the information previously provided by you to Bank, including, but not limited to, any additional locations, any change in business, any new business, the identity of principals and/or owners, the form of business organization, type of goods and services provided and method of conducting sales. Such notice must be received by Bank within five (5) Business Days of the change. You shall provide any additional information requested by Bank within five (5) Business Days of such request. Bank retains the right to: (a) review your Checks, Files and business activities from time to time to confirm you are conducting business as stated by you, and (b) re-price or terminate the RDC Services based on changes to information previously provided to Bank by you.

17. Banks Duties and Responsibilities.

a. Bank's duties and responsibilities with regard to the RDC Services are limited to those described in this RDC Schedule or otherwise in this Master Agreement and any Other Agreements governing the Accounts. Bank will use commercially reasonable care in performing its responsibilities under this RDC Schedule.

b. You agree to monitor your Account balances and charges, to promptly notify Bank if any records conflict with your records, and to refrain from acting on information you have reason to believe is erroneous. In addition to the other limitations of Bank's liability provided in this Master Agreement, in all instances, Bank's and, if the services of a third-party provider are utilized in the provision of the RDC Services, such third party's sole liability to you shall be limited to the correction of any errors made. Bank shall not be responsible for suspension of performance of all or any of its obligations, responsibilities or covenants hereunder, whether expressed or implied, if at any time, or from time to time, compliance therewith is prevented or hindered by, or are in conflict with, any federal or state law, regulation or rule, the order of any court of competent jurisdiction, any act of God or of the public enemy, war, epidemic, strike, or work stoppages of the U.S. Postal Service and commercial carrier(s), or electric power disruption or shortage, telecommunications failure or computer failures; acts, omissions or errors of any carrier and/or agent operating between you and Bank or Bank and any Federal Reserve Bank or other agency utilized to exercise transfers or any recipients of transferred funds; any incorrect, unauthorized or fraudulent use or other fraud by any person other than Bank's employees; or, without limiting the generality of the foregoing, any other cause or circumstance beyond Bank's reasonable control or other conditions or circumstances not wholly controlled by Bank, which would prohibit, interrupt or otherwise affect Bank's complete or partial performance under this RDC Schedule.

18. RDC Security Procedures.

a. You agree that you are bound by the Security Procedures contained in Part I of this Master Agreement. In addition to the Security Procedures contained in Part I of this Master Agreement, you agree to the following (collectively, the "RDC Security Procedures"):

i. You shall be solely responsible for protecting against unauthorized access to the scanner and the RDC Services and any and all losses and damages arising from any unauthorized access to the scanner and the RDC Services including unauthorized electronic or internet access.
ii. You shall establish physical security and other security procedures necessary to ensure the confidentiality of access features as to the RDC Services.
iii. You agree that technical and operational training of your employees with respect to the RDC Services and equipment is critical to the effectiveness of the system and you agree to provide adequate training for primary and backup employees. You shall be responsible for training any employees regarding the use of the RDC Services and shall be responsible for instructing employees on the security procedures contained in this RDC Schedule.
iv. Bank may, at its sole discretion, conduct an on-site inspection, at any time and from time to time, of your place of business to ensure compliance with the provisions of this RDC Schedule.
v. Bank shall have no obligation, liability or control, either directly or indirectly over said procedures or the failure of you to maintain said procedures.

b. You agree to:

i. Take reasonable steps to safeguard the confidentiality of all passwords;
ii. Limit access to its passwords to persons who have the need to know such information;
iii. Closely and regularly monitor the activities of employees who access the RDC Services;

SAMPLE

iv. Prohibit your employees and agents from initiating the scanning of Images without proper supervision and adequate controls.

c. Bank recommends that different individuals handle the creation of deposit Image batches; and the approval of the Image batch for release to Bank.

d. You understand and agree that the RDC Security Procedures described in this RDC Schedule are commercially reasonable and that upon receipt of instructions following the authentication measures, Bank will treat those instructions as your instructions. Bank shall not be liable for any losses when Bank has used the authentication procedures and Bank has acted in good faith on the instructions so received.

e. Bank may suspend immediately the RDC Services or the processing of any Check or corresponding or electronic item if Bank has reason to believe that there has been a breach in the security of the RDC Services or fraud involving the Account or such Check.

f. Bank reverses the right to amend the RDC Security Procedures, with or without prior notice to you.

g. You agree to, at all times:

i. Comply with the RDC Security Procedures;
ii. Safeguard the confidentiality and security of the RDC Security Procedures and all other proprietary property or information Bank provides to you in connection with the RDC Services; and
iii. Notify Bank immediately if you have any reason to believe the security or confidentiality required by this Master Agreement or this RDC Schedule has been or may be breached.

h. You acknowledge, understand, and agree the RDC Security Procedures are not designed for the detection of errors. Bank is not, and will not be, obligated to detect errors by you or others, even if Bank takes certain actions from time to time to do so.

19. RDC End User License Agreement. This RDC Schedule applies to your use of the RDC Services and applies to your access to the RDC Services. You understand that some of the RDC Services contemplated by this RDC Schedule are provided by third parties. Bank shall not be liable for any RDC Services provided by such third parties. This RDC Schedule shall be your license to use any RDC Services provided by Bank or such third parties.

a. Bank has the right to terminate or suspend your access to or use of the RDC Services, with or without notice, in the event that you violate this RDC Schedule or close your Account.

b. The RDC Services are owned and operated by Bank or its affiliates, licensors and/or third party service providers (the “RDC Bank Parties”) and unless otherwise indicated, all designs, text, images, videos, graphics, software and other content and materials appearing in the RDC Services (collectively, “RDC Content”) are the property of Bank or the RDC Bank Parties, and protected, without limitation, by U.S. and foreign copyright, trademark and other intellectual property laws. All trademarks, service marks, trade names, logos and other indicia of origin (collectively, "RDC Marks") appearing on RDC are the property of Bank or the RDC Bank Parties. You may not make any use of any RDC Content or RDC Marks without the prior written consent of Bank. No RDC Content from RDC may be copied, reproduced, republished, uploaded, posted, transmitted, or distributed in any way.

c. In using or accessing the RDC Services you agree: (1) not to use the RDC Services for fraudulent purposes; (2) not to "spam" others or "phish" for others' personal information; (3) not to create or use a false identity; (4) not to disrupt or interfere with the security of, “deeplink”, attempt to obtain unauthorized access to or otherwise abuse, the RDC Services or affiliated or linked websites; (5) not to disrupt or interfere with any other user’s enjoyment of the RDC Services; (6) not to use, frame or utilize framing techniques to enclose any RDC Marks or other proprietary information (including RDC Content); (7) not to use meta tags or any other “hidden text” utilizing a RDC Mark ; and (8) not to use the RDC Services in a manner that is defamatory, inaccurate, profane, threatening, invasive of a person's privacy, violates any third party proprietary rights, or is in violation of any law or regulation.

d. The RDC Services may contain links to third party websites and services, over which Bank has no control. You acknowledge and agree that Bank does not endorse, verify, or make any representations regarding these third-party websites and services and is not responsible for the availability of, and any liability arising from, any such third-party websites and services. Bank is not liable to you or any other party for any loss or damage which may be incurred by you as a result of these third-party websites and services.

e. Bank reserves the right, without notice and at its sole discretion, to suspend or terminate your ability to access or use the RDC Services, and to block or prevent future access to and use of RDC for any reason. Bank may, in its sole discretion, terminate, change, modify, suspend, make improvements to or discontinue any or all aspects of the RDC Services, temporarily or permanently, at any time with or without notice to you. You agree that Bank shall not be liable to you or to any third party for any such modification, suspension or discontinuance.

20. Equipment Maintenance. You shall be solely responsible for obtaining and properly maintaining your equipment and system requirements, electrical services, and telephone system, including computer equipment, Internet connectivity, scanning terminals (unless contracted with Bank), and any other equipment or items necessary to receive the RDC Services. Bank shall not be liable to you, in any manner whatsoever, for any type of errors, losses, damages, or other claims related to your failure to do so.

21. Confidential Information and Proprietary Right in Data. You agree to hold confidential, and to use only in connection with the RDC Services, all information furnished to you by Bank or by third parties from whom Bank has secured the right to use the RDC Services, including, but not limited to, Bank's product and service pricing structure, system design, programming techniques or other unique techniques. In addition, should you at any time receive or acquire any information relating to another customer of Bank, you shall promptly return such information to Bank and not reveal such information to any other party and shall not make use of such information for its own benefit or otherwise. Bank's and your obligations and agreements under this paragraph shall not apply to any information supplied that was known to either party prior to the disclosure by the other, is or becomes generally available to the public other than by breach of this RDC Schedule or otherwise becomes lawfully available on a non-confidential basis from a third party who is not under an obligation of confidence to either party. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein, it is understood and agreed by the parties hereto that the performance of the RDC Services is or might be subject to regulation and examination by authorized representatives of the Comptroller of the Currency, the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and/or a State regulatory agency, and you agree to the release by Bank of your reports, information, assurances and other data and information as may be required under applicable laws and regulations. You agree that any specifications or programs developed by Bank in connection with this RDC Schedule, or supplied or made available to you by Bank, are the exclusive property of Bank, its agents, suppliers or contractors, and further agrees that such material shall not be copied or used in any manner or for any purpose without the express written consent of Bank. This clause shall survive the termination of this RDC Schedule.

22. Limitation on Liability.

a. ANY PROVISION IN THIS RDC SCHEDULE, ANY OTHER AGREEMENT OR THE RULES TO THE CONTRARY NOTWITHSTANDING, AND IN ADDITION TO THE LIMITATION OF BANK'S LIABILITY OTHERWISE PROVIDED IN THIS MASTER AGREEMENT, BANK SHALL ONLY BE LIABLE FOR DAMAGES SOLELY AND PROXIMATELY CAUSED BY ITS GROSS NEGLIGENCE OR WILLFUL MISCONDUCT, AND BANK'S LIABILITY SHALL IN NO EVENT EXCEED THE LESSER OF (i) YOUR ACTUAL DAMAGES OR (ii) THE TOTAL FEES PAID BY YOU TO BANK FOR THE RDC SERVICES FOR THE PERIOD OF SIX MONTHS IMMEDIATELY PRECEDING THE DATE OF THE ALLEGED GROSS NEGLIGENCE OR WILLFUL MISCONDUCT.

b. TO THE FULLEST EXTENT ALLOWED BY LAW, AND SUBJECT TO THE FOREGOING PROVISIONS OF THIS SECTION DEALING WITH BANK'S LIABILITY FOR DAMAGES SOLELY AND PROXIMATELY CAUSED BY ITS GROSS NEGLIGENCE OR WILLFUL MISCONDUCT, BANK'S LIABILITY TO YOU UNDER THIS RDC SCHEDULE SHALL BE LIMITED TO CORRECTING ERRORS RESULTING FROM BANK'S FAILURE TO EXERCISE ORDINARY CARE.

c. BANK MAKES ABSOLUTELY NO REPRESENTATIONS OR WARRANTIES WHATSOEVER, EXPRESS OR IMPLIED, IN LAW OR IN FACT, TO YOU OR TO ANY OTHER PERSON AS TO ANY COMPUTER HARDWARE, SOFTWARE OR EQUIPMENT IN CONNECTION WITH THE RDC SERVICES, INCLUDING, BUT NOT LIMITED TO, YOUR COMPUTER SYSTEMS OR RELATED EQUIPMENT, YOUR SOFTWARE, OR YOUR INTERNET SERVICE PROVIDER OR ITS EQUIPMENT, OR AS TO THE SUITABILITY OR COMPATIBILITY OF BANK'S SOFTWARE, INTERNET DELIVERED SERVICE, EQUIPMENT OR COMMUNICATION INTERFACES WITH THOSE THAT YOU USE, OR AS TO WHETHER ANY SOFTWARE OR INTERNET DELIVERED SERVICE WILL PERFORM IN AN UNINTERRUPTED MANNER, INCLUDING, BUT NOT LIMITED TO, ANY WARRANTY OF MERCHANTABILITY OR FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE.

d. BANK SHALL NOT BE RESPONSIBLE OR LIABLE FOR ANY ERRORS OR FAILURES RESULTING FROM DEFECTS IN, OR MALFUNCTIONS OF, YOUR COMPUTER HARDWARE OR SOFTWARE, FOR THE QUALITY OF PERFORMANCE OR LACK OF PERFORMANCE OF ANY COMPUTER SOFTWARE OR HARDWARE OR INTERNET DELIVERED SERVICES SUPPLIED BY BANK TO YOU IN CONNECTION WITH THIS RDC SCHEDULE, OR FOR THE TRANSMISSION OR FAILURE OF TRANSMISSION OF ANY INFORMATION FROM YOU TO BANK, FROM BANK TO YOU, FROM YOU TO ANY PROCESSOR, FROM ANY PROCESSOR TO BANK, OR OTHERWISE. BANK SHALL NOT BE RESPONSIBLE FOR NOTIFYING YOU OF ANY UPGRADES OR ENHANCEMENTS TO ANY OF YOUR COMPUTER HARDWARE OR SOFTWARE. BANK IS NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR, AND YOU HEREBY RELEASES BANK FROM ANY AND ALL CLAIMS OR DAMAGES RESULTING FROM, OR RELATED TO, ANY COMPUTER VIRUS OR RELATED PROBLEMS THAT MAY BE ASSOCIATED WITH USING ELECTRONIC MAIL OR THE INTERNET.

23. Indemnification and Liability; Third Party Claims. You hereby indemnify Bank and each of its parents, subsidiaries and affiliates and their respective officers, directors, employees, members, partners, agents, insurers and attorneys (each a "Remote Deposit Indemnified Party" and, collectively, the "Remote Deposit Indemnified Parties") for, and hold each of the Remote Deposit Indemnified Parties harmless from and against, all actions, causes of action, claims, damages, liabilities and expenses (including reasonable attorneys' fees) of any nature or kind (including those by third parties) arising out of, or related to, this RDC Schedule, including all actions, causes of action, claims, damages, liabilities and expenses arising out of, related to or resulting from: (a) your (i) failure to report required changes, (ii) transmission of incorrect data to Bank, (iii) failure to maintain compliance with the Rules, (iv) destruction of original Checks, (v) deposit of an electronic representation of a substitute check into an Account instead of an original Check, (vi) deposit of a Prohibited Check; (b) Bank's (i) provision of the RDC Services, (ii) action or inaction in accordance with, or in reliance upon, any instructions or information received from any person reasonably believed by Bank to be authorized to act on your behalf; (c) your breach of any of your warranties, representations and/or obligations under this RDC Schedule or any Other Agreement between you and Bank; and/or (d) actions of third parties; provided, however, you are not obligated to indemnify Bank for any damages solely and proximately caused by Bank's gross negligence or willful misconduct.

24. Termination.

a. Without limiting the rights of Bank under Part I of this Master Agreement, this RDC Schedule shall commence upon your use of the RDC Services and remain in effect until terminated as follows: (i) by either party, with or without cause, upon at least sixty (60) days prior written notice and the return by Company of all Equipment (ii) by Bank immediately upon written notice to you if (A) Bank discovers any willful misconduct (including bad checks or fraudulent activities on the part of you or any other party with respect to the RDC Services utilized by you), (B) you fail to perform any of your obligations under this RDC Schedule, or (C) any warranty or representation you have made to Bank proves to be false or misleading; or (iv) by Bank upon the termination of Bank's license to offer the RDC Services. Notwithstanding the foregoing, Bank may immediately terminate the RDC Schedule and your access to the RDC Services without notice if, in Bank's sole discretion, Bank determines that Company has abused the RDC Services or Bank believes that it will suffer a loss or other damage if this RDC Schedule is not terminated.

b. Any termination will not affect obligations arising prior to termination, including without limitation, the obligation to process any Checks transmitted to Bank prior to termination.

c. Upon termination of this RDC Schedule, you shall promptly return the scanner (and any hardware or software associated with the Scanner) to Bank.

SAMPLE

d. Within thirty (30) days after termination of this RDC Schedule, you will return or destroy all copies of the RDC Documentation in your possession or under your control, and will, upon request, certify in writing that you have returned or destroyed all such copies.

e. You will keep your Account with Bank open until the later of seventy-five (75) days after the date of termination or final payment with respect to all fees and during such time will keep in such Account an amount sufficient to cover any remaining outstanding Checks. If the outstanding Checks or returned items exceed the amount in the Account, you will pay such excess to Bank upon demand. You will also continue to retain Checks and forward Checks as required under this RDC Schedule. You agree not to develop a product substantially similar to the RDC Services during the term hereof or within three (3) years after termination of this RDC Schedule.

f. All Sections of this RDC Schedule which are intended by their terms to survive termination of this RDC Schedule will survive the termination of this RDC Schedule.

Security and Authentication Schedule

1. In addition to the terms of this Master Agreement, you acknowledge and agree that the following terms will apply with respect to your use of the Services. You must comply with the Security Procedures for the applicable Service described in this Master Agreement and/or the Enrollment Form with respect to any instructions transmitted by you to Bank for that Service. You agree and acknowledge that the Security Procedures are not the same for each Service. For example, some Services require the use of Token while others do not. You acknowledge that the purpose of such Security Procedures is for verification of authenticity and not to detect an error on the transmission or content of any instructions. No Security Procedure for the detection of any such error has been agreed upon between Bank and you. Company is solely responsible for detecting and preventing such errors. Bank shall not be responsible for any error in transmission or content of a Transfer request via the Services. Company is strictly responsible for establishing and maintaining internal procedures to safeguard against unauthorized transactions or transmissions. You acknowledge the Security Procedures established for a Service are "commercially reasonable" pursuant to Article 4A of the Uniform Commercial Code, and that you have considered these Security Procedures, weighed the risks, and wish to continue with the use of the applicable Service. If you reject any Security Procedure offered by Bank, you agree that more restrictive Security Procedures have been offered, but in light of the burden of the additional Security Procedures rejected, you have determined to utilize your own alternative security procedures selected and you assume the full risk of unauthorized access to the Services utilizing the security procedures you have selected. Regardless of any claim of unauthorized access, you will be responsible for any transaction instructions given following authentication using the Security Procedures.

2. Bank will only have an obligation to comply with the Security Procedures set forth herein or in the Enrollment Form for the applicable Service. Bank will have no liability if you or your employees disclose the Security Procedures. Any such disclosure will be treated as your consent to provide this information to that third party and provide him/her/them with access to your Account(s). If the Company believes or suspects that any such information or instructions have been accessed by unauthorized persons, Company agrees to notify Bank immediately, followed by written confirmation. The occurrence of unauthorized access will not affect any transfers or transmissions accepted in good faith by Bank pursuant to the Security Procedures prior to receipt of such notification and within a reasonable time period to prevent unauthorized transfers or transmissions. Bank has the right to suspend or cancel your Access Devices, even without receiving such notice from you, if Bank suspects that your information is being used in an unauthorized, fraudulent, or illegal way. You agree that Bank may send notices and other communications, including passcode confirmations, to the current address or email address shown in Bank's records, whether or not that address includes a designation for delivery to the attention of a particular individual. You further agree that Bank will not be responsible or liable to you in any way if information is intercepted by an unauthorized person, either in transit or at your place of business.

3. You agree that (i) Bank reserves the right to change its Security Procedures from time to time; and (ii) your continued use of the Services following notice of such changes shall constitute your acceptance of any new Security Procedures as commercially reasonable.

4. If instructions (or a request for cancellation or amendment of instructions you provided) received by Bank purports to have been transmitted or authorized by you following the Security Procedures, it will be deemed effective as your instruction (or request) and you shall be obligated to pay Bank in accordance with such instructions even though the instructions (or request) were not authorized by you, provided that Bank accepted the instructions in good faith and acted in compliance with the Security Procedures. Regardless of any claim of unauthorized access, you will be responsible for any transaction instructions given following authentication using the Security Procedures.

5. You understand that Bank: (i) may only work with any of your designated Administrators or any Authorized Signer in order to implement core changes to User access, Company accounts, and controls; and (ii) may work with any User for support assistance involving the Services.

6. The Security Procedures with regard to instructions transmitted to Bank via the Services may include the following:

SAMPLE

a. Company ID: the assignment of Bank of a Company identification for the Company's use of the Services.

b. Username: the assignment of an identification for the Company's User's use of the Services.

c. Password: the creation by each User of an individual user Password, which must be used in to access Business Online Banking.

d. One-time Code or Challenge Questions: the use of a one-time code or challenge questions sent to a User to verify the identity of the User for a first-time login or in the event out-of-band activity is detected by Bank's systems.

e. Dedicated Computer: the use a designated computer in the Company's office designated exclusively to access Business Online Banking. The computer shall not be used for general Internet purposes (e.g., email, visits to other web sites, including social networking sites). Computers accessing the Service should not have "computer administrative" privileges (i.e., a user with "unlimited" privileges).

f. Security Tokens: the use of a Security Token assigned to a User (in the case of a "hardware token" or "hard token") or made available to a User (in the case of a "software token" or "soft token"), which Security Token generates time sensitive codes or passwords that may be used to access the portion of the Services as required to initiate instructions to the Bank.

g. Dual Control: the use of a system whereby two individuals are required to complete a transaction. With Dual Control, a User is authorized to provide instructions to Bank. However, the instructions do not become valid until a second User provides a secondary approval to the "release" of the instructions to Bank.

We may also set limits for a Service, including but not limited to ACH, wires, remote deposit capture, and any other Services contemplated by this Master Agreement.

7. Standard Security Procedures for Services. Unless otherwise agreed to in writing between Company and Bank, the use of the username, Password, and One-time Code or Challenge Questions (if out of band activity is detected by our systems) will be required Security Procedures for all Services. In addition, unless otherwise agreed to in writing between Company and Bank, a Security Token will be required for the ACH Services and Wire Services. If Company elects to use Dual Control or Dedicated Computer as a Security Procedure, Company will elect such on the Enrollment Form .

   Because your username and Password are the principal security measures to protect access to your Account(s), you agree to keep your username and Password(s) confidential and to take all reasonable precautions to protect the secrecy of this information. You acknowledge that no person from Bank will ever ask for your Password and that our employees do not need or should not ask for your Password. You therefore agree never to provide your Password to anyone claiming to represent us. If you give your username or Password or make it available to another person, you authorize that person to access your Account(s) and to give Bank instructions relating to your Account(s). You also authorize us to comply with those instructions even if that person exceeds your authorization. Bank has no responsibility for establishing the identity of any person who uses your username and Password. You agree that you are liable for any transaction receive by Bank which includes your Password.

8. Dual Control. It is strongly recommended that you require Dual Control and authorizations for your internal functions for the ACH Services and Wire Services (i.e., more than one individual in your organization must approve the initiation of entries) to maintain a higher level of security. The decision not to use Dual Control will substantially increase your risk of unauthorized ACH entries or wire transfers, which could lead to losses. You understand and agree that Bank shall not be liable for any losses stemming in whole or in part from your decision to reject or forego Dual Control for the ACH Services or Wire Services. You understand and agree that if you decide not to use Dual Control: (i) such failure shall represent a rejection of Bank's Security Procedure; (ii) your decision not to use Dual Control in conjunction with your continued use of the ACH Services for transmittal of entries or Wire Services for the transmittal of wire transfers shall constitute the acceptance of an alternative security procedure under Uniform Commercial Code § 4A-202(c).

9. Secure Email. Bank shall be entitled to rely on any written notice or other written communication contained in a secure email purported to be from you, which is received via Business Online Banking, and such communication shall be deemed to be authorized by you.

10. Your Authorization. Except to the extent prohibited by applicable law or regulation, you will be deemed to have expressly authorized any transaction facilitated through the Services:

    a. Initiated using your username and Password and when Bank has compiled with the Security Procedures that were agreed to between you and Bank, even if you did not initiate the transaction;

    b. Initiated by an agent or User with respect to any Account which you may access through the Services;

    c. Initiated by a member of your household, whether or not related to you;

    d. Initiated by any person (or that person's agent) who is the owner or co-owner of any Account which you may access through the Services;

    e. Which results in the transfer of funds between Accounts you may access through the Services, even if subsequent transfers out of the Accounts benefit someone else;

    f. Which is to or for your benefit (for example, the payment of a debt for which you are partially or fully liable); or

    g. Which you contend is unauthorized, unless you cooperate fully with us in our investigation of the transaction, assign to us your right of recovery against the wrongdoer if we reconstitute your Account, and cooperate fully with us in the recovery of any loss we sustain and the prosecution of any wrongdoer.

11. Discretionary Callbacks. Bank may, in its sole discretion, use callbacks to verify instructions given to Bank. You agree that Bank's use of callbacks is not required under this Master Agreement or for any of the Services and Bank's failure to use callbacks to verify any request shall not be deemed to be a violation of the Security Procedures set forth in this Master Agreement, Enrollment Form or a Service Schedule or description.

12. Refusal to Process. Bank, in its sole discretion, may refuse to process to abide by any instructions from you in the event: (a) Bank has a good faith belief that the instructions are not authentic; (b) the instructions are incomplete; (c) the instruction and/or identity of the User cannot be verified in the sole and absolute discretion of Bank; (d) there are insufficient collected funds in the Account to cover the instructions; or (e) any other condition or requirement for the processing of the instructions as set forth in this Master Agreement, the Other Agreements, or any funds transfer agreement between you and Bank, as amended, is unsatisfied.

13. Your Obligation to Protect Your Computers and Systems. In addition to your obligations provide in this Master Agreement, you are responsible for maintaining current software upgrades and patch management. Additionally, anti-virus, anti-malware, and anti-spyware programs and firewalls shall be maintained on all your systems, User computers, and Security Devices. Additional security may also be established by use of multi-factor authentication by Bank. You agree that Bank shall not have access to any Passwords and can only reset such Passwords. You shall be responsible for internal and external intrusion testing of your network system. You are responsible for systematic or operational risk contingency planning with regard to your network system. You are responsible for maintenance and connectivity of telecommunications with your internet service provider. In the event Bank is experiencing issues with the Service, Bank may, in its sole discretion, attempt to notify you of such issues. The risk of error, failure, or non-performance of your computers and software is your risk and includes the risk that you do not operate the computer or software properly. We make no warranty to you regarding your computers or software, including any warranty of merchantability or fitness for a particular purpose. We are not responsible for any errors or failures from any malfunction of your computer or the software nor are we responsible for any electronic virus or viruses that you may encounter. We are not responsible for any computer virus related problems that may be associated with the use of the Services. We have no liability to you for any damage or other loss, direct or consequential, which you may suffer or incur by reason of your use of your computers or software. We encourage you to routinely scan your computers and network systems using the required anti-virus, anti-spyware and anti-malware programs required to be maintained by you above, to detect and remove any viruses. Undetected or unrepaired viruses may corrupt and destroy your programs, files and even your hardware. Additionally, you may unintentionally transmit the virus to other computers. You acknowledge and understand that the Services are accessed through the Internet, which is a public system over which Bank has no control and that, accordingly, you should only use a computer or other electronic device that is in a secure location and that is used only by your Users and that your network and network hardware are secure. Except as specifically provided in this Agreement, or where applicable law requires a different result, neither we nor our service providers or other agents will be liable for any loss or liability resulting in whole or in part from any act or failure to act of your equipment or software, or that of an Internet browser provider such as Microsoft® (Internet Explorer browser) or Google® (Google Chrome® browser), by an Internet access provider, by an online service provider or by an agent or subcontractor of any of them, nor will we or our service providers or other agents be responsible for any direct, indirect, special or consequential, economic, or other damages arising in any way out of your access to or use of, or failure to obtain access to the Services.

14. The terms of this Schedule shall be in addition to those contained in the Master Agreement and shall in no way limit the other provisions of the Master Agreement.

IN CASE OF ERRORS OR QUESTIONS ABOUT YOUR ELECTRONIC TRANSFERS FOR CONSUMER ACCOUNTS ONLY

Telephone or write us at the phone number or address located on the front of this statement as soon as you can, if you think your statement or receipt is wrong or if you need more information about a transfer listed on the statement or receipt. We must hear from you no later than 60 days after we sent you the FIRST statement on which the error or problem appeared.

(1) Tell us your name and account number (if any).
(2) Describe the error or the transfer you are unsure about and explain as clearly as you can why you believe there is an error or why you need additional information.
(3) Tell us the dollar amount of the suspected error.

If you tell us verbally, we may require that you send us your complaint or question in writing within 10 business days.

We will determine whether an error occurred within 10 business days after we hear from you and will correct any error promptly. If we need more time, however, we may take up to 45 days to investigate your complaint or question. If we decide to do this, we will credit your account within 10 business days for the amount you think is in error, so that you will have the use of the money during the time it takes us to complete our investigation. If we ask you to put your complaint or question in writing and we do not receive it within 10 business days, we may not credit your account.

For errors involving new accounts, point-of-sale, or foreign initiated transactions, we may take up to 90 days to investigate your complaint or question. For new accounts, we may take up to 20 business days to credit your account for the amount you think is in error.

We will tell you the results within three business days after completing our investigation. If we decide that there was no error, we will send you a written explanation. You may ask for copies of the documents that we used in our investigation.

YOUR LINE OF CREDIT ACCOUNTS SUMMARY OF RIGHTS IS OUTLINED BELOW.

This is a summary of your rights; a full statement of your rights and our responsibilities under the Federal Fair Credit Billing Act will be sent to you both upon request and in response to a billing error notice. The following information applies only to loans made to you under your Loan Account line of credit.

IN CASE OF ERRORS OR QUESTIONS ABOUT YOUR LINE OF CREDIT ACCOUNTS

If you think your bill is wrong, or if you need more information about a transaction on your bill, write us on a separate sheet at the address located on the front of this bill as soon as possible. We must hear from you no later than 60 days after we sent you the first bill on which the error or problem appeared. You can telephone us but doing so will not preserve your rights. In your letter, give us the following information:

(1) Your name and account number.
(2) The dollar amount of the suspected error.
(3) Describe the error and explain, if you can, why you believe there is an error. If you need more information, describe the item you are unsure about.

You do not have to pay any portion of the disputed amount while we are investigating, but you are still obligated to pay the parts of your bill that are not in question. While we investigate your dispute, we cannot report you as delinquent or take any action to collect the disputed amount.

We figure a portion of the FINANCE CHARGE on your Loan Account by applying the appropriate "Daily Periodic Rate" to the appropriate portions of the "Principal" balances. We take the beginning "Principal" balance of your account each day, add any new (purchases, advances, loans) and subtract the "principal" portion of the payments or credits. This gives us the new "principal". We then apply the applicable daily periodic rate to the "principal" times the number of "days" at the new "Principal". This gives us the "Accrued Finance Charge" for each period of days in the billing cycle. To arrive at the "Finance Charge" for the billing cycle, we add all of the "Accrued Finance Charge"(s) together for the billing cycle.

The minimum periodic payment required is shown on the front of this bill. You may pay off your Credit Line Account loan balance at any time or make voluntary additional payments. Payments shall be applied, first to any unpaid FINANCE CHARGES, and second to the principal loan balance outstanding in your Credit Line Account. Periodic statements may be sent to you at the end of each billing cycle showing your Credit Line Account loan transactions.

Send payments and inquiries to address shown on front of bill.

NOTE: Payments received after close of business shall be deemed received on the following business day for purposes of crediting your account.

Check 21 Notification

If you request the return of your original checks, you may receive a "Substitute Check" in response. The Substitute Check is the legal equivalent of an original check and you have rights that apply when you believe, in good faith, that a Substitute Check was not properly charged to your account. Contact your branch or call the number on the front of this statement to request a Check 21 disclosure.

Multi-Million-Dollar FDIC-Insurance

WHAT ARE ICS AND CDARS?

ICS, the IntraFi Cash Service℠, and CDARS are smart, convenient ways to safeguard your large deposits.

With ICS, your funds are placed into demand deposit accounts, money market deposit accounts, or both. With CDARS, funds are placed into CDs.

With the ICS and CDARS services, you can

- Enjoy peace of mind knowing your funds are eligible for multi-million-dollar FDIC insurance
- Earn interest
- Save time by working directly with our bank
- Enjoy flexibility
- Know the amount of your deposit can be used to invest in your local community

Deposit placement through CDARS or ICS is subject to the terms, conditions, and disclosures in applicable agreements. Although deposits are placed in increments that do not exceed the FDIC standard maximum deposit insurance amount ("SMDIA") at any one destination bank, a depositor's balances at the institution that places deposits may exceed the SMDIA (e.g., before settlement for deposits or after settlement for withdrawals) or be uninsured (if the placing institution is not an insured bank). The depositor must make any necessary arrangements to protect such balances consistent with applicable law and must determine whether placement through CDARS or ICS satisfies any restrictions on its deposits. A list identifying IntraFi network banks appears at https://www.intrafi.com/network-banks. The depositor may exclude banks from eligibility to receive its funds.
IntraFi, CDARS, One Bank One Rate One Statement are registered trademarks, and the IntraFi logo and IntraFi hexagon are service marks, of IntraFi Network LLC.

WHY ICS AND CDARS?

Enjoy Peace of Mind

Make funds eligible for protection beyond $250,000 that is backed by the full faith and credit of the federal government. No one has ever lost a penny of FDIC-insured deposits.

Save Time

Work directly with us—a bank you know and trust—to access multi-million-dollar FDIC insurance, and say 'goodbye' to tracking collateral on an ongoing basis, managing multiple bank relationships, manually consolidating bank statements, and other time-consuming workarounds.

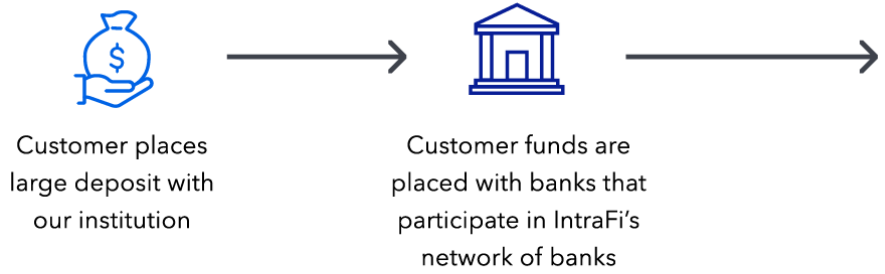
WHY ICS AND CDARS?

Enjoy Flexibility

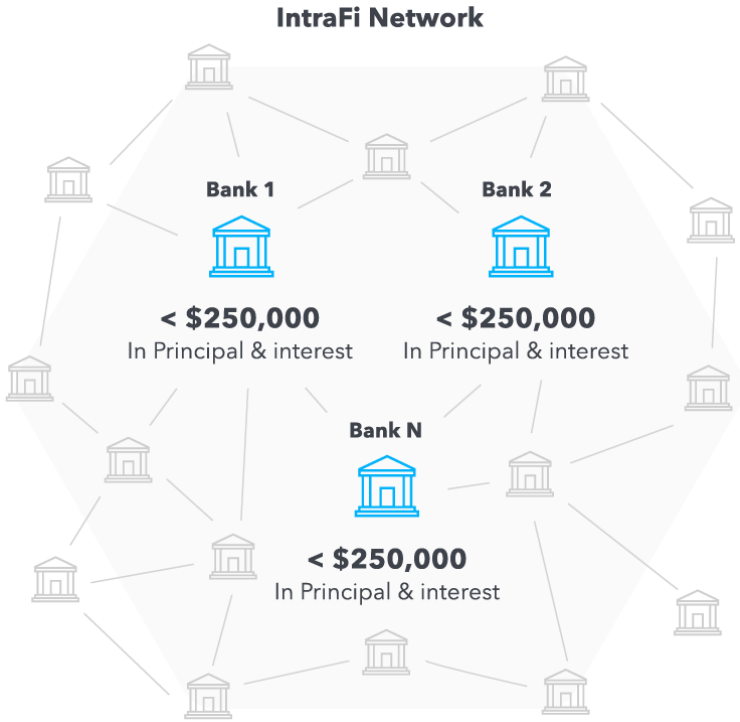
ICS offers daily access to funds and CDARS offers multiple maturities, including 4 weeks, 13 weeks, 26 weeks, 1 year, 2 years, and 3 years.

Earn Interest

Earn one interest rate per service option or CD maturity.



Support Your Community



Feel good knowing that the full amount of your funds placed through ICS and/or CDARS can stay local to support lending opportunities that build a stronger community.[1] [1] When deposited funds are exchanged on a dollar-for-dollar basis with other institutions that use ICS and/or CDARS, our bank can use the full amount of a deposit placed through ICS and/or CDARS for local lending, satisfying some depositors' local investment goals or mandates. Alternatively, with a depositor's consent, our bank may choose to receive fee income instead of deposits from other participating institutions. Under these circumstances, deposited funds would not be available for local lending.

HOW DO ICS AND CDARS WORK?

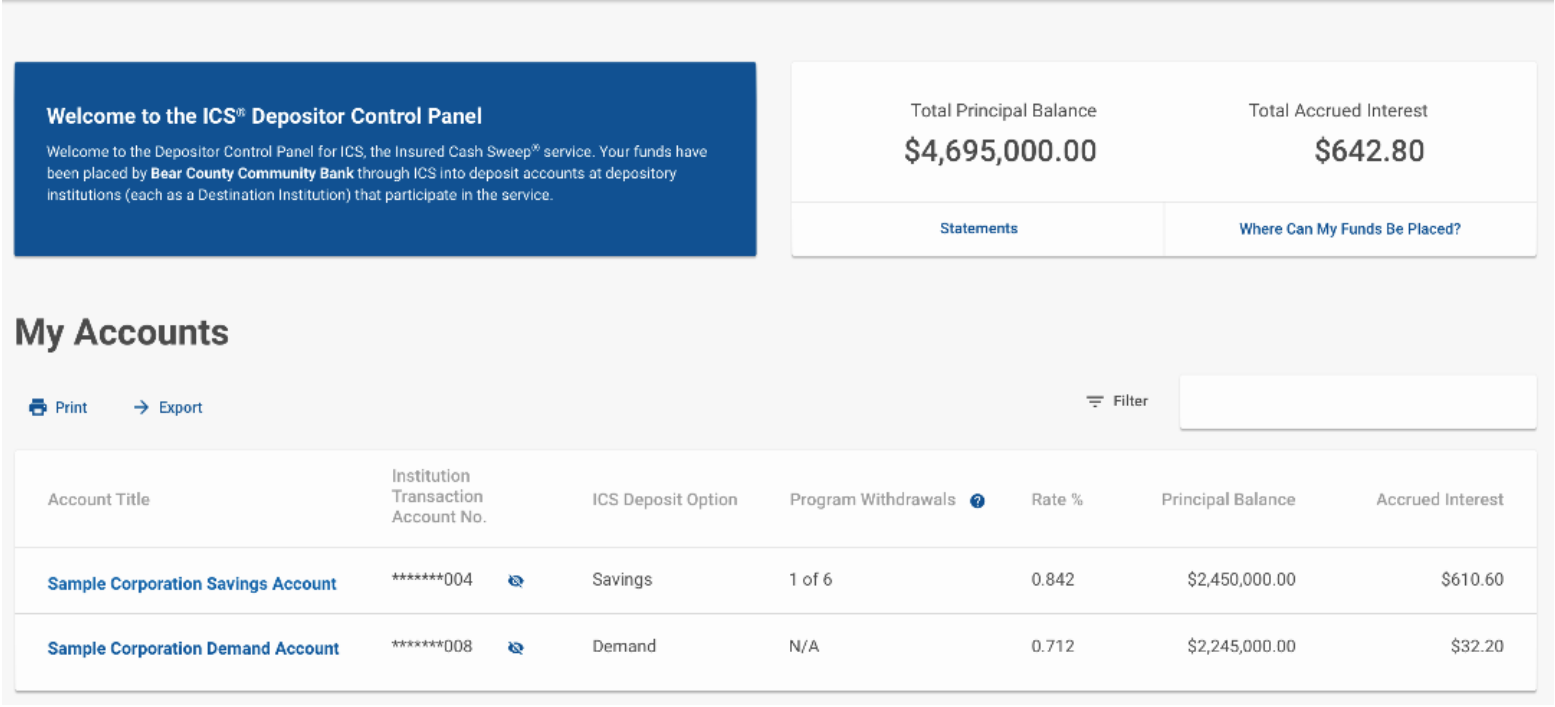
Through just one bank relationship, you can access coverage from many.

Institutions, like ours, that offer ICS and CDARS are members of the IntraFi network. When we place your funds through the ICS or CDARS service, that deposit is divided into amounts under the standard FDIC insurance maximum of $250,000. The funds are then placed in demand deposit accounts or money market deposit accounts (using ICS), or in CDs (using CDARS) at multiple banks. As a result, you can access coverage from many institutions while working directly with just one. You receive one regular statement from our bank for each service in which you participate, and, as always, your confidential information is protected.

FOLLOW THESE STRAIGHTFORWARD STEPS

ICS

1. You sign an ICS Deposit Placement Agreement and a custodial agreement with us.
2. You identify an existing transaction account (or set up a new one) to be used with ICS.
3. Your funds are placed into deposit accounts at other IntraFi network banks.[2]
4. You can check balances and see where your funds are at all times using an online tool specially developed for ICS.
5. You receive one monthly statement from us summarizing your account activity and balances across institutions.



CDARS

1. You sign a CDARS Deposit Placement Agreement and a custodial agreement, and then invest money with us.
2. Your funds are placed using the CDARS service.[2]
3. Your CDs are issued by other IntraFi network banks.
4. You receive confirmation of your CDs from our bank.
5. You receive interest payments and statements from us.

[2] Funds are placed into demand deposit accounts, money market deposit accounts, or both, when using ICS and into CDs using CDARS.

UTILIZE CONVENIENT, ONLINE TOOLS

Using the Depositor Control Panel, you can check your ICS balances, view where your funds could be placed, review and manage daily proposed fund placements, track monthly program withdrawals (for placements in money market deposit accounts) and view your transaction history.

IntraFi | ICS® & CDARS®

Safe, simple cash management for government finance officers

Working directly with just our bank, government depositors can access millions in aggregate FDIC insurance across IntraFi's network of banks through a single bank relationship. Earn returns that may compare favorably with other government-backed options.

Note: A list identifying IntraFi® network banks can be found at www.IntraFi.com/network-banks. Certain conditions must be satisfied for "pass-through" FDIC deposit insurance coverage to apply.

Rest Assured

Know that your funds are eligible for millions in aggregate FDIC insurance protection across network banks that's backed by the full faith and credit of the federal government. And ICS and CDARS are not subject to floating net asset values, so you can feel secure knowing that market volatility will not negatively affect your principal.

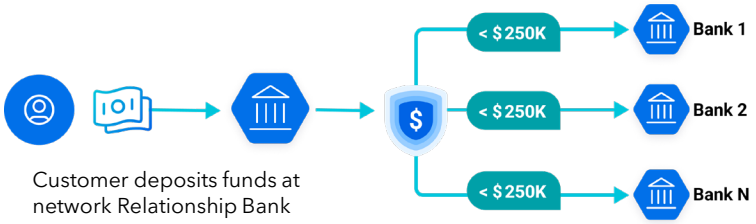
Earn Interest

Put your funds to work. Interest rates may compare favorably to Treasuries.

Enjoy Flexible Liquidity Options

With ICS, maintain access to your funds placed in demand deposit accounts or money market demand accounts. With CDARS, select from multiple term options to help you meet your liquidity needs.

Time Savings and Transparent Reporting



Forego the need to manage multiple bank relationships. See account balances and accrued interest, 24/7, with an online dashboard. Receive regular statements provided by our bank.

Support Your Community

Feel good knowing that the full amount of your funds placed through ICS and CDARS can stay local to support lending opportunities that build a stronger community.[1]

How Do ICS and CDARS Work?

We are members of IntraFi's network of banks. When we place your deposit through ICS and CDARS, that deposit is divided into amounts under the standard FDIC insurance maximum of $250,000. The amounts are then placed into deposit accounts at multiple, FDIC-insured banks. As a result, you can access FDIC coverage from many institutions while working directly just with us. As always, your confidential information is protected.

City of Fernandina Beach PrimeSouth Bank Realtionship Team

Josh Mattox - Market President

I've been in the banking industry for 25+ years and throughout my career I've worked in both retail and commercial banking. Majority of my career which includes the last 20 years I've focused on commercial opportunities which included municipality. Atlantic Beach and Jacksonville Beach Fl. were the larger government entities I banked. Daily I met with clients and reviewed financials and business analysis bank statements to offer solutions to create efficiency and cost savings. I've managed commercial relationships more than $100MM in revenue all the way to a small bookstore doing less than $500K. I graduated from Valdosta State University with a degree in Finance and continued my education by graduating from Banking School at Wake Forest University.

Lisa Sanborn - Branch Manager

Lisa is a veteran banking professional with 25 years of experience in the financial services industry, specializing in retail, business, and personal banking. A lifelong resident of Fernandina Beach, she has dedicated her career to fostering deep-rooted community relationships throughout Nassau County. Including managing the banking needs for the City of Fernandina Beach and Nassau County

Adam York - Director of Treasury Sales, SVP, CTM

Adam has over 15 years banking experience with 8 years being in Treasury Services. During his time in treasury he has worked with multiple municipalities and government entities including ones in Flagler County, St Johns County, Brantley County Georgia, and Wayne County Georgia.

Right to Financial Privacy Act

Date of Board Approval: 5/14/25

Policy Statement

The Board of Directors, Senior Management, and employees of PrimeSouth Bank are fully committed to comply with all applicable provisions of Title XI of the Financial Institutions Regulatory and Interest Rate Control Act of 1978 relative to the Right To Financial Privacy Act (RFPA). In compliance with the rules and orders of RFPA, the Board of Directors, in conjunction with Senior Management, has authorized and approved the development of this policy which describes our institution's accountability with regard to its compliance with the RFPA. Further, this policy will be regularly updated whenever additional guidance is issued by the applicable Federal agencies, and standard operating procedures have been developed to ensure ongoing compliance.

Operating Procedures

Refer to Appendix A to this policy for the Bank's detailed operating procedures to ensure compliance with the RFPA.

Background

The Right to Financial Privacy Act of 1978 was enacted to establish specific procedures that government authorities must follow when requesting a customer's financial records from a bank or other financial institution. Further, it imposes duties and limitations on financial institutions prior to the release of information sought by government agencies. The RFPA generally requires that customers receive

- A written notice of the federal authority's intent to obtain financial records
- An explanation of the purpose for which the records are sought
- A statement describing procedures to follow if the customer does not wish such records or information to be made available

Certain exceptions allow for delayed notice or no customer notice at all. Prior to passage of the act, bank customers were not informed that their personal financial records were being turned over to a government authority and could not challenge government access to the records. In United States v. Miller, the Supreme Court held that because financial records are maintained by a financial institution, the records belong to the institution rather than the customer; therefore, the customer has no protectable legal interest in the bank's records and cannot limit government access to those records. It was principally in response to this decision that the RFPA was enacted.

REQUIREMENTS OF RFPA

Confidentiality of Records (Government Authorities)

- With certain exceptions, a Government authority may not obtain certain information from a customer of a financial institution unless:
  - The desired records are reasonably described
  - The customer has been notified and has authorized the disclosure
  - The financial records are disclosed in response to administrative subpoena or summons that meets certain requirements
  - The financial records are disclosed in response to a search warrant that meets certain requirements
  - The financial records are disclosed in response to a judicial subpoena which meets certain requirements
  - The financial records are disclosed in response to a formal written request which meets certain specific requirements

Delayed Notice Requirements

Under certain circumstances, a government entity may request a court order delaying the customer notice for up to 90 days. This delay may be granted if the court finds that earlier notice would result in endangering the life or physical safety of any person, flight from prosecution, destruction of or tampering with evidence or intimidation of potential witnesses or would otherwise seriously jeopardize or unduly delay an investigation or official proceeding. A delayed notice of up to 90 days is also allowed for search warrants.

Confidentiality of Records (Financial Institutions)

- A financial institution may not release a customer's financial records until the government authority seeking the records certifies in writing that it has complied with the provisions of the RFPA.

- A financial institution or anyone affiliated with the institution may notify a Government authority that information is available with respect to a violation of a statute or regulation. In the event of this occurrence, the institution or individual should refer to RFPA for additional information.

- A financial institution shall not be prevented from providing copies of financial records to a court or Government authority because of perfecting a security interest, proving a bankruptcy claim, or collecting an applicable debt.

- The financial institution must maintain a record of all instances in which a customer's records are disclosed to a government authority as a result of a customer's authorization. The records must contain the following information:
  - The date
  - The name of the government authority
  - An identification of the records disclosed

The customer has a right to inspect the records in most instances.

Customer Definition

A customer is defined by the RFPA as any person or representative of that person who has used or is using any service of a bank or other financial institution, including a person for whom the institution has acted or is acting as a fiduciary in relation to an account maintained in the person's name. A person is defined as an individual or partnership of five or fewer individuals. Restrictions in the RFPA do not apply to the financial records of corporations or partnerships with six or more partners.

Customer Authorizations

- The customer may authorize disclosure if a signed and dated statement is furnished to the financial institution and the government authority and the following conditions are met:

  - The period of the disclosure does not exceed three months
  - The disclosure states that the customer may revoke the authorization any time before the records are disclosed
  - The authorization identifies the financial records to be disclosed
  - The authorization specifies the purposes for the disclosure
  - The authorization specifies the Government authority to which the disclosure is to be made
  - The authorization states the customer's rights under the RFPA

In addition, the authorization shall not be required as a condition of doing business with any financial institution.

Duty of Financial Institutions

A financial institution must begin assembling the required information upon receipt of the agency's summons or subpoena or a judicial subpoena and must be prepared to deliver the records upon receipt of the written certificate of compliance.

Exceptions to Notice and Certification Requirements

In general, exceptions to the notice and certification requirements cover situations pertinent to routine banking business, information requested by supervisory agencies, and requests subject to other statutory requirements.

- Specific exceptions include records
  - Submitted by financial institutions to any court or agency when perfecting a security interest, proving a claim in bankruptcy, or collecting a debt for itself or a fiduciary
  - Requested by a supervisory agency in connection with its supervisory, regulatory, or monetary functions, including regular examinations and any investigations relating to consumer complaints
  - Sought in accordance with procedures authorized by the Internal Revenue Code (records that are intended to be accessed by procedures authorized by the Tax Reform Act of 1976)
  - Required to be reported in accordance with any federal statute or rule promulgated thereunder, such as the Bank Secrecy Act
  - Requested by the Government Accountability Office for an authorized proceeding, investigation, examination, or audit directed at a federal agency
  - Subject to a subpoena issued in conjunction with proceedings before a grand jury, with the exception of cost reimbursement and the restricted use of grand jury information
  - Requested by a government authority subject to a lawsuit involving the bank customer; the records may be obtained under the Federal Rules of Civil and Criminal Procedure

- The act also allows financial institutions to
  - Release records that are not individually identifiable with a particular customer
  - Notify law enforcement officials if it has information relevant to a violation of the law

Exceptions to Notice Requirements But Not to Certification Requirements

In certain cases, the Act does not require the customer to be notified of the request but still requires the federal agency requesting the information to certify in writing that it has complied with all applicable provisions of the act.

- Exceptions to the notice provisions include
  - Instances in which a financial institution, rather than a customer, is being investigated
  - Requests for records incidental to the processing of a government loan, loan guaranty, loan insurance agreement, or default on a government-guaranteed or government-insured loan. In this case, the federal agency must give the loan applicant a notice of the government's rights to access financial records when the customer initially applies for the loan. The financial institution is then required to keep a record of all disclosures made to government authorities, and the customer is entitled to inspect this record

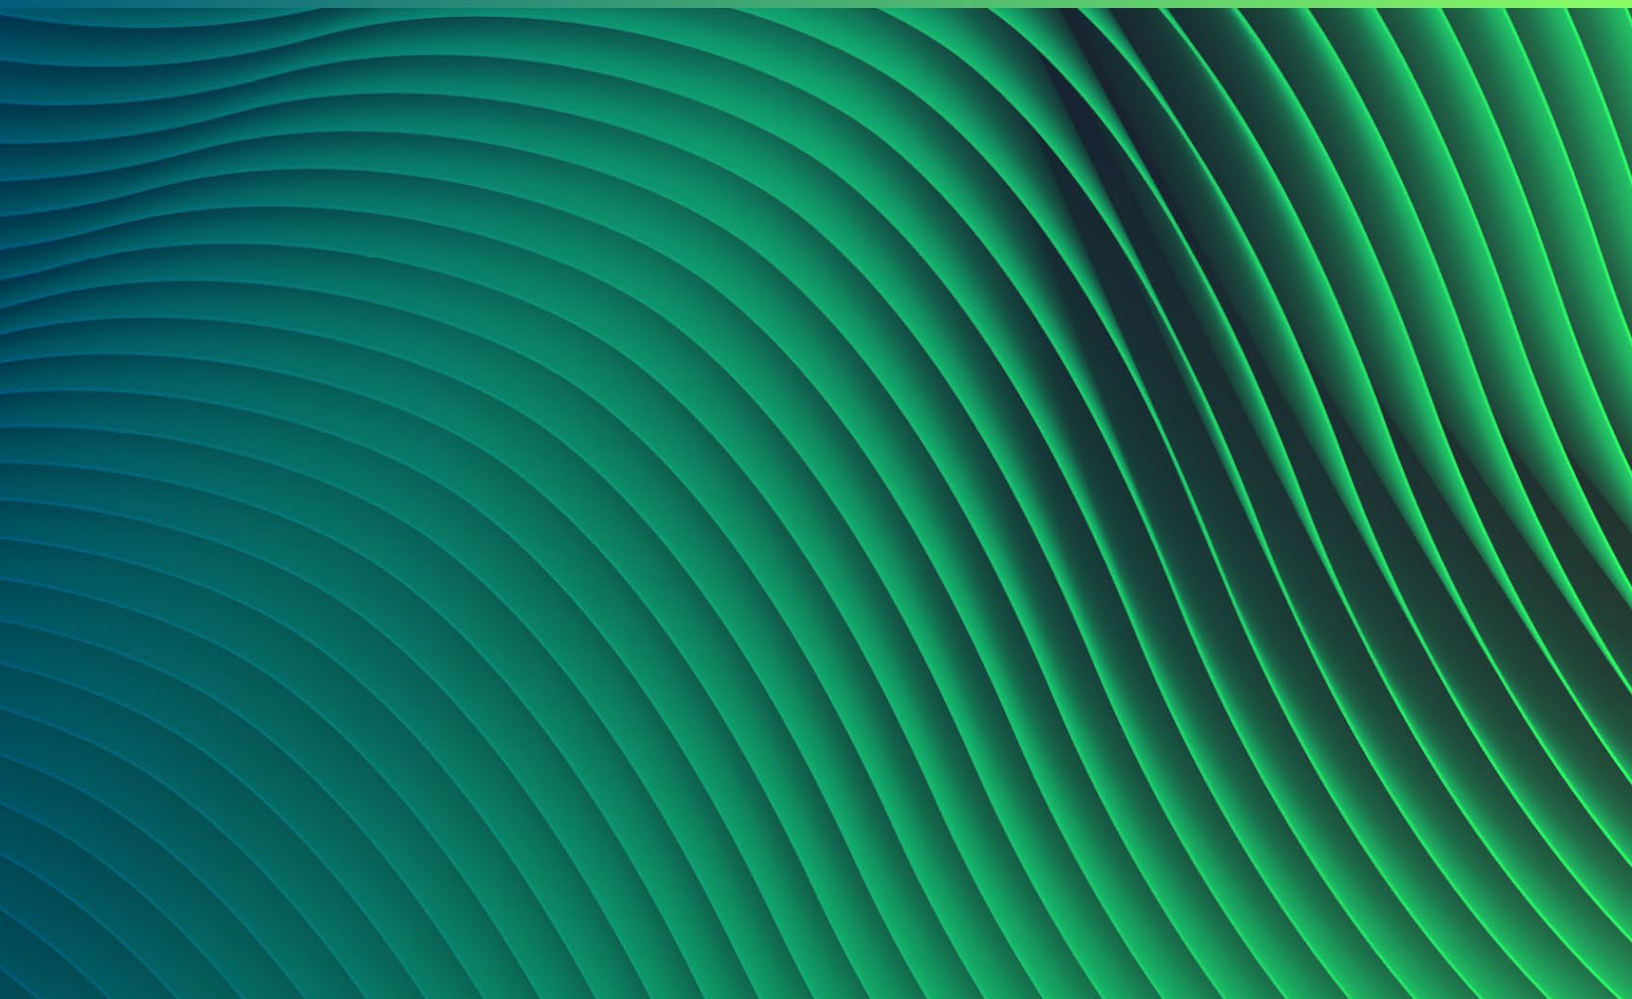
- Instances in which the government is engaging in authorized foreign intelligence activities or the Secret Service is carrying out its protective functions

Although the Securities and Exchange Commission is covered by the act, it can obtain customer records from an institution without prior notice to the customer by obtaining an order from a U.S. district court. The agency must, however, provide the certificate of compliance to the institution along with the court order prohibiting disclosure of the fact that the documents have been obtained. The court order will set a delay-of-notification date, after which the customer will be notified by the institution that the SEC has obtained his or her records.

Cost Reimbursement

With certain exceptions, government entities must reimburse financial institutions for the cost of providing the information. This reimbursement may include costs for assembling or providing records, reproduction and transportation costs, or any other costs reasonably necessary or incurred in gathering and delivering the requested information. The Federal Reserve Board's Regulation S establishes rates and the conditions under which these payments may be made.

Civil Liability



A customer may collect civil penalties from the financial institution or employee of the financial institution who discloses information in violation of the act. However, a financial institution may not be held liable to a customer for the disclosure of financial records if the institution relies in good faith on a federal agency's certification.

Record Retention

Although RFPA details no specific record-retention requirements, financial institutions should retain copies of all administrative and judicial subpoenas, search warrants, and formal written requests given to them by federal government agencies or departments along with the written certification required. A civil liabilities action may be brought up to three years after the date of the violation or the date the violation was discovered.

ACCOUNTS

About Accounts

Company users can search for and view activity for deposit accounts. Search results can be downloaded.

Company users can search for transactions by account, date range, transaction type, amount (or amount range), and check serial number (or check range). If available, company users can view images of paid checks.

Search results include a running balance which company users can modify to include the next instance of a recurring transfer, scheduled bill payments, and loan payments (if applicable). Up to three different types of account balances could appear in the search results depending on what is defined by the financial institution. For instance, search results could include an account's available balance and calculated balance.

Account activity can also be accessed quickly through the Welcome page. When accessed through the Welcome page a default view of 30 days of activity (including current day) and all transaction details is provided.

Current-day Internal Transfers

When account activity search results are generated to the screen (HTML) company users are provided with a link they can use to make a current-day internal transfer. This option is available to company users who have accounts entitled to the Internal Transfer service. If multiple approvals are not required for the Internal Transfer service, then the transfer is immediately included in the account activity. If multiple approvals are required for the Internal Transfer service, the transaction is included in the account activity after the final approval is received.

DEPOSIT ACCOUNT REPORTING

About Deposit Account Reporting

Deposit Account Reporting provides company users with multiple ways by which to search for and view account activity and balances. Search results can be downloaded.

Company users can search for transactions by multiple accounts, date range, transaction type, amount (or amount range), and check serial number (or check range). If available, company users can view images of paid checks.

Deposit account activity can also be accessed quickly through the Welcome page. When accessed through the Welcome page a default view that includes the previous and current day's transactions with all transaction details is provided.

Activity search results include a running balance which company users can modify to include the next instance of a recurring transfer, scheduled bill payments, and loan payments (if applicable). Transactions that have not posted can be manually added for better forecasting of account balances. If enabled, company users can save searches they perform regularly and set up the system to run the searches automatically and send the results through FTP.

Current-day Internal Transfers

When account activity search results are generated to the screen (HTML) company users are provided with a link they can use to make a current-day internal transfer. This option is available to company users who have accounts entitled to the Internal Transfer service. File Export

About Custom File Export Formats

Deposit account activity can be exported from Digital One Business using custom delimited or fixed file export definitions which outline the format for the data.

A delimited file is a flat text file consisting of data items separated by a specific character. A fixed file is a text file consisting of data that have specific lengths and positions.

File export definitions are not user ID specific. When a user in a company creates a file export definition it is available to all other users in that company.

DEPOSIT REPORTING

About Deposit Reporting

Deposit Reporting provides company users with ways by which to search for and view account activity and balances. Search results can be downloaded.

Company users can search for transactions by multiple accounts, date range, transaction type, amount (or amount range), and check serial number (or check range). If available, company users can view images of paid checks.

Account activity can also be accessed quickly through the Welcome page. When accessed through the Welcome page a default view of 14 days of activity (including current day) and all transaction details is provided.

Current-day Internal Transfers

When account activity search results are generated to the screen (HTML) company users are provided with a link they can use to make a current-day internal transfer. This option is available to company users who have accounts entitled to the Internal Transfer service. If multiple approvals are not required for the Internal Transfer service, then the transfer is immediately included in the account activity. If multiple approvals are required for the Internal Transfer service, the transaction is included in the account activity after the final approval is received.

RETURNED CHECKS

About Returned Checks

The Returned Checks (also called Returned Deposited Items or Imaging Returns) service gives company users immediate access to images of checks that have been deposited and returned for accounts that are entitled to the Information Reporting service. A returned check is typically a check that was deposited by a company user but returned them after the check failed to clear the bank on which it was drawn. For example, a check is returned for insufficient funds.

Company users can be notified automatically when images of returned checks are available by subscribing to the Returned Deposited Item alert.

Search for Returned Checks

Up to three months of images can be retrieved in a search.

1. Click Reports > Returned Checks.
   If available, images available for the current day are presented.
2. Click the Modify Search link.
3. Complete the following fields:

Output To	Defaults to Screen (HTML), which is the only option currently available.
View	Defaults to All accounts. Filter account list by type.
Accounts	A list of accounts that are entitled to the Information Reporting service.

ACH REPORTING

About ACH Reporting

ACH Reporting allows company users to view returned ACH transactions and Notice of Change (NOC) information in Digital One Business and update their records so future ACH transactions contain correct information. Notices of Change are linked to the ACH templates they affect (when applicable) so company users can apply the changes quickly.

The Manage Alerts page includes two optional alerts to which company users can subscribe to be notified of Notices of Change and returns automatically.

Notices of Change

About Notices of Change

A Notice of Change is a notice sent from a Receiving Depository Financial Organization (RDFI) to an Originating Depository Financial Organization (ODFI) that informs the ODFI that there is a detail record in an ACH transaction with inaccurate/out-of-date information.

A Notice of Change could be sent for a number of reasons:

- ABA of the bank needs to be updated.
- The account number of the recipient needs to be updated.
- The name of the recipient needs to be updated.
- The account type indicated in the transaction is of the wrong type (checking/savings).
- The individual identification number for the recipient needs to be updated.
- An addenda record was formatted incorrectly or unclear.
- An incorrect SEC code was used for the Outbound International Payment (specific to International ACH Transactions).

A Notice of Change could originate from a one-time or template-based ACH transaction or from a transaction included in an ACH file that has been uploaded to the system.

CONFIDENTIAL AND PROPRIETARY - This document contains confidential information and copyrighted subject matter and is provided solely for the use of the intended recipient. Any unauthorized distribution, reproduction, use or review of this document is strictly prohibited.

©2026 FIS and/or its subsidiaries. All Rights Reserved.

Note: Template changes are not subject to a prenote delay (if assigned) only if they are made through the Notices of Change page.

If a template has both a Notice of Change and pending changes submitted by a company user, the Notice of Change cannot be applied until the pending template changes have received all required approvals or the changes are canceled.

Company users might be prevented by their financial organization from using or modifying an ACH template until the associated Notices of Change are applied.

In these instances, templates appear with an alert icon (⚠) in place of the radio button so they cannot be selected to initiate a transaction.

Pending ACH Transactions

If a template is used to initiate a transaction and then a Notice of Change is received for it, the alert icon appears next to the pending transaction to indicate that it cannot be approved/transmitted.

The alert icon (⚠) remains next to the pending transaction even after the Notice of Change is applied to the template because changes to a template are not applied to pending transactions. In this situation company users can only delete the pending transaction and then recreate it.

Scheduled ACH Transactions

If a template is used to schedule transactions and then a Notice of Change is received for it, fully approved transactions have their last approval removed and are moved to the Approve ACH Transactions page upon their send-on dates. Company users can delete the transactions through the Approve ACH Transactions page.

If a Notice of Change is applied to a template before the schedule is transmitted, the changes are applied to the next scheduled transaction and all previously applied approvals are removed.

Search for Notices of Change

1. Click Reports > ACH > Notices of Change. Notices of change received in the last seven days are provided on the Notices of Change page by default.
2. Click the Modify Search link.

5. Click Generate Report.

   When Screen (HTML) is selected as the Output To option, the correct values appear in bold green font. Templates that can be updated appear as hyperlinks; the chevron icon (>) can be used to view additional information. Templates that have pending changes appear as read-only and cannot be updated until the pending changes are either approved or canceled. User entitlements determine the templates displayed.

6. If applicable, apply changes to a template by clicking the link in the Templates Impacted column.

Returned ACH Transactions

About Returned ACH Transactions

A returned ACH transaction (or return for short) is an ACH transaction that is received by an RDFI and sent back to the ODFI. A returned ACH transaction contains the reason why it was returned.

View Returned ACH Transactions for the Current Date

1. Click Reports > ACH > Returned ACH Transactions.

By default, the Returned ACH Transactions page appears in the screen (HTML) format and includes returns for the current date for all ACH company IDs.

Note: The company user's ACH service and account entitlements determine the ACH Company IDs that are shown.

STATEMENTS AND DOCUMENTS

About Statements and Documents

Statements and Documents allows company users to view statements and other documents, such as notices, for analysis, checking, credit card, loan, and savings accounts.

When a company is set up with the Statements & Documents service the company's Administrator is responsible for setting up accounts for online delivery of statements and documents. Company administrators are also responsible for reviewing and accepting service agreements/disclosures relative to statements and documents.

Note: Individually billed credit cards are supported. Statements for corporate credit cards billed to a centralized account are not supported.

The Manage Alerts page includes alerts to which company users can subscribe to be notified automatically when statements and documents are available.

Set up Online Viewing for Statements/Documents

Company administrators are responsible for setting up accounts for online delivery of statements and documents.

1. Click Reports > Statements and Documents.
2. Click the View and maintain document preferences link.
3. Click the Delivery Preference drop-down beside an account and then select one of the following: Online, Online & Paper, Delivery Preference. Online should be used for combined online statements for the primary account.

   Online & Paper enrolls the account for online statement/document delivery and continues the delivery of the paper statement.
4. Click Continue.
5. If applicable, review the service agreement and click I agree to accept it.
6. Click Save Preferences.

Categories

About Credit Card Categories

Categories help company users classify their credit card transactions and better manage activity.

All credit card transactions are assigned to default categories. Company users can create custom categories and assign transactions to them. If a category is changed for a transaction made to a particular merchant, it is not automatically applied to future transactions made to that merchant.

When a company user adds or modifies a category it is only applicable to their company.

Independent Auditor's Report

To the Board of Directors and Shareholders
PrimeSouth Bancshares, Inc. and Subsidiaries
Waycross, Georgia

Opinions on the Financial Statements and Internal Control Over Financial Reporting

We have audited the accompanying consolidated financial statements (the ''financial statements'') of PrimeSouth Bancshares, Inc. and Subsidiaries (the "Company"), which comprise the balance sheets as of December 31, 2023 and 2022, and the related statements of income, comprehensive income, changes in shareholders' equity, and cash flows for the years then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements.

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of PrimeSouth Bancshares, Inc. and Subsidiaries as of December 31, 2023 and 2022, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (''GAAP'').

We also have audited the Company's internal control over financial reporting, including controls over the preparation of regulatory financial statements in accordance with instructions to the Federal Financial Institutions Examination Council Consolidated Reports of Condition and Income ("Call Report"), as of December 31, 2023, based on criteria established in Internal Control—Integrated Framework issued by the Committee of Sponsoring Organizations of the Treadway Commission ("COSO") in 2013. In our opinion, the Company maintained, in all material respects, effective internal control over financial reporting as of December 31, 2023, based on criteria established in Internal Control—Integrated Framework issued by COSO in 2013.

Basis for Opinions

We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America ("GAAS"). Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements and Internal Control Over Financial Reporting section of our report. We are required to be independent of the Company and to meet our other ethical responsibilities, in accordance with the relevant ethical requirements relating to our audits. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinions.

Responsibilities of Management for the Financial Statements and Internal Control Over Financial Reporting

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with GAAP, and for the design, implementation, and maintenance of effective internal control over financial reporting relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error. Management is also responsible for its assessment about the effectiveness of internal control over financial reporting, included in the accompanying Management Report.

In preparing the financial statements, management is required to evaluate whether there are conditions or events, considered in the aggregate, that raise substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern for one year after the date the financial statements are available to be issued.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audits of the Financial Statements and Internal Control Over Financial Reporting

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and about whether effective internal control over financial reporting was maintained in all material respects, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinions. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance but is not absolute assurance and therefore is not a guarantee that an audit of financial statements or an audit of internal control over financial reporting conducted in accordance with GAAS will always detect a material misstatement or a material weakness when it exists. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control. Misstatements are considered material if there is a substantial likelihood that, individually or in the aggregate, they would influence the judgment made by a reasonable user based on the financial statements.

In performing an audit of financial statements or an audit of internal control over financial reporting in accordance with GAAS, we:

- Exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audits.
- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, and design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks. Such procedures include examining, on a test basis, evidence regarding the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the financial statement audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control over financial reporting relevant to the audit of internal control over financial reporting, assess the risks that a material weakness exists, and test and evaluate the design and operating effectiveness of internal control over financial reporting based on the assessed risk.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluate the overall presentation of the financial statements.
- Conclude whether, in our judgment, there are conditions or events, considered in the aggregate, that raise substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period of time.

We are required to communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit, significant audit findings, and certain internal control–related matters that we identified during the financial statement audit.

Definition and Inherent Limitations of Internal Control over Financial Reporting

An entity's internal control over financial reporting is a process effected by those charged with governance, management, and other personnel, designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the preparation of reliable financial statements in accordance with GAAP. Because management's assessment and our audit were conducted to meet the reporting requirements of Section 112 of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation Improvement Act ("FDICIA"), our audit of the Company's internal control over financial reporting included controls over the preparation of financial statements in accordance with GAAP and with Call Report instructions.

An entity's internal control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that (1) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the entity; (2) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with GAAP, and that receipts and expenditures of the entity are being made only in accordance with authorizations of management and those charged with governance; and (3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection and correction of unauthorized acquisition, use, or disposition of the entity's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Because of its inherent limitations, internal control over financial reporting may not prevent or detect and correct misstatements. Also, projections of any evaluation of effectiveness to future periods are subject to the risk that controls may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

A. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

1. Principles of Consolidation – The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of PrimeSouth Bancshares, Inc. (the "Company") and its wholly owned subsidiaries, PrimeSouth Bank (the "Bank") and PrimeSouth Insurance (the "Insurance Company"). All significant intercompany balances and transactions have been eliminated in consolidation.

2. Reporting Entity - The Company was formed in February 1990 as Blackshear Bancshares, Inc. and operates as a bank holding company with one bank Subsidiaries. In 1997, the Company changed its name to PrimeSouth Bancshares, Inc. The Bank has branch locations in Brunswick, Jesup, St. Simons Island, and Waycross, Georgia, and Fernandina Beach, Florida. The Company provides a variety of financial services to individuals and small businesses through its offices in South Georgia and North Florida. Its primary deposit products are savings and term certificate accounts, and its primary lending products are residential and commercial mortgage loans. In 2017, the Company completed the acquisition of Atlantic National Bank ("Atlantic National"), which closed on September 5, 2017.

3. Cash and Cash Equivalents - For purposes of reporting cash flows, cash and cash equivalents include cash on hand, amounts due from banks, highly liquid debt instruments purchased with an original maturity of three months or less, and federal funds sold. Generally, federal funds are purchased and sold for one-day periods.

4. Debt Securities – The classification of debt securities is determined at the date of purchase. Gains or losses on the sale of securities are recognized on a specific identification basis.

   Securities available for sale, primarily debt securities, are recorded at fair value with unrealized gains or losses (net of tax effect) excluded from earnings and reported as a component of shareholders' equity. Securities available for sale are used as a part of the Company's interest rate risk management strategy and may be sold in response to changes in interest rates, changes in prepayment risk, and other factors.

   The market value of securities is generally based on quoted market prices. If a quoted market price is not available, market value is estimated using quoted market prices for similar securities.

   Amortization of premiums and accretion of discounts are recognized in interest income using the effective interest method. Premiums that exceed the amount repayable by the issuer at the next call date are amortized to the next call date. Other premiums and discounts are amortized (accreted) over the estimated lives of the securities.

   Prior to the Adoption of ASC 326

   Declines in fair value of debt securities that are deemed to be other than temporary, if applicable, are reflected in earnings as realized losses. In estimating other-than-temporary impairment losses, management considers the length of time and the extent to which fair value has been less than cost, the financial condition and near-term prospects of the issuer, and the intent and ability of the to retain its investment in the issuer for a period of time sufficient to allow for any anticipated recovery in fair value.

   Subsequent to Adoption of ASC 326

   Effective January 1, 2023, the Company evaluates individual securities available for sale in an unrealized loss position by first determining whether the decline in fair value below the amortized cost basis of the security has resulted from a credit loss or other factors. A credit loss exists when the present value of cash flows expected to be collected from the security is less than the amortized cost basis of the security. In determining whether a credit loss exists, the Company considers the extent to which the fair value is less than the amortized cost basis, adverse conditions related to the security, the industry, or geographic areas, the payment structure of the debt security, failure of the issuer to make scheduled payments, and any changes to the rating of the security. Impairment related to credit losses is recognized through an allowance for credit losses up to the amount that fair value is less than the amortized cost basis. Changes to the allowance are recognized through earnings as a provision for (or recovery of) credit losses. Impairment related to other factors is recognized in other comprehensive income. See Note B for additional discussion.

A. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES, CONTINUED

If the Company intends to sell, or it is more likely than not the Company will be required to sell the security before recovery of its amortized cost basis, any allowance for credit losses is written off and the amortized cost basis is written down to the security's fair value at the reporting date with any incremental impairment recognized in earnings.

The Company excludes accrued interest receivable from the amortized cost basis of securities available for sale when estimating credit losses and when presenting required disclosures in the financial statements. Accrued interest on securities available for sale totaling approximately $828,000 and $910,000 at December 31, 2023 and 2022, respectively, was excluded from the amortized cost basis of securities available for sale and is included in other assets on the Consolidated Balance Sheet.

5. FHLB Stock – FHLB stock is an investment that does not have a readily determinable fair value and is carried at cost less any impairment. The Company is required to hold FHLB stock as a member of the FHLB and transfer of the stock is substantially restricted. FHLB stock is evaluated for impairment on an annual basis.

6. Loans Held for Sale – Loans originated and intended for sale are carried at the lower of aggregate cost or fair value, as determined by aggregate outstanding commitments from investors. Gains or losses realized on the sales of loans are recognized at the time of sale and are determined by the difference between the net sales proceeds and the carrying value of the loans sold. Gains and losses on sales of the loans are included in mortgage fee income.

7. Loans and Interest Income – Loans that management has the intent and ability to hold for the foreseeable future or until maturity or payoff are stated at the amount of unpaid principal, reduced by net deferred loan fees, unearned discounts and a valuation allowance for possible credit losses. Interest on loans is accrued and credited to income based on the unpaid principal balance. Loans are generally placed on non-accrual status when full payment of principal or interest is in doubt, or when they are past due 90 days as to either principal or interest. Senior management may grant a waiver from non-accrual status if a past due loan is well secured and in process of collection. A non-accrual loan may be restored to accrual status when all principal and interest amounts contractually due, including payments in arrears, are reasonably assured of repayment within a reasonable period, and there is a sustained period of performance by the borrower in accordance with the contractual terms of the loan. When interest accrual is discontinued, all unpaid accrued interest is reversed. Interest income is subsequently recognized only to the extent cash payments are received.

The Company has identified the following pools of financial assets with similar risk characteristics for measuring expected credit losses:

Construction and land – This category of loans consists of loans to finance the ground up construction, improvement and or carrying for sale after the completion of construction of owner occupied and non-owner occupied residential and commercial properties, and loans secured by raw or improved land. The repayment of construction loans is generally dependent upon the successful completion of the improvements by the builder for the end user, or sale of the property to a third party. Repayment of land secured loans are dependent upon the successful development and sale of the property, the sale of the land as is, or the outside cash flow of the owners to support the retirement of the debt. These loans are secured by the underlying land and any improvements made to the land.

Farmland – These loans are principally loans to purchase farmland. These loans are secured by farmland and improvements thereon.

1-4 family residential – This category of loans includes both first and junior liens on residential real estate. Home equity revolving lines of credit and home equity term loans are included in this group of loans. At the time of origination, the Company evaluates the borrower's repayment ability through a review of debt to income and credit scores, or debit service coverage. Appraisals are obtained to support the loan amount. Financial information is obtained from the borrowers and/or the individual project to evaluate cash flows sufficiency to service debt at the time of origination. Residential mortgage loans are susceptible to weakening general economic conditions and increases in unemployment rates and declining real estate values. These loans are secured by the underlying real estate.

Multi-family residential – This category of loans is primarily secured by non-owner-occupied apartment or multi-family buildings. Generally, these types of loans are thought to involve a greater degree of credit risk than owner occupied CRE as they are more sensitive to adverse economic conditions. These loans are secured by the underlying real estate.

Owner-occupied commercial real estate ("OOCRE") – This category of loans includes real estate loans for a variety of commercial property types and purposes. The repayment of real estate loans is generally largely dependent on the successful operation of the property securing the loans or the business conducted on the property securing the loan. Real estate loans may be more adversely affected by conditions in the real estate markets or in the general economy. These loans are generally secured by the underlying real estate.

Non-owner-occupied commercial real estate ("NOOCRE") – This category of loans includes investment real estate loans that are primarily secured by office and industrial buildings, retail shopping centers and various special purpose properties. Generally, these types of loans are thought to involve a greater degree of credit risk than OOCRE as they are more sensitive to adverse economic conditions. These loans are generally secured by the underlying real estate.

Commercial – This category of loans is for commercial, corporate and business purposes, including agriculture. Commercial and industrial loans are primarily for working capital, physical asset expansion, asset acquisition loans and other. These loans are made based primarily on historical and projected cash flow of the borrower and secondarily on the underlying collateral provided by the borrower. The cash flows of borrowers, however, may not behave as forecasted and collateral securing loans may fluctuate in value due to economic or individual performance factors. Financial information is obtained from the borrowers to evaluate cash flows sufficiency to service debt and are periodically updated during the life of the loan. Risks to this loan category include customer or industry concentrations and the inability to monitor the condition of the collateral which often consists of inventory, accounts receivable and other non-real estate assets. Equipment and inventory obsolescence can also pose a risk. Declines in general economic conditions and other events can cause cash flows to fall to levels insufficient to service debt. Agriculture loans consist of loans to finance farming operations and are secured by farm equipment, crops, and other farm-related non-real estate assets. Among the risks that affect agriculture loans are production risks (due to weather, pests, and diseases) as well as market and price risks. The agriculture sector is highly political, and the considerable degree of government interventions also pose a risk. These loans are generally secured by assets other than real estate, i.e. assignment of negotiable stock, deposits, life insurance, commercial vehicles, equipment etc.

Consumer – This category of loans is used for personal use typically for consumer purposes. Consumer loans may take the form of installment loans, demand loans, or single payment loans and are extended to consumers for household, family, and other personal expenditures. At the time of origination, the Company evaluates the borrower's repayment ability through a review of debt to income and credit scores. Risks common to individual loans include regulatory risks, unemployment, and changes in local economic conditions as well as the inability to monitor collateral consisting of personal property. These loans are generally secured by assets other than real estate, i.e. automobiles, boats, trailers etc.

Credit Cards – This category of loans relates to those outstanding balances on credit cards. These loans are unsecured.

A. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES, CONTINUED

8. Allowance for Credit Losses – The allowance for credit losses is available to absorb losses inherent in the credit extension process. The entire allowance is available to absorb losses related to the loan portfolio. Credit exposures deemed to be uncollectible are charged against the allowance for credit losses. Recoveries of previously charged-off amounts are credited to the allowance for credit losses. Additions to the allowance for credit losses are made by charges to the provision for credit losses.

   Subsequent to adoption of ASC 326

   On January 1, 2023, the Company implemented ASU No. 2016-13, Measurement of Credit Losses on Financial Instruments. This standard changed how financial assets measured at amortized cost are presented on our balance sheet. Such assets, which include most loans, are presented at the net amount expected to be collected over their remaining contractual lives. Estimated credit losses are based on relevant information about historical experience, current conditions, and reasonable and supportable forecasts that affect the collectability of the reported amounts. Under the Current Expected Credit Losses ("CECL") model, loans are segregated by loan type and a reserve is calculated accordingly. The Bank utilizes the discounted cash flow methodology for most reserve valuations but also uses remaining life methodology for those loan types that do not fit the discounted cash flow methodology.

   Under the CECL model, loans that do not share similar risk characteristic with loans in their respective pools are individually evaluated for expected credit losses and are excluded from the collectively evaluated loan credit loss estimates. Management individually evaluates substandard loans (those loans with a risk rating of six or higher) over $200,000 and other loans with evidence of credit deterioration. For loans individually evaluated, a specific reserve is estimated based on either the fair value of collateral or the discounted value of expected future cash flows.

   A loan is considered to be collateral dependent when, based upon management's assessment, the borrower is experiencing financial difficulty and repayment is expected to be provided substantially through the operation or sale of the collateral. For collateral dependent loans, expected credit losses are based on the fair value of collateral as of the date of the balance sheet, with consideration for estimated selling costs if satisfaction of the loan depends on the sale of the collateral.

   The following describes the types of collateral that secure collateral dependent loans:

   Commercial or Construction real estate loans are primarily secured by office and industrial buildings, warehouses, retail shopping facilities and various special purpose properties, including hotels and restaurants.

   Residential real estate loans considered collateral dependent are generally secured by first liens on residential real estate or junior liens on residential real estate.

   Commercial loans considered collateral dependent are secured by assets other than real estate, i.e. assignment of negotiable stock, deposits, life insurance, commercial vehicles, equipment etc.

   Consumer loans considered collateral dependent are generally secured by assets other than real estate, i.e. automobiles, boats, trailers etc.

   Management evaluates all collectively evaluated loans, except for credit card loans, using the discounted cash flow methodology. The discounted cash flow methodology uses loan level attributes, such as interest rates and maturity dates, as well as pool level inputs, such as prepayment rates, curtailment rates, probability of default and loss given default rates, to estimate credit losses over the contractual term of each collectively evaluated loan. Expected credit losses are determined by comparing the loan's amortized cost with the expected future principal and interest cash flows. Individual loan level results are aggregated for collectively evaluated loans and are then adjusted for qualitative factors deemed appropriate by management.

Credit card loans are evaluated under the weighted average remaining life methodology. For the consumer segments, a long-term average loss rate is calculated and applied on a quarterly basis for the remaining life of the pool. Adjustments for economic expectations are made in the qualitative portion of the calculation.

Management has elected to utilize the Company's historical loss data with a maximum lookback period for the probability of default and loss given default historical rate calculations required for the discounted cash flow methodology. Probability of default rates are then forecasted over a 24-month period using a regression model based on national unemployment rate, real gross domestic product seasonally adjusted rate, and national home price index forecasts obtained from Federal Open Market Committee ("FOMC"). Management has elected to use a straight-line reversion method for a 12-month period subsequent to the 24-month forecast period for probability of default rates.

The quantitative analysis described above is supplemented with other qualitative factors based on the risks present for each collectively evaluated loan pool. These qualitative factors include: effects of any changes in lending policies and procedures, including changes in underwriting standards and collections, changes in international , national, regional and local conditions, changes in the nature and volume of the portfolio and terms of loans, changes in the experience, depth and ability of lending management, changes in the volume and severity of past due loans and other similar conditions, changes in the quality of the organization's loan review system, changes in the value of underlying collateral for collateral dependent loans, the existence and effect of any concentrations of credit and changes in the levels of such concentrations, and the effect of other external factors (i.e. competition, legal and regulatory requirements) on the level of estimated credit losses.

The Company excludes accrued interest receivable from the amortized cost basis of loans when estimating credit losses and when presenting required disclosures in the financial statements. Accrued interest on loans totaling approximately $5,272,000 and $3,684,000 at December 31, 2023 and 2022, respectively, was excluded from the amortized cost basis of loans and is included in other assets on the Consolidated Balance Sheet.

Unfunded loan commitments are segmented into the same pools used for estimating the allowance for credit losses on loans. Estimated credit losses on unfunded loan commitments are based on the same methodologies, inputs and assumptions used to estimate credit losses on collectively evaluated loans, adjusted for estimated funding probabilities. The estimated funding probabilities represent management's estimate of the amount of the current unfunded loan commitment that will be funded over the remaining contractual life of the commitment and is based on historical data.

The Company may modify loans to borrowers experiencing financial difficulty and grant certain concessions that include principal forgiveness, a term extension, an other-than-insignificant payment delay, an interest rate reduction, or a combination of these concessions. An assessment of whether the borrower is experiencing financial difficulty is made at the time of the loan modification.

Upon the Company's determination that a modified loan (or portion of a loan) has subsequently been deemed uncollectible, the loan (or portion of the loan) is written off. Therefore, the amortized cost basis of the loan is reduced by the uncollectible amount and the allowance for credit losses is adjusted by the same amount.

Prior to Adoption of ASC 326:

The allowance for credit losses represents a reserve for inherent losses in the loan portfolio. The adequacy of the allowance for credit losses is evaluated periodically based on a review of all significant loans, with a particular emphasis on non-accruing, past due and other loans that management believes might be potentially impaired or warrant additional attention. The Company segregates the loan portfolio by type of loan and utilizes this segregation in evaluating exposure to risks within the portfolio. In addition, based on internal reviews and external reviews performed by independent auditors and regulatory authorities, the Company further segregates the loan portfolio by loan grades based on an assessment of risk for a particular loan or group of loans. Certain reviewed loans are assigned specific allowances when a review of relevant data determines that a general allocation is not sufficient or when the review affords management the opportunity to fine tune the amount of exposure in a given credit. In establishing allowances, management considers historical credit loss experience but adjusts this data with a significant emphasis on data such as current loan quality trends, current economic conditions and other factors in the markets where the Company operates. Factors considered include, among others, current valuations of real estate in their markets, unemployment rates, the effect of weather conditions on agricultural related entities and other significant local economic events.

Certain loans if restructuring is required are individually evaluated for impairment and included in the separately identified impairment disclosures. Individually evaluated loans are measured at the present value of estimated future cash flows using the loan's original effective rate or based on collateral if deemed to be a collateral dependent loan. These loans are measured at the fair value of the collateral less applicable estimated selling costs. If an individually evaluated loan subsequently defaults, the Company determines the amount of the allowance on that loan in accordance with the accounting policy for the allowance for credit losses on loans individually identified as impaired.

The allowance for credit losses is maintained at a level, which, in management's judgment, is adequate to absorb credit losses inherent in the loan portfolio. The amount of the allowance is based on management's evaluation of the collectability of the loan portfolio, including the nature of the portfolio, credit concentrations, trends in historical loss experience, specific impaired loans, economic conditions and other risks inherent in the portfolio. Allowances for impaired loans are generally determined based on collateral values or the present value of estimated cash flows. Although management uses available information to recognize losses on loans, because of uncertainties associated with local economic conditions, collateral values and future cash flows on individually analyzed loans, it is reasonably possible that a material change could occur in the allowance for credit losses in the near term. However, the amount of the change that is reasonably possible cannot be estimated.

A loan is considered impaired when, based on current information and events, it is probable that a creditor will not be able to collect the scheduled payments of principal or interest when due according to the contractual terms of the loan agreement. Factors considered by management in determining impairment include payment status, collateral value and the probability of collecting scheduled principal and interest payments when due. Loans that experience insignificant payment delays and payment shortfalls generally are not classified as impaired. Management determines the significance of payment delays and payment shortfalls on a case-by-case basis, taking into consideration all of the circumstances surrounding the loan and the borrower, including the length of the delay, the reasons for the delay, the borrower's prior payment record and the amount of the shortfall in relation to the principal and interest owed. Impairment is measured on a loan by loan basis by either the present value of expected future cash flows discounted at the loan's effective interest rate, the loan's obtainable market price, or the fair value of the collateral if the loan is collateral dependent. Substantially all of the Bank's loans, which have been identified as impaired, have been measured by the fair value of existing collateral.

Large groups of smaller balance homogenous loans are collectively evaluated for impairment. Accordingly, the Company does not separately identify individual consumer loans for impairment disclosures.

9. Premises and Equipment – Land is carried at cost. Other premises and equipment are stated at cost, less accumulated depreciation. Depreciation is charged to operating expenses over the estimated useful lives of the assets and is computed on the straight-line method. In general, estimated lives for buildings are up to 40 years, furniture and equipment useful lives range from three to 20 years, and the lives of software and computer related equipment range from three to five years. Leasehold improvements are amortized over the life of the related lease, or the related assets, whichever is shorter. Expenditures for major improvements of the Company's premises and equipment are capitalized and depreciated over their estimated useful lives. Minor repairs, maintenance and improvements are charged to operations as incurred. When assets are sold or disposed of, their cost and related accumulated depreciation are removed from the accounts and any gain or loss is reflected in earnings.

10. Cash Surrender Value of Life Insurance - The Company has purchased life insurance policies on certain key executives. Life insurance is measured at the amount that could be realized under the insurance contract as of the balance sheet date, which generally is the cash surrender value of the policy.

11. Other Real Estate - Other real estate, acquired principally through foreclosure, is held for sale and initially recorded at fair value less cost to sell. Credit losses incurred in the acquisition of these properties are charged against the allowance for possible credit losses at the time of foreclosure. Cost of improvements are capitalized up to the fair value of the property, whereas costs related to holding other real estate and subsequent adjustments to the value are charged against current period operations. There are no residential real estate loans that are in process of foreclosure at December 31, 2023 and 2022.

12. Goodwill and Core Deposit Intangible – Core deposit intangible is stated at cost less accumulated amortization and is amortized on a straight-line basis over the estimated lives of the assets. The Company has also elected to amortize the excess of purchase price over fair value of net assets acquired (goodwill) over a ten-year period. The Company evaluates whether goodwill and core deposit intangible may be impaired at least annually and whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate it is more likely than not the fair value of the reporting unit or asset is less than it's carrying amount. No indicators of impairment were identified during the years ended December 31, 2023 or 2022.

13. Income Taxes – The Company reports income taxes under Accounting Standards Codification Topic 740, Income Taxes, which requires recognition of deferred tax liabilities and assets for the expected future tax consequences of events that have been included in the financial statements or tax returns. Under this method, deferred tax liabilities and assets are determined based on the difference between the financial statement and tax basis of assets and liabilities using enacted tax rates in effect for the year in which the differences are expected to reverse.

    The Company and the Bank file a consolidated income tax return. The Bank computes its income tax expense as if it filed an individual return except that it does not receive any portion of the surtax allocation. Any benefits or disadvantages of the consolidation are absorbed by the parent company. The Bank pays its allocation of federal income taxes to the parent company or receives payment from the parent company to the extent that tax benefits are realized.

    A tax position is recognized as a benefit only if it is "more likely than not" that the tax position would be sustained in a tax examination, with a tax examination being presumed to occur. The amount recognized is the largest amount of tax benefit that is greater than 50 percent likely of being realized on examination. For tax positions not meeting the "more likely than not" test, no tax benefit is recorded.

    The Company recognizes penalties related to income tax matters in income tax expense. The Company is subject to U.S. federal and Georgia state income tax audit for returns for the tax periods ending December 31, 2022, 2021, and 2020.

14. Use of Estimates - The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("US GAAP") requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

    The determination of the adequacy of the allowance for credit losses is based on estimates that are particularly susceptible to significant changes in the economic environment and market conditions. In connection with the determination of the estimated losses on loans, management obtains independent appraisals for significant collateral.

    The Bank's loans are generally secured by specific items of collateral including real property, consumer assets and business assets. Although the Bank has a diversified loan portfolio, a substantial portion of its debtors' ability to honor their contracts is dependent on local economic conditions.

    While management uses available information to recognize losses on loans, further reductions in the carrying amounts of loans may be necessary based on changes in local economic conditions. In addition, regulatory agencies, as an integral part of their examination process, periodically review the estimated losses on loans. Such agencies may require the Bank to recognize additional losses based on their judgments about information available to them at the time of their examination. Because of these factors, it is reasonably possible that the estimated losses on loans may change materially in the near term. However, the amount of the change that is reasonably possible cannot be estimated.

The determination of the value of assets acquired and liabilities assumed as part of acquisitions are based upon differences in stated rates and market rates of the acquired assets or liabilities assumed. When possible, an independent valuation of the assets acquired, and liabilities assumed was obtained to estimate their fair value.

15. Acquisitions - US GAAP requires that the acquisition method of accounting, formerly referred to as the purchase method, be used for all business combinations and that an acquirer be identified for each business combination. Under US GAAP, the acquirer is the entity that obtains control of one or more businesses in the business combination, and the acquisition date is the date the acquirer achieves control. US GAAP requires that the acquirer recognize the fair value of assets acquired, liabilities assumed, and any noncontrolling interest in the acquiree at the acquisition date.

16. Comprehensive Income – US GAAP generally requires that recognized revenues, expenses, gains, and losses be included in net income. Although certain changes in assets and liabilities, such as unrealized gains and losses on available-for-sale securities, are reported as a separate component of the equity section of the consolidated balance sheets, such items along with net income, are components of comprehensive income. The Company presents comprehensive income in a separate consolidated statement of comprehensive income.

17. Revenue Recognition - The core revenue recognition principle requires the Company to recognize revenue to depict the transfer of services or products to customers [members] in an amount that reflects the consideration to which the Company expects to be entitled to receive in exchange for those services or products recognized as performance obligations are satisfied. The guidance includes a five-step model to apply to revenue recognition, consisting of the following; (1) identify the contract with a customer [member]; (2) identify the performance obligation(s) within the contract; (3) determine the transaction price; (4) allocate the transaction price to the performance obligation(s) within the contract; and (5) recognize revenue when (or as) the performance obligation(s) are/is satisfied.

    The Company generally fully satisfies its performance obligations on its contracts with customers as services are rendered and the transaction prices are typically fixed; charged either on a periodic basis or based on activity. Since performance obligations are satisfied as services are rendered and the transaction prices are fixed, there is little judgment involved in applying revenue recognition that significantly affects the determination of the amount and timing of revenue from contracts with customers.

    The following significant revenue-generating transactions are within the scope of ASC 606, which are presented in The consolidated statements of income:

    Service charges on deposit accounts: The deposit contract obligates the Company to serve as a custodian of the customer's deposited funds and is generally terminable at will by either party. The contract permits the customer to access the funds on deposit and request additional services for which the Company earns a fee, including NSF and analysis charges, related to the deposit account. Income for deposit accounts is recognized over the statement cycle period (typically on a monthly basis) or at the time the service is provided, if additional services are requested.

    Interchange fee income: A contract between the Company, as a card-issuing bank, and its customers whereby the Company receives a transaction fee from the merchant's bank whenever a customer uses a debit or credit card to make a purchase. These fees are earned as the service is provided (i.e., when the customer uses a debit or ATM card).

    Other non-interest income (included in Other service charges, commissions and fees and Other income on the consolidated statements of income): Other non-interest income includes several items, such as wire transfer income, rental income from bank properties and safe deposit box rental fees. This income is generally recognized at the time the service is provided and/or the income is earned.

18. Legal Contingencies - Various legal claims arise from time to time in the normal course of business. In the opinion of management, any liability resulting from such proceedings would not have a material impact on the financial statements of the Company.

19. Book Value per Common Share – Book value per common share is total stockholders' equity including accumulated other comprehensive income (loss) less preferred stock divided by the number of common shares outstanding at period end.

	As of December 31,
	2023	2022
Shareholders equity	107,102,164	88,037,708
Preferred stock	9,001,339	9,001,339
Shareholders equity less preferred stock	98,100,825	79,036,369
Common shares	3,796	3,796
Book value per common share	$ 25,843	$ 20,821

20. Reclassifications – Certain reclassifications have been made to the 2022 financial statements to conform to the 2023 classifications.

B. RECENT ACCOUNTING PRONOUNCEMENTS

During the year ended December 31, 2023, the company adopted the following accounting pronouncements:

Accounting Standards Update ("ASU") 2016-13, "Financial Instruments – Credit Losses (Topic 326)."

In June 2016, the Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") issued Accounting Standards Update ("ASU") 2016-13, "Financial Instruments – Credit Losses (Topic 326)." The amendments in this ASU require that entities change the impairment model for most financial assets that are measured at amortized cost and certain other instruments from an incurred loss model to an expected loss model. Under this model, entities will estimate credit losses over the entire contractual term of the instrument from the date of initial recognition of that instrument. It includes financial assets such as loan receivables, held-to-maturity debt securities, net investments in leases that are not accounted for at fair value through net income, and certain off-balance sheet credit exposures. This ASU was effective for public business entities that are SEC filers for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2019, including interim periods within those fiscal years. In 2019, the FASB amended this ASU, which delays the effective date to 2023 for certain SEC filers that are Smaller Reporting Companies and private companies, which would apply to the Company.

On January 1, 2023, the Company adopted the provisions of ASC 326 through the application of the modified retrospective transition approach and recorded a net decrease of $582,832 to the beginning balance of retained earnings as of January 1, 2023 for the cumulative effect adjustment, reflecting an initial adjustment to the allowance for credit losses ("ACL") on loans of $30,223 and the ACL on off-balance sheet credit exposures of $750,006, net of related deferred tax assets arising from temporary differences of $197,397. The initial adjustment to the ACL is reflective of expected lifetime credit losses associated with the composition of financial assets within the scope of ASC 326 as of January 1, 2023 as well as managements current expectation of future economic conditions.

B. RECENT ACCOUNTING PRONOUNCEMENTS, CONTINUED

ASU 2022-02, "Financial Instruments-Credit Losses (Topic 326) – "Troubled Debt Restructuring and Vintage Disclosures."

In March 2022, the FASB issued ASU 2022-02, "Financial Instruments-Credit Losses (Topic 326) – "Troubled Debt Restructuring and Vintage Disclosures." The amendments in this ASU eliminates the accounting guidance for TDRs by creditors in ASC 310-40, "Receivables – Troubled Debt Restructurings by Creditors," while enhancing disclosure requirements for restructurings involving borrowers that are experiencing financial difficulty. The Company adopted this ASU as of January 1, 2023, in conjunction with eh adoption of ASU 2016-13. The Company did not have a material impact on its consolidated financial statements upon adoption of this ASU.

C. DEBT SECURITIES

Debt securities have been classified in the consolidated balance sheet according to management's intent. The following table reflects the amortized cost and estimated market values of investments in debt securities available for sale held at December 31, 2023 and 2022. In addition, gross unrealized gains and gross unrealized losses are disclosed as of December 31, 2023 and 2022.

The amortized cost and market values of debt securities available for sale were:

Total	$ 4,485,869	$ 76,095,697	$ 12,710,207	$ 58,774,365

At December 31, 2023, there were unrealized losses in the investment portfolio related to available-for-sale debt securities. The unrealized losses on the debt securities arose due to changing interest rates and market conditions and are considered to be temporary because of acceptable investment grades or where the repayment sources of principal and interest are largely backed by U.S Government sponsored agencies. As a result, no allowance for credit losses was considered necessary at December 31, 2023.

At December 31, 2023, 132 debt securities are in an unrealized losses position including 2 U.S. Government agencies securities, 1 other debt security, 49 state, county and municipal securities, and 80 residential mortgage backed securities. The severity of these unrealized losses based on their underlying cost basis at December 31, 2023 was 10.96%. The Company does not intend to sell the investments and it is not likely that the Company will be required to sell the investments before recovery of their amortized cost basis, which may be at maturity.

The Company did not sell any investment securities in 2023 or 2022.

D. LOANS

The Company engages in a full complement of lending activities, including real estate-related loans, commercial and industrial loans and consumer installment loans. The majority of its lending activities are concentrated in real estate loans. While risk of loss in the Company's portfolio is primarily tied to the credit quality of the various borrowers, risk of loss may increase due to factors beyond the Company's control, such as local, regional and/or national economic downturns. General conditions in the real estate market may also impact the relative risk in the real estate portfolio.

Credit Quality Indicators

The Company uses an eight-category risk grading system to assign a risk grade to each loan in the portfolio. The following is a description of the general characteristics of the grades:

Grade 1 – PrimeSouth Bank Cash Secured
A loan secured by properly margined PrimeSouth Bank cash collateral, such as certificates of deposit. Repayment is definite and being handled as agreed.

Grade 2 – Other Cash Secured
Loans secured by certificates of deposit not on PrimeSouth Bank, properly margined marketable stocks and bonds with appropriate maintenance of margin documented in file.

Grade 3 – Satisfactory
Loans in this category meet or exceed all of the Bank's guidelines as defined in the Bank's policy, have a definite repayment agreement in effect, and are repaid as agreed.

Grade 4 – Low Satisfactory
Loans in this category have one or more exceptions to the Bank's policy; however, there are mitigating factors that still permit the loan to be made.

Grade 5 – Watch
Loans or assets in this category are currently protected but are potentially weak. Those loans constitute an undue and unwarranted credit risk but not to the point of justifying a classification of substandard. The credit may be relatively minor yet constitute an unwarranted risk in the light of the circumstances surrounding a specific asset. Other loans or assets especially mentioned have potential weaknesses which may, if not checked or corrected, weaken the asset or inadequately protect the Bank's credit position at some future date. Assets which might be detailed in this category include credits which the lending officer may be unable to supervise properly because of a lack of expertise, an inadequate loan agreement, the condition of and control over collateral, failure to obtain proper documentation or any other deviations from prudent lending practices. An adverse trend in the obligor's operations or an imbalance position in the balance sheet, which has not reached a point where the liquidation is jeopardized, may best be handled by this classification. Loans that are classified Watch or worse do not automatically get upgraded upon renewal.

D. LOANS, CONTINUED

Grade 6 – Substandard Assets

A substandard asset is one that is not adequately protected by current paying capacity of the obligor or adequate value of the collateral pledged, if any. Assets so classified must have a well-defined weakness or weaknesses that jeopardize the liquidation of the debt. They are characterized by the distinct possibility that the Bank will sustain some loss if the deficiencies are not corrected. Loss potential, while existing in the aggregate amount of substandard assets, does not have to exist in individual assets classified substandard.

Grade 7 – Doubtful

Loans will be graded doubtful if there is not a clear repayment potential evident, if the loan has previously been classified as substandard and no improvement in the status of the loan is evident, if collection in full is dubious, there is not a current appraisal to determine that the loan is adequately protected by collateral, or the original primary source of repayment is gone and serious doubt exists as to the quality of a secondary source of repayment. If the possibility of a loss is high but it continues to perform, a loan is extended outside the Bank's normal trade area causing it to require more than usual monitoring or servicing, the Bank's files do not clearly indicate that the customer and the Bank have performed exactly according to the details set out in a loan agreement or other provisions of the loan, or if there are no inspections or appraisals which demonstrate the Bank has adequately serviced the loan; doubtful loans will require remedial action and close monitoring by the officer of record.

Grade 8 – Loss

Loans will be determined to be in the loss category if there is clearly no repayment potential, if there is inadequate collateral to liquidate the debt, if the borrower has been unresponsive to demands for payment, if there is an indication that only through protracted litigation will any amount be recovered from the borrower and if the loan does not present itself as a valid asset of the Bank.

The following tables present the loan portfolio by risk grade as of December 31, 2023 and 2022:

L. EMPLOYEE BENEFIT PLAN

The Company has a 401(k)-plan covering substantially all of its employees meeting age and length-of-service requirements. Matching contributions to the plan are at the discretion of the Board of Directors. The Company made matching contributions of $361,161 and $456,597 and for the years ended December 31, 2023 and 2022, respectively.

M. JUNIOR SUBORDINATED DEBENTURES

On September 9, 2003, PrimeSouth Capital Trust I ("PCT"), a wholly owned Subsidiaries of the Company closed a pooled private offering of 160 Trust Preferred Securities (Trusts) with a liquidation amount of $50,000 per security. The proceeds of the offering were loaned to the Company in exchange for junior subordinated debentures with terms similar to the Trust Preferred Securities. The sole assets of PCT are the junior subordinated debentures of the Company and payments there under. The junior subordinated debentures and the back-up obligations, in the aggregate, constitute a full and unconditional guarantee by the Company of the obligations of PCT under the Trust Preferred Securities. Distributions on the Trust Preferred Securities are payable quarterly at the floating interest rate, which is equal to the “prime rate”, as published in The Wall Street Journal, plus 25 basis points and are included in interest expense in the consolidated financial statements. These securities are considered Tier 1 capital (with certain limitations applicable) under current regulatory guidelines. As of December 31, 2023 and 2022, the outstanding principal balance of the Trust Preferred Securities was $8,248,000.

The junior subordinated debentures are subject to mandatory redemption, in whole or in part, upon repayment of the Trust Preferred Securities at maturity or their earlier redemption at the liquidation amount. Subject to the Company having received prior approval of the Federal Reserve, if then required, the Trust Preferred Securities are redeemable prior to the maturity date of December 31, 2033 at the option of the Company on or after December 31, 2008 at par or upon the occurrence of specific events defined within the trust indenture.

In accordance with Topic No. 810 of the FASB’s Accounting Standards Codification, Non-Consolidated Entities (FASB Interpretation No. 46), the Trusts are not consolidated with the Company. Accordingly, the Company does not report the securities issued by the Trust as a liability, and instead reports as liabilities the junior subordinated debentures issued by the Company and held by the Trust, as these are no longer eliminated in consolidation. The trust preferred securities are recorded as junior debentures on the balance sheets, but subject to certain limitations, qualify for the Tier 1 capital for regulatory capital purposes.

N. LIMITATION ON DIVIDENDS

The Board of Directors of any state-chartered bank in Georgia may declare and pay cash dividends on its outstanding capital stock without any request for approval of the Bank's regulatory agency if the following conditions are met:

1) Total classified assets at the most recent examination of the bank do not exceed eighty (80) percent of equity capital.

2) The aggregate amount of dividends declared in the calendar year does not exceed fifty (50) percent of the prior year's net income.

3) The ratio of equity capital to adjusted total assets shall not be less than six (6) percent.

As of December 31, 2023, the amount available for distribution by the Bank as dividends in the subsequent year without regulatory consent was $9,604,846.

O. COMMITMENTS

The Bank is a party to financial instruments with off-balance-sheet risk in the normal course of business to meet the financing needs of its customers. These financial instruments include commitments to extend credit and standby letters of credit. Those instruments involve, to varying degrees, elements of credit risk and interest rate risk in excess of the amount recognized in the balance sheet. The contract or notional amounts of those instruments reflect the extent of involvement the Bank has in those particular financial instruments.

The Bank's exposure to credit loss in the event of nonperformance by the other party to the financial instrument for commitments to extend credit and standby letters of credit is represented by the contractual notional amount of those instruments. The Bank uses the same credit policies in making commitments and conditional obligations as it does for on-balance-sheet instruments.

	Years Ended December 31,
	2023	2022
	Contract or Notional Amount
Financial instruments whose contract amount represent credit risk:
Commitments to extend credit	$ 164,976,329	$ 156,016,853
Standby letters of credit	1,923,946	1,397,273
Total	$ 166,900,275	$ 157,414,126

Commitments to extend credit are agreements to lend to a customer as long as there is no violation of any condition established in the contract. Commitments generally have fixed expiration dates or other termination clauses and may require payment of a fee. Since many of the commitments are expected to expire without being drawn upon, the total commitment amounts do not necessarily represent future cash requirements. The Bank evaluates each customer's creditworthiness on a case-by-case basis. The amount of collateral obtained if deemed necessary by the Bank upon extension of credit is based on management's credit evaluation. Collateral held varies but may include accounts receivable, inventory, property, plant and equipment and income-producing commercial properties.

Standby letters of credit are conditional commitments issued by the Bank to guarantee the performance of a customer to a third party. Those guarantees are primarily issued to support public and private borrowing arrangements, including commercial paper, bond financing and similar transactions. All letters of credit are due within one year of the original commitment date. The credit risk involved in issuing letters of credit is essentially the same as that involved in extending loan facilities to customers.

The table below presents the activity in the allowance for unfunded commitment credit losses related to those financial instruments discussed above. This allowance is recorded in accrued expenses and other liabilities on the Consolidated Balance Sheets:

	Years Ended December 31,
	2023	2022
Beginning balance for allowance for credit losses on unfunded commitments	$ 85,200	$ 85,200
Impact of CECL adoption	750,006	-
Provision for credit losses on unfunded commitments	82,857	-
Ending balance of allowance for credit losses on unfunded commitments	$ 918,063	$ 85,200

P. RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

In the ordinary course of business, the Company, through the Bank, has direct and indirect loans outstanding to or for the benefit of certain executive officers and directors. These loans were made on substantially the same terms as those prevailing, at the time made, for comparable loans to other persons and did not involve more than the normal risk of collectability or present other unfavorable features.

P. RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS, CONTINUED

The following is a summary of activity during the years ended December 31, 2023 and 2022 with respect to such loans to these individuals:

Balances at December 31, 2021	$	3,300,662
New loans		1,627,147
Repayments		(902,793)
Balances at December 31, 2022	$	4,025,016
Balances at December 31, 2022	$	4,025,016
New loans		67,724
Repayments		(1,115,410)
Balances at December 31, 2023	$	2,977,330

The Bank also had deposits from these related parties of $34,097,003 and $24,917,695 at December 31, 2023 and 2022, respectively.

Q. FAIR VALUE MEASUREMENTS AND DISCLOSURES

The fair value of a financial instrument is the current amount that would be exchanged between willing parties, other than in a forced liquidation. Fair value is best determined based upon quoted market prices. However, in many instances, there are no quoted market prices for the company's various financial instruments. In cases where quoted market prices are not available, fair value is based on discounted cash flows or other valuation techniques. These techniques are significantly affected by the assumptions used, including the discount rate and estimates of future cash flows. Accordingly, the fair value estimates may not be realized in an immediate settlement of the instrument. The accounting standard for disclosures about the fair value of financial instruments excludes certain financial instruments and all nonfinancial instruments from its disclosure requirements. Accordingly, the aggregate fair value amounts presented may not necessarily represent the underlying fair value of the Company.

The fair value hierarchy describes three levels of inputs that may be used to measure fair value:

Level 1 – Valuation is based upon quoted prices for identical instruments traded in active markets.

Level 2 – Valuation is based upon observable inputs other than Level 1 prices, such as quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities; quoted prices in markets that are not active; or other inputs that are observable or can be corroborated by observable market data for substantially the full term of the assets or liabilities.

Level 3 – Valuation is based on unobservable inputs that are supported by little or no market activity and that are significant to the fair value of assets or liabilities.

Following is a description of valuation methodologies used for assets which are recorded at fair value.

Debt Securities Available for Sale

The fair value of securities available for sale is determined by various valuation methodologies. Where quoted market prices are available in an active market, securities are classified within Level 1 of the valuation hierarchy. If quoted market prices are not available, then fair values are estimated by using pricing models, quoted prices of securities with similar characteristics, or discounted cash flows. Level 2 securities include mortgage-backed securities issued by government sponsored enterprises and municipal bonds. The level 2 fair value pricing is provided by an independent third-party and is based upon similar securities in an active market. In certain cases where Level 1 or Level 2 inputs are not available, securities are classified within Level 3 of the hierarchy and include certain residual municipal securities and other less liquid securities.

Q. FAIR VALUE MEASUREMENTS AND DISCLOSURES, CONTINUED

Loans

The Company does not record loans at fair value on a recurring basis. However, from time to time, a loan is considered impaired and an allowance for credit losses is established. Loans for which it is probable that payment of interest and principal will not be made in accordance with the contractual terms of the loan agreement are collateral dependent. Once a loan is identified as collateral dependent, management measures impairment based on the present value of expected future cash flows discounted at the loan's effective interest rate, except that as a practical expedient, a creditor may measure impairment based on a loan's observable market price, or the fair value of the collateral if repayment of the loan is dependent upon the sale of the underlying collateral. Those individually evaluated loans not requiring an allowance represent loans for which the fair value of the expected repayments or collateral exceed the recorded investments in such loans. In accordance with ASC 820, individually evaluated loans where an allowance is established based on the fair value of collateral require classification in the fair value hierarchy. When the fair value of the collateral is based on an observable market price or a current appraised value, the Company records the collateral dependent loan as nonrecurring Level 2. When an appraised value is not available or management determines the fair value of the collateral is further impaired below the appraised value and there is no observable market price, the Company records the collateral dependent loan as nonrecurring Level 3.

Other Real Estate

Other real estate is adjusted to fair value, less cost to sell, upon transfer of the loans to other real estate. Subsequently, other real estate is carried at the lower of carrying value or fair value. Fair value is based upon independent market prices, appraised values of the collateral or management's estimation of the value of the collateral. When the fair value of the collateral is based on an observable market price or a current appraised value, the Company records the other real estate as nonrecurring Level 2. When an appraised value is not available or management determines the fair value of the collateral is further impaired below the appraised value and there is no observable market price, the Company records the other real estate as nonrecurring Level 3.

Assets and Liabilities Recorded at Fair Value on a Recurring Basis

The table below presents the recorded amount of assets measured at fair value on a recurring basis as of December 31, 2023 and 2022, aggregated by the level in the fair value hierarchy within which those measurements fall.

Assets Recorded at Fair Value on a Nonrecurring Basis

The Company may be required, from time to time, to measure certain assets at fair value on a nonrecurring basis in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles. These include assets that are measured at the lower of cost or market that were recognized at fair value below cost at the end of the period.

The table below presents the Company's assets and liabilities measured at fair value on a nonrecurring basis as of December 31, 2023 and 2022, aggregated by the level in the fair value hierarchy within which those measurements fall.

	December 31, 2023
	Level 1	Level 2	Level 3	Total

R. PREFERRED STOCK

In 2017, the Company issued 903 shares of non-cumulative preferred stock. As of December 31, 2023 and 2022, 903 shares were outstanding. Each share of preferred stock is convertible to a single share of common stock upon election by the shareholder.

S. REGULATORY MATTERS

The Bank is subject to various regulatory capital requirements administered by the federal banking agencies. Failure to meet minimum capital requirements can initiate certain mandatory and possibly additional discretionary actions by regulators that, if undertaken, could have a direct material effect on the Company's financial statements. Under capital adequacy guidelines and the regulatory framework for prompt corrective action, the Bank must meet specific capital guidelines that involve quantitative measures of the Bank's assets, liabilities, and certain off-balance-sheet items as calculated under regulatory accounting practices. The Bank's capital amounts and classification are also subject to qualitative judgments by the regulators about components, risk weightings and other factors.

Quantitative measures established by regulation to ensure capital adequacy require the Bank to maintain minimum amounts and ratios (set forth in the table below) of total risk-based and Tier I capital (as defined in the regulations) to risk-weighted assets (as defined), and of Tier I capital (as defined) to average assets (as defined).

As of December 31, 2023, the most recent notification from the FDIC categorized the Bank as well capitalized under the regulatory framework for prompt corrective action. To be categorized as well capitalized, the Bank must maintain minimum regulatory capital ratios as set forth in the table. There are no conditions or events since that notification that management believes have changed the Bank's category.

S. REGULATORY MATTERS, CONTINUED

The Bank's actual capital amounts and ratios are presented in the following table.

	Actual		For Capital Adequacy Purposes		To Be Well Capitalized Under Prompt Corrective Action Provisions

T. SUBSEQUENT EVENTS

The Company performed an evaluation of subsequent events through March 29, 2024, the date upon which the Company's financial statements were available for issue. The Company has not evaluated subsequent events after this date. No subsequent events were identified that would have required a change to the financial statements or disclosure in the notes to the financial statements.

Independent Auditor's Report

To the Board of Directors and Shareholders
PrimeSouth Bancshares, Inc. and Subsidiaries

Opinions on the Financial Statements and Internal Control Over Financial Reporting

We have audited the accompanying consolidated financial statements (the "financial statements") of PrimeSouth Bancshares, Inc. and Subsidiaries (the "Company"), which comprise the consolidated balance sheets as of December 31, 2024 and 2023, and the related consolidated statements of income, comprehensive income, changes in shareholders' equity, and cash flows for the years then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements.

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of PrimeSouth Bancshares, Inc. and Subsidiaries as of December 31, 2024 and 2023, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("GAAP").

We also have audited the Company's internal control over financial reporting, including controls over the preparation of regulatory financial statements in accordance with instructions to the Federal Financial Institutions Examination Council Consolidated Reports of Condition and Income ("Call Report"), as of December 31, 2024, based on criteria established in Internal Control—Integrated Framework issued by the Committee of Sponsoring Organizations of the Treadway Commission ("COSO") in 2013. In our opinion, the Company maintained, in all material respects, effective internal control over financial reporting as of December 31, 2024, based on criteria established in Internal Control—Integrated Framework issued by COSO in 2013.

Basis for Opinions

We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America ("GAAS"). Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements and Internal Control Over Financial Reporting section of our report. We are required to be independent of the Company and to meet our other ethical responsibilities, in accordance with the relevant ethical requirements relating to our audits. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinions.

Responsibilities of Management for the Financial Statements and Internal Control Over Financial Reporting

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with GAAP, and for the design, implementation, and maintenance of effective internal control over financial reporting relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error. Management is also responsible for its assessment about the effectiveness of internal control over financial reporting, included in the accompanying Management Report.

In preparing the financial statements, management is required to evaluate whether there are conditions or events, considered in the aggregate, that raise substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern for one year after the date the financial statements are available to be issued.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audits of the Financial Statements and Internal Control Over Financial Reporting

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and about whether effective internal control over financial reporting was maintained in all material respects, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinions. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance but is not absolute assurance and therefore is not a guarantee that an audit of financial statements or an audit of internal control over financial reporting conducted in accordance with GAAS will always detect a material misstatement or a material weakness when it exists. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control. Misstatements are considered material if there is a substantial likelihood that, individually or in the aggregate, they would influence the judgment made by a reasonable user based on the financial statements.

In performing an audit of financial statements or an audit of internal control over financial reporting in accordance with GAAS, we:

- Exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audits.
- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, and design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks. Such procedures include examining, on a test basis, evidence regarding the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the financial statement audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control over financial reporting relevant to the audit of internal control over financial reporting, assess the risks that a material weakness exists, and test and evaluate the design and operating effectiveness of internal control over financial reporting based on the assessed risk.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluate the overall presentation of the financial statements.
- Conclude whether, in our judgment, there are conditions or events, considered in the aggregate, that raise substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period of time.

We are required to communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit, significant audit findings, and certain internal control–related matters that we identified during the financial statement audit.

Definition and Inherent Limitations of Internal Control over Financial Reporting

An entity's internal control over financial reporting is a process effected by those charged with governance, management, and other personnel, designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the preparation of reliable financial statements in accordance with GAAP. Because management's assessment and our audit were conducted to meet the reporting requirements of Section 112 of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation Improvement Act ("FDICIA"), our audit of the Company's internal control over financial reporting included controls over the preparation of financial statements in accordance with GAAP and with Call Report instructions.

An entity's internal control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that (1) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the entity; (2) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with GAAP, and that receipts and expenditures of the entity are being made only in accordance with authorizations of management and those charged with governance; and (3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection and correction of unauthorized acquisition, use, or disposition of the entity's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Because of its inherent limitations, internal control over financial reporting may not prevent or detect and correct misstatements. Also, projections of any evaluation of effectiveness to future periods are subject to the risk that controls may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

A. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

1. Principles of Consolidation – The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of PrimeSouth Bancshares, Inc. (the "Company") and its wholly owned subsidiaries, PrimeSouth Bank (the "Bank") and PrimeSouth Insurance (the "Insurance Company"). All significant intercompany balances and transactions have been eliminated in consolidation.

2. Reporting Entity - The Company was formed in February 1990 as Blackshear Bancshares, Inc. and operates as a bank holding company with one bank subsidiary. In 1997, the Company changed its name to PrimeSouth Bancshares, Inc. The Bank has branch locations in Blackshear, Brunswick, Jesup, St. Simons Island, and Waycross, Georgia, and Fernandina Beach, Florida. The Company provides a variety of financial services to individuals and small businesses through its offices in South Georgia and North Florida. Its primary deposit products are savings and term certificate accounts, and its primary lending products are residential and commercial mortgage loans. In 2017, the Company completed the acquisition of Atlantic National Bank ("Atlantic National"), which closed on September 5, 2017.

3. Cash and Cash Equivalents - For purposes of reporting cash flows, cash and cash equivalents include cash on hand, amounts due from banks, highly liquid debt instruments purchased with an original maturity of three months or less, and federal funds sold. Generally, federal funds are purchased and sold for one-day periods.

4. Debt Securities – The classification of debt securities is determined at the date of purchase. Gains or losses on the sale of securities are recognized on a specific identification basis.

   Debt securities available for sale are recorded at fair value with unrealized gains or losses (net of tax effect) excluded from earnings and reported as a component of shareholders' equity. Securities available for sale are used as a part of the Company's interest rate risk management strategy and may be sold in response to changes in interest rates, changes in prepayment risk, and other factors.

   The market value of securities is generally based on quoted market prices. If a quoted market price is not available, market value is estimated using quoted market prices for similar securities.

   Amortization of premiums and accretion of discounts are recognized in interest income using the effective interest method. Premiums that exceed the amount repayable by the issuer at the next call date are amortized to the next call date. Other premiums and discounts are amortized (accreted) over the estimated lives of the securities.

   The Company evaluates individual securities available for sale in an unrealized loss position by first determining whether the decline in fair value below the amortized cost basis of the security has resulted from a credit loss or other factors. A credit loss exists when the present value of cash flows expected to be collected from the security is less than the amortized cost basis of the security. In determining whether a credit loss exists, the Company considers the extent to which the fair value is less than the amortized cost basis, adverse conditions related to the security, the industry, or geographic areas, the payment structure of the debt security, failure of the issuer to make scheduled payments, and any changes to the rating of the security. Impairment related to credit losses is recognized through an allowance for credit losses up to the amount that fair value is less than the amortized cost basis. Changes to the allowance are recognized through earnings as a provision for (or recovery of) credit losses. Impairment related to other factors is recognized in other comprehensive income.

   If the Company intends to sell, or it is more likely than not the Company will be required to sell the security before recovery of its amortized cost basis, any allowance for credit losses is written off and the amortized cost basis is written down to the security's fair value at the reporting date with any incremental impairment recognized in earnings.

   The Company excludes accrued interest receivable from the amortized cost basis of securities available for sale when estimating credit losses and when presenting required disclosures in the financial statements. Accrued interest on securities available for sale totaling $843,913 and $828,068 at December 31, 2024 and 2023, respectively, was excluded from the amortized cost basis of securities available for sale and is included in other assets on the Consolidated Balance Sheet.

5. FHLB Stock – FHLB stock is an investment that does not have a readily determinable fair value and is carried at cost less any impairment. The Company is required to hold FHLB stock as a member of the FHLB and transfer of the stock is substantially restricted. FHLB stock is evaluated for impairment on an annual basis.

6. Loans Held for Sale – Loans originated and intended for sale are carried at the lower of aggregate cost or fair value, as determined by aggregate outstanding commitments from investors. Gains or losses realized on the sales of loans are recognized at the time of sale and are determined by the difference between the net sales proceeds and the carrying value of the loans sold. Gains and losses on sales of the loans are included in mortgage fee income.

7. Loans and Interest Income – Loans that management has the intent and ability to hold for the foreseeable future or until maturity or payoff are stated at the amount of unpaid principal, reduced by net deferred loan fees, unearned discounts and a valuation allowance for possible credit losses. Interest on loans is accrued and credited to income based on the unpaid principal balance. Loans are generally placed on non-accrual status when full payment of principal or interest is in doubt, or when they are past due 90 days as to either principal or interest. A non-accrual loan may be restored to accrual status when all principal and interest amounts contractually due, including payments in arrears, are reasonably assured of repayment within a reasonable period, and there is a sustained period of performance by the borrower in accordance with the contractual terms of the loan. When interest accrual is discontinued, all unpaid accrued interest is reversed. Interest income is subsequently recognized only to the extent cash payments are received.

   The Company has identified the following pools of financial assets with similar risk characteristics for measuring expected credit losses:

   Construction and land – This category of loans consists of loans to finance the ground up construction, improvement and or carrying for sale after the completion of construction of owner occupied and non-owner occupied residential and commercial properties, and loans secured by raw or improved land. The repayment of construction loans is generally dependent upon the successful completion of the improvements by the builder for the end user, or sale of the property to a third party. Repayment of land secured loans are dependent upon the successful development and sale of the property, the sale of the land as is, or the outside cash flow of the owners to support the retirement of the debt. These loans are secured by the underlying land and any improvements made to the land.

   Farmland – These loans are principally loans to purchase farmland. These loans are secured by farmland and improvements thereon.

   1-4 family residential – This category of loans includes both first and junior liens on residential real estate. Home equity revolving lines of credit and home equity term loans are included in this group of loans. At the time of origination, the Company evaluates the borrower's repayment ability through a review of debt to income and credit scores, or debit service coverage. Appraisals are obtained to support the loan amount. Financial information is obtained from the borrowers and/or the individual project to evaluate cash flows sufficiency to service debt at the time of origination. Residential mortgage loans are susceptible to weakening general economic conditions and increases in unemployment rates and declining real estate values. These loans are secured by the underlying real estate.

   Multi-family residential – This category of loans is primarily secured by non-owner-occupied apartment or multi-family buildings. Generally, these types of loans are thought to involve a greater degree of credit risk than owner occupied CRE as they are more sensitive to adverse economic conditions. These loans are secured by the underlying real estate.

   Owner-occupied commercial real estate ("OOCRE") – This category of loans includes real estate loans for a variety of commercial property types and purposes. The repayment of real estate loans is generally largely dependent on the successful operation of the property securing the loans or the business conducted on the property securing the loan. Real estate loans may be more adversely affected by conditions in the real estate markets or in the general economy. These loans are generally secured by the underlying real estate.

Non-owner-occupied commercial real estate ("NOOCRE") – This category of loans includes investment real estate loans that are primarily secured by office and industrial buildings, retail shopping centers and various special purpose properties. Generally, these types of loans are thought to involve a greater degree of credit risk than OOCRE as they are more sensitive to adverse economic conditions. These loans are generally secured by the underlying real estate.

Commercial – This category of loans is for commercial, corporate and business purposes, including agriculture. Commercial and industrial loans are primarily for working capital, physical asset expansion, asset acquisition loans and other. These loans are made based primarily on historical and projected cash flow of the borrower and secondarily on the underlying collateral provided by the borrower. The cash flows of borrowers, however, may not behave as forecasted and collateral securing loans may fluctuate in value due to economic or individual performance factors. Financial information is obtained from the borrowers to evaluate cash flows sufficiency to service debt and are periodically updated during the life of the loan. Risks to this loan category include customer or industry concentrations and the inability to monitor the condition of the collateral which often consists of inventory, accounts receivable and other non-real estate assets. Equipment and inventory obsolescence can also pose a risk. Declines in general economic conditions and other events can cause cash flows to fall to levels insufficient to service debt. Agriculture loans consist of loans to finance farming operations and are secured by farm equipment, crops, and other farm-related non-real estate assets. Among the risks that affect agriculture loans are production risks (due to weather, pests, and diseases) as well as market and price risks. The agriculture sector is highly political, and the considerable degree of government interventions also pose a risk. These loans are generally secured by assets other than real estate, i.e. assignment of negotiable stock, deposits, life insurance, commercial vehicles, equipment etc.

Consumer – Consumer loans may take the form of installment loans, demand loans, or single payment loans and are extended to consumers for household, family, and other personal expenditures. At the time of origination, the Company evaluates the borrower's repayment ability through a review of debt to income and credit scores. Risks common to individual loans include regulatory risks, unemployment, and changes in local economic conditions as well as the inability to monitor collateral consisting of personal property. These loans are generally secured by assets other than real estate, such as automobiles, boats, trailers etc.

Credit Cards – This category of loans relates to those outstanding balances on credit cards. These loans are unsecured.

8. Allowance for Credit Losses – The allowance for credit losses is available to absorb losses inherent in the credit extension process. The entire allowance is available to absorb losses related to the loan portfolio. Credit exposures deemed to be uncollectible are charged against the allowance for credit losses. Recoveries of previously charged-off amounts are credited to the allowance for credit losses. Additions to the allowance for credit losses are made by charges to the provision for credit losses.

Estimated credit losses are based on relevant information about historical experience, current conditions, and reasonable and supportable forecasts that affect the collectability of the reported amounts. Loans are segregated by loan type and a reserve is calculated accordingly. The Bank utilizes the discounted cash flow methodology for most reserve valuations but also uses remaining life methodology for those loan types that do not fit the discounted cash flow methodology.

Loans that do not share similar risk characteristics with loans in their respective pools are individually evaluated for expected credit losses and are excluded from the collectively evaluated loan credit loss estimates. Management individually evaluates substandard loans (those loans with a risk rating of six or higher) over $200,000 and other loans with evidence of credit deterioration. For loans individually evaluated, a specific reserve is estimated based on either the fair value of collateral or the discounted value of expected future cash flows.

A loan is considered to be collateral dependent when, based upon management's assessment, the borrower is experiencing financial difficulty and repayment is expected to be provided substantially through the operation or sale of the collateral. For collateral dependent loans, expected credit losses are based on the fair value of collateral as of the date of the balance sheet, with consideration for estimated selling costs if satisfaction of the loan depends on the sale of the collateral.

The following describes the types of collateral that secure collateral dependent loans:

Commercial or Construction real estate loans are primarily secured by office and industrial buildings, warehouses, retail shopping facilities and various special purpose properties, including hotels and restaurants.

Residential real estate loans considered collateral dependent are generally secured by first liens on residential real estate or junior liens on residential real estate.

Commercial loans considered collateral dependent are secured by assets other than real estate, i.e. assignment of negotiable stock, deposits, life insurance, commercial vehicles, equipment etc.

Consumer loans considered collateral dependent are generally secured by assets other than real estate, i.e. automobiles, boats, trailers etc.

Management evaluates all collectively evaluated loans, except for credit card loans, using the discounted cash flow methodology. The discounted cash flow methodology uses loan level attributes, such as interest rates and maturity dates, as well as pool level inputs, such as prepayment rates, curtailment rates, probability of default and loss given default rates, to estimate credit losses over the contractual term of each collectively evaluated loan. Expected credit losses are determined by comparing the loan's amortized cost with the expected future principal and interest cash flows. Individual loan level results are aggregated for collectively evaluated loans and are then adjusted for qualitative factors deemed appropriate by management.

Credit card loans are evaluated under the weighted average remaining life methodology. For the consumer segments, a long-term average loss rate is calculated and applied on a quarterly basis for the remaining life of the pool. Adjustments for economic expectations are made in the qualitative portion of the calculation.

Management has elected to utilize the Company's historical loss data with a maximum lookback period for the probability of default and loss given default historical rate calculations required for the discounted cash flow methodology. Probability of default rates are then forecasted over a 24-month period using a regression model based on national unemployment rate, real gross domestic product seasonally adjusted rate, and national home price index forecasts obtained from Federal Open Market Committee ("FOMC"). Management has elected to use a straight-line reversion method for a 12-month period after the 24-month forecast period for probability of default rates.

The quantitative analysis described above is supplemented with other qualitative factors based on the risks present for each collectively evaluated loan pool. These qualitative factors include: effects of any changes in lending policies and procedures, including changes in underwriting standards and collections, changes in international , national, regional and local conditions, changes in the nature and volume of the portfolio and terms of loans, changes in the experience, depth and ability of lending management, changes in the volume and severity of past due loans and other similar conditions, changes in the quality of the organization's loan review system, changes in the value of underlying collateral for collateral dependent loans, the existence and effect of any concentrations of credit and changes in the levels of such concentrations, and the effect of other external factors (i.e. competition, legal and regulatory requirements) on the level of estimated credit losses.

The Company excludes accrued interest receivable from the amortized cost basis of loans when estimating credit losses and when presenting required disclosures in the financial statements. Accrued interest on loans totaling $5,853,302 and $5,272,054 at December 31, 2024 and 2023, respectively, was excluded from the amortized cost basis of loans and is included in other assets on the Consolidated Balance Sheet.

Unfunded loan commitments are segmented into the same pools used for estimating the allowance for credit losses on loans. Estimated credit losses on unfunded loan commitments are based on the same methodologies, inputs and assumptions used to estimate credit losses on collectively evaluated loans, adjusted for estimated funding probabilities. The estimated funding probabilities represent management's estimate of the amount of the current unfunded loan commitment that will be funded over the remaining contractual life of the commitment and is based on historical data.

The Company may modify loans to borrowers experiencing financial difficulty and grant certain concessions that include principal forgiveness, a term extension, an other-than-insignificant payment delay, an interest rate reduction, or a combination of these concessions. An assessment of whether the borrower is experiencing financial difficulty is made at the time of the loan modification.

Upon the Company's determination that a modified loan (or portion of a loan) has subsequently been deemed uncollectible, the loan (or portion of the loan) is written off. Therefore, the amortized cost basis of the loan is reduced by the uncollectible amount and the allowance for credit losses is adjusted by the same amount.

9. Premises and Equipment – Land is carried at cost. Other premises and equipment are stated at cost, less accumulated depreciation. Depreciation is charged to operating expenses over the estimated useful lives of the assets and is computed on the straight-line method. In general, estimated lives for buildings are up to 40 years, furniture and equipment useful lives range from three to 20 years, and the lives of software and computer related equipment range from three to five years. Leasehold improvements are amortized over the life of the related lease, or the related assets, whichever is shorter. Expenditures for major improvements of the Company's premises and equipment are capitalized and depreciated over their estimated useful lives. Minor repairs, maintenance and improvements are charged to operations as incurred. When assets are sold or disposed of, their cost and related accumulated depreciation are removed from the accounts and any gain or loss is reflected in earnings.

10. Cash Surrender Value of Life Insurance - The Company has purchased life insurance policies on certain key executives. Life insurance is measured at the amount that could be realized under the insurance contract as of the balance sheet date, which generally is the cash surrender value of the policy.

11. Other Real Estate - Other real estate, acquired principally through foreclosure, is held for sale and initially recorded at fair value less cost to sell. Credit losses incurred in the acquisition of these properties are charged against the allowance for credit losses at the time of foreclosure. Cost of improvements are capitalized up to the fair value of the property, whereas costs related to holding other real estate and subsequent adjustments to the value are charged against current period operations. There are no residential real estate loans that are in process of foreclosure at December 31, 2024 and 2023.

12. Goodwill and Core Deposit Intangible – Core deposit intangible is stated at cost less accumulated amortization and is amortized on a straight-line basis over the estimated lives of the assets. The Company has also elected to amortize the excess of purchase price over fair value of net assets acquired (goodwill) over a ten-year period. The Company evaluates whether goodwill and core deposit intangible may be impaired at least annually and whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate it is more likely than not the fair value of the reporting unit or asset is less than it's carrying amount. No indicators of impairment were identified during the years ended December 31, 2024 or 2023.

13. Income Taxes – The Company reports income taxes under Accounting Standards Codification Topic 740, Income Taxes, which requires recognition of deferred tax liabilities and assets for the expected future tax consequences of events that have been included in the financial statements or tax returns. Under this method, deferred tax liabilities and assets are determined based on the difference between the financial statement and tax basis of assets and liabilities using enacted tax rates in effect for the year in which the differences are expected to reverse.

The Company and the Bank file a consolidated income tax return. The Bank computes its income tax expense as if it filed an individual return except that it does not receive any portion of the surtax allocation. Any benefits or disadvantages of the consolidation are absorbed by the parent company. The Bank pays its allocation of federal income taxes to the parent company or receives payment from the parent company to the extent that tax benefits are realized.

A tax position is recognized as a benefit only if it is "more likely than not" that the tax position would be sustained in a tax examination, with a tax examination being presumed to occur. The amount recognized is the largest amount of tax benefit that is greater than 50 percent likely of being realized on examination. For tax positions not meeting the "more likely than not" test, no tax benefit is recorded.

The Company recognizes penalties related to income tax matters in income tax expense. The Company is subject to U.S. federal and Georgia state income tax audit for returns for the tax periods ending December 31, 2023, 2022, and 2021.

14. Use of Estimates - The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("US GAAP") requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

    The determination of the adequacy of the allowance for credit losses is based on estimates that are particularly susceptible to significant changes in the economic environment and market conditions. In connection with the determination of the estimated losses on loans, management obtains independent appraisals for significant collateral.

    The Bank's loans are generally secured by specific items of collateral including real property, consumer assets and business assets. Although the Bank has a diversified loan portfolio, a substantial portion of its debtors' ability to honor their contracts is dependent on local economic conditions.

    While management uses available information to recognize allowance for credit losses on loans, further reductions in the carrying amounts of loans may be necessary based on changes in local economic conditions. In addition, regulatory agencies, as an integral part of their examination process, periodically review the estimated losses on loans. Such agencies may require the Bank to recognize additional losses based on their judgments about information available to them at the time of their examination. Because of these factors, it is reasonably possible that the estimated losses on loans may change materially in the near term. However, the amount of the change that is reasonably possible cannot be estimated.

    The determination of the value of assets acquired and liabilities assumed as part of acquisitions are based upon differences in stated rates and market rates of the acquired assets or liabilities assumed. When possible, an independent valuation of the assets acquired, and liabilities assumed was obtained to estimate their fair value.

15. Acquisitions - US GAAP requires that the acquisition method of accounting, formerly referred to as the purchase method, be used for all business combinations and that an acquirer be identified for each business combination. Under US GAAP, the acquirer is the entity that obtains control of one or more businesses in the business combination, and the acquisition date is the date the acquirer achieves control. US GAAP requires that the acquirer recognize the fair value of assets acquired, liabilities assumed, and any noncontrolling interest in the acquiree at the acquisition date.

16. Comprehensive Income – US GAAP generally requires that recognized revenues, expenses, gains, and losses be included in net income. Although certain changes in assets and liabilities, such as unrealized gains and losses on available-for-sale securities, are reported as a separate component of the equity section of the consolidated balance sheets, such items along with net income, are components of comprehensive income. The Company presents comprehensive income in a separate consolidated statement of comprehensive income.

17. Revenue Recognition - The core revenue recognition principle requires the Company to recognize revenue to depict the transfer of services or products to customers in an amount that reflects the consideration to which the Company expects to be entitled to receive in exchange for those services or products recognized as performance obligations are satisfied. The guidance includes a five-step model to apply to revenue recognition, consisting of the following; (1) identify the contract with a customer; (2) identify the performance obligation(s) within the contract; (3) determine the transaction price; (4) allocate the transaction price to the performance obligation(s) within the contract; and (5) recognize revenue when (or as) the performance obligation(s) are/is satisfied.

    The Company generally fully satisfies its performance obligations on its contracts with customers as services are rendered and the transaction prices are typically fixed; charged either on a periodic basis or based on activity. Since performance obligations are satisfied as services are rendered and the transaction prices are fixed, there is little judgment involved in applying revenue recognition that significantly affects the determination of the amount and timing of revenue from contracts with customers.

    The following significant revenue-generating transactions are within the scope of ASC 606, which are presented in The consolidated statements of income:

    Service charges on deposit accounts: The deposit contract obligates the Company to serve as a custodian of the customer's deposited funds and is generally terminable at will by either party. The contract permits the customer to access the funds on deposit and request additional services for which the Company earns a fee, including NSF and analysis charges, related to the deposit account. Income for deposit accounts is recognized over the statement cycle period (typically on a monthly basis) or at the time the service is provided, if additional services are requested.

    Interchange fee income: A contract between the Company, as a card-issuing bank, and its customers whereby the Company receives a transaction fee from the merchant's bank whenever a customer uses a debit or credit card to make a purchase. These fees are earned as the service is provided (i.e., when the customer uses a debit or ATM card).

    Other non-interest income (included in Other service charges, commissions and fees and Other income on the consolidated statements of income): Other non-interest income includes several items, such as wire transfer income, rental income from bank properties and safe deposit box rental fees. This income is generally recognized at the time the service is provided and/or the income is earned.

18. Legal Contingencies - Various legal claims arise from time to time in the normal course of business. In the opinion of management, any liability resulting from such proceedings would not have a material impact on the financial statements of the Company.

19. Book Value per Common Share – Book value per common share is total stockholders' equity including accumulated other comprehensive income (loss) less preferred stock divided by the number of common shares outstanding at period end.

	As of December 31,
	2024	2023
Shareholders equity	$ 125,940,575	$ 107,102,164
Preferred stock	9,001,339	9,001,339
Shareholders equity less preferred stock	$ 116,939,236	$ 98,100,825
Common shares	3,796	3,796
Book value per common share	$ 30,806	$ 25,843

B. DEBT SECURITIES

Debt securities have been classified in the consolidated balance sheet according to management's intent. The following table reflects the amortized cost and estimated market values of investments in debt securities available for sale held at December 31, 2024 and 2023. In addition, gross unrealized gains and gross unrealized losses are disclosed as of December 31, 2024 and 2023.

The amortized cost and market values of debt securities available for sale were:

	Amortized Cost	Unrealized Gains	Unrealized Losses	Allowance for Credit Losses	Fair Value
December 31, 2024
U.S. government agencies	$ 5,032,397	$ 44,450	$ 68,047	$ -	$ 5,008,800

At December 31, 2024, there were unrealized losses in the investment portfolio related to available-for-sale debt securities. The unrealized losses on the debt securities arose due to changing interest rates and market conditions and are considered to be temporary because of acceptable investment grades or where the repayment sources of principal and interest are largely backed by U.S Government sponsored agencies. As a result, no allowance for credit losses was considered necessary at December 31, 2024.

At December 31, 2024, debt securities in an unrealized losses position include:

	Number of Securities	Aggregate Depreciation
U.S. government agencies	3	-6.41%
State, county, and municipal securities	52	-9.61%
Other debt securities	1	-4.64%
Residential mortgage backed securities	81	-13.80%
Totals	137	-12.22%

The Company does not intend to sell the investments, and it is not likely that the Company will be required to sell the investments before recovery of their amortized cost basis, which may be at maturity.

The Company did not sell any investment securities in 2024 or 2023.

C. LOANS

The Company engages in a full complement of lending activities, including real estate-related loans, commercial and industrial loans and consumer installment loans. The majority of its lending activities are concentrated in real estate loans. While risk of loss in the Company's portfolio is primarily tied to the credit quality of the various borrowers, risk of loss may increase due to factors beyond the Company's control, such as local, regional and/or national economic downturns. General conditions in the real estate market may also impact the relative risk in the real estate portfolio.

Loans are stated at unpaid balances, net of unearned income. Balances within the major loans receivable categories at December 31, 2024 and 2023 are presented in the following table:

Credit Quality Indicators

The Company uses an eight-category risk grading system to assign a risk grade to each loan in the portfolio. The following is a description of the general characteristics of the grades:

Grade 1 – PrimeSouth Bank Cash Secured
A loan secured by properly margined PrimeSouth Bank cash collateral, such as certificates of deposit. Repayment is definite and being handled as agreed.

Grade 2 – Other Cash Secured
Loans secured by certificates of deposit not on PrimeSouth Bank, properly margined marketable stocks and bonds with appropriate maintenance of margin documented in file.

C. LOANS, CONTINUED

Grade 3 – Satisfactory
Loans in this category meet or exceed all of the Bank's guidelines as defined in the Bank's policy, have a definite repayment agreement in effect, and are repaid as agreed.

Grade 4 – Low Satisfactory
Loans in this category have one or more exceptions to the Bank's policy; however, there are mitigating factors that still permit the loan to be made.

Grade 5 – Watch
Loans or assets in this category are currently protected but are potentially weak. Those loans constitute an undue and unwarranted credit risk but not to the point of justifying a classification of substandard. The credit may be relatively minor yet constitute an unwarranted risk in the light of the circumstances surrounding a specific asset. Other loans or assets especially mentioned have potential weaknesses which may, if not checked or corrected, weaken the asset or inadequately protect the Bank's credit position at some future date. Assets which might be detailed in this category include credits which the lending officer may be unable to supervise properly because of a lack of expertise, an inadequate loan agreement, the condition of and control over collateral, failure to obtain proper documentation or any other deviations from prudent lending practices. An adverse trend in the obligor's operations or an imbalance position in the balance sheet, which has not reached a point where the liquidation is jeopardized, may best be handled by this classification. Loans that are classified Watch or worse do not automatically get upgraded upon renewal.

Grade 6 – Substandard Assets
A substandard asset is one that is not adequately protected by current paying capacity of the obligor or adequate value of the collateral pledged, if any. Assets so classified must have a well-defined weakness or weaknesses that jeopardize the liquidation of the debt. They are characterized by the distinct possibility that the Bank will sustain some loss if the deficiencies are not corrected. Loss potential, while existing in the aggregate amount of substandard assets, does not have to exist in individual assets classified substandard.

Grade 7 – Doubtful
Loans will be graded doubtful if there is not a clear repayment potential evident, if the loan has previously been classified as substandard and no improvement in the status of the loan is evident, if collection in full is dubious, there is not a current appraisal to determine that the loan is adequately protected by collateral, or the original primary source of repayment is gone and serious doubt exists as to the quality of a secondary source of repayment. If the possibility of a loss is high but it continues to perform, a loan is extended outside the Bank's normal trade area causing it to require more than usual monitoring or servicing, the Bank's files do not clearly indicate that the customer and the Bank have performed exactly according to the details set out in a loan agreement or other provisions of the loan, or if there are no inspections or appraisals which demonstrate the Bank has adequately serviced the loan; doubtful loans will require remedial action and close monitoring by the officer of record.

Grade 8 – Loss
Loans will be determined to be in the loss category if there is clearly no repayment potential, if there is inadequate collateral to liquidate the debt, if the borrower has been unresponsive to demands for payment, if there is an indication that only through protracted litigation will any amount be recovered from the borrower and if the loan does not present itself as a valid asset of the Bank.

H. SHORT-TERM BORROWINGS

The Bank had lines of credit for federal funds purchased of $23,300,000 as of December 31, 2024 and 2023. There was no amount outstanding at December 31, 2024 or 2023.

I. LONG-TERM BORROWINGS

As of December 31, 2024, the Bank had one outstanding FHLB advance totaling $25,000,000 with a maturity date of February 28, 2025. The advance had a variable interest rate of 4.57% as of December 31, 2024. The Bank had outstanding advances of $16,000,000 as of December 31, 2023 with a maturity date of February 29, 2024. The advance had a variable interest rate of 5.57% as of December 31, 2023. The available line amount is based upon eligible mortgage loans available for pledge in the amount of $99,660,715, as well as FHLB stock with a carrying value of $2,038,300 at December 31, 2024. The Bank is required to maintain a minimum investment in FHLB stock of the greater of 1% of total mortgage assets or 0.15% of total assets while the advance agreement is in effect. As of December 31, 2024, the total lendable collateral value of the line was $74,760,715.

On September 5, 2022, the Company renewed a promissory agreement in the amount of $5,250,000 with a variable interest rate of Prime minus 0.5% with a minimum rate of 3.5%. Quarterly interest only payments are due for the first year of the term. Principal and interest payments are due quarterly beginning December 2023 through the maturity date of September 2027.

The outstanding principal balance due was $4,000,000, net of deferred offering costs of $5,266, and $5,000,000, net of deferred offering costs of $7,181, as of December 31, 2024 and 2023, respectively. The Company has pledged, as collateral, its interest in PrimeSouth Bank shares consisting of 96,207.71 shares of common stock with a par value of $10 per share. Additional financial covenants that are in place as part of the lending agreement state that the Bank is to maintain the following performance measures:

1. A "well-capitalized" status in accordance with the regulations of the primary federal bank regulatory agency of the Subsidiaries Bank;
2. A Tier 1 Leverage Ratio of at least seven and one-half percent (7.50%);
3. A Non-Performing Asset Ratio of not more than twenty-five percent (25%); and
4. A Return on Assets Ratio of at least .50 (50 bps)

The Bank is in compliance as of December 31, 2024 and 2023.

I. LONG-TERM BORROWINGS, CONTINUED

As of December 31, 2024, the scheduled principal payments of other borrowings were as follows:

2025	1,000,000
2026	1,000,000
2027	2,000,000
Total	$ 4,000,000

J. INCOME TAXES

The components of income tax expense for the years ended December 31, 2024 and 2023 are as follows:

	2024	2023

K. EMPLOYEE BENEFIT PLAN

The Company has a 401(k)-plan covering substantially all its employees meeting age and length-of-service requirements. Matching contributions to the plan are at the discretion of the Board of Directors. The Company made matching contributions of $447,519 and $361,161 for the years ended December 31, 2024 and 2023, respectively.

L. JUNIOR SUBORDINATED DEBENTURES

On September 9, 2003, PrimeSouth Capital Trust I ("PCT"), a wholly owned subsidiary of the Company closed a pooled private offering of 160 Trust Preferred Securities (Trusts) with a liquidation amount of $50,000 per security. The proceeds of the offering were loaned to the Company in exchange for junior subordinated debentures with terms similar to the Trust Preferred Securities. The sole assets of PCT are the junior subordinated debentures of the Company and payments there under. The junior subordinated debentures and the back-up obligations, in the aggregate, constitute a full and unconditional guarantee by the Company of the obligations of PCT under the Trust Preferred Securities. Distributions on the Trust Preferred Securities are payable quarterly at the floating interest rate, which is equal to the "prime rate", as published in The Wall Street Journal, plus 25 basis points and are included in interest expense in the consolidated financial statements. At December 31, 2024, the interest rate was 7.75%. These securities are considered Tier 1 capital (with certain limitations applicable) under current regulatory guidelines. As of December 31, 2024 and 2023, the outstanding principal balance of the Trust Preferred Securities was $8,248,000.

The junior subordinated debentures are subject to mandatory redemption, in whole or in part, upon repayment of the Trust Preferred Securities at maturity or their earlier redemption at the liquidation amount. Subject to the Company having received prior approval of the Federal Reserve, if then required, the Trust Preferred Securities are redeemable prior to the maturity date of December 31, 2033, at the option of the Company on or after December 31, 2008 at par or upon the occurrence of specific events defined within the trust indenture.

In accordance with Topic No. 810 of the FASB's Accounting Standards Codification, Non-Consolidated Entities (FASB Interpretation No. 46), the Trusts are not consolidated with the Company. Accordingly, the Company does not report the securities issued by the Trust as a liability and instead reports as liabilities the junior subordinated debentures issued by the Company and held by the Trust, as these are no longer eliminated in consolidation. The trust preferred securities are recorded as junior debentures on the balance sheets, but subject to certain limitations, qualify for the Tier 1 capital for regulatory capital purposes.

M. LIMITATION ON DIVIDENDS

The Board of Directors of any state-chartered bank in Georgia may declare and pay cash dividends on its outstanding capital stock without any request for approval of the Bank's regulatory agency if the following conditions are met:

1) Total classified assets at the most recent examination of the bank do not exceed eighty (80) percent of equity capital.

2) The aggregate amount of dividends declared in the calendar year does not exceed fifty (50) percent of the prior year's net income.

3) The ratio of equity capital to adjusted total assets shall not be less than six (6) percent.

As of December 31, 2024, the amount available for distribution by the Bank as dividends in the subsequent year without regulatory consent was $10,543,482.

N. COMMITMENTS

The Bank is a party to financial instruments with off-balance-sheet risk in the normal course of business to meet the financing needs of its customers. These financial instruments include commitments to extend credit and standby letters of credit. Those instruments involve, to varying degrees, elements of credit risk and interest rate risk in excess of the amount recognized in the balance sheet. The contract or notional amounts of those instruments reflect the extent of involvement the Bank has in those particular financial instruments.

The Bank's exposure to credit loss in the event of nonperformance by the other party to the financial instrument for commitments to extend credit and standby letters of credit is represented by the contractual notional amount of those instruments. The Bank uses the same credit policies in making commitments and conditional obligations as it does for on-balance-sheet instruments.

	Years Ended December 31,
	2024	2023
	Contract or Notional Amount
Financial instruments whose contract amount represent credit risk:
Commitments to extend credit	$ 160,876,526	$ 164,976,329
Standby letters of credit	2,796,141	1,923,946
Total	$ 163,672,667	$ 166,900,275

Commitments to extend credit are agreements to lend to a customer as long as there is no violation of any condition established in the contract. Commitments generally have fixed expiration dates or other termination clauses and may require payment of a fee. Since many of the commitments are expected to expire without being drawn upon, the total commitment amounts do not necessarily represent future cash requirements. The Bank evaluates each customer's creditworthiness on a case-by-case basis. The amount of collateral obtained if deemed necessary by the Bank upon extension of credit is based on management's credit evaluation. Collateral held varies but may include accounts receivable, inventory, property, plant and equipment and income-producing commercial properties.

Standby letters of credit are conditional commitments issued by the Bank to guarantee the performance of a customer to a third party. Those guarantees are primarily issued to support public and private borrowing arrangements, including commercial paper, bond financing and similar transactions. All letters of credit are due within one year of the original commitment date. The credit risk involved in issuing letters of credit is essentially the same as that involved in extending loan facilities to customers.

The table below presents the activity in the allowance for unfunded commitment credit losses related to those financial instruments discussed above. This allowance is recorded in accrued expenses and other liabilities on the Consolidated Balance Sheets:

	Years Ended December 31,
	2024	2023
Beginning balance for allowance for credit losses on unfunded commitments	$ 918,063	$ 85,200
Impact of CECL adoption	-	750,006
Provision for credit losses on unfunded commitments	-	82,857
Ending balance of allowance for credit losses on unfunded commitments	$ 918,063	$ 918,063

O. RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

In the ordinary course of business, the Company, through the Bank, has direct and indirect loans outstanding to or for the benefit of certain executive officers and directors. These loans were made on substantially the same terms as those prevailing, at the time made, for comparable loans to other persons and did not involve more than the normal risk of collectability or present other unfavorable features.

The following is a summary of activity during the years ended December 31, 2024 and 2023 with respect to such loans to these individuals:

Balances at December 31, 2022	$	4,025,016
New loans		67,724
Repayments		(1,115,410)
Balances at December 31, 2023	$	2,977,330
Balances at December 31, 2023	$	2,977,330
New loans		1,025,357
Repayments		(440,259)
Change in related party		(716,859)
Balances at December 31, 2024	$	2,845,569

The Bank also had deposits from these related parties of $30,190,160 and $34,097,003 at December 31, 2024 and 2023, respectively.

P. FAIR VALUE MEASUREMENTS AND DISCLOSURES

The fair value of a financial instrument is the current amount that would be exchanged between willing parties, other than in a forced liquidation. Fair value is best determined based upon quoted market prices. However, in many instances, there are no quoted market prices for the company's various financial instruments. In cases where quoted market prices are not available, fair value is based on discounted cash flows or other valuation techniques. These techniques are significantly affected by the assumptions used, including the discount rate and estimates of future cash flows. Accordingly, the fair value estimates may not be realized in an immediate settlement of the instrument. The accounting standard for disclosures about the fair value of financial instruments excludes certain financial instruments and all nonfinancial instruments from its disclosure requirements. Accordingly, the aggregate fair value amounts presented may not necessarily represent the underlying fair value of the Company.

The fair value hierarchy describes three levels of inputs that may be used to measure fair value:

Level 1 – Valuation is based upon quoted prices for identical instruments traded in active markets.

Level 2 – Valuation is based upon observable inputs other than Level 1 prices, such as quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities; quoted prices in markets that are not active; or other inputs that are observable or can be corroborated by observable market data for substantially the full term of the assets or liabilities.

Level 3 – Valuation is based on unobservable inputs that are supported by little or no market activity and that are significant to the fair value of assets or liabilities.

Following is a description of valuation methodologies used for assets which are recorded at fair value.

Debt Securities Available for Sale

The fair value of securities available for sale is determined by various valuation methodologies. Where quoted market prices are available in an active market, securities are classified within Level 1 of the valuation hierarchy. If quoted market prices are not available, then fair values are estimated by using pricing models, quoted prices of securities with similar characteristics, or discounted cash flows. Level 2 securities include mortgage-backed securities issued by government sponsored enterprises and municipal bonds. The level 2 fair value pricing is provided by an independent third-party and is based upon similar securities in an active market. In certain cases where Level 1 or Level 2 inputs are not available, securities are classified within Level 3 of the hierarchy and include certain residual municipal securities and other less liquid securities.

Loans

The Company does not record loans at fair value on a recurring basis. However, from time to time, a loan is considered collateral dependent and an allowance for credit losses is established. Loans for which it is probable that payment of interest and principal will not be made in accordance with the contractual terms of the loan agreement are collateral dependent. Once a loan is identified as collateral dependent, management measures impairment based on the present value of expected future cash flows discounted at the loan's effective interest rate, except that as a practical expedient, a creditor may measure impairment based on a loan's observable market price, or the fair value of the collateral if repayment of the loan is dependent upon the sale of the underlying collateral. Those individually evaluated loans not requiring an allowance represent loans for which the fair value of the expected repayments or collateral exceed the recorded investments in such loans. In accordance with ASC 820, individually evaluated loans where an allowance is established based on the fair value of collateral require classification in the fair value hierarchy. When the fair value of the collateral is based on an observable market price or a current appraised value, the Company records the collateral dependent loan as nonrecurring Level 2. When an appraised value is not available or management determines the fair value of the collateral is further impaired below the appraised value and there is no observable market price, the Company records the collateral dependent loan as nonrecurring Level 3.

Other Real Estate

Other real estate is adjusted to fair value, less cost to sell, upon transfer of the loans to other real estate. Subsequently, other real estate is carried at the lower of carrying value or fair value. Fair value is based upon independent market prices, appraised values of the collateral or management's estimation of the value of the collateral. When the fair value of the collateral is based on an observable market price or a current appraised value, the Company records the other real estate as nonrecurring Level 2. When an appraised value is not available or management determines the fair value of the collateral is further impaired below the appraised value and there is no observable market price, the Company records the other real estate as nonrecurring Level 3.

Assets Recorded at Fair Value on a Nonrecurring Basis

The Company may be required, from time to time, to measure certain assets at fair value on a nonrecurring basis in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles. These include assets that are measured at the lower of cost or market that were recognized at fair value below cost at the end of the period.

The table below presents the Company's assets and liabilities measured at fair value on a nonrecurring basis as of December 31, 2024 and 2023, aggregated by the level in the fair value hierarchy within which those measurements fall.

	December 31, 2024

Q. PREFERRED STOCK

In 2017, the Company issued 903 shares of non-cumulative preferred stock. As of December 31, 2024 and 2023, 903 shares were outstanding. Each share of preferred stock is convertible to a single share of common stock upon election by the shareholder.

R. REGULATORY MATTERS

The Bank is subject to various regulatory capital requirements administered by the federal banking agencies. Failure to meet minimum capital requirements can initiate certain mandatory and possibly additional discretionary actions by regulators that, if undertaken, could have a direct material effect on the Company's financial statements. Under capital adequacy guidelines and the regulatory framework for prompt corrective action, the Bank must meet specific capital guidelines that involve quantitative measures of the Bank's assets, liabilities, and certain off-balance-sheet items as calculated under regulatory accounting practices. The Bank's capital amounts and classification are also subject to qualitative judgments by the regulators about components, risk weightings and other factors.

Quantitative measures established by regulation to ensure capital adequacy require the Bank to maintain minimum amounts and ratios (set forth in the table below) of total risk-based and Tier I capital (as defined in the regulations) to risk-weighted assets (as defined), and of Tier I capital (as defined) to average assets (as defined).

As of December 31, 2024, the most recent notification from the FDIC categorized the Bank as well capitalized under the regulatory framework for prompt corrective action. To be categorized as well capitalized, the Bank must maintain minimum regulatory capital ratios as set forth in the table. There are no conditions or events since that notification that management believes have changed the Bank's category.

R. REGULATORY MATTERS, CONTINUED

The Bank's actual capital amounts and ratios are presented in the following table.

	Actual		For Capital Adequacy Purposes		To Be Well Capitalized Under Prompt Corrective Action Provisions

S. SUBSEQUENT EVENTS

The Company performed an evaluation of subsequent events through April 7, 2025, the date upon which the Company's financial statements were available for issue. The Company has not evaluated subsequent events after this date. No subsequent events were identified that would have required a change to the financial statements or disclosure in the notes to the financial statements.

Bank Exceptions

ACH, EFT's, and Wire Transfers Incoming:
The RFP should include a wire transfer agreement. The agreement shall reflect that the selected bank agrees to the standard of 'simple negligence'. The City receives receipts through the ACH, EFT's, and Fedwire systems in its accounts on a regular basis. Receipts are received from payment card settlements, various customers, federal and state agencies, and from maturing investments. A proposing bank shall report ACH payment messages on the bank statements. The bank shall be capable of reporting ACH payment, EFT, and Fedwire messages in total on its web-based banking system. The bank shall report transaction confirmation numbers on its web-based banking system. The bank shall provide book transfer capability on its web-based banking system to transfer money between accounts at the bank. The bank uses the FRB EDI System to notify customer of additional information. Some detail is in the transaction online.

Deposit Reconciliation: Only banks with the capability of providing deposit reconciliation services on a web-based banking system shall be considered. Each deposit ticket shall bear the department name and number. PSB Does not offer Positive Pay Services: As additional fraud protection over the City's checks, the City desires to negotiate a positive pay services agreement with a no-pay default option. The agreement shall reflect that the selected bank's positive pay system be implemented at its teller lines. The bank shall report discrepancies electronically through its web-based banking system. The City shall provide an affirmative or negative response for each 'exception check'.

Positive Pay Services
All positive pay exceptions are monitored via the online banking system. Alerts are configured to notify designated City employees of exceptions at 9 AM, and decisions must be completed by the specified cutoff time (11 AM EST).
• Positive Pay for Checks: The City may set an automatic response to either "Pay" or "Return" if action is not taken by the cutoff time.
• Positive Pay for ACH: The default response is "Return" for all exceptions unless a decision is made before the cutoff time.
• These protocols remain in effect during holidays when the City offices are closed but the bank is open. Exception decisions can also be processed using a mobile device.

Check Reconciliation: Only banks with the capability of providing partial and full check reconciliation services on a web- based banking system shall be considered. Check reconciliation services may be part of a proposing bank's positive pay service.
While the bank does not provide check reconciliation services, transaction data can be exported from the online banking platform.

ACH and Wire Transfers Outgoing: The RFP should include a wire transfer agreement. The agreement shall reflect that the selected bank agrees to the standard of 'simple negligence'. The City disburses vendor payments electronically through ACH and wire transfers on a regular basis. Electronic payments are made for payroll direct deposit, federal and state tax liabilities, debt service, purchases of investment securities, and others. The bank shall memo-post ACH transfers immediately for later settlement and execute wire transfers within 15 minutes after placement. The bank shall promptly notify, by telephone, the Comptroller's designated contact of any wire failures. The bank shall report ACH payment messages on the bank statements. The bank shall be capable of reporting ACH payment and wire transactions on its web-based banking system. The bank shall report transaction confirmation numbers on its web-based banking system.

ACH origination files are memo posted on the designated effective date.

• Wire transfers are memo posted upon creation and processed within a reasonable timeframe, contingent upon transaction volume. All outgoing wires undergo verification by the Treasury Services Department to mitigate fraud risk for both the customer and the bank.

• Wire confirmation is provided to City-assigned employees at the time of processing and includes the beneficiary's name along with the trace number for reference.

You understand that your account is also governed by applicable law. The information found in any account opening Disclosures may change from time to time in our sole discretion. If the fees, charges, minimum balance requirements, or other items change in a manner that would adversely affect you, we will provide you with written notice prior to the change. By providing a written or electronic signature on the Account Information document or other agreement to open your account, or by using any of our deposit account services, you and any identified account owners agree to the terms contained in this Account Agreement.

YOUR CHOICE OF ACCOUNT. You have instructed us as to the title and type of the account that you have chosen. You acknowledge that it is your sole responsibility to determine the full legal effect of opening and maintaining the type of account you have chosen. We have not set forth all laws that may impact your chosen account. You must determine whether the account you select is appropriate for your current and future needs. Except as required by law, we assume no legal responsibility to inform you as to the effect of your account choice on your legal interests.

BUSINESS ACCOUNTS. Business accounts are those established by any partnership, corporation, association or other entity operated on a for-profit basis; all corporations and associations operated on a not-for-profit-basis; and any individual who intends to use the account for carrying on a trade or business. We reserve the right to require separate written authorization, in a form acceptable to us, telling us who is authorized to act on your behalf. We are authorized to follow the directions of a person designated as having authority to act on the entity's behalf until we receive written notice that the authority has been terminated and have had a reasonable time to act upon that notice.

ADDITIONAL DOCUMENTS TO OPEN ACCOUNT. You agree to supply us with a copy of any chartering document, Operating Agreement, or related documents requested by us.

ESCROW, TRUST, FIDUCIARY AND CUSTODIAL ACCOUNTS. When your account is set up as an escrow account, trust account, fiduciary account or custodial account, it is your sole responsibility to determine the legal effects of opening and maintaining an account of this nature. We have no obligation to act as trustee or to inquire into your powers or responsibilities over this account. We reserve the right to require the documentation necessary under applicable law to establish, maintain, manage, and close this account. There may be additional terms and conditions that apply to this account that are governed by a separate agreement.

TRANSFERS AND ASSIGNMENTS. We may assign or transfer any or all of our interest in this account. You cannot assign or transfer any interest in your account unless we agree in writing.

RESTRICTIVE LEGENDS. We are not required to honor any restrictive legend on checks you write unless we have agreed to the restriction in writing signed by an officer of the Bank. Examples of restrictive legends are "two signatures required", "must be presented within 90 days" or "not valid for more than $1,000.00."

STALE OR POSTDATED CHECKS. We reserve the right to pay or dishonor a check more than six (6) months old without prior notice to you. You agree not to postdate any check drawn on the account. If you do, and the check is presented for payment before the date of the check, we may pay it or return it unpaid. We are not liable for paying any stale or postdated check. Any damages you incur that we may be liable for are limited to actual damages not to exceed the amount of the check.

PREAUTHORIZED CHECKS OR DRAFTS. You should guard information about your account (such as your routing number and your account number) as carefully as you would guard blank checks. If you voluntarily give such information about your account to a party which is seeking to sell you goods or services, without physically delivering a check to that party, any debit to or withdrawal from your account it initiates will be deemed authorized by you.

VERIFYING FUNDS AVAILABILITY FOR CHECK. You authorize us to release funds availability information about your account to individuals or merchants who represent to us that they have received a check from you.

CHECK SAFEKEEPING. If you utilize a check safekeeping system or any other system offered by us for the retention of your checks, you understand that the canceled checks will be retained by us and destroyed after a reasonable time period or as required by law. Any request for a copy of any check may be subject to a fee, as indicated in the Fee Schedule or Disclosures and as allowed by law. If for any reason we cannot provide you with a copy of a check, our liability will be limited to the lesser of the face amount of the check or the actual damages sustained by you.

YOUR RESPONSIBILITY FOR BACK OF CHECK. All negotiable paper ("checks") presented for deposit must be in a format that can be processed and we may refuse to accept any check that does not meet this requirement. All endorsements on the reverse side of any check deposited into your account must be placed on the left side of the check when looking at it from the front, and the endorsements must be placed so as not to go beyond an area located 1-½ inches from the left edge of the check when looking at it from the front. It is your responsibility to ensure that these requirements are met and you are responsible for any loss incurred by us for failure of an endorsement to meet this requirement.

ELECTRONIC CHECKS AND ELECTRONICALLY-CREATED ITEMS. Pursuant to Regulation CC, electronic checks may be treated the same as paper checks for check collection and processing purposes. See the Substitute Checks section for more information.

Electronically-created items ("ECI") are check-like items created in electronic form that never existed in paper form. For example, you set up automatic bill payments with us to pay your utility bill. From your account information, we create an ECI that is sent to your utility company for payment. An ECI cannot be used to create a substitute check since it never existed in paper form.

SUBSTITUTE CHECKS. To make check processing faster, federal law permits financial institutions to replace original checks with "substitute checks." These substitute checks are similar in size to the original checks with a slightly reduced image of the front and back of the original check. The front of a substitute check states: "This is a legal copy of your check. You can use it the same way you would use the original check." You may use a substitute check as proof of payment just like the original check. Some or all of the checks that you receive back from us may be substitute checks. An electronic check can be used to create a substitute check since the electronic image and electronic information was derived from its paper form.

REMOTE DEPOSIT CAPTURE. Remote deposit capture ("RDC") allows you to make deposits to your account from remote locations by electronically transmitting digital images of your original paper checks, which are drawn on or payable through United States financial institutions in United States dollars to us. We may then use the digital image to create an electronic check or substitute check for collection. If you use our RDC services, if applicable, we may require you to endorse the back of the paper check to indicate that it has been remotely deposited. For example, "for mobile deposit only" or "for mobile deposit at Primesouth Bank only."

REMOTELY CREATED CHECKS. A remotely created check, as defined in Regulation CC, means a check that is not created by the paying bank and that does not bear a signature applied, or purported to be applied, by the person on whose account the check is drawn. By having a deposit account with us, you certify that all remotely created checks deposited to your account(s) will be expressly and verifiably authorized by the payer. And we reserve the rights to refuse for deposit any such remotely created check if we have any reason to believe that the check is fraudulent in any manner and to obtain from you the payer's express, verifiable authorization for any such check.

WITHDRAWALS. Deposits will be available for withdrawal consistent with the terms of the Disclosures. Withdrawals may be subject to a service charge.

DEPOSITS. Deposits may be made in person, by mail, or in another form and manner as agreed by us in our sole discretion. We are not responsible for transactions mailed until we actually receive and record them. We may in our sole discretion refuse to accept particular instruments as a deposit to your account. Cash deposits are credited to your account according to this Agreement. Other items you deposit are handled by us according to our usual collection practices. If an item you deposit is returned unpaid, we will debit your account for the item. You are liable to us for the amount of any check you deposit to your account that is returned unpaid and all costs and expenses related to the collection of all or part of such amount from you. Funds deposited to your account, excluding any Time Deposit accounts, are available in accordance with the Disclosures.

COLLECTION OF DEPOSITED ITEMS. In receiving items for deposit or collection, we act only as your agent and assume no responsibility beyond the exercise of ordinary care. All items are credited subject to final settlement in cash or credits. We shall have the right to forward items to correspondents including all Federal Reserve Banks, and we shall not be liable for default or neglect of said correspondents for loss in transit, nor shall any correspondent be liable except for its own negligence. You specifically authorize us or our correspondents to utilize Federal Reserve Banks to handle such items in accordance with provisions of Regulation J (12 CFR Part 210), as revised or amended from time to time by the Federal Reserve Board. In the event we are subject to local clearinghouse rules, you specifically authorize us to handle such items in accordance with the rules and regulations of the clearinghouse.

If we permit you to withdraw funds from your account before final settlement has been made for any deposited item, and final settlement is not made, we have the right to charge your account or obtain a refund from you. In addition, we may charge back any deposited item at any time before final settlement for whatever reason. We shall not be liable for any damages resulting from the exercise of these rights. Except as may be attributable to our lack of good faith or failure to exercise ordinary care, we will not be liable for dishonor resulting from any reversal of credit, return of deposited items or for any damages resulting from any of those actions.

UNLAWFUL INTERNET GAMBLING. Restricted transactions are prohibited from being processed through your account with us as required by the Unlawful Internet Gambling Enforcement Act of 2006 and Regulation GG. A restricted transaction is a transaction or transmittal involving any credit, funds, instrument, or proceeds in connection with the participation of another person in unlawful Internet gambling. You will notify us if your business practices regarding Internet gambling change in the future.

STATEMENTS. We will provide you with a periodic statement showing the account activity. The last address you supply us in writing will be deemed the proper address for mailing this statement to you. The account holder who receives this statement is the agent for his/her co-account holder(s) for purposes of receiving the statement and items. You must exercise reasonable care in reviewing your statement and reasonable promptness in notifying us of any discrepancies, such as alterations or forged or unauthorized signatures, even if by the same wrongdoer. Reasonable promptness will not exist if you fail to notify us within 30 days after we mail or otherwise make the statement available to you. If you fail to notify us of any discrepancies, with reasonable promptness, your right to assert such discrepancies will be barred or limited to the extent permitted by law. Additionally, you agree that we will not be liable for your forged or unauthorized signature or alteration on the face of the item reported to us after 60 days after we mail or otherwise make the statement or items available to you, and for any unauthorized indorsement or alteration on the back of the item reported to us after one year after we mail or otherwise make the statement or items available to you, even if we failed to exercise ordinary care. If you do not receive a statement from us because you have failed to claim it or have supplied us with an incorrect address, we may stop sending your statements until you specifically make written request that we resume sending your statements and you supply us with a proper address.

ELECTRONIC STATEMENTS AND NOTICES. You may have the option to have statements and notices regarding this account provided to you in an electronic form, including to a designated e-mail address, through an online banking portal, or other electronic method, upon your authorization. The authorization may be withdrawn at any time to return to a mailed paper form by providing written notice to us at the address provided. The fees for receiving in either form, and for receiving paper copies, are described in your account opening documents.

ACH AND WIRE TRANSFERS. This Agreement is subject to Article 4A of the Uniform Commercial Code - Funds Transfers as adopted in the State of Georgia. If you send or receive a wire transfer, you agree that Fedwire® Funds Service may be used. Federal Reserve Board Regulation J is the law that covers transactions made over Fedwire® Funds Service. When you originate a funds transfer for which Fedwire® Funds Service is used, and you identify by name and number a beneficiary financial institution, an intermediary financial institution or a beneficiary, we and every receiving or beneficiary institution may rely on the identifying number to make payment. We may rely on the number even if it identifies a financial institution, person or account other than the one named.

If you are a party to an Automated Clearing House ("ACH") entry, you agree that we may transmit an entry through the ACH, and you agree to be bound by the National Automated Clearing House Association ("Nacha") Operating Rules and Guidelines, the rules of any local ACH, and the rules of any other systems through which the entry is made.

PROVISIONAL PAYMENT. Credit we give you is provisional until we receive final settlement for that entry. If we do not receive final settlement, you agree that we are entitled to a refund of the amount credited to you in connection with the entry, and the party making payment to you via such entry (i.e., the originator of the entry) shall not be deemed to have paid you in the amount of such entry.

INTERNATIONAL ACH TRANSACTIONS. If your transaction originates from a financial agency that is outside of the territorial jurisdiction of the United States, it may be subject to additional review for compliance with the rules of the Office of Foreign Assets Control (OFAC). If additional review is required, the International ACH transaction will not be available to you until it passes final verification.

NOTICE OF RECEIPT. We will not provide you with notice of our receipt of the order, unless we are so requested by the transfer originator in the order. However, we will continue to notify you of the receipt of payments in the periodic statements we provide to you.

CHOICE OF LAW. We may accept on your behalf payments to your account which have been transmitted, that are not subject to the Electronic Fund Transfer Act, and your rights and obligations with respect to such payments shall be construed in accordance with and governed by the laws of the state where we are located.

DIRECT DEPOSITS. We may offer direct deposit services, including preauthorized deposits (e.g., payroll checks, Social Security or retirement checks, or other government checks) or preauthorized transfers from other accounts. If your account is overdrawn, you authorize us to deduct the amount of the overdraft from any deposit, including deposits of government payments or benefits. If we are required to reimburse the U.S. government for any benefit payment directly deposited into your account, we may deduct the amount returned from any of your accounts, unless prohibited by law.

STOP PAYMENTS.

STOP PAYMENT ON CHECKS. You may stop payment on a check drawn against your account by a record or written order or other confirmation as allowed by us, provided that we receive the Stop Payment Order in a time and manner that gives us a reasonable opportunity to act on it. The Stop Payment Order must describe the check or account with reasonable certainty. Oral requests for a Stop Payment Order are binding on us for 14 calendar days only and must be confirmed by you in a record or writing within that period. If the record or written confirmation is not received as specified, we will no longer be bound by your request. Upon receipt of confirmation in a record or writing, a Stop Payment Order on a check remains in effect for six months or until we receive a record or writing revoking the Stop Payment Order, whichever occurs first. If the check on which a Stop Payment Order has been placed has not cleared or been returned to you by the payee, you may renew the Stop Payment Order for an additional six months by providing a request to us in a record or writing within the time period the Stop Payment Order is in effect. You understand that we may accept the Stop Payment Order request from any of the authorized signers of the account regardless of who signed the check.

We have a daily cutoff time by which we must receive any knowledge, notice, Stop Payment Order, set-off or legal process affecting our right or duty to pay a check. That cutoff time is one hour after the opening of your branch's banking day, following the banking day on which your branch received the check.

STOP PAYMENT ON EFT DEBITS. A Stop Payment Order may be placed on either a one-time debit transfer or on a multiple debit entry transfer. If you request a Stop Payment Order on an Electronic Check Conversion or other one-time debit transfer, we must receive the request, orally or in a record or writing, in a period of time that provides us a reasonable opportunity to act on it prior to acting on the debit entry, otherwise the Stop Payment Order shall be of no effect. If you requested a stop payment on a multiple debit entry transfer, we must receive the Stop Payment Order, orally or in a record or writing, at least three business days before a scheduled multiple debit entry. Oral stop payment orders are binding on us for 14 calendar days only and must be confirmed by you in a record or writing within that period. A Stop Payment Order on an EFT debit remains in effect until the earlier of 1) your withdrawal of the Stop Payment Order, 2) the return of the debit entry, or 3) six months from the date of the Stop Payment Order, unless you renew the Stop Payment Order. You may renew the Stop Payment Order for an additional six months to prevent the transfer from being paid by providing a request to us within the time period the Stop Payment Order is in effect. When a stop is placed on a multiple debit entry transfer, we may require your confirmation in a record or writing stating that you have canceled your authorization for the transfer with the payee (a Stop Payment Order does not revoke authorization).

The Stop Payment Order shall be governed by the provision of the Uniform Commercial Code 4A in effect in the state in which we are located, Nacha Operating Rules, and any applicable state law.

You may be charged a fee every time you request a Stop Payment Order, and for each Stop Payment Order renewal you make. A release of the Stop Payment Order may be made by the person who initiated the stop payment request or any of the authorized signers on the account. Our acceptance of a stop payment request does not constitute a representation by us that the item has not already been paid or that we have had a reasonable opportunity to act on the request.

DEATH OR INCOMPETENCY. Neither the death nor the legal adjudication of incompetence of any individual authorized to act on your behalf revokes our authority to accept, pay, or collect items until we know of the fact of death or of an adjudication of incompetence and have a reasonable opportunity to act on it. To the extent permitted by law, even with knowledge, we may for 10 days after the date of death, pay checks drawn on or before the date of death unless ordered to stop payment by a person claiming an interest in the account.

NON-SUFFICIENT FUNDS AND OVERDRAFTS INFORMATION

Available Balance. This is the money in your account you can use, excluding pending transactions and check holds. For example, if you have $500 and authorize a $100 debit card payment, your available balance drops to $400. Items like uncashed checks or pending deposits are not reflected in this amount.

Overdraft. An overdraft happens when a transaction exceeds your available balance, and the bank covers it for a fee.

Non-Sufficient Funds (NSF). If an item is presented to an account with insufficient funds, the bank may return the item and apply a fee.

Processing Order. Transactions are processed in the order in which they are received. Credits are posted to your account first, followed by debits. Payments are made from your available balance; if necessary, items may be paid using your overdraft limit. A Non-Sufficient Funds (NSF) fee may apply if a transaction is declined, or an overdraft fee may be charged if we approve the transaction.

Represented Item. If we choose not to pay a debit transaction or item on your behalf and instead return the debit or item, a non-sufficient funds fee may be assessed. According to NACHA Operating Rules and Guidelines, as well as other applicable laws, a debit or item may be presented for payment multiple times. We do not assess a non-sufficient funds fee for represented items.

How fees are assessed. If there are not enough funds in your available balance to cover an item, we may take one of two actions: 1) return the item and apply a non-sufficient funds fee of $35.00, or 2) pay the item and apply an Overdraft fee of $35.00. Consumer accounts may incur up to 5 fees ($175.00) per day. There is no daily fee limit for non-consumer or business accounts.

Overdraft Options. It is important for you to use your checking account responsibly and to never intentionally overdraw your account. However, we realize that financial shortfalls happen from time to time, and we have several options available for you. As a benefit to our customers, we offer these useful services:

Transfer from another account. If you have other accounts with us, you can authorize us to transfer the funds needed to cover your overdraft.

Overdraft Protection Program. Our Overdraft Protection Program is automatically included with qualified accounts. Some account types, such as those involved in bankruptcy, delinquency, or those belonging to minors, may not be eligible. This service assists in covering specific items when the funds are insufficient, allowing your checking account balance to go negative. We will make every effort to pay items that exceed your balance whenever possible. The program will assess whether to pay or decline these items based on predetermined criteria, such as your account history, in a fair and consistent manner. This service is discretionary, and we are not obligated to pay items if your account has insufficient funds, even if previous NSF items have been paid. While we strive to assist in covering your transactions, we do charge a fee for these items. Please refer to the fee schedule for this detailed information.

Eligibility. The overdraft Protection Program is added at account opening for most account types unless declined by the customer. Eligibility is at the sole discretion of the Bank and is based on you managing your checking account in a responsible manner.

Overdraft Privilege may be suspended or permanently removed based on the following criteria:

© TruStage Compliance Solutions 2001-2025

• You do not bring your account to a positive balance within 30 days of becoming overdrawn.
• Your account type is not eligible.
• You are more than 30 days past due on any Bank loan or delinquent on any other obligation to the Bank.
• You are subject to any legal or administrative orders, levy, or are currently a party in a bankruptcy proceeding.
• You have an outstanding balance on an Overdraft Repayment Plan.
• Your account is being reviewed for fraudulent activity or transactions.
• The primary account owner is less than 18 years old.
• Your account is classified as inactive.
• You have an unresolved prior loss with the Bank.
• We do not have a valid address for you.
• We believe you are not managing your account in a responsible manner which may harm you or us.

Eligible Transactions. Transactions that are eligible to overdraft using the Overdraft Protection Program include: checks written, ACH transactions, preauthorized automatic transfers, and re-occurring debit card transaction.

Ineligible Transaction. Transaction that will not be included in the Overdraft Protection Program are ATM withdrawal, one-time purchases using your debit card.

Decline Program - If you decide the Overdraft Protection Program is not right for you, we are happy to remove it from your account. Simply call us at 1-833-540-5581, visit a branch, or send us a secure message via online banking. If you remove this service, you may still be charged a non-sufficient funds fee when items are presented, and the funds are unavailable to pay the item.

SIGNATURES. Your signature on the Account Information document is your authorized signature. You authorize us, at any time, to charge you for all checks, drafts, orders, or other items for the payment of money, that are drawn on us regardless of by whom or by what means your signature may have been affixed so long as the signature resembles the signature specimen in our files. For withdrawal and other purposes relating to any account you have with us, we are authorized to recognize your signature; and we will not be liable to you for refusing to honor signed instruments or instructions if we believe in good faith that one or more of the signatures appearing on the instrument or instructions is not genuine.

Further, most checks, and other items are processed automatically, i.e., without individual review of each item. Therefore, unless we agree in a separate writing, in our sole discretion, upon your request and due to unique circumstances to conduct individual review of each item, you agree that we are acting within common and reasonable banking practices by automatically processing checks, and other items, i.e., without individual review of each check, or item. You agree to indemnify, defend, and hold us harmless from and against all loss, costs, damage, liability, and other injury (including reasonable attorney fees) that you or we may suffer or incur as a result of this practice.

FEES, SERVICE CHARGES AND BALANCE REQUIREMENTS. You agree to pay us and are responsible for any fees, charges or balance/deposit requirements as provided in the Fee Schedule or Disclosures provided to you at the time you opened the account. Fees, charges and balance requirements may change from time to time. We also reserve the right to impose a service charge for cashing checks drawn on your account if the person cashing the check is not a customer of this Bank.

SET-OFFS AND SECURITY INTEREST. If you ever owe us money as a borrower, guarantor, or otherwise, and it becomes due, we have the right under the law (called "set-off") and under this Agreement (by which you grant us a security interest in your deposit account and any other accounts held by you) to use your account funds to pay the debt, where permitted by law. The security interest granted by this Agreement is consensual and is in addition to our right of set-off.

CLAIMS. In response to any garnishment, attachment, restraining order, injunction, levy, citation to discover assets, judgment, reclamation, other order of court or other legal process ("Claim(s)"), we have the right to place a hold on, remove from your account(s) and/or remit to the designated third-party(ies) any amount on deposit in your account as set forth in and required by such Claim(s). In addition, we may charge against your account(s) any fee authorized by law in connection with the Claim(s) or as otherwise set forth in the Fee Schedule.

DORMANT/INACTIVE ACCOUNTS. You understand that if your account is dormant or inactive, we may charge fees specified in the Disclosures to the extent permitted by the law. You agree that we are relieved of all responsibility if your account balance is escheated (that is, turned over to the state) in accordance with state law.

ATTORNEYS' FEES AND EXPENSES. You agree to be liable to us for any loss, costs or expenses, including reasonable attorneys' fees to the extent permitted by law, that we incur as a result of any dispute involving your account, and you authorize us to deduct any such loss, costs or expense from your account without prior notice to you. This obligation includes disputes between yourself and us involving the account and situations where we become involved in disputes between you and an authorized signer, another joint owner, or a third party claiming an interest in the account. It also includes situations where you, an authorized signer, another joint owner, or a third party takes action with respect to the account that causes us, in good faith, to seek the advice of counsel, whether or not we actually become involved in a dispute.

LEGAL PROCESS AGAINST ACCOUNT. You agree to be responsible for, to reimburse us, and/or have your account charged for any expenses or reasonable attorney fees we incur due to an attachment, garnishment, levy or subpoena of records of your account. Any garnishment or other levy against your account is subject to our right of set-off and security interest. We may restrict the use of your account if it is involved in any legal proceeding.

CLOSING ACCOUNT. We may close the account at any time, with or without cause, after sending you notice as required by the law. At our discretion, we have the authority to pay an otherwise properly payable check, which is presented after the closing of your account. Such a termination will not release you from any fees or other obligations incurred before the termination. We will send a check for the balance in our possession to which you are entitled.

OUR WAIVER OF RIGHTS. You understand and agree that no delay or failure on our part to exercise any right, remedy, power or privilege available to us under this Agreement shall affect or preclude our future exercise of that right, remedy, power or privilege.

YOUR WAIVER OF NOTICE. By signing the Account Information form, you waive any notice of non-payment, dishonor or protest regarding any items credited to or charged against your deposit account to the extent permitted by law. For example, if a check that you deposited is dishonored and returned to us, we are not required to notify you of the dishonor.

NOTICE. You are responsible for notifying us of any change to the name, type or address of your entity or other information affecting your account. Notices must be in a form and manner acceptable to us with enough information to allow us to identify the account. Notice sent by you to us is not effective until we have received it and have had a reasonable opportunity to act upon it. Written notice sent by us to you is effective when mailed to the last address supplied.

LIABILITY. If we do not properly complete a transaction according to this Agreement, we will be liable for your losses or damages not to exceed the amount of the transaction, except as otherwise provided by law. We will not be liable if, for example: (1) your account contains an insufficient available balance for the transaction; (2) circumstances beyond our control prevent the transaction; (3) your loss is caused by your or another financial institution's negligence; or (4) your account funds are subject to legal process or other claim. We will not be liable for consequential damages, except liability for wrongful dishonor. We are not responsible for a check that is paid by us if we acted in a commercially reasonable manner and exercised ordinary care. We exercise ordinary care if our actions or non-actions are consistent with applicable state law, Federal Reserve regulations and operating letters, clearing house rules, and general financial institution practices followed in the area we serve. You grant us the right, in making payments of deposited funds, to rely exclusively on the form of the account and the terms of this Agreement. Any conflict regarding what you and our employees say or write will be resolved by reference to this Agreement.

TAXPAYER IDENTIFICATION NUMBER AND BACKUP WITHHOLDING. You must provide a taxpayer identification number (hereinafter TIN) with your account with us. If you fail to provide your TIN within a reasonable time, we may suspend opening your account or close your account and return the balance to you, less any applicable service fees. Your failure to furnish a correct TIN or meet other requirements may result in backup withholding. If your account is subject to backup withholding, we must withhold and pay to the Internal Revenue Service a percentage of payments.

TELEPHONE AND ELECTRONIC COMMUNICATION. You agree that we may call or send text messages to you at the telephone numbers that you provide to us, including a cell phone number, which may result in charges to you, for informational purposes regarding your account(s) with us. These calls and text messages may be made from an automatic telephone dialing system (i.e., an autodialer) or from an artificial or prerecorded voice message system. Additionally, you agree that we may send electronic communication to you at the email addresses you provide to us. You may contact us at any time if you no longer want to receive these communications from us. You also agree that we may monitor and record telephone and electronic communications that affect your account(s) with us to the extent permitted by law. We need not provide further notice to you or receive additional approval.

ONLINE OR MOBILE SERVICES. If you open an account or obtain a product or service from us using our online or mobile services, we may record your personal information from a scan or a copy of your driver's license or other personal identification card, or we may receive an image or make a copy of your driver's license or other personal identification card. We may store or retain this information to the extent permitted by law.

AMENDMENTS AND ALTERATIONS. Except as prohibited by law, we may amend this Agreement by adding, removing, or changing terms at any time. We will notify you of amendments as required by applicable law. Your continued use of the account evidences your agreement to any amendments. Notices will be sent to the most recent address shown on the account records.

SEVERABILITY. If a court for any reason holds a provision of this Agreement to be unenforceable, the rest remains fully enforceable. All headings are intended for reference only and are not to be construed as part of the Agreement.

ENFORCEMENT. You are liable to us for any losses, costs, or expenses we incur resulting from your failure to follow this Agreement. You authorize us to deduct any such losses, costs, or expenses from your account without prior notice to you. If we bring a legal action to collect any amount due under or to enforce this Agreement, we shall be entitled, subject to applicable law, to payment of reasonable attorney's fees and costs, including fees on any appeal, bankruptcy proceedings, and any post judgment collection actions.

EFFECTIVE APPLICABLE LAWS AND REGULATIONS. You understand that this Agreement is governed by the laws of Georgia, except to the extent that federal law is controlling. Changes in these laws and regulations may modify the terms and conditions of your account(s). We do not have to notify you of these changes, unless required to do so by law. If any of the terms of this Agreement come into conflict with the applicable law and are declared to be invalid or unenforceable, those terms will be nullified to the extent that they are inconsistent with the law and the applicable law will govern. However, this shall not affect the validity of the remaining provisions.

SWORN STATEMENT UNDER F.S. SECTION 287.133(3) (A), ON PUBLIC ENTITY CRIMES

THIS FORM SHALL BE SIGNED IN THE PRESENCE OF A NOTARY PUBLIC OR OTHER OFFICER AUTHORIZED TO ADMINISTER OATHS.

1. This sworn statement is submitted with Bid, Proposal or Contract for PrimeSouth Bank.

2. This sworn statement is submitted by (entity) PrimeSouth Bank whose business address is 1500 Sadler Rd Fernandina Beach FL, 32034 and (if applicable) Federal Employer Identification Number (FEIN) is 58-0136257 (If a Sole Proprietor and you have no FEIN, include the last four (4) digits of your Social Security Number: _____.)

3. My name is Josh Mattox and my relationship to the entity named above is Market President.

4. I understand that a "public entity crime" as defined in Paragraph 287.133(a) (g). Florida Statutes, means a violation of any state or federal law by a person with respect to and directly related to the transaction of business with any public entity or with an agency or political subdivision of any other state or with the United States, including, but not limited to, any proposal or contract for goods or services to be provided to any public entity or any agency or political subdivision of any other state or of the United States and involving antitrust, fraud, theft, bribery, collusion, racketeering, conspiracy, or material misrepresentation.

5. I understand that "convicted" or "conviction" as defined in paragraph 287.133(a) (b), Florida Statutes, means finding of guilt or a conviction of a public entity crime with or without an adjudication of guilt, in any federal or state trial court of records relating to charges brought by indictment or information after July 1, 1989, as a result of a jury verdict, non-jury trial, or entry of a plea of guilty or nolo contendere.

6. I understand that an "affiliate" as defined in Paragraph 287.133(1) (a), Florida Statutes, means:

    1. A predecessor or successor of a person convicted of a public entity crime; or

    2. An entity under the control of any natural person who is active in the management of the entity and who has been convicted of a public entity crime. The term "affiliate" includes those officers, directors, executives, partners, shareholders, employees, members, and agents who are active in the management of an affiliate. The City of Fernandina Beach, Florida ownership by one of shares constituting a controlling income among persons when not for fair interest in another person, or a pooling of equipment or income among persons when not for fair market value under a length agreement, shall be a prima facie case that one person controls another person. A person who was knowingly convicted of a public entity crime, in Florida during the preceding 36 months shall be considered an affiliate.

7. I understand that a "person" as defined in Paragraph 287.133(1) (e), Florida Statutes, means any natural person or entity organized under the laws of the state or of the United States with the legal power to enter into a binding contract for provision of goods or services let by a public entity, or which otherwise transacts or applies to transact business with a public entity. The term "person" includes those officers, directors, executives, partners, shareholders, employees, members, and agents who are active in management of an entity.

8. Based on information and belief, the statement which I have marked below is true in relation to the entity submitting this sworn statement. (Please indicate which statement applies)

____ Neither the entity submitting this sworn statement, nor any officers, directors, executives, partners, shareholders, employees, members, or agents who are active in management of the entity, nor affiliate of the entity have been charged with and convicted of a public entity crime subsequent to July 1, 1989.

____ The entity submitting this sworn statement, or one or more of the officers, directors, executives, partners, shareholders, employees, members, or agents who are active in management of the entity, or an affiliate of the entity has been charged with and convicted of a public entity crime subsequent to July 1, 1989. (Please attach a copy of the final order.)

____ The person or affiliate was placed on the convicted FIRM list. There has been a subsequent proceeding before a hearing officer of the State of Florida, Division of Administrative Hearings. The final order entered by the hearing officer determined that it was in public interest to remove the person or affiliate from the convicted FIRM list. (Please attach a copy of the final order.)

_X_ The person or affiliate has not been placed on the convicted FIRM list. (Please describe any action taken by, or pending with, the Department of General Services.)

Fidelity Treasury sweep	3.39%

Regions offers a full array of sweep solutions designed to help City of Fernandina Beach automate investment and/or borrowing functions to maximize investment earnings, minimize idle balances and reduce interest expenses while allowing you to maintain complete control of your liquidity needs at all times.

Money Market Mutual Fund Sweep is an automated investment sweep solution that allows idle checking account balances above the $100,000 target balance to earn interest by having the excess funds swept into a money market mutual fund. Balances that are swept into the money market mutual fund remain invested until the funds are needed in the checking account.

For additional information on Regions' sweep investment options, please refer to Attachment 4 – Sweep Pricing Model.

29. Quote the interest rate the Proposer is offering the City on funds remaining in the interest-bearing accounts overnight in terms of the Effective Federal Funds Rate.

For Interest earning non sweep option:
Interest earnings at Fed Funds Upper Limit (Currently 3.75%) minus 1.54%: 2.21% (annual rate). Interest is computed and paid monthly via the bank's analysis system.

Pleas refer to Attachment 4 – Interest Checking Pricing Model

30. Describe the method used to calculate the Earnings Credit Rate, ECR and quote the interest rate the Proposer is offering the City on ECR funds in terms of the Effective Federal Funds Rate. Please include in the Proposer's explanation the impact of the bank formula for converting service charges to balance requirements and listing of the bank earnings credits for the last twelve months. Describe how interest on the excess balances is calculated and quote the interest rate the Proposer is offering the City on excess balances in terms of the Effective Federal Funds Rate.

For the Sweep option, Regions offeres the City an Earning Credit Rate (ECR) computed Fed Funds Target (3.75%) minus 1.75%. Currently equalling 2.00%.

Earnings Credit Allowance:
Positive (Average) Net Collected Balance x Earnings Rate / (# days in yr.) x (# days in month analyzed) = Earnings Credit Allowance

Example: 7, 037 x .0299 / 365 x 31 = 17.87

Example: 9.00 x 365 / 31 / .0299 = 3,544.07

Idle balances above the $100,000 target balance will earn interest in the Money Market Mutual Fund Sweep.

31. Describe the Proposer's overnight sweep investment options. Provide earnings history for the overnight sweep investment agreement(s) for the last twelve months. What (if any) fee is charged to sweep funds into the proposed investment vehicle(s)? How is the fee calculated? What time of day is the sweep deadline (end-of-day or new-day)?

- "AAA"-rated Money Market Overnight Investment Sweep with two fund options:

Investment Option	Ticker Symbol/CUSIP
Morgan Stanley Government Sweep	MVVXX / 61747C806
Fidelity Treasury Sweep	FCEXX / 316175835

For earnings history please see Attachment – Sweep Information

Monthly charge for overnight sweep option is $200/month per account.
Idle available balances are swept nightly.

32. What are the beginning and ending cut-off times in EST for initiating wire transfers to ensure same-day execution?

Cut-off Times:
ITREASURY WIRE CUT-OFF TIMES (EASTERN TIME)
Outgoing Wires

- 8:30 AM – 5:00 PM (Domestic)

33. What are the beginning and ending cut-off times in EST for receiving domestic wire transfers to ensure same-day credit?

Cut-off Times:
WIRE CUT-OFF TIMES (EASTERN TIME)
Incoming Wires

- 8:30 AM – 6:30 PM (Domestic)
- 8:30 AM – 6:30 PM (International)

34. Describe when and how a wire can be cancelled after the City releases it into the system. What is the latest time in the day to cancel? Is there a charge? If so, how much? How does this differ for wire transfers initiated by phone?

Wire transfers are settled in real time after the proper authorizations have been received; therefore, it is highly unusual to have the opportunity to cancel a wire before it has been processed. In the event a cancellation is needed, the client will need to contact our Money Transfer Department. As circumstances dictate, Regions will make a best effort attempt to work with the beneficiary bank and recover funds sent erroneously or fraudulently. There is no charge for this process.

35. How and when is the City notified of a failed wire transfer?

    Regions notifies the client by phone upon identification of a failed outgoing wire.

36. Describe how the City can track wires through the system (input, approved and released).

    After a wire transfer is completed, Regions will issue a confirmation per your preferences via phone or e-mail. In addition, you can view the status of your wire through iTreasury.

37. Describe the incoming wire notification process.

    Bank and Federal reference numbers are provided via email or internet based upon the client's preference.

38. What is the total amount of dollars that can be wired out across all accounts in a single day?

    The total dollar amount that can be wired out across all accounts in a single day is limited by the available balance in the client's depository account, ensuring that outgoing transfers cannot exceed cleared funds on hand. In addition, clients have the flexibility to establish their own internal approval structures by setting customized dollar thresholds and authorization levels. This allows organizations to control risk, maintain oversight, and align wire activity with their operational and security requirements.

39. What is the total amount of dollars that can be wired out of a single account per day?

    The total dollar amount that can be wired out in a single day is limited by the available balance in the client's depository account, ensuring that outgoing transfers cannot exceed cleared funds on hand. In addition, clients have the flexibility to establish their own internal approval structures by setting customized dollar thresholds and authorization levels. This allows organizations to control risk, maintain oversight, and align wire activity with their operational and security requirements.

40. List any other wire fees not specifically covered under Banking Service Charges.

    Please see attached proformas

41. Can wire transfer payments be originated online through the Proposer's online banking system? If so, are these initiated in freeform or can templates be established?

    Users may process wires via our web-based platform, iTreasury. Using their unique organization, user ID, and out of band authentication, users can initiate non-repetitive and repetitive, domestic and international wires. User entitlements allow each client to establish their own procedures for approving and releasing the wires. Both freeform and wire templates can be used.

42. Are wire templates user defined or can they be shared by other users?

    Wire templates can be shared with users who have been granted the appropriate permissions; however, access is strictly limited to those whose permission levels authorize them to view or utilize these templates. This ensures that sensitive payment information is properly safeguarded and that only designated individuals can initiate, modify, or apply wire instructions in accordance with established security and control policies

43. What are the beginning and ending cut-off times in EST for initiating ACH transfers to ensure next-day execution?

	ACH Cut-Off Time
Customer Input Method	Book Transfer (Same Day Settlement)	Next Day Settlement	2 or more Days Settlement
Direct Transmission	8:00 PM CST	8:00 PM CST	8:00 PM CST
Internet	8:00 PM CST	8:00 PM CST	8:00 PM CST

44. What are the beginning and ending cut-off times in EST for receiving ACH transfers to ensure next-day credit? See above table.

45. Describe when and how an ACH can be cancelled after the City releases it into the system. What is the latest time in the day to cancel? Is there a charge? If so, how much? How does this differ for ACH transfers initiated by phone?

    Our client may communicate the need to make modifications, reversals and deletions to us by providing a faxed request to Regions on your company's letterhead signed by an authorized representative. Requests may also be initiated via telephone or email to our Client Services department.

46. How and when is the City notified of a failed ACH transfer?
To minimize administrative returns, Regions encourages clients to use the ACH Pre-note process at least one week prior to sending an actual ACH transfer to a new account.

Regions provides notifications of change and returned item advices via iTreasury reporting, e-mail notification, or transmission and include all details from the originated item and date of return.

In the event that the correction is not made before additional originations are processed, Regions will attempt to automatically correct the item for you. This ensures compliance with NACHA rules and improves the accuracy of posting at the Receiving Depository FI.

47. Describe how the City can track ACHs through the system (input, approved and released).

Regions iTreasury system allows clients to manage their ACH payment recipients and create ACH batches. iTreasury also provides reporting on all ACH batches created and processed.

48. Describe the incoming ACH notification process.
City is notified of incoming ACH activity through automated reporting channels (iTreasury, email, or file transmission), with full transaction details provided. If corrections are needed and not made in time, Regions will automatically apply corrections where possible to prevent delays or rejects.

49. List any other ACH fees not specifically covered under Banking Service Charges.
See proforma

50. Describe the file options for processing ACH payments. What ACH file transmission options are available?

Regions offers the following origination options:

Internet-based system input and transmission – iTreasuryDirect transmission of a NACHA, ANSI X12 or proprietary file Third Party Processor such as Ceridian or ADP Touch-tone phone input for cash concentration 51. Can ACH payments be originated online through the Proposer's online banking system? If so, are these initiated in freeform or can templates be established?

Regions iTreasury system allows clients to manage their ACH payment recipients and create ACH batches. ACH transactions can be initiated both freeform and templates. iTreasury also provides reporting on all ACH batches created and processed.

52. Are ACH templates user defined, or can they be shared by other users?

    ACH templates may be shared with users who have been granted the appropriate permissions; however, access is strictly limited to individuals whose permission settings authorize them to view, modify, or utilize those templates. This ensures that sensitive payment information is properly controlled and that only designated users can manage ACH activity in accordance with established security and approval protocols.

53. The City currently transmits input files for ACH payments (direct deposits). City Payroll direct deposits are bi-weekly (1 upload with approximately 325 employees) paid on Friday. When does the Proposer need the payroll file from the City for payments to be credited to the employee's account?

    ACH files should be transmitted to the Bank no later than 9:00 PM EST and at least one business day prior to the effective date. Regions Bank strongly recommends that all ACH files be delivered to the bank two business days prior to the effective date. Regions can also warehouse transactions for up to thirty days.

54. What is the total amount of dollars that can be sent ACH across all accounts in a single day?

    When considering your debit and credit exposure limit, several factors will be considered including the frequency in which you will provide ACH files, the highest payroll amount, the highest tax payment amount and any large payouts that may also be included in a file that you wish to originate. A cushion will be considered to minimize the chance for your file to suspend. You will be told of your exposure limits, both debit and credit. Exposure limits are tied to the total exposure for the company. Financial statements and other documents will be used to help evaluate credit worthiness. Once the limits are set they will be reviewed annually.

55. What is the total amount of dollars that can be sent via ACH out of a single account per day? See Answer 54

56. What is the total amount of dollars that can be sent out by wire and ACH across all accounts in a single day?

    See Wire and ACH information for limits.

57. What is the total amount of dollars that can be sent out by wire and ACH out of a single account per day?

    See Wire and ACH information for limits.

58. Does the Proposer provide ACH blocking? If yes, what level of filtering can be applied (originator, originator and dollar amount, etc.)?
    Yes, Regions ACH Positive Pay is a web-based service that facilitates the detection of Automated Clearing House (ACH) fraud. ACH Positive Pay will monitor the client's account and compare the activity to a list of ACH debits that have been pre-authorized by the client. If any unrecognized ACH debits arrive, ACH Alert will send the client an email, enabling the client to detect and return any unauthorized or fraudulent transactions.
    Filters for originator ID, dollar amount and/or frequency can be applied to the account(s).

59. What are the security measures that are in place for wire and ACH transfers?
    Regions utilizes out of bank authentication as an enhancement to the online banking system security. To release wires and ACH transactions in iTreasury, clients use an out of band authentication process in which Regions sends a challenge message to our clients and the user validates and/or acknowledges the wire release by inputting a security code in their mobile or landline phone.
60. The City currently uses Positive Pay. Please provide information on the Proposer's Positive Pay services and explain when unmatched items (exceptions) are available to view and when decisions to pay or to not pay need to be sent to the Proposer.
    Regions offers a variety of Positive Pay service options to accommodate your specific fraud prevention goals and risk mitigation policies, including:
    - Next Day Positive Pay
    - Same Day Positive Pay
    - Reverse Positive Pay
    - Payee Name Verification
    - Teller Line Positive Pay

    Next Day Positive Pay Service, this feature of the Account Reconcilement service enables your company to maintain a cumulative checks-issued database (account number, check number, issue date, and dollar amount) on file with Regions Bank to verify paid checks daily. With this service you provide Regions with a check issue file as soon as checks are written/issued and each check that attempts to clear the account is compared with this information. Regions will correct any encoding errors or MICR line misreads. If a check is not on your database or differs in the amount, we will notify you of the exception the next business day morning via Regions iTreasury online banking service. Positive Pay exception data is available at approximately 9:30 AM CT. Customer dispositions are due by 2:00 PM CT.
    Same Day Positive Pay Service, If your company checks are written on a Controlled Disbursement account, Regions will compare the items being presented against the check issue file on hand beginning the same business day. You may begin viewing any unmatched items as early as 3:30 pm CT/4:30 pm ET prior to the items posting. If the decision to pay/no pay is not completed by 2:00 pm CT/3:00 pm ET the next business day (the business day following posting), Regions will default to your pay/no-pay decision you chose upon implementation.

Because of the time sensitivity of the information, we require that all check issue databases for Next Day Positive Pay and Same Day Positive Pay services be sent via direct transmission or through iTreasury.

Reverse Positive Pay Service enables your company to maintain a cumulative checks-issued database in your company's systems. Each business day, Regions will provide a file of the items that have been posted either via direct transmission or a download from iTreasury by 9:30 am CT/10:30 am ET. You will match items paid with items issued. If paid-no-issue or altered items are detected, notify Regions via iTreasury by 2:00 pm CT/3:00 pm ET to return the items.

Payee Name Verification provides an extra level of protection and is used to help prevent check fraud created when the payee name is altered on checks presented to the bank. There are specific guidelines and requirements for the use of Payee Name Verification (PNV) services.

Teller Line Positive Pay is an added benefit to Next Day and Same Day Positive Pay that provides an extra level of security to reduce your exposure to potential check fraud.

Teller Line Positive Pay allows Regions to compare checks presented at the teller line to your check issue file. If a check does not appear on your list or differs in amount, check number or payee name, the check will be denied if presented at the teller window.

With Positive Pay, the checks paid data is matched against the checks issued data daily to ensure checks have not been altered or counterfeited. Any "suspect" item (check) is reported via iTreasury, our online banking system. Here's how it works:

- Clients send the bank a file of checks before they are distributed to payees.
- As checks come to the bank, verification occurs that the check number and check amount match the checks included in the file provided by the client.

- Sometimes checks do not match because they are encoded improperly or because the MICR line is misread.
- Errors are automatically corrected, and the remaining exceptions are sent to the client to address.
- The client then informs the bank which checks they would like returned and which they would like for us to pay.

61. There may be several days in a year when the City's office is closed, but the Proposer's office is open. Please describe the recommended solution for handling these situations as it pertains to an unmatched item (exception).
    Business as usual for the bank, processing times remain the same.

62. Can individual items, such as voided checks, be cancelled from the outstanding issue records? Describe the process.
    Check issues and Check voids can both be included on the input file.

63. What is the Proposer's policy on stale dated checks? How does the Proposer's Positive Pay system treat stale dated items? The date should not be stale- or post-dated. A stale-dated check is dated six months or more prior to presentation. A post-dated check is dated later than the date of presentation.
    Note: If an item presented is postdated or stale dated as outlined above, it should be rejected for deposit and/or cashing and returned to the customer. The customer may reach out to the maker for a new item with the corrected date.

64. How will the City be notified of exceptions? If the City is notified by email, will an image of the exception item be available for viewing in the email?
    If a check is not on your database or differs in the amount, we will notify you of the exception the next business day morning via Regions iTreasury online banking service. Alerts for the exceptions can be set to be delivered to email. Positive Pay exception data is available at approximately 10:30 AM ET. Customer dispositions are due by 3:00 PM ET.
65. Does the Proposer require Positive Pay services on all demand deposit accounts, even on accounts with no check writing function? Can accounts be designated as "post no check" to prevent potential fraud? What is the cost to make this account designation?
    Positive Pay services are not required but highly recommended. Accounts with no check writing function should be set up for No Check Positive Pay. With No Check Positive Pay, any check presented to the account will automatically be returned.

See cost on proforma.

66. Describe the Stop Payment process.
Clients may place stop payments, online, by phone via Commercial Client Services or by visiting a branch office.

Clients have the ability to inquire on a check and enter a stop payment using our Online Banking and Information Reporting product, iTreasury, or may call Client Services to place stop payments.

The system is available for placing stop payments 24 hours/day, 7 days a week via iTreasury. Client Services is available 8:00 AM- 7:00 PM EST, Monday through Friday. Branch services for stop payments are generally available 10:00 am – 5:00 pm, Monday through Friday.

67. Describe the security features to include user identification and password maintenance.
Include any other features that may be useful to the City.

Regions OnePass is the application that provides a logon portal for accessing Regions' online commercial applications from a single, secure gateway. OnePass conveniently consolidates separate logon credentials into a single set of credentials, eliminating the need for SecurID tokens, multiple site bookmarks and the need to remember multiple IDs and passwords. OnePass employs enhanced Multifactor Authentication techniques including behavioral pattern analytics, digital fingerprinting, IP assessments, Regions Real Pass biometrics and Regions Out-of-Band Authentication (ROOBA) which replaces other security devices such as SecurID tokens. ROOBA is employed during iTreasury monetary release, various iTreasury challenge points, and OnePass step up challenges such as self-service password resets, and while an administrator attempts to access the OnePass Admin Console from the OnePass landing page to administer users. Regions Real Pass push notifications or OTP can be used for OnePass challenge points as described above. Regions Real Pass push notifications can be used for iTreasury challenge points. A user must be registered for Regions Real Pass in order to utilize this authentication method. Regions OnePass provides a central location for both OnePass user changes and iTreasury user maintenance for entitlements and approvals based on the Company's needs.

Regions employs other back office security solutions to detect anomalous and potentially malicious login attempts.

Regions is also committed to client education and recommends using security best practices for accessing all online banking systems. Regions maintains a Fraud Prevention Resource Center on regions.com and periodically communicates information concerning the latest fraud trends via banner messages on OnePass, emails, and newsletters.

68. Describe the Proposer's data retention features.

G. Implementation Schedule

Implementation Plan

Regions will work with the City of Fernandina Beach, Florida to develop a detailed implementation plan to ensure timely and accurate set up of all banking services. Generally, our implementation process includes a projected timeline and description of various implementation tasks for both the City of Fernandina Beach, Florida and the Bank.

If Regions is selected as the City of Fernandina Beach, Florida banking services provider, we will first set up a comprehensive meeting with you to lay out your goals and objectives. A team approach will be taken for this task.

Regions will include the following Implementations Team:

- Vice President, Commercial Banking
- Vice President, Treasury Management Sales
- Treasury Management Support Specialist
- Commercial Banking Support Specialist
- Treasury Management Implementations Team
- Treasury Management Onboarding Project Manager, if required
- Client Services Group
- Senior Vice President, Government & Institutional Banking

This initial meeting will help determine project milestones and establish an anticipated timeline. Also, defined will be the following:

- The City of Fernandina Beach, Florida desired account structure
- Designated service administrators
- Roles and responsibilities
- Discuss system interfacing requirements and other system requirements like security
- Implementation details
- Written agreements and legal review

After this initial meeting a fully detailed implementation plan will be produced and presented to the City of Fernandina Beach, Florida and related entities for adjustments and coordination of dates. As part of the process, periodic (likely weekly) review meetings will be held to keep the project on its timetable. Below is a description of the preliminary implementation sample timeline:

Week 1:

- Initial Meeting
- Meeting with the City of Fernandina Beach, Florida IT representatives and other staff to discuss On-Line Services Administration
- Obtain contact information, administrator information, and required signature card data to prepare service agreements, open accounts, etc.
- Follow up with proposed timelines/milestones

Week 2:

- Discuss services and completed agreements with the City of Fernandina Beach, Florida
- Obtain items needed for testing (i.e. Positive pay test file and test checks, ACH Nacha file, etc.)
- City of Fernandina Beach, Florida signs agreement and any other related documents
- Bank begins service set up and implementation process
- Weekly meeting

Week 3:

- Remittance of sign on information, passwords, and other account access data
- Arrange training
- Weekly meeting

Week 4:

- Verify system set up and interface accomplishment
- Address additional training needs
- Weekly meeting

Some of the obstacles to implementation are:

- Slow legal approval of agreements; legal perspectives unaligned with scope of services
- Slow approval of designated administrators, signers, etc.

- Prioritization of service implementation
- Coordination between any involved 3rd party providers
- Clear objectives of program communicated to Bank and organizations implementation team

The timeline which follows is for illustrative purposes only and does not include all items of detail. A Sample Banking Services Implementation Plan is included as Attachment 1, starting on page 122/187 of this electronic file.

H. Deposit Deadline Schedules

We have a network of approximately 1200 branches and 2000 ATMs within our 15-state footprint for branch service options. Vault services are offered for all service locations either at a Regions vault facility or an outsource facility. Night drop is available at most branch locations. Remote services are available for deposits and cash capture.

Regions Bank's deposit cut-off time and same day ledger credit is 4:00 PM local time for all of our branch locations. The 4:00 PM local time cut-off is the same for night drop, vault and branch services. There are no different cut-off times for cash versus paper items.

Remote Deposit Capture or our quick deposit service is an option to increase the cut-off time for ledger credit. Remote Deposit Capture has an extended ledger deposit deadline from 4:00 PM CST to 8:00 PM CST.

I. Funds Availability Schedule and Methodology for Computing Deposit Float

Requested Float Schedule	Improved Availability Schedules	Customer's Sensitivity to Float	Criteria for Exception	Required Level of Approval
☐	Premium	High	Average Collected Balance >$1,600,000 or Monthly Activity Charges >$5,000	District Director/Group Head
☐	Preferred	Moderate	Average Collected Balance >$400,000, but <$1,600,000 or Monthly Activity Charges >$2,000, but <$4,000	Banking Leader
☐	Accelerated	Low	Average Collected Balance >$100,000, but <$400,000 or Monthly Activity Charges >$500, but <$2,000	Sales Manager

J. Disaster Recovery Plan

Regions conducts various disaster recovery test activities during the year. At least one end-to-end, timed, multi-application recovery test is conducted each year. As new individual infrastructure components and /or applications are brought on board, they are tested prior to implementation.

The disaster recovery tests are designed to clearly demonstrate Regions' ability to recover business functions. All tests have pre-defined success criteria, and tests are designed to ensure that the bank can successfully recover from a disaster. Test plans and results are documented, and issues are recorded and tracked to resolution. In some instances, issue resolution may require updates to the recovery plans or changes to the technology infrastructure. Technology Executive Management and the Risk Management department are updated on the DR testing activities, test results, and any issues identified during the tests.

K. Proforma Copies of the Wire Transfer Agreement, Positive Pay Services Agreement, Stop Payment Agreement, any other Proforma Agreements Required, Prospectus for Money Market Mutual Funds Proposed as the Overnight Investment

L. Overnight Sweep Facility and Basis Point Reduction

Regions offers a full array of sweep solutions designed to help your company automate investment and/or borrowing functions to maximize investment earnings, minimize idle balances and reduce interest expenses while allowing you to maintain complete control of your liquidity needs at all times.

Money Market Mutual Fund Sweep is an automated investment sweep solution that allows idle checking account balances to earn interest by having the excess funds swept into a money market mutual fund. Balances that are swept into the money market mutual fund remain invested until the funds are needed in the checking account. Regions offers the following types of money market mutual funds:

Investment Option	Ticker Symbol/CUSIP
Morgan Stanley Government Sweep	MVVXX / 61747C806
Fidelity Treasury Sweep	FCEXX / 316175835

Information on the following customary bank services

1. Stop Payment

The City of Fernandina Beach, Florida may use our online Information Reporting product, iTreasury, or may call Client Services for placement of stop payment orders. Stop payments for Positive Pay items can be made via file transmission or via iTreasury. Stop payments are effective for a period of six months and would have to be renewed to extend for another six months.

iTreasury Stop Payments will allow the City of Fernandina Beach, Florida to initiate stop payment requests conveniently and efficiently through the Internet. Stop payment requests can be initiated from any PC with Internet access. The City of Fernandina Beach, Florida will be able to use the on-line iTreasury Stop Payment module to initiate the following functions:

- Single Stop Payment
- Range Stop Payment
- Paid Check Inquiry
- Duplicate Stop Payment Inquiry
- Transaction Inquiry – Stop Payments

The system is available for placing stop payments 24 hours/day, 7 days a week via iTreasury. Client Services is available 8:00 AM to 7:00 PM, Monday – Friday. Branch services for stop payments are generally available 8:00 am to 5:00 pm, Monday through Friday.

Stop Payments processed via iTreasury are real-time and are posted immediately. Stop payments processed through Client Services are posted immediately and are effective in 24 hours.

2. Positive Pay and related controls

Regions offers a variety of Positive Pay service options to accommodate your specific fraud prevention goals and risk mitigation policies, including:

- Next Day Positive Pay
- Same Day Positive Pay
- Reverse Positive Pay
- Payee Name Verification
- Teller Line Positive Pay

· Next Day Positive Pay Service, this feature of the Account Reconcilement service enables your company to maintain a cumulative checks-issued database (account number, check number, issue date, and dollar amount) on file with Regions Bank to verify paid checks daily. With this service you provide Regions with a check issue file via file or as soon as checks are written/issued and each check that attempts to clear the account is compared with this information. Regions will correct any encoding errors or MICR line misreads. If a check is not on your database or differs in the amount, we will notify you of the exception the next business day morning via Regions iTreasury online banking service.
NDPP Cutoff Time Reminder:

10:30 AM EST	Exceptions Available to Client
3:00 PM EST (the same day)	Decisions Due from Client

· Same Day Positive Pay Service, if your company checks are written on a Controlled Disbursement account, Regions will compare the items being presented against the check issue file on hand beginning the same business day. Because of the time sensitivity of the information, we require that all check issue databases for Next Day Positive Pay and Same Day Positive Pay services be sent via direct transmission or through iTreasury.

SDPP Cutoff Time Reminder:

4:30 AM EST	Exceptions Delivered from Fed available for Client to review
3:00 PM EST (the next day)	Decisions Due from Client

· Reverse Positive Pay Service enables your company to maintain a cumulative checks-issued database in your company's systems. Each business day, Regions will provide a file of the items that have been posted either via direct transmission or a download from iTreasury by. You will match items paid with items issued. If paid-no-issue or altered items are detected, you will notify Regions via iTreasury to return the items.

· Payee Name Verification provides an extra level of protection and is used to help prevent check fraud created when the payee name is altered on checks presented to the bank. There are specific guidelines and requirements for the use of Payee Name Verification (PNV) services.

· Teller Line Positive Pay is an added benefit to Next Day and Same Day Positive Pay that provides an extra level of security to reduce your exposure to potential check fraud. Teller Line Positive Pay allows Regions to compare checks presented at the teller line to your check issue file. If a check does not appear on your list or differs in amount, check number or payee name, the check will be denied if presented at the teller window.

Regions' Teller Line is updated four times throughout the day for Same Day and Next Day Positive Pay.

To prevent file loss, duplicate transmissions and acceptance duplicate returns, any duplicate files received by the Bank are automatically rejected. The Bank will notify clients if any unacceptable file formats are received.

If the Bank creates an invalid file to send to a client, notification is provided and the file is corrected.

3. Wire Transfers and Controls

Regions' Wire Transfer services provide you with the most immediate, reliable and secure funds transfer available. Regions offers a wide range of voice and internet wire disbursement capabilities, as well as a full line of wire collection and reporting methods. Since wire transfers are often high-dollar, time-sensitive transactions, Regions provides an experienced support staff with the most up-to-date technology and system capabilities. These resources are dedicated to ensuring timely and accurate delivery of all your wire transfer collection and disbursement needs.

Regions utilizes out of band authentication as an enhancement to the online banking system security. To release wires in iTreasury, clients use an out of band authentication process (ROOBA) in which Regions sends a challenge message to our clients, and the user validates and/or acknowledges the wire release by inputting a security code in their mobile or landline phone.

Methods of initiation for wire transfer:

- Internet - Regions offers the ability to initiate wire transfers via iTreasury or our Commercial online banking system.
- Voice - Voice initiators are provided with a basic set of security codes and procedures. Clients can select other security measures designed for their specific needs.
- File Transmission- Regions offers the ability to receive batch wires for further processing.
- Integrated Payables – Regions offers the ability to send a wire via a payment file.
- Branch – With proper approval and authentication, Regions will allow wires to be originated through our branch locations.

iTreasury wire cut-off times (EST):
Incoming wires: 8:30 AM – 6:30PM (Domestic); 8:30 AM – 6:30PM (International) Outgoing wires: 8:30 AM – 5:00 PM (Domestic); 8:30 AM – 5:30 PM (International)

EXHIBIT "B"
SWORN STATEMENT UNDER F.S. SECTION 287.133(3) (A), ON PUBLIC ENTITY CRIMES

THIS FORM SHALL BE SIGNED IN THE PRESENCE OF A NOTARY PUBLIC OR OTHER OFFICER AUTHORIZED TO ADMINISTER OATHS.

1. This sworn statement is submitted with Bid, Proposal or Contract for City of Fernandina Beach.

2. This sworn statement is submitted by (entity) Regions Bank whose business address is 51 W. Bay St., Jacksonville, FL 32202 and (if applicable) Federal Employer Identification Number (FEIN) is 63-0371391 (If a Sole Proprietor and you have no FEIN, include the last four (4) digits of your Social Security Number: _____.)

3. My name is Jennifer Kirouac and my relationship to the entity named above is Vice President Commercial Banking Relationship Manager.

4. I understand that a "public entity crime" as defined in Paragraph 287.133(a) (g). Florida Statutes, means a violation of any state or federal law by a person with respect to and directly related to the transaction of business with any public entity or with an agency or political subdivision of any other state or with the United States, including, but not limited to, any proposal or contract for goods or services to be provided to any public entity or any agency or political subdivision of any other state or of the United States and involving antitrust, fraud, theft, bribery, collusion, racketeering, conspiracy, or material misrepresentation.

5. I understand that "convicted" or "conviction" as defined in paragraph 287.133(a) (b), Florida Statutes, means finding of guilt or a conviction of a public entity crime with or without an adjudication of guilt, in any federal or state trial court of records relating to charges brought by indictment or information after July 1, 1989, as a result of a jury verdict, non-jury trial, or entry of a plea of guilty or nolo contendere.

6. I understand that an "affiliate" as defined in Paragraph 287.133(1) (a), Florida Statutes, means:

    1. A predecessor or successor of a person convicted of a public entity crime; or

    2. An entity under the control of any natural person who is active in the management of the entity and who has been convicted of a public entity crime. The term "affiliate" includes those officers, directors, executives, partners, shareholders, employees, members, and agents who are active in the management of an affiliate. The City of Fernandina Beach, Florida ownership by one of shares constituting a controlling income among persons when not for fair interest in another person, or a pooling of equipment or income among persons when not for fair market value under a length agreement, shall be a prima facie case that one person controls another person. A person who was knowingly convicted of a public entity crime, in Florida during the preceding 36 months shall be considered an affiliate.

7. I understand that a "person" as defined in Paragraph 287.133(1) (e), Florida Statutes, means any natural person or entity organized under the laws of the state or of the United States with the legal power to enter into a binding contract for provision of goods or services let by a public entity, or which otherwise transacts or applies to transact business with a public entity. The term "person" includes those officers, directors, executives, partners, shareholders, employees, members, and agents who are active in management of an entity.

8. Based on information and belief, the statement which I have marked below is true in relation to the entity submitting this sworn statement. (Please indicate which statement applies) x Neither the entity submitting this sworn statement, nor any officers, directors, executives, partners, shareholders, employees, members, or agents who are active in management of the entity, nor affiliate of the entity have been charged with and convicted of a public entity crime subsequent to July 1, 1989.

_ The entity submitting this sworn statement, or one or more of the officers, directors, executives, partners, shareholders, employees, members, or agents who are active in management of the entity, or an affiliate of the entity has been charged with and convicted of a public entity crime subsequent to July 1, 1989. (Please attach a copy of the final order.)

____ The person or affiliate was placed on the convicted FIRM list. There has been a subsequent proceeding before a hearing officer of the State of Florida, Division of Administrative Hearings. The final order entered by the hearing officer determined that it was in public interest to remove the person or affiliate from the convicted FIRM list. (Please attach a copy of the final order.)

_ The person or affiliate has not been placed on the convicted FIRM list. (Please describe any action taken by, or pending with, the Department of General Services.)

MASTER AGREEMENT FOR TREASURY MANAGEMENT SERVICES
(rev. March 2024)

This Master Agreement for Treasury Management Services ("Master Agreement") applies to and governs the use of Services provided by and/or through the Treasury Management Services department of Regions Bank. This Master Agreement supersedes and replaces all prior versions and editions of the Master Agreement for Treasury Management Services as of the effective date set forth above. By enrolling for the use of any Service, or by using or allowing any others to use any Service in relation to any of Customer's Accounts, Customer accepts and agrees to the terms and conditions of Part 1 of this Master Agreement, which is applicable to all Services, as may be in effect from time to time. Customer also accepts and agrees to the terms and conditions of those Articles in Part 2 of this Master Agreement governing the specific Service(s) Customer has selected in the Customer Profile.

PART 1: GENERAL TERMS AND CONDITIONS

1. Definitions. The following definitions apply when the following terms are used in this Master Agreement:

"Account" means any deposit, loan, or other account maintained by Customer with Bank which is eligible for any Service and which is used or affected in connection with the use of any Service. Bank reserves the right to determine the eligibility and/or ineligibility of any account for any Service at any time and from time to time, in Bank's sole and absolute discretion.

"Authorized User" means any person or entity authorized by Customer to use any Service or to access any Customer Account, or reasonably believed by Bank to have been authorized by Customer to use any Service or to access any Customer Account, including (without limitation) any person or entity to which Customer has provided or disclosed a Security Device or made available or disclosed any Security Procedures, or any person or entity knowing or in possession of a Security Device or Security Procedure without regard to whether such person or entity gained access to or possession of the Security Device or Security Procedure from Customer, and/or any person or entity expressly authorized to use any Service or access any Customer Account in any Customer Profile or Service Schedule. Any Authorized User shall continue to be an Authorized User unless and until Customer has notified Bank, according to notification procedures prescribed by Bank, that such person or entity is no longer an Authorized User and until Bank has had a reasonable opportunity to act upon such notice.

"Bank" means and refers to, as the context may require, Regions Bank or any affiliate of Regions Financial Corporation with which Customer has established one or more Accounts, and/or any agent, independent contractor, designee, or assignees that Bank may, in its sole discretion, involve in the provision of the Services. With regard to any arbitration and/or waiver of jury trial provisions set forth in this Master Agreement, such term additionally includes any parent, subsidiary, or affiliate of Regions Bank, and any employees, officers, directors, agents and/or representatives of Regions Bank or of Regions Bank's parents, subsidiaries, or affiliates.

"Confidential Information" means any and all documents, materials, data and/or information, in whatever form or format (including, without limitation, electronic media), which relates to any Service (including, without limitation, the Service Materials and Bank's product and service pricing structure, system design, and programming techniques), and any other information which Bank designates, orally or in writing, as confidential or proprietary information or which Customer has reason to know is confidential or proprietary information; provided, however, that notwithstanding the foregoing, Confidential Information shall not include information which is proprietary information of Customer, or which becomes generally available to the public other than as a result of a disclosure by or through Customer, or its agents, employees, representatives, contractors, subcontractors, successors or assigns, or which becomes available to Customer on a non-confidential basis from a source other than Bank, provided that such source is not bound by a confidentiality agreement with Bank or is not otherwise prohibited from transmitting the information by a contractual, legal or fiduciary obligation.

"Customer" means and refers to, as the context may require, each and every person or entity which now or hereafter is an Account holder with respect to, or has any interest in, any Account, and each and every person or entity which now or hereafter subscribes to or uses any of the Services.

"Customer Profile" means any enrollment or informational document or form required or approved by Bank that is completed, submitted, or executed by or on behalf of Customer and that requests Bank to provide any Services, provides specifications relating to the provision of Services, or provides other information or confirmation relating to Customer's use of any Services, as amended from time to time.

"General Terms" means the provisions contained in "Part 1: General Terms and Conditions" of the Master Agreement.

Restricted

"Security Device" means, without limitation, any code, password, personal identification number, user identification technology, biometric identification, token, certificate, access device, security questions, procedures, processes, or credentials or other element, means, or method of authentication or identification used in connection with a Security Procedure.

"Security Procedure" means any process or procedure established between Customer and Bank for the purpose of verifying that communications, orders, instructions, or inquiries regarding a Service transaction or other Service activity are those of Customer, and/or for the purpose of authenticating Customer or its Authorized Users in connection with Customer's use of the Services, and/or for the purpose of authorizing transactions and other activity through the use of the Services, which process or procedure may or may not involve the use of a Security Device, as set forth in this Master Agreement, any applicable Customer Profile, Service Schedule, or User Guide.

"Service" means any feature, functionality, product, and/or service provided, managed, or administered by or through Bank's Treasury Management Services department, as evidenced by and/or described in this Master Agreement, any Service Schedule, User Guide, or Customer Profile, including, as the context may require, any Mobile Service (as hereinafter defined and described). As used in any Article of Part 2 of this Master Agreement, unless the context indicates otherwise, "Service" means the particular service at issue in that Article.

"Service Materials" means, without limitation, any and all equipment, hardware, software, computer programs (together with the object and source codes therefore, and any updates, upgrades, fixes, and enhancements thereto), mobile applications, operational manuals, documentation, User Guides, instructions, records, files, systems, marks, visual expressions, screen formats, report formats, designs, inventions, processes, improvements and enhancements to inventions and processes, ideas, methods, algorithms, concepts, formulae, Security Devices, technological and procedural information, data, any of the foregoing specially customized, created or developed for Customer's use of the Services, and/or any other thing of a proprietary nature which is developed, created, or provided by Bank or its contractors, as applicable, for use in connection with any Service, together with all adaptations or derivative works (as such term is used in the U.S. copyright laws) based upon any of the foregoing and all copies of the foregoing.

"Service Schedule" means and refers to any document, form or agreement required or approved by Bank which provides specifications relating to the provision of a Service, or provides other information or confirmation relating to Customer's use of any Services, as may be amended, revised or updated from time to time. A Service Schedule may also describe any particular Service and set forth particular terms and conditions prescribed by Bank regarding the provision and use of such Service, as amended from time to time.

"Third Party Service Provider" means any third party engaged or contracted by Bank to provide or assist in the provision of certain Services or any features, functions, or elements thereof or products relating thereto.

"User Guide" means any instructional materials or information relating to the use of any Service and provided by Bank or its Third Party Service Provider(s) in connection with such Service, as amended from time to time.

"Wireless Device" means a compatible and supported mobile phone and/or other compatible and supported wireless device that may be used in connection with any Services described in this Agreement that are offered by Bank as Mobile Services (as hereinafter defined).

Other terms may be defined elsewhere in this Master Agreement.

2. Service Enrollment. In order to enroll for and use a Service, Customer must complete, execute and/or accept the applicable Customer Profile(s) and Service Schedule(s) required by Bank therefore. Bank, in its discretion, may not permit Customer to use the Service until Bank has determined that Customer has accepted or executed the applicable documentation and otherwise provided appropriate information and specifications for the use of the Service, and until Bank has had a reasonable opportunity to activate the Service. In any event, Customer agrees that the use by Customer or any Authorized User of any Service shall, without any further action or execution or acceptance of any documentation on the part of Customer, constitute Customer's acceptance of and agreement to Bank's terms and conditions for the use of such Service as may be in effect as of the time of such usage, whether set forth in this Master Agreement, any applicable Service Schedule or Customer Profile, or otherwise prescribed by Bank. The terms of any Customer Profile and/or Service Schedule, as well as the terms of any User Guide applicable to a Service, supplement the terms of this Master Agreement and constitute part of the agreement between Customer and Bank for the use and provision of the applicable Service(s), and Customer agrees to observe and comply with all of such terms in the use of any applicable Service. In the event of a conflict between the terms of this Master Agreement and those of any Customer Profile, Service Schedule, or User Guide, the terms of the Customer Profile, Service Schedule, or User Guide, as applicable, shall govern and control with respect to the Service at issue.

3. Equipment Requirements. Except as otherwise expressly provided in any applicable Article of Part 2 of this Master Agreement or any Service Schedule, Customer, at Customer's expense, is responsible for obtaining and for properly installing, maintaining, and securing all telephone equipment and services, internet connection services, computer hardware and software (and any and all necessary upgrades thereto), Wireless Devices, wireless or mobile telecommunications services, and any other equipment necessary for Customer to access and use the Services. Customer agrees that Customer's equipment and third-party services shall at all times meet or exceed the minimum specifications prescribed by Bank from time to time for use of the Services. Bank makes no warranty, either express or implied, to Customer regarding Customer's computer systems or related equipment or software, or that of any of Customer's third-party providers or contractors, including but not limited to, any warranty of MERCHANTABILITY or FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE. Unless otherwise expressly provided in separate written terms furnished by Bank or its contractor with respect to any particular Service Materials, to the extent that Bank provides any Service Materials to Customer, Customer agrees that:

(a) Customer is granted a limited, non-transferable, non-exclusive, non-sublicensable, and non-assignable license to use Service Materials in connection with the Services, according to the terms of the Services, which license may be revoked by Bank or its contractor, as applicable, at any time and which license shall be deemed revoked upon the termination for any reason of the Service for which the Service Materials were provided;

Restricted

(b) the Service Materials shall be installed, tested, placed into production, and used in accordance with the instructions provided by Bank, as modified or amended from time to time;

(c) all right, title and interest in and to any and all Service Materials shall be and remain the property of Bank or the third party provider of such Service Materials, as applicable, and no present or future intellectual property rights or licenses are offered, granted, or implied in the provision of any Service Materials to Customer, except as expressly provided in this Agreement;

(d) unless otherwise expressly authorized in writing by Bank, Customer may not copy, reproduce, retransmit, disseminate, display, publish, sell, broadcast, circulate, distribute, transfer, assign, commercially exploit, or create derivative works of any Service Materials;

(e) Customer shall not create or recreate the source code for any Service Materials, or re-engineer, reverse engineer, reverse compile, decompile or disassemble any Service Materials;

(f) Customer shall not refer to or use any Service Materials (i) to modify, adapt, translate or create derivative works based upon any Service or User Guide, or combine or merge any part of any Service or User Guide with or into any other software or documentation; or (ii) as part of any effort to develop a program having any functional attributes, visual expressions or other features similar to those of any Service or to compete with Bank or its Third Party Service Providers;

(g) upon the revocation of Customer's license to use Service Materials, Customer shall return to Bank in good condition such Service Materials or destroy or delete such Service Materials, as directed by Bank; and

(h) Customer shall pay Bank's costs, fees, and expenses for the replacement or reissuance of any lost or damaged Service Materials.

To the extent that Customer engages any third party contractor or service provider to facilitate Customer's use of any Services, Customer agrees that such party acts as Customer's agent in connection with this Master Agreement and agrees to ensure that such party observes, complies with, and does not breach any duty, term, condition, obligation, or responsibility on the part of Customer to be performed, observed or complied with pursuant to this Master Agreement. Customer further agrees that Bank shall not be responsible for, and shall have no duty to remedy or correct, any acts, omissions, breaches, defaults, or nonperformance on the part of any such third party with respect any services, products, equipment, or goods provided by such third party to Customer.

4. Security Procedures for Service Activity.

(a) As to any Security Procedures agreed to by and between Customer and Bank with respect to any Service, Customer represents that Customer has carefully considered the circumstances of Customer's use of the Service and the transactions and activity that Customer will effect through the Service, and Customer acknowledges and agrees that the Security Procedures, including (without limitation) any Security Devices used in connection therewith, constitute commercially reasonable security procedures under applicable law for the transactions and activity Customer intends to effect through the Service. Customer authorizes Bank to follow any and all instructions entered and transactions initiated using applicable Security Procedures unless and until Customer has notified Bank, according to notification procedures prescribed by Bank, that the Security Procedures or any Security Device has been stolen, compromised, or otherwise become known to persons other than Authorized Users and until Bank has had a reasonable opportunity to act upon such notice. Customer agrees that the initiation of a transaction using applicable Security Procedures constitutes sufficient authorization for Bank to execute such transaction notwithstanding any particular signature requirements identified on any signature card or other documents relating to Customer's Account, and Customer agrees and intends that the submission of transaction orders and instructions using the Security Procedures shall be considered the same as Customer's written signature in authorizing Bank to execute such transaction. Customer acknowledges and agrees that Customer shall be bound by any and all transactions and activity effected through the Service through the use of such Security Procedures, whether authorized or unauthorized, and by any and all transactions and activity otherwise initiated by Authorized Users, to the fullest extent allowed by law. Customer further acknowledges and agrees that the Security Procedures are not designed to detect error in the transmission or content of communications or instructions made through the Service and that Customer bears responsibility for detecting and preventing such error.

(b) Customer agrees to keep all Security Procedures and Security Devices protected, secure, and strictly confidential and to provide or make available the same only to Authorized Users. Customer agrees to instruct each Authorized User not to disclose or provide any Security Procedures or Security Devices to any unauthorized person. Upon the request of Bank, or as provided in any applicable Article of Part 2 of this Master Agreement or any applicable Customer Profile or Service Schedule, Customer shall designate a security administrator to whom Bank may distribute Security Devices and with whom Bank may otherwise communicate regarding Security Procedures. Customer's system administrator shall have responsibility to distribute Security Devices to Customer's Authorized Users and to ensure the proper implementation and use of the Security Procedures by Customer's Authorized Users. Where Customer has the ability to change or modify a Security Device from time to time (e.g., a password or PIN), Customer agrees to change Security Devices frequently in order to ensure the security of the Security Device. Customer agrees to notify Bank immediately, according to notification procedures prescribed by Bank, if Customer believes that any Security Procedures or Security Device has been stolen, compromised, or otherwise become known to persons other than Authorized Users or if Customer believes that any Service transaction or activity is unauthorized or in error. In the event of any actual or threatened breach of security, Bank may issue Customer a new Security Device or establish new Security Procedures as soon as reasonably practicable, but Bank shall not be liable to Customer or any third party for any delay in taking such actions.

(c) Customer agrees that Bank may rely upon any written signature if in good faith believed by Bank to be the genuine signature of an Authorized User. Each Authorized User is authorized to conduct any transaction within the scope of this Master Agreement and, unless otherwise expressly provided in any applicable Article of Part 2 of this Master Agreement or any applicable Customer Profile or Service Schedule, any Authorized User may act alone. Customer agrees to notify Bank immediately, according to notification procedures prescribed by Bank, if the authority of any Authorized User shall change or be revoked. Customer shall recover and return to Bank any Security Devices in the possession of any Authorized User whose authority to have the Security Device has been revoked.

(d) Bank reserves the right to modify, amend, supplement, or cancel any or all Security Procedures, and/or to cancel or replace any Security Device, at any time and from time to time in Bank's discretion. Bank will endeavor to give Customer reasonable notice of any change in Security Procedures; provided that Bank may make any change in Security Procedures without advance notice to Customer if Bank, in its judgment and discretion, believes such change to be necessary or desirable to protect the security of Bank's systems and assets. Customer's implementation and use of any changed Security Procedures and/or continued use of the Service after any change in Security Procedures shall constitute Customer's agreement to the change and Customer's agreement that the applicable Security Procedures, as changed, are commercially reasonable and adequate for the purposes intended.

(e) In the event of the breach of any applicable Security Procedure, Customer agrees to assist Bank in determining the manner and source of the breach. Such assistance shall include, but shall not be limited to, providing Bank or Bank's agent access to Customer's systems, computer hardware and software, storage media and devices, and any other equipment or device that was used or may have been used in breach of the Security Procedure. Customer further agrees to provide to Bank with any analysis of such systems, computer hardware and software, storage media and devices, and other equipment or devices, or any report of such analysis, performed by Customer, Customer's agents, law enforcement agencies, or any other third party. Failure of Customer to assist Bank shall be deemed an admission by Customer that the breach of the Security Procedure was caused by a person who obtained access to transmitting facilities of Customer or who obtained information facilitating the breach of the Security Procedure from Customer and not from a source controlled by Bank.

(f) Bank reserves the right to establish from time to time, in its discretion, limitations and restrictions with respect to Service transaction amounts, frequency of Service transactions, the types of Accounts that are eligible for Services, and other matters relating to the Services based on factors deemed significant by Bank in its sole discretion. Customer agrees to abide by and be bound by all limitations and restrictions imposed from time to time by Bank, and Customer acknowledges and agrees that such limitations and restrictions are for the sole protection of the Bank. Bank will endeavor to provide Customer with reasonable notice of limitations and restrictions (except to the extent that the confidentiality thereof is necessary to maintain the security of Bank's systems); provided, that Bank may impose immediate limitations and restrictions, or make changes thereto, without advance notice to Customer if Bank, in its judgment and discretion, believes the same to be necessary or desirable to protect the security of Bank's systems and assets.

5. Physical and Electronic Security.

(a) Customer is solely responsible for providing for and maintaining the physical, electronic, procedural, administrative, and technical security of data, systems, and equipment (including Wireless Devices) in Customer's possession or under Customer's control. Bank is not responsible for any computer viruses (including, without limitation, programs commonly referred to as "malware," "keystroke loggers," and/or "spyware), problems or malfunctions resulting from any computer viruses, or any related problems that may be associated with the use of an online or mobile telecommunications system. Any material downloaded or otherwise obtained through the use of any electronic Service is obtained at Customer's own discretion and risk, and Bank is not responsible for any damage to Customer's computer or operating systems or for loss of data that results from the download of any such material, whether due to any computer virus or otherwise. Customer is solely responsible for maintaining and applying anti-virus software, security patches, firewalls, and other security measures with respect to Customer's operating systems (including Wireless Devices), and for protecting, securing, and backing up any data and information stored in or on Customer's operating systems. Bank is not responsible for any errors or failures resulting from defects in or malfunctions of any software installed on Customer's operating systems (including Wireless Devices).

(b) Customer acknowledges and agrees that it is Customer's responsibility to protect itself and to be vigilant against e-mail fraud and other internet frauds and schemes (including, without limitation, fraud commonly referred to as "phishing"). Customer agrees to educate Customers Authorized Users, agents, and employees as to the risks of such fraud and to train such persons to avoid such risks. Customer acknowledges that Bank will never contact Customer by e-mail in order to ask for or to verify Account numbers, Security Devices, or any sensitive or confidential information. In the event Customer receives an e-mail or other electronic communication that Customer believes, or has reason to believe, is fraudulent, Customer agrees that neither Customer nor its Authorized Users, agents, and employees shall respond to the e-mail, provide any information to the e-mail sender, click on any links in the e-mail, or otherwise comply with any instructions in the e-mail. Customer should forward any suspected fraudulent or suspicious e-mail to phishing@regions.com or as Bank otherwise may direct. Customer agrees that Bank is not responsible for any losses, injuries, or harm incurred by Customer as a result of any electronic, e-mail, or internet fraud.

6. Data Recording. Customer agrees that Bank may (without any obligation) record, retain, and/or monitor any information, data, or communications (including, without limitation, telephone conversations) furnished, exchanged, or made in connection with this Master Agreement or any Services provided hereunder without further notice to any person. All such information, data, and communications recorded, retained, or monitored by Bank shall be and remain the property of Bank. Bank may, in its sole discretion, make such information, data or communications available to Customer upon Customer's written request therefor, and Customer agrees to pay Bank for any expenses Bank incurs in making such information, data or communications available to Customer or to any third party at Customer's request. Customer acknowledges that Customer is responsible for the maintenance and storage of Customer's own data and other information created through Customer's use of the Services.

7. Prohibited Transactions. Customer agrees to comply with all applicable laws and regulations in connection with Customer's use of the Services. Customer further agrees to be bound by operating rules and regulations imposed by any processing networks, funds transfer systems, or clearinghouses in which Bank participates and/or which process Service transactions. Customer agrees not to use or attempt to use any Service (a) to overdraw any Customer Account (unless and only to the extent that Customer has overdraft rights or privileges pursuant to an express written agreement with Bank), (b) to exceed any credit limit on any credit Account, (c) to engage in any illegal purpose or activity or to violate any applicable law, rule or regulation, (d) to breach any contract or agreement by which Customer is bound, or (e) to engage in any internet or online gambling transaction, whether or not gambling is legal in any applicable jurisdiction, or (f) to engage in any transaction or activity that is not specifically authorized and permitted by this Master Agreement or the applicable Service Schedule or Customer Profile. Customer acknowledges and agrees that Bank has no obligation to monitor Customer's use of the Services for transactions and activity that is impermissible or prohibited under the terms of this Master Agreement; provided, however, that Bank reserves the right to decline to execute any transaction or activity that Bank believes violates the terms of this Master Agreement.

8. Information Obtained Through Services. Any Account, transaction, or activity information that is provided to Customer through a Service will include a date and/or time as of when such information is current. Customer acknowledges that such information may not reflect transactions and activity in process and may, therefore, differ from Customer's own records. The number of records available through any Service, and the period of time during which such records may be available, will be determined by Bank from time to time in its discretion. Bank makes no representation or warranty as to the completeness, accuracy, reliability, or currency of any third-party information or data that Customer obtains through the use of any Services. Customer agrees to promptly and regularly review Account, transaction, and activity information that is made available through applicable Services and to notify Bank immediately of any errors or suspected unauthorized transactions or activity, according to notification procedures prescribed by Bank. Customer agrees not to rely or act upon any data or information obtained through the Services that Customer knows, or has reason to know, is erroneous, incomplete, or not current.

9. Electronic Records and Signatures. Customer agrees and consents to enter into agreements and to accept Service terms, conditions, and information electronically, and otherwise to transact Service business with Bank electronically, as Bank directs or requires. Customer agrees that Customer's use of electronic sounds, symbols, or processes required by Bank to establish Customer's acceptance of or agreement to Service terms, conditions, and/or disclosures constitutes Customer's electronic signature and signifies Customer's intent to be bound. To the extent that any Service provides for the use and delivery of electronic records, Customer consents to the receipt of electronic records of Service information, documentation, and data in lieu of a hard or paper copy or version thereof. Customer agrees that Customer shall not alter any electronic information, data, or records furnished by Bank, and Customer agrees that Bank's record of any such information, data, or records is the best evidence of the information set forth therein. Bank reserves the right to furnish to Customer, and the right to require Customer to furnish to Bank, writings or paper copies of information, communications, data, or records relating to any Service, in lieu of and/or in addition to electronic records thereof, at any time in Bank's discretion.

10. Customer Information. Customer shall from time to time provide Bank with such financial and other information or documentation as Bank may request for the purpose of determining Customer's eligibility and/or qualifications for any Service, for the purpose of enabling Bank to provide or deliver the Services, or for the purpose of enabling Bank to comply with applicable laws and regulations (including, without limitation, such information as Bank may require relating to Authorized Users and such information or documentation as Bank may require with respect to Customer's corporate or organizational authorizations and resolutions). Customer agrees to provide any information promptly upon Bank's request therefor, in the form required by Bank. Customer authorizes Bank to investigate or reinvestigate at any time any information provided by Customer and to request reports on Customer's financial condition and business affairs from third party reporting agencies from time to time as Bank deems desirable in its discretion. Customer further agrees to execute and deliver such additional documentation as Bank may from time to time require to confirm Customer's continuing eligibility for and agreement to the terms and conditions for the use of the Services. Customer agrees that Bank may disclose Customer information to third parties as Bank deems necessary or convenient in order to discharge Bank's duties and responsibilities in the delivery of the Services and in the execution of Service transactions and activity, and/or as necessary for Bank to comply with applicable law or regulation. Customer further agrees to permit Bank physical access to Customer's facilities from time to time upon Bank's request for the purpose of verifying any information provided by Customer in connection with the Services and/or for the purpose of verifying Customer's compliance with the terms and provisions of this Master Agreement or any applicable Service Schedule.

11. Fees and Charges. Customer agrees to pay all fees, charges, and assessments imposed by Bank for use of the Services, as set forth in the applicable Service Schedules or in Bank's fee schedules. Bank, in its discretion, may collect any fees, charges, assessments, taxes, and commissions due from Customer by debiting any Customer Account, by billing Customer, or by considering amounts due in any Account analysis performed by Bank with respect to Customer's Account(s). Customer acknowledges and agrees that any fees, charges, or assessments imposed in connection with the Services are in addition to any costs, fees, or expenses Customer may incur with respect to maintaining or using any Account with Bank, using or purchasing any services or products other than the Services, and/or establishing any capabilities necessary for the use of the Services (including, without limitation, telephone or internet access service and/or any required software, hardware, or equipment).

12. Checks and Other MICR Documents. Customer shall purchase all checks and other magnetic ink character recognition ("MICR") documents from vendors selected or approved by Bank. In the event that Customer selects its own vendor for checks or other MICR documents, subject to Bank's approval, Customer must submit sample documents to Bank for testing before any applicable Service involving such documents is rendered. Checks and other MICR documents must meet the standards and specifications required by Bank from time to time in its discretion. If Customer encodes any information on checks, deposits, or other items in magnetic ink, Customer warrants that the information encoded is accurate and correct. Customer agrees to defend, indemnify, and hold Bank harmless from and against any loss, claim, action, or expenses (including reasonable attorneys' fees) arising out of or relating to any and all Customer encoding errors. Without regard to whether Customer purchases MICR documents from a vendor selected by Customer or by Bank, whether the MICR items meet the Bank's specifications, or whether the Customer encodes its own items, the reject rate of the MICR documents shall not exceed the rate established from time to time by Bank in its discretion. If the reject rate of Customer's MICR documents exceeds Bank's established reject rate, Customer agrees that Bank may, at its option, terminate any applicable or affected Service or assess additional fees for rendering the Service.

13. No Obligation to Lend; Overdrafts. Customer acknowledges and agrees that nothing in this Master Agreement shall be deemed to constitute a credit facility of any kind or nature whatsoever in favor of Customer, or to create any right on the part of Customer to borrow funds from Bank, or to create any obligation on the part of Bank to lend funds to Customer. Bank, in Bank's sole and absolute discretion, and without any obligation to Customer whatsoever, may execute any Service transaction notwithstanding that the collected balance in Customer's Account is insufficient to fund the transaction. Without limiting any other rights, remedies, or recourse available to Bank, in the event that any Service transaction creates an overdraft in Customer's Account or causes Customer's collected balance to become negative, Customer shall promptly reimburse Bank in full, and shall pay to Bank any applicable fees and/or interest, upon Bank's demand. Notwithstanding any prior action or course of conduct on the part of Bank, Customer agrees that Bank's failure to execute any Service transaction that is presented against insufficient funds or that would cause Customer's Account to be overdrawn if executed shall not be construed as a wrongful dishonor of the transaction or a breach on the part of Bank. The provisions of this section are not intended to affect, annul, modify, or amend the express terms and conditions of any applicable Article of Part 2 of this Master Agreement or any applicable Service Schedule or any separate written overdraft or credit agreement between Customer and Bank in respect of Customer's Account.

14. Representations and Warranties. Customer represents and warrants to Bank as follows:

(a) The acceptance and performance of this Master Agreement, and any Customer Profile or Service Schedule, are within Customer's organizational power and have been duly authorized by all necessary organizational action.

(b) The person who accepts this Master Agreement on behalf of Customer, and any person who accepts, completes, and/or executes any Customer Profile or any Service Schedule, has been duly authorized to do so, and this Master Agreement, together with any applicable Customer Profile or Service Schedule, constitutes the legal, valid, and binding obligation of Customer and is enforceable against Customer in accordance with its terms.

(c) All information at any time provided by Customer to Bank in respect of Customer's business affairs and financial condition is accurate and complete and truthfully reflects the business and financial condition of Customer as of the period(s) covered by such information.

(d) Any and all information and data at any time provided by Customer, or by Customer's Authorized Users, employees, agents, and/or representatives, to Bank in respect of Service transactions, activity, or inquiries initiated by or on behalf of Customer is accurate, complete, and without error, and Bank may rely thereon without verification in the performance of Bank's duties and responsibilities under this Master Agreement and in the execution of such transaction, activity, and inquiries.

15. Confidential Information. Customer acknowledges and agrees that Bank, or its Third Party Service Providers, as the case may be, has a proprietary and protectable interest in the Confidential Information and that the Confidential Information, including, without limitation, any related patent, copyright, trademark, service mark, trade secret, intellectual property or other ownership rights, is and shall remain the exclusive property of Bank, or its Third Party Service Providers, as applicable, even with respect to Confidential Information created by Bank or its Third Party Service Providers specifically for or on behalf of Customer. All Confidential Information provided to Customer in connection with any Service is provided on a strictly confidential or limited use basis. All copies of Confidential Information in Customer's possession shall remain the exclusive property of Bank or its Third-Party Service Providers, as applicable, and shall be deemed to be on loan to Customer during the term of Customer's enrollment in the Service for which the Confidential Information was provided. Customer agrees (a) to keep all Confidential Information confidential and not to use or disclose any Confidential Information for any purpose other than the purpose for which such information was provided in connection with the Services; (b) to restrict access to Confidential Information to those persons who are actively and directly participating in the use of the Services and who need to know such information in order to use the Services on behalf of Customer; (c) to cause any and all persons or entities who have access to Confidential Information by or through Customer, including (without limitation) Customer's contractors and service providers, to observe and comply with the terms of Customer's confidentiality obligations; (d) not to copy or duplicate any Confidential Information except as expressly authorized in writing by Bank; (e) to treat any and all copies of, and notes, memoranda, analyses, compilations, abstracts, synopses, studies of other material produced from, the Confidential Information as Confidential Information; (f) remove, erase or tamper with any copyright or other proprietary notice printed or stamped on, affixed to, or encoded or recorded in any Confidential Information, or fail to preserve all copyright and other proprietary notices in any authorized copy of any Confidential Information made by Customer; (g) not to use Confidential Information in any way that is detrimental to Bank; and (h) upon the termination or cancellation of any Service for any reason, to promptly return to Bank all related Confidential Information. In the event Customer shall inadvertently receive from Bank any data or information pertaining to a customer of Bank other than Customer, Customer agrees to treat such data or information as Confidential Information, to promptly notify Bank of Customer's receipt thereof, and to promptly return such data or information to Bank in accordance with Bank's instructions. In the event of a breach by Customer of any of its obligations regarding the use and treatment of Confidential Information, Bank shall have, in addition to any other rights and remedies available at law or in equity, the right to obtain interim, interlocutory and permanent injunctive relief without the necessity of proving either actual damage or that any irreparable harm would or might result from a failure to obtain such injunctive relief, it being acknowledged and agreed by Customer that any such breach will cause irreparable harm to Bank and that monetary damages, alone, will not provide an adequate remedy (provided, that nothing shall preclude Bank from seeking and collecting monetary damages).

16. Standard of Care.

(a) Bank's responsibility to Customer under this Master Agreement, and in performing its duties and obligations with respect to any Service, is limited to the exercise of ordinary care and good faith. If Bank substantially complies with the terms, conditions, and provisions set forth in this Master Agreement and in the applicable Customer Profile(s) and Service Schedule(s), Bank shall be deemed to have exercised ordinary care and good faith. Customer agrees that clerical errors and mistakes do not constitute a failure to exercise ordinary care or to act in good faith. Bank makes no, and hereby disclaims any, representation or warranty that any Service will meet Customer's requirements or expectations or that any Service will be uninterrupted, timely, secure, or error-free. Bank further disclaims any representation or warranty that any errors in technology will be corrected. To the fullest extent permitted by law, and except as otherwise expressly provided by the terms of this Master Agreement or any applicable Customer Profile or Service Schedule (and only to the extent so provided), Customer agrees that Customer assumes and bears all risk as to unauthorized transactions, activity, and inquiries effected through the Service(s), and Customer agrees that Bank shall have no liability to Customer whatsoever for any unauthorized transaction, activity, or inquiry effected through any Service.

(b) Customer agrees that Customer's use of the Services is at Customer's sole risk, and that the Services are provided on an "AS IS" and "AS AVAILABLE" basis. Customer further agrees and acknowledges that Bank may from time to time temporarily suspend or interrupt the operation of any Service, without notice or liability to Customer, for maintenance or for any other operational or business needs as determined by Bank. Bank expressly disclaims all warranties of any kind relating to the Services and/or to the Service Equipment, and/or to any equipment or third party services obtained by Customer, whether express or implied, including (without limitation) the implied warranties of MERCHANTABILITY, FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE, and noninfringement, and any implied warranties arising from course of dealing or course of performance. Customer acknowledges and agrees that no advice, statement, or information, whether oral or written, obtained by Customer from Bank or its representatives, or through or from Customer's use of any Service shall create any warranty, representation, promise, or agreement on the part of Bank not expressly stated in this Master Agreement or in any applicable Customer Profile or Service Schedule.

(c) Bank shall not be responsible for any nonperformance or delay in performance of any of Bank's obligations, responsibilities, and/or covenants hereunder, whether expressed or implied, nor shall Bank be liable to Customer for any losses, costs, expenses, liabilities, claims or damages whatsoever, if at any time, or from time to time, performance thereof shall be prevented or hindered by, or be in conflict with, or such losses, costs, expenses, liabilities, claims or damages result in whole or in part from, (i) any federal or state law, regulation or rule, or the order of any court of competent jurisdiction; (ii) any processing network, funds transfer system, or clearinghouse operating rule or regulation; (iii) any Act of God, war, epidemic, strike, lockout, riot, weather conditions, equipment or computer failure or malfunction, material shortage, electrical power disruption or shortage, or communication, telephone or internet failure or malfunction; (iv) stoppages of the U.S. Postal Service and/or commercial carriers, or acts, omissions, or errors of any carrier and/or agent operating between Customer and Bank and/or any other party participating in transactions or activity contemplated by this Master Agreement; (v) any incorrect, unauthorized, or fraudulent use or other fraud by any person other than Bank's employees; or (vi) without limiting the generality of the foregoing, any other cause or circumstance beyond Bank's reasonable control or other conditions or circumstances not wholly controlled by Bank.

(d) To the fullest extent permitted by law, and except as otherwise expressly provided by the terms of this Master Agreement or any applicable Customer Profile or Service Schedule (and only to the extent so provided), Customer agrees that in no event shall Bank be liable to Customer in connection with any matter contemplated by or within the scope of this Master Agreement, or in performing or failing to perform, or in erroneously performing, any transactions or activity contemplated by or within the scope of this Master Agreement, for any incidental, special, indirect, punitive, exemplary, or consequential damages of any kind, including (without limitation) lost profits or attorneys' fees, regardless of whether Bank was advised, had reason to know, or in fact knew of the possibility thereof, or for any other damages whatsoever, regardless of the form of action, whether in contract, warranty, tort (including, without limitation, negligence), strict liability, or otherwise. Bank's liability to Customer under this Master Agreement shall be limited to correcting errors resulting from Bank's failure to exercise ordinary care or to act in good faith.

17. Service Availability. Customer acknowledges and agrees that the performance and completion of Service transactions are subject to Bank's business days and hours of operation, Bank's published policies and procedures, the hours of operation of departments within Bank performing Service transactions, applicable law, the provisions of this Master Agreement and any Customer Profile or Service Schedule, and the provisions of other Bank customer agreements governing specific transactions to be performed pursuant to the Services, and Customer agrees that Bank shall not be liable for any delay in the processing or settlement of Service transactions resulting from the foregoing. Customer further acknowledges and agrees that Bank and/or its Third Party Service Provider, each in its sole and absolute discretion, reserve the right to refuse to process any Service transaction without liability to Customer. Customer acknowledges and agrees that Bank or its Third Party Service Provider may from time to time communicate directly with any party to Customer's Service transactions (including, without limitation, payees of payment transactions executed through a Service) in order to perform and deliver the Services and to process and execute Service transactions.

18. Termination.

(a) (i) Subject to the terms of Section 18(a)(ii) below, Customer may terminate Customer's enrollment in and use of any Service at any time upon written notice to Bank, as provided in this Master Agreement or in the applicable Service Schedule. Customer agrees that Bank shall have a reasonable opportunity to act upon any termination notice submitted by Customer. Upon Customer's termination of any Service, Bank reserves the right to complete or cancel, in Bank's sole and absolute discretion, any pending Service transactions, activity, or inquiries.

(ii) In the event any Service constitutes an operational service that is provided in connection with any deposit account Customer maintains with Bank, and to the extent necessary to qualify the related deposit account as an operational deposit for purposes of liquidity coverage laws or regulations to which Bank is subject, Customer may not terminate Customer's enrollment in and use of such Service without first giving Bank written notice of termination (x) at least 30 calendar days in advance of the effective date of such termination or (y) according to the applicable notice interval provided in Service Schedule governing such Service (if any), whichever of (x) or (y) shall result in greater advance notice to Bank. For purposes of this Section 18(a)(ii), the terms "operational deposit" and "operational service" shall have the meanings respectively ascribed to them by 12 CFR Part 249, as amended or as replaced by any successor law, regulation, or rule binding on Bank.

(b) Bank may terminate Customer's enrollment in and use of any Service at any time upon at least thirty (30) days' prior written notice to Customer; provided, that Bank may terminate or suspend Customer's use of any Service (including, without limitation, any pending transactions, activity, or inquiries) immediately and without prior notice to Customer in the event that:

(i) Customer shall breach or default in the due observance or performance of any obligation, covenant, condition or agreement on the part of Customer to be observed or performed pursuant to the terms of this Master Agreement or with respect to any Service;

(ii) Customer shall breach or default in the due observance or performance of any obligation, covenant, condition or agreement on the part of Customer to be observed or performed pursuant to the terms of any other agreement or contract by and between Customer and Bank;

(iii) any representation or warranty made by Customer shall prove to be false or misleading in any material respect as of the time made, or any report, data, information, certificate, financial statement or other instrument furnished by Customer in connection with this Master Agreement or any Service shall prove to be false or misleading in any material respect as of the time furnished;

(iv) Customer or any person or entity which has guaranteed the payment and performance of Customer's obligations under this Master Agreement or with respect to any Service (together with Customer, the "Obligors") shall (A) apply for or consent to the appointment of a receiver, trustee, liquidator or other custodian for Obligor or any of Obligors properties or assets,

Restricted

(B) fail or admit in writing Obligor's inability to pay its debts generally as they become due, (C) make a general assignment for the benefit of creditors, (D) suffer or permit an order for relief to be entered against Obligor in any proceeding under the federal Bankruptcy Code, or (E) file a voluntary petition in bankruptcy, or a petition or an answer seeking an arrangement with creditors or to take advantage of any bankruptcy, reorganization, insolvency, readjustment of debt, dissolution or liquidation law or statute, or an answer admitting the material allegations of a petition filed against Obligor in any proceeding under any such law or statute, or if partnership action shall be taken by any Obligor for the purpose of effecting any of the foregoing;

(v) a petition shall be filed, without the application, approval or consent of Obligor in any court of competent jurisdiction, seeking bankruptcy, reorganization, rearrangement, dissolution or liquidation of Obligor or of all or a substantial part of the properties or assets of Obligor, or seeking any other relief under any law or statute against Obligor, or the appointment of a receiver, trustee, liquidator or other custodian of such Obligor or of all or a substantial part of the properties or assets of such Obligor, and such petition shall not have been stayed or dismissed within sixty (60) days after the filing thereof;

(vi) any Obligor shall die, if an individual, be dissolved or liquidated, if an entity, or cease to be solvent or suspend or discontinue business in the ordinary course;

(vii) any writ of execution, attachment or garnishment shall be issued against a substantial portion of the assets of any Obligor and such writ of execution, attachment or garnishment shall not be dismissed, discharged or quashed within thirty (30) days of issuance;

(viii) any final judgment for the payment of money in excess of $50,000 shall be rendered against any Obligor and the same shall remain undischarged for a period of thirty (30) days during which execution shall not be effectively stayed;

(ix) any guarantor of Customer's obligations shall default in the due observance or performance of any covenant, condition or agreement on such guarantor's part to be observed or performed under such guarantor's guaranty agreement or shall terminate or attempt to terminate such guarantor's guaranty agreement; or

(x) in Bank's discretion and judgment (A) there has been an adverse change in Customer's financial condition or business or (B) Customer may not have sufficient available funds in its Account on any settlement date in connection with a Service which requires funds to be available, or (C) Bank deems itself or its assets insecure or at unreasonable exposure or risk with respect to any Service transaction, activity, or inquiry.

(c) No termination of any Service for any reason shall relieve Customer of any liability for Customer's obligations which have accrued prior to the effective time of termination or for Customer's obligations and duties hereunder which by their nature or by express provision are intended to survive termination. Following any termination of a Service, Customer shall pay or perform any and all related outstanding obligations, and return to Bank any and all related Service Materials and Confidential Information, promptly upon Bank's demand. No termination or suspension of any Service by Bank, and no failure on the part of Bank to demand payment or performance of any outstanding obligations, shall limit Bank's right to pursue any recourse and remedies available to Bank in the event of breach by Customer of any terms, provisions, or conditions of this Master Agreement.

19. Indemnification. Except for those losses caused directly by Bank's gross negligence or intentional acts, Customer agrees to indemnify, defend, and hold Bank, its officers, directors, shareholders, agents, employees, and affiliates, and their respective officers, directors, agents and employees, harmless from and against any and all losses, costs, suits, damages, claims, liabilities, and expenses (including, without limitation, reasonable attorneys' fees) arising from or related in any way to (a) any Service transaction or activity performed in compliance with Customer's instructions or directions, (b) Bank's action or inaction in reliance upon any instructions or information received from any Authorized User or any other person reasonably believed by Bank to be an authorized representative of Customer, (c) any Service transaction, inquiry, or activity initiated using Security Procedures, whether or not the person initiating such transaction, inquiry, or activity is an Authorized User or other authorized representative of Customer, (d) breach by Customer or any of Customer's agents, representatives, employees, service providers, or contractors of any of Customer's covenants, agreements, responsibilities, representations or warranties under this Master Agreement, and/or (e) breach or violation by Customer or any of Customer's agents, representatives, employees, service providers, or contractors of applicable laws, rules or regulations. Without limiting or diminishing any other obligations of Customer to Bank described in this section, Customer also agrees to fully cooperate with and assist Bank in any efforts on the part of Bank to recover from any third party or parties any losses incurred by Bank as a result of the execution of any Service transaction or activity.

20. Notices and Communications.

(a) Subject to the following provisions of this section, all notices, demands, requests, or other communications which may be or are required to be given, served, or sent pursuant to this Master Agreement or with respect to any Service shall be in writing and shall be delivered by personal or hand delivery, facsimile transmission, nationally recognized express overnight delivery service (with charges therefor prepaid), or certified or registered mail, return receipt requested (with postage therefor prepaid). Notices shall be deemed received upon receipt, if hand or personally delivered, the next business day after the notice has been transmitted by facsimile or deposited with a nationally recognized express overnight delivery service, or the third business day after the notice has been deposited with the United States Postal Service. Bank may transmit notices to such physical address, mailing address, or facsimile number which Bank reasonably believes to be correct contact information for Customer based upon any Customer records on file with Bank. Customer shall transmit notices to the Bank as follows:

Regions Bank
Commercial Client Services
250 Riverchase Parkway East
Birmingham, Alabama 35244

Fax (205) 560-5193 or (205) 560-5194

(b) Customer agrees that Bank may send notifications to Customer hereunder and/or with respect to any Service (including, without limitation, change of terms notices and any information, disclosures, and/or notices relating to the Services) in electronic form, either by posting such information, disclosures, and notices at Bank's website at Regions.com or by transmitting them, or notice of the availability thereof at Bank's website, to any e-mail address that Customer has provided in connection with Customer's use of the Services. Customer shall be deemed to have received electronic notices or disclosures three (3) days after Bank posts them at Bank's website or transmits them, or notice of the availably thereof at the applicable website, to Customer's e-mail address, as applicable, whether or not Customer has retrieved them by that time. Customer agrees to frequently and regularly retrieve Customer's e-mail and review posted messages and information at Bank's website to ensure that Customer is aware of current terms, conditions, and information relating to the Services. Bank reserves the right at any time, in Bank's discretion, to mail to Customer's address that appears in Bank's records, or otherwise transmit to Customer pursuant to any other method to which Customer has agreed in connection with its Account, paper copies of any information, disclosures and/or notices relating to the Services in lieu of or in addition to electronic versions thereof.

(c) Except as otherwise expressly provided in any applicable Article of Part 2 of this Master Agreement or any applicable Customer Profile or Service Schedule, Customer agrees that Bank may transmit confidential information, including (without limitation) Security Devices, to the current mailing address shown in Bank's records for any of Customer's Accounts, or to the e-mail address Customer has provided in connection with Customer's use of the applicable Service, whether or not that address includes a designation for delivery to the attention of any particular individual. Customer further agrees that Bank shall not be responsible or liable to Customer in any way in the event that such properly addressed information is intercepted by an unauthorized person, either in transit or at Customer's place of business.

(d) Customer agrees to keep its mailing address(es) and any applicable e-mail address(es) current and updated with Bank at all times. In the event of notices sent to Customer via e-mail, Customer agrees that Bank is under no obligation to re-send, re-transmit, or otherwise deliver to Customer any Service notifications or information that Bank has transmitted to Customer's e-mail address and that has been returned "undeliverable" or otherwise rejected for delivery.

(e) In the event that Customer believes that any Security Procedures or Security Device has been stolen, compromised, or otherwise become known to persons other than Authorized Users, or if Customer has revoked or limited the authority of any Authorized User, or if Customer believes that any Service transaction or activity is unauthorized or in error, Customer shall notify Bank immediately by calling 1-800-787-3905.

(f) With respect to Service communications exchanged between Bank and Customer via e-mail or other electronic messaging, Customer (i) agrees that Bank has no obligation to monitor or investigate the use of Customer's computer system or the source of any communication received from Customer bearing Customer's e-mail address or other information that identifies the sender as Customer, (ii) releases Bank from any claim or liability arising from or in connection with any communications sent or received using e-mail or other electronic messaging, and (iii) agrees to indemnify and hold harmless Bank from all claims, losses, expenses or liability arising in any way out of or connected in any way with the use of e-mail or other electronic messaging for the communication of Service information between Bank and Customer. Customer acknowledges and agrees that no provision of this Master Agreement relating generally to communications between Bank and Customer via e-mail or other electronic messaging shall displace or modify any specific requirement set forth in this Master Agreement, in any Customer Profile or Service Schedule, or in any other agreement or term between Customer and Bank that Customer communicate in writing (and not electronically) or in any particular mode or fashion to Bank, and Customer agrees to observe and comply in any event with any such requirement in all applicable instances.

(g) The general provisions of this section are subject and subordinate to any specific provisions for the giving of notice under particular circumstances or conditions as set forth elsewhere in this Master Agreement or in any applicable Customer Profile or Service Schedule.

21. Entire Agreement; Services Provided by Third Parties.

(a) Bank and Customer agree that the terms, conditions, and provisions of all applicable Customer Profiles, Service Schedules, and User Guides, all as may be amended from time to time, are incorporated into this Master Agreement and made a part hereof by reference. This Master Agreement, together with applicable Customer Profiles, Service Schedules, and User Guides, as amended, constitutes the current, sole and entire agreement between Customer and Bank with respect to the Services. This Master Agreement supplements, but does not replace, other agreements, terms and conditions governing Customer's Accounts and/or any other services used by Customer in relation to Customer's Accounts (including, without limitation, the deposit agreement governing Customer's Accounts). Such other agreements, terms and conditions remain in full force and effect, and Bank may apply the provisions thereof to Customer's use of the Services, as the context may require; provided, however, that in the event of a conflict between the terms of this Master Agreement and those of any other agreement, the express terms of this Master Agreement, or the terms of any Customer Profile, Service Schedule or User Guide, as applicable, shall control with respect to the Services.

(b) Customer acknowledges and agrees that Bank, in its sole and absolute discretion, may arrange for Third Party Service Providers to provide certain Services, or elements, functions, or features thereof or products relating thereto, to Customer and that Customer may be required to enter into contracts directly with Third Party Service Providers in order to obtain such Services ("Third Party Service Agreements"). Customer acknowledges that Bank is not a party to any Third Party Service Agreement, except to the extent that Bank otherwise expressly agrees in writing, and Customer agrees that Bank assumes no responsibility for, and shall have no liability to Customer for, the performance, nonperformance, or negligent performance of any obligations under any Third Party Service Agreement. Customer agrees to look solely to the Third Party Service Provider, and not to Bank, for the performance of any applicable Third Party Service Agreement, for the enforcement of any rights or remedies thereunder, and for the delivery of the Service contemplated thereby. No breach or default by any Third Party Service Provider under any Third Party Service Agreement shall in any way relieve Customer of Customer's obligations to Bank under this Master Agreement or allow Customer to withhold the performance thereof. Customer further agrees to indemnify, defend, and hold harmless Bank from and against any and all liability, losses, or claims arising out of or in any way related to any breach or default on the part of Customer with respect to any Third Party Service Agreement. In the event of a conflict between the terms of this Master Agreement and those of any Third Party Service Agreement, the terms of the Third Party Service Agreement shall control with regard to the relationship between Customer and the Third Party Service Provider and the Third Party Service Provider's provision of the Service contemplated thereby. The provisions of this subsection are not intended to limit or affect any other terms, provisions, or conditions of this Master Agreement relating to Customer's dealings or relationships with third parties in the course of using the Services contemplated by this Master Agreement.

(c) Any third-party servicer or vendor used by Customer in connection with the Services ("Vendor") is agent of Customer and not of Bank, and Customer will be liable and solely responsible for: (a) any Vendor's failure to comply with this Master Agreement or any Security Procedures or operating requirements relating to the Services; (b) all fees, costs and expenses owed to each Vendor for its services; and (c) any losses, costs and expenses incurred as a result of any Vendor's failure to perform, or delay or error in performing, its services. If Customer uses a Vendor, Customer shall be deemed to have authorized Bank to follow the instructions of such Vendor to the same extent and under the same conditions as would apply if the instructions came direct from Customer.

22. Amendments.

(a) Bank shall have the right to modify, amend, change, or supplement the terms of this Master Agreement, any Customer Profile, and/or any Service Schedule (including any separate sections thereof), and/or the fees, charges, and other terms and conditions applicable to the Services, at any time and from time to time in Bank's discretion upon written or electronic notice to Customer, including (without limitation) by posting notice in Bank's manned offices where deposits are received, by including notice with or on Customer's account statement, or by posting notice on Bank's official web site at http://www.regions.com or any subsequent official Bank web site. Customer agrees that a summary of any change in terms is sufficient notice. Any changes made by Bank shall be effective as of the time Bank determines, as provided in Bank's notice. Customer agrees that Bank may from time to time in its discretion add to, modify, and/or delete administrative and operational features and elements applicable to the use of the Services (including, without limitation, User Guides) and/or make any changes that are in Customer's favor without notice to Customer. If Customer does not agree to any change or amendment, Customer must discontinue its use of the Services. By using any Service after any such change or amendment, Customer agrees to that change or amendment.

(b) Customer may in no way alter, modify, amend, or supplement this Master Agreement, or any Customer Profile, Service Schedule, or other document or agreement constituting a part of this Master Agreement, without Bank's express written agreement and consent in each instance. Customer acknowledges and agrees that no practice or course of dealing between Customer and Bank, nor any oral representations or communications by Customer and/or any of Bank's agents, employees or representatives, which vary the terms and conditions of this Master Agreement, or any applicable Customer Profile or Service Schedule, shall constitute a modification or amendment of the terms and conditions thereof. Notwithstanding the foregoing, Customer may from time to time request Bank to change, add, or delete certain specifications, terms, set-up instructions, or features of Services used by Customer by telephoning Bank, by electronic communication, or by other means of communication. Bank may make such changes, additions, or deletions in Bank's sole and absolute discretion without further action on the part of Customer and without execution of any additional documentation by and/or between Customer and Bank, and Customer agrees that Customer shall be bound by any such changes, additions, or deletions made by Bank in reliance upon the instructions given by any Authorized User or any other person reasonably believed by Bank to be an authorized representative of Customer.

23. Remedies; Waiver. The rights, remedies, and recourse afforded to Bank with respect to the enforcement of this Master Agreement, whether arising in law or in equity, are cumulative and concurrent and may be exercised by Bank in such order and in such manner as Bank may determine in Bank's sole and absolute discretion. No delay or omission by Bank in exercising any right or remedy under this Master Agreement or applicable law shall impair such right or remedy or be construed as a waiver of any such right or remedy. Any single or partial exercise of a right or remedy shall not preclude further exercise of that right or remedy or the exercise of any other right or remedy. No waiver shall be valid unless in writing and signed by Bank. A waiver on any one occasion shall not be construed as a bar or waiver of any rights or remedies on future occasions. Where this Master Agreement or applicable law permits Bank to take action, or not to take action, in Bank's discretion on any matter, any action or inaction on Bank's part with respect to such matter shall not obligate Bank to repeat such action or inaction with respect to similar matters that may subsequently arise. Except as otherwise required by the express terms and provisions of this Master Agreement, or any applicable Customer Profile or Service Schedule, no notice to or demand on Customer in any case shall entitle Customer to any other or further notice or demand in similar or other circumstances.

24. Assignment; Successors and Assigns. Customer may not assign or transfer this Master Agreement, or any of Customer's rights hereunder, in whole or in part, whether voluntarily, involuntarily or by operation of law or otherwise, including (without limitation) by merger, consolidation, dissolution, sale of a controlling interest or otherwise, without Bank's prior written acknowledgement and consent, which may be granted or withheld in Bank's absolute discretion. Any such assignment without Bank's prior written acknowledgement and consent shall be void and of no force or effect; provided, that Bank shall have the right, at its option and discretion, to enforce any of Customer's liabilities, duties, and obligations hereunder against any purported assignee of Customer. Bank may assign this Master Agreement and/or any or all of Bank's rights hereunder, or delegate any or all of Bank's responsibilities or duties hereunder, to any third party or parties in Bank's discretion and without notice to Customer. Subject to the foregoing, this Master Agreement shall be binding on the parties hereto and their respective successors and assigns.

25. ARBITRATION AND WAIVER OF JURY TRIAL. Except as otherwise expressly provided in this section, and subject to the dispute resolution requirements of any applicable funds transfer system or network or clearinghouse, Customer and Bank agree that either party may elect to resolve by binding arbitration any controversy, claim, counterclaim, dispute, or disagreement between Customer and Bank (a "Claim") that arises from or relates to (a) the interpretation, execution, performance, administration, amendment, or modification of this Master Agreement; (b) any Account or any Service transaction, activity, or inquiry; (c) any charge or cost incurred pursuant to this Master Agreement; (d) the collection of any amounts due with respect to this Master Agreement or any Account; (e) any alleged contract or tort arising out of or relating in any way to this Master Agreement, any Account, any Service transaction, activity or inquiry, any advertisement or solicitation, or Customer's business, interaction or relationship with Bank; (f) any breach of any term, provision, representation, or warranty set forth of this Master Agreement; (g) any statements or representations made with respect to this Master Agreement, any Account, any Service transaction, activity or inquiry, any advertisement or solicitation, or Customer's business, interaction or relationship with Bank; or (h) any of the foregoing arising out of or in connection with, or relating to, any agreement, instrument, or document which relates to this Master Agreement, any Account, any Service transaction, activity or inquiry, or Customer's business, interaction or relationship with Bank (including, without limitation, any Customer Profile, Service Schedule, or User Guide). If either party elects to arbitrate, the Claim shall be settled by binding arbitration under the Federal Arbitration Act ("FAA"). This agreement to arbitrate shall include any Claim involving Bank's officers, directors, employees, agents, representatives, contractors, subcontractors, parent, subsidiaries, affiliates, successors, assigns, any third party that assigned any agreements to Bank, and any of the respective employees, officers, agents or directors of such affiliates or third parties, and any such Claim against any of those parties may be joined or consolidated with any related Claim against Bank in a single arbitration proceeding. In addition, if Bank becomes a party in any lawsuit involving Customer and any third party(ies), whether through intervention by Bank or by motion made by Customer or any third party(ies), Bank may elect to have all claims in that lawsuit between Customer and such third party(ies) resolved by binding arbitration under this agreement.

Restricted

The arbitration shall be administered by the American Arbitration Association (the "AAA") under its Commercial Arbitration Rules (the "Arbitration Rules") in effect at the time the demand for arbitration is filed. In the event of a conflict between the Arbitration Rules and this Master Agreement, this Master Agreement shall control. Each party shall be responsible for its own costs, fees, and expenses incurred in connection with an arbitration proceeding; provided, that any prevailing party may seek the recovery of, and the arbitrator(s) may award or apportion, costs, fees, and/or expenses, as provided under the terms of this Master Agreement or the Arbitration Rules, or as required by applicable law.

The arbitration of any Claim of $100,000 or greater shall be conducted by a panel of three arbitrators. The arbitration of any Claim of a lesser amount shall be conducted by one arbitrator. The arbitrator(s) shall be selected from the AAA's panel of arbitrators by mutual agreement between Customer and Bank. If the parties cannot agree on the arbitrator(s), the AAA shall appoint the arbitrator(s). Except as expressly provided in this agreement to arbitrate, no Claim may be joined with another dispute or lawsuit, or consolidated with the arbitration of another Claim, or resolved on behalf of a class of similarly situated persons, or brought as private attorney general or on another similar representative basis. All statutes of limitation, defenses, and attorney-client and other privileges that would apply in a court proceeding shall apply in the arbitration. Any in-person arbitration hearing shall be held in the federal judicial district embracing Birmingham, Alabama. Any dispute regarding whether a particular controversy is subject to arbitration, including any claim of unconscionability and any dispute over the scope or validity of this agreement to arbitrate disputes or of this entire Master Agreement, shall be decided by the arbitrator(s). The arbitrator(s) shall establish such reasonable procedures as may be necessary for the reasonable exchange of information between the parties prior to such arbitration. In rendering an award, the arbitrator(s) shall apply applicable contract terms, statutes and legal precedent and shall follow the Federal Rules of Evidence, enforce applicable privileges, and employ applicable burdens of proof. The arbitrator(s) shall award only such relief as a court of competent jurisdiction could properly award under applicable law. The findings, reasoning, decision, and award of the arbitrator(s) shall be set forth in writing and shall be based upon and be consistent with the law of the jurisdiction that applies to this Master Agreement. Judgment on the arbitration award may be entered in any court having jurisdiction.

In the event that the arbitration results in an award which imposes an injunction on you or on us, or contains a monetary award in excess of two hundred fifty thousand dollars ($250,000.00), the award shall be reviewable on appeal initiated within 30 days of the award by a panel of three new arbitrators selected to hear the appeal under the procedure for appointment from the national roster as provided by Commercial Arbitration Rule 11. Such review shall apply the substantive and procedural standards normally applying to an appeal of a judgment from a trial court of competent jurisdiction. However, if the award does not impose an injunction on you or on us or contain a money award in excess of two hundred fifty thousand dollars ($250,000.00), then the award shall not be appealable and shall only be subject to such challenges as would otherwise be permissible under the FAA.

This agreement to arbitrate does not limit the right of Customer or Bank, whether before, during or after the pendency of any arbitration proceeding, to exercise self-help remedies such as set-off, repossession, trustee's sales and the like. This agreement to arbitrate does not limit the right of Customer or Bank, whether before or during the pendency of any arbitration proceeding to bring an action (individually, and not on behalf of a class) to obtain provisional or ancillary remedies or injunctive relief (other than a stay of arbitration) to protect the rights or property of the party seeking such relief. However, the arbitrator(s) shall have the power to vacate and/or stay any such proceedings or orders granting provisional or ancillary remedies or injunctive relief, upon application by Customer or Bank. The taking by either Customer or Bank of any of self-help remedies or by filing any action in court, including, but not limited to, the actions described in the preceding sentence, shall not be deemed to be a waiver of the right to elect binding arbitration of any Claim upon the filing of a counterclaim or the like by either Customer or Bank in response to any such action. Customer and Bank specifically acknowledge and agree that this Master Agreement evidences a "transaction involving commerce" under the FAA, and hereby waive and relinquish any right to claim otherwise.

If any term or provision of this agreement to arbitrate disputes and waiver of jury trial is held to be invalid or unenforceable, the remaining provisions shall be enforced without regard to the invalid or unenforceable term or provision; provided, that if Customer or Bank seeks to bring a joined, consolidated, or class action for arbitration, and if the foregoing prohibition against the arbitration of joined, consolidated or class actions is held by an authority of competent jurisdiction to be invalid or unenforceable, the arbitration agreement between Customer and Bank shall be deemed inapplicable to such joined, consolidated or class action, to the effect that any permitted and lawful joined, consolidated or class action shall be adjudicated in accordance with the provisions of applicable law and shall not be resolved through arbitration (provided further, that the jury trial waiver shall, in any event, remain in full force and effect to the fullest extent permitted by law). This agreement to arbitrate disputes and waiver of jury trial shall survive the termination of this Master Agreement or any Service for any reason.

WHETHER ANY CONTROVERSY IS ARBITRATED OR SETTLED BY A COURT, CUSTOMER AND BANK VOLUNTARILY, KNOWINGLY, AND INTENTIONALLY WAIVE ANY RIGHT TO A JURY TRIAL WITH RESPECT TO SUCH CONTROVERSY TO THE FULLEST EXTENT ALLOWED BY LAW. EACH PARTY ACKNOWLEDGES THAT IT HAS RECEIVED THE ADVICE OF COMPETENT COUNSEL WITH REGARD TO THE WAIVER OF THE RIGHT TO JURY TRIAL.

26. Governing Law; Venue. This Master Agreement, and the rights, remedies, obligations, and liabilities arising hereunder, shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the State of Alabama, without regard to its conflict of laws principles, and, where applicable, the laws of the United States. Any action at law, suit in equity, or other proceeding (including, without limitation, arbitration proceedings) for the enforcement of this Master Agreement or any provision hereof, or for the adjudication of any dispute of controversy relating to or arising out of any relationship or transaction between the parties, shall take place, at the option of Bank (whether or not such proceeding is initiated by Bank), in the State of Alabama, in Jefferson County, in the City of Birmingham. Customer hereby consents to the personal jurisdiction of the state and federal courts in Jefferson County, Alabama, in any dispute or contest arising from or relating to this Master Agreement or any relationship or transaction between Customer and Bank, and Customer waives any right to dismiss or transfer any action or adversarial proceeding or hearing commenced in or transferred to Birmingham, Jefferson County, Alabama, because of the inconvenience of the forum or venue. In the event of any judicial or other adversarial proceeding between the parties relating to or concerning this Agreement, Bank shall be entitled to recover its reasonable attorneys' fees and other costs in addition to any other relief to which it may be entitled in the event that it is the prevailing party.

Restricted

27. Survival. Customer's obligations and liabilities under or relating to this Master Agreement shall survive the termination of this Master Agreement and/or the termination of any applicable Service for any reason.

28. Severability. If a court of competent jurisdiction, or arbitrator as applicable, finds any provision of this Master Agreement to be invalid or unenforceable as to any person or circumstance, such finding shall not render that provision invalid or unenforceable as to any other persons or circumstances. If feasible, any such offending provision shall be deemed to be modified to be within the limits of enforceability or validity; however, if the offending provision cannot be so modified, it shall be stricken and all other provisions of this Master Agreement in all other respects shall remain valid and enforceable, subject to the express terms and provisions of this Master Agreement.

29. No Third Party Beneficiaries. Except as otherwise expressly provided by the terms of this Master Agreement, this Master Agreement shall not be construed to confer any rights or remedies upon any person not a party to this Agreement, whether as a third party beneficiary or otherwise, against Customer or Bank, their respective successors, assigns, and/or affiliates.

30. Construction. This Master Agreement is an agreement between parties who are experienced in sophisticated and complex matters similar to the transactions and activity contemplated by this Master Agreement, is entered into by both parties in reliance upon the economic and legal bargains contemplated hereby, and shall be interpreted and construed in a fair and impartial manner without regard to such factors as the party which prepared the instrument or drafted any provision thereof, the relative bargaining powers of the parties, or the domicile of any party. The captions and headings used in this Master Agreement are for convenience of reference only and shall not be used to limit the applicability or meaning of any provisions of this Master Agreement. All personal pronouns used in this Master Agreement, whether used in the masculine, feminine or neuter gender, shall include all other genders where the context so requires. The use of the singular form shall include the plural, and the use of the plural shall include the singular, where the context so requires.

31. Mobile Services.

(a) Bank may enable certain Services to be used or accessed with a Wireless Device ("Mobile Services"). Customer agrees to observe and comply with the terms of any and all Service Materials furnished or made available by Bank in connection with Mobile Services and otherwise to use Mobile Services in accordance with the Bank's terms, conditions, and instructions. Customer represents and warrants to Bank that all information Customer provides to Bank in connection with using any Mobile Service is accurate, current, and complete and that Customer has the right to provide such information to Bank for the purpose of using the Mobile Service. Bank may change, upgrade, or modify the scope of Mobile Services from time to time, and Bank reserves the right to cancel or discontinue any Mobile Service at any time. Bank will not be liable to Customer for any losses caused by Customer's failure properly to use any Mobile Service or Wireless Device. Bank reserves the right to refuse to execute any transaction requested through any Mobile Service. Bank will not be liable to Customer in the event that Mobile Services are not be accessible or have limited utility over certain mobile networks.

(b) Customer acknowledges and agrees that Customer remains subject to the terms and conditions of any Service that Customer uses or accesses as a Mobile Service, unless otherwise expressly provided in this Agreement or in the terms of the Mobile Service. Customer also acknowledges that any agreement Customer may have with any third party service provider, including Customer's mobile service carrier or provider, also may remain in effect and provide for fees, limitations, or restrictions that might impact Customer's use of Mobile Services. Customer agrees that Bank is not liable to Customer for such fees, limitations, and restrictions. Customer's mobile service carrier or provider is solely responsible for its products and services, and Customer agrees to resolve any problems with Customer's carrier or provider directly with such carrier or provider without involving Bank.

(c) Customer agrees not to use any Mobile Service or the content or information delivered through such Mobile Service in any way that would (i) infringe any copyright, patent, trademark, trade secret, or other proprietary rights or rights of publicity or privacy, including any rights in Service Materials used in connection with the Mobile Service, (ii) be fraudulent or involve the sale of counterfeit or stolen items, including, but not limited to, use of the Mobile Service to impersonate another person or entity, (iii) violate any law, statute, ordinance or regulation (including, but not limited to, those governing export control, consumer protection, unfair competition, anti-discrimination or false advertising), (iv) be false, misleading or inaccurate, (v) create liability for Bank or Bank's affiliates or service providers, or cause Bank to lose (in whole or in part) the services of any of Bank's service providers, (vi) be defamatory, trade libelous, unlawfully threatening or unlawfully harassing, (vii) potentially be perceived as illegal, offensive or objectionable, (viii) interfere with or disrupt computer networks connected to the Mobile Service, (ix) interfere with or disrupt the use of the Mobile Service by any other user, or (x) result in unauthorized entry or access to the computer systems of others.

(d) Neither Bank nor its service providers shall be liable to Customer for any loss of data, personalization settings, or other Mobile Service interruptions that result from technical malfunctions or difficulties. Neither Bank nor its service providers assume responsibility for the timeliness, deletion, mis-delivery or failure to store any user data, communications or personalization settings in connection with Customer's use of any Mobile Service or for the operation, security, functionality or availability of any Wireless Device or mobile network which Customer utilizes to access Mobile Services.

(e) Information obtained through Mobile Services reflects the most recent information available through Mobile Services and may not be accurate or current. Customer agrees that neither Bank nor its service providers will be liable for any errors or delays in the content, or for any actions taken in reliance thereon. Certain Service features, functions, and services may not be available when accessing or using the Service as a Mobile Service.

(f) Mobile Services may not be available through all mobile service providers and carriers, and some mobile phones and other wireless devices may not be supported as Wireless Devices in connection with Mobile Services. Customer is responsible for utilizing currently supported mobile service providers, carriers, and Wireless Devices, for ensuring that Customer satisfies all technical requirements for using Mobile Services, and for ensuring that Wireless Devices operate and are configured as directed by Bank for the use of Mobile Services. Customer acknowledges and agrees that Bank may, in its discretion, use the GPS or geolocation functions on Customer's Wireless Device to obtain geolocation information for fraud prevention and security purposes and to ensure compliance with the terms of this Agreement.

(g) Without limiting any of Customer's other obligations to Bank under this Agreement, Customer agrees to indemnify and hold harmless Bank and its affiliates and service providers from and against any and all third party claims, liability, damages, expenses and costs (including, but not limited to, reasonable attorneys' fees) caused by or arising from Customer's use of Mobile Services, Customer's violation of any of the terms of any Mobile Service, or Customer's infringement of any intellectual property or other right of any party.

PART 2: ADDITIONAL TERMS AND CONDITIONS FOR CERTAIN SERVICES

Article I. Regions Quick Deposit℠ Service

1. Description of Service. The Regions Quick Deposit℠ Service allows Customer to make deposits to Customer's deposit account(s) at Bank by scanning checks on a Bank-approved desktop scanner or other approved capture device and transmitting the deposit data to Bank via the Internet. To ensure accuracy, Customer agrees to balance each deposit total to the sum of the captured checks prior to transmitting the data. Customer agrees to follow all User Guides provided by Bank in the initial setup and ongoing use of the Service.

2. Administrator. Customer shall designate one or more administrators who shall act as Customer's primary point(s) of contact with Bank with respect to the Service. Customer's administrator(s) shall be responsible for establishing, managing, and controlling Customer's Authorized Users of the Service.

3. Equipment.

(a) Scanner, image capture, and other hardware and software used by Customer in connection with the Service must meet technical standards and specifications required from time to time by Bank. Except as otherwise expressly provided in this Article, the General Terms, the Service Schedule, or in a separate written agreement between Customer and Bank, Customer shall be solely responsible for procuring and maintaining in good working order (including installation of upgrades and patches), at Customer's sole cost and expense, any and all scanner, image capture, and other hardware and software that is to be used by Customer in connection with the Service.

(b) In the event that Customer purchases any scanners, image capture equipment, hardware or software, and/or other Service equipment (collectively "Scanner Equipment") from, through, or at the suggestion of Bank or its vendors or contractors, Customer acknowledges and agrees that Bank is neither the manufacturer of such Scanner Equipment nor a merchant (as such term is defined in Article 2 of the Uniform Commercial Code) with respect to the sale of such Scanner Equipment and that the sale of any Scanner Equipment to Customer is incidental to the provision of the Service by Bank to Customer. All Scanner Equipment is sold and transferred to Customer "AS IS" and without any representation or warranty whatsoever, express or implied, on the part of Bank, including (without limitation) any warranty of MERCHNATABILITY or FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE. To the extent assignable, Bank hereby transfers and assigns to Customer, without any representation or warranty, express or implied, on the part of Bank, including (without limitation) any representation that any manufacturer's warranty exists or is enforceable, all of Bank's right, title, and interest in and to any manufacturer's warranty with respect to Scanner Equipment purchased by Customer from Bank. Bank shall arrange for the delivery of Scanner Equipment purchased from Bank to Customer's place of business as soon as practicable. All risk of Scanner Equipment loss, theft, damage, or destruction shall pass to Customer upon the tender of delivery of the Scanner Equipment at Customer's place of business. Customer agrees to pay Bank any and all charges due to Bank for purchased Scanner Equipment, and Customer authorizes Bank to debit Customer's deposit account(s) with Bank in the amount of any such charges due to Bank. In the event that any uncollected sales or use taxes shall be due in connection with the sale of any Scanner Equipment to Customer by Bank, Customer agrees to be responsible for such taxes and to remit the amount thereof to Bank or the appropriate taxing authority within three (3) business days after Bank's demand. If Customer shall fail to timely remit the amount of such taxes, Bank may debit Customer's deposit account(s) with Bank in the amount thereof.

4. Scanner Replacement Program. In the event of scanner malfunction or other scanner operational problems, Customer may contact Bank's Treasury Management Services department during normal business hours for assistance and technical support. Bank, in Bank's sole and absolute discretion, may from time to time maintain a program, or arrange for a Third Party Service Provider to maintain a program in which Customer may participate by entering into a Third Party Service Agreement with such Third Party Service Provider, for the repair or replacement of defective or inoperable scanners and image capture devices used in connection with the Service ("Scanner Replacement Program"). In the event Customer elects to participate in any such Scanner Replacement Program, Customer agrees to pay any applicable fees and charges imposed in connection with the Scanner Replacement Program and otherwise to comply with the terms and conditions of the Scanner Replacement Program. Any applicable Scanner Replacement Program fees or charges due from Customer that are not timely paid, whether due to Bank or to any Third Party Service Provider, may be charged against Customer's Account. Customer acknowledges and agrees that any Scanner Replacement Program is within the sole discretion of Bank, and Bank may implement, cancel, or amend the terms and conditions of any Scanner Replacement Program at any time and without notice to Customer. Customer may request information about any current Scanner Replacement Program from Bank's Treasury Management Services department.

5. Items Deposited. Customer agrees that Customer will use the Service only for the deposit of checks, as that term is defined in Federal Reserve Board Regulation CC ("Reg CC"). Customer agrees that the image of any check that is transmitted to Bank shall be deemed an "item" within the meaning of Article 4 of the Uniform Commercial Code (1990 Official Text). Customer further agrees that Customer will not use the Service to deposit any check or other item that: (a) is payable to any person or entity other than Customer, (b) is drawn, or otherwise issued, by Customer or any affiliate of Customer on any account of Customer or of such affiliate, (c) is prohibited by Bank's then current procedures pertaining to the Service or is in violation of any law, rule or regulation, (d) Customer knows or suspects, or should know or suspect, is fraudulent or otherwise not authorized by the owner of the account on which the check is drawn, (e) has not been previously endorsed by a bank and is either a "substitute check" (as defined in Reg CC or other applicable federal law or regulation) or an "image replacement document" that purports to be a substitute check, without Bank's prior written consent, (f) is drawn on a financial institution that is located outside of the United States or Territories of the United States, (g) is a "remotely created check" as that term is defined in Reg CC, or (h) is not acceptable to Bank for deposit into a deposit account as provided in Bank's deposit agreement, which is incorporated herein by reference and made a part hereof (any such check or item being hereinafter referred to as a "Prohibited Check"). If Customer uses the Service to deposit a Prohibited Check, Customer agrees to indemnify and reimburse Bank for, and hold Bank harmless from and against, any and all losses, costs and expenses (including reasonable attorneys' fees) Bank may incur associated with any warranty, indemnity or other claim related thereto. Furthermore, if, after first having obtained Bank's written consent to do so, Customer provides Bank with an electronic representation of a substitute check for deposit into an Account instead of an original check, Customer agrees to indemnify and reimburse Bank for, and hold Bank harmless from and against, any and all losses, costs and expenses (including reasonable attorneys' fees) Bank incurs because any such substitute check resulting from such electronic representation does not meet applicable substitute check standards and/or causes duplicate payments.

6. No ACH Conversion of Checks. Customer and Bank acknowledge and agree that items processed in connection with the Service shall be deposited and collected as though they were original checks, either in the form of image replacement documents or electronic image exchange entries, as defined by the Check Clearing for the 21st Century Act. Should Customer implement a procedure for converting items to ACH transactions and originating such transactions through Bank, Customer must select the ACH Services box on the Customer Profile thereby agreeing to the terms and conditions of the ACH Services Article of Part 2 of this Master Agreement, and complete the applicable Service Schedule and other documentation governing Bank's provision of ACH services, even if Customer uses the Service in any way in connection with ACH conversion.

7. Scanning of Items and Transmission of Files. After successful implementation and installation of any software or hardware related to the use of the Service, Customer shall endorse each check to be deposited, scan and capture the front and back of each check to be deposited, and transmit the image file to Bank in accordance with Bank's required procedures. To ensure accuracy, Customer shall balance the deposit dollar amount to the sum of the checks prior to transmitting the file. The file must be received by Bank no later than the cut-off time specified by Bank ("Cut-Off Time"). A file which is received after the Cut-Off Time shall be deemed to have been received on the business day following the business day on which the file is actually received by Bank. Customer may send multiple files to Bank throughout the day. Bank reserves the right to change the Cut-Off Time at any time in Bank's discretion.

8. Maintenance and Destruction of Original Item. Customer shall securely store all original checks deposited through the Service for a period of not less than thirty (30) days and not more than ninety (90) days ("Retention Period") after Customer has received notice from Bank that the file has been accepted. During the Retention Period, Customer shall take appropriate security measures to ensure that only authorized personnel shall have access to the original checks, that the information contained on the checks shall not be disclosed, and that the original checks will not be duplicated, will not be scanned more than one time, and will not be deposited or negotiated in any form. In addition, during the Retention Period Customer will furnish to Bank upon request a copy of or the original of any check transmitted through the Service to Bank for processing. Customer promptly shall destroy original checks upon the expiration of the Retention Period. Upon Bank's request at any time, and from time to time, Customer shall confirm in writing (i) the duration of the Retention Period that has been established by Customer and (ii) that all original checks with respect to which the Retention Period has expired have been destroyed by Customer.

9. Image Quality. Each image of a check scanned by Customer and transmitted to Bank (an "Image") through the Service shall be of such quality that the following shall be clearly be readable by sight review: the front of the check, the back of the check, the amount of the check, the payee, the drawer's signature, the date, the check number, the information identifying the drawer and the paying bank that is preprinted on the check, including the MICR line, and other information placed on the check prior to the time an image of the check is captured, such as any required identification written on the front of the check and any endorsements applied to the back of the check. Images shall also meet any standards for image quality established by American National Standards Institute (ANSI), the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve, or any other regulatory agency, clearing house or association.

10. Receipt of File. Customer agrees that Customer shall remain liable for, and that Bank shall not be accountable to Customer for, any files and/or Images that are not received by Bank, or for any files and/or Images that are intercepted or altered by an unauthorized third party. Customer agrees that Bank has no obligation to accept any file and therefore may reject any file or Images submitted by Customer. Bank has no obligation to notify Customer of the rejection of any file or Image. Bank shall have no liability to Customer for rejection of any file or Image or for failure to notify Customer of a rejection. Upon receipt of a file submitted by Customer, Bank shall examine the file and the Images for accuracy and completeness and to verify that Customer has followed Bank's required procedures. If Customer has not followed Bank's procedures or if errors exist in the data or the Images contained in the file, Bank, in its sole discretion, may either reject the file or correct the errors and accept and process the file. As a means of correction, Bank may credit Customer's account for the full amount of the deposit and make any necessary adjustments to correct errors. Bank also may, at its option, perform a risk management analysis of any file submitted by Customer to detect potentially fraudulent items, and, in Bank's sole discretion, may reject the file. If after examination of a file and Images Bank determines that Customer has processed and transmitted the file in accordance with Bank's required procedures, the file is balanced and contains no errors, and the Images meet the requirements of the Service, then Bank shall accept the file for deposit to Customer's account. Upon acceptance of a file, Bank shall electronically notify Customer of receipt and acceptance of the file.

11. Funds Availability. Upon acceptance of a file for deposit, Bank shall provisionally credit Customer's account. Notwithstanding the acceptance by Bank of Customer's file for deposit, Customer shall remain liable to Bank for any errors, inaccuracies, breach of warranties and any other loss sustained by or claim made against Bank on the part of any party. Customer agrees that check images transmitted using the Service and the funds represented by the checks are not subject to the funds availability requirements of Reg CC. Subject to the requirements of applicable law or regulation, and subject to the terms of the deposit agreement governing Customer's account, funds from any check transmitted through the Service will be available after final payment with respect to the check is made by the drawee of the check, and any credit of funds to Customer's account before that time is provisional; provided, however, that Bank reserves the right, in any event, to withhold or delay the availability of any funds for such time periods as Bank may determine in order to mitigate risk of error, fraud, or other loss to Bank. If Bank determines to withhold or delay the availability of funds, Bank may provide Customer notification of such determination, but Bank is not obligated to do so. Customer agrees that Bank may provide such notification by any means or method to which Customer has agreed in connection with Customer's account or the Service, including (without limitation) by electronic communication. Bank also reserves a right of chargeback to Customer's account in the event of any dishonor or nonpayment by the drawee institution, and Bank reserves the right to charge all applicable fees in the event of such dishonor or nonpayment and/or any resulting chargeback (including, but not limited to, returned deposit item fees and overdraft fees). In Bank's discretion, Bank may charge back any returned item to Customer's account in the form of an electronic or paper reproduction of the original item or a substitute check, or by any other lawful means.

12. Collection of Items. Bank, in Bank's sole discretion, shall determine the manner in which Images shall be presented for payment to the drawee bank. Likewise, Bank, in Bank's sole discretion, shall select the clearing agents used to collect and present the Images, and Bank's selection of the clearing agents shall be binding on Customer as though Customer had directly appointed such agents. Bank shall not be liable for the negligence or other misconduct of any clearing agent. Customer agrees to be bound by any agreements entered into by and between Bank and any clearing agents, and Customer agrees to be bound by all applicable clearing house rules and regulations. Collection of checks deposited through the Service is also subject to the terms of the deposit agreement governing Customer's account.

13. Return Items. If any item deposited by Customer through the Service is dishonored and returned unpaid by the drawee bank, Customer understands and agrees that Bank may charge back the amount of the item to Customer's account in the form of an electronic or paper reproduction of the original item or a substitute check, or by any other lawful means. Unless otherwise instructed by Bank, Customer agrees not to deposit the original check that corresponds to any rejected or unpaid item that has previously been deposited through the Service.

14. Contingency Plan. Customer agrees that in the event that Customer is not able to capture, balance, process, or otherwise transmit a file to Bank for any reason, including but not limited to communications, equipment or software outages, interruptions or failures, Customer will transport the physical checks and deposits to the closest office of Bank and deposit the original checks with Bank until such time that the outage or other interruption can be identified and resolved. The deposit of original checks at an office of Bank without any use of the Service shall be subject to the terms and conditions of the deposit agreement governing Customer's account, and not by the terms and conditions of this Article, the General Terms, or the Service.

15. Warranties. With respect to each check or item deposited by Customer through the Service or collected or presented for payment as a result of Customer's use of the Service (any such check or item, or any electronic derivative thereof, being hereinafter referred to as an "Item"), Customer represents and warrants to Bank and agrees as follows:

(a) The Item is authorized by this Article and the deposit agreement governing Customer's account.
(b) Customer is a person entitled to enforce the Item.
(c) All signatures on the Item are authentic and authorized.
(d) The Item is not a counterfeit item.
(e) The Item has not been altered.
(f) The Item is not subject to a defense or claim in recoupment of any party that can be asserted against Customer.
(g) Customer has no knowledge of any insolvency proceeding commenced with respect to Customer, or in case of an unaccepted Item, the drawer; and any returned Item is enforceable against the Customer and the drawer of the Item.
(h) Customer is not a consumer, and the Service shall be used for business purposes only.
(i) The Image of the Item transmitted by Customer to Bank accurately represents all of the information on the front and back of the original Item as of the time that the Image was created, the electronic information accompanying the Item includes an accurate record of all magnetic ink character recognition (MICR) line information required for substitute checks under Reg. CC and the amount of the Item, and otherwise the Image complies with the requirements of the Service, this Article, and the General Terms (including, but not limited to, any endorsement requirements).
(j) No subsequent transferee will be asked to make payment on an Item that has already been paid. No bank, as defined in Reg CC, that accepts the original Item for deposit will incur an indemnifiable loss under Reg CC due to an Item having already been paid.
(k) Customer will not create duplicate Images of the Item. Customer will not transmit any duplicate Images or files to Bank. Customer will not deposit or otherwise negotiate the original Item from which the Image was created. No subsequent transferee, including but not limited to Bank, a collecting or returning bank, drawer, drawee, payee or endorser, will be asked to pay the original Item from which the Image was created or a duplication (whether paper or electronic, including ACH entries) of the Item.
(l) No subsequent transferees of the Item, including but not limited to Bank, a collecting or returning bank, drawer, drawee, payee or endorser, shall sustain a loss as the result of the fact that an Image of the Item was accepted by Bank for deposit, presented for payment or returned instead of the original Item.
(m) Neither the Image of the Item nor the file in which it was transmitted to Bank contains computer viruses or other harmful, intrusive, or invasive codes.
(n) Customer shall defend, indemnify and hold Bank harmless from and against any and all claims, losses, liability, costs, and expenses (including, without limitation, reasonable attorneys' fees) arising from the breach of Customer's warranties, representations, and/or agreements and obligations under this Article, which agreement shall survive the termination of this Article.

Article II. ACH Service

1. Statement of Service. This Article states the terms and conditions on which Bank will receive, process and distribute ACH files originated by Customer. Additional terms and procedures for the use of ACH Services may be set forth in other documentation provided by Bank, including any applicable Customer Profile and Service Schedule (such other documentation is referred to herein as the "Documentation"). All such

Restricted

Documentation is hereby incorporated by reference and made a part hereof. Customer's use of any ACH Service constitutes Customer's acceptance of and agreement to the terms and provisions of all Documentation for such Service, and Customer acknowledges and agrees that such Documentation constitutes part of the agreement between Customer and Bank for the provision of the Services. In the event of a conflict between the terms of this Article, the General Terms and those of any Documentation, the Documentation shall govern and control with respect to the Service issue in question. This Article, the Documentation, and the General Terms are sometimes collectively referred to herein as the "Agreement."

2. Customer Compliance. Customer acknowledges it has a copy or has access to a copy of the Operating Rules ("Rules") of the National Automated Clearing House Association ("NACHA"). The Rules may be purchased online at www.nacha.org under the publications tab. Customer agrees to comply with and be subject to the Rules of NACHA in existence at the date of this Agreement, and any amendments to these Rules made from time to time. Customer agrees to comply with all applicable federal and state laws and regulations governing transactions to be performed hereunder, as the same may from time to time be amended, including (without limitation) the Electronic Fund Transfer Act, 15 U.S.C. 1693 et seq., Federal Reserve Board Regulation E, 12 C.F.R. 205 et seq., and Federal Reserve Board Regulation J, 12 C.F.R. 210 et seq. Customer agrees that it shall originate only Entries that would comply with the laws of the United States, including, without limitation, the anti-terrorism and anti-money laundering programs administered by the U.S. Treasury Department's Office of Foreign Asset Control. Customer acknowledges that the additional compliance review necessary for any international ACH transactions could result in possible delays in processing and settling such transactions.

3. Originator Identification Number. The Originator Identification Number uniquely identifies Customer on Bank's operating systems and within the ACH network. In all cases where the Rules call for the use of an Originator Identification Number in an ACH transaction, Customer agrees to use the Originator Identification Number assigned by Bank and no other.

4. Originating Entries. Customer may originate ACH Credit or Debit Entries which conform to the format requirements contained in the Rules and in the Documentation for the specific service. Customer shall initiate the debit or credit Entries designated in Section I of the Service Schedule. Customer agrees to send Bank ACH Credit Entries not later than two business days prior to the Effective Entry Date. This is Bank's deadline for receipt of ACH Credit Entries. If Customer fails to meet this deadline, funds may not be available for the Receiver on the Effective Entry Date. Customer also agrees to comply with all of the obligations of an Originator under the Rules.

Subject to the terms of this Agreement, Bank will process the transaction file containing Customer's Entries and transmit the Entries to the ACH within applicable deadlines to meet the Effective Entry Date specified in the file, provided that Bank receives the file from Customer by the applicable deadlines and the Customer complies with any Prefunding requirements. A file contained on tape is received by Bank when the tape is actually received at the location Bank specifies from time to time. A file transmitted to Bank via electronic transmission is received by Bank when the transmission is completed and Bank is satisfied that applicable security procedures have been followed. If Bank receives a file from Customer after the applicable deadline, Bank will use reasonable efforts to process that file so that settlement can be completed as scheduled. However, Bank will not be liable to Customer or to any third party if settlement is not met. Upon request, Bank will provide Customer with a list of days on which Bank does not process files and changes to the list as they occur.

Customer agrees that Bank has no obligation to accept Entries and therefore may reject any Entry submitted by Customer. Bank may reject any Entry which does not comply with the requirements of the Agreement, including applicable security procedures and Prefunding requirements or Limits (as defined below), or for which Bank has reason to believe Customer has breached one or more of the warranties Customer made to Bank with respect to such Entry, or for any other reason permitted under the Rules. Bank may also reject an Entry (with subsequent notice of rejection being forwarded to Customer) without liability to Customer if, in Bank's reasonable judgment, processing the Entry would cause Bank to violate any applicable law or regulation. If Bank rejects any Entry under this paragraph, Bank will use reasonable efforts to notify Customer the same day. In any case, Bank will notify Customer no later than the Effective Entry Date. Bank shall have no liability to Customer for rejection of an Entry or for failure to notify Customer of a rejection and shall not be liable to pay any interest to Customer even if the amount of Customer's payment order is fully covered by a withdrawable credit balance in Customer's Account or Bank has otherwise received full payment from Customer.

If Customer asks Bank to amend or cancel an Entry and Customer's request complies with applicable security procedures, Bank will use reasonable efforts to comply with Customer's request prior to transmitting it to the ACH or debiting or crediting the account of the Receiver for an On-Us Entry. However, Bank will not be liable to Customer if Bank is unable to cancel or amend the Entry. Customer agrees to indemnify and hold Bank harmless from and against any and all claims, demands, losses, liabilities and expenses, including reasonable attorneys' fees and costs, resulting from compliance with Customer's cancellation or amendment request.

If an Entry is returned to Bank through the ACH, Bank will notify Customer no later than the next business day after Bank receives the returned Entry. Bank will have no obligation to retransmit a returned Entry unless Bank is required to do so by the Rules. Unless Bank is required by the Rules to retransmit a returned Entry, Customer must retransmit the Entry to Bank. As an accommodation service to Customer, Bank may reinitiate Entries returned for insufficient or uncollected funds if reinitiation is permitted by the Rules and Customer requests Bank in writing to provide this service.

5. INTERNATIONAL ACH TRANSACTIONS ("IAT"). Customer shall not initiate any IAT Entries without Bank's prior approval. If approved by Bank, the following provisions apply to IAT Entries originated by Customer:

"(a) IAT Entries are transmitted by Bank in U.S. dollars and converted to the local currency for receipt in the foreign country at the exchange rate determined by Bank's processor on the date determined by Bank's processor. All risk of fluctuation in the applicable exchange rate is borne by Customer.
(b) In the event of a returned IAT Entry, consumer payments will be credited to Customer at the originated U.S. dollar amount; corporate payments will be credited to Customer at the exchange rate determined by Bank's processor at the time of return.
(c) In the event of an error in an Entry or duplicate entries, Customer acknowledges and agrees that Customer shall be liable for any and all losses caused by and a direct or indirect result from the error or duplicate Entry.
(d) Customer shall originate all International ACH Transactions, as that term in defined in the Rules, with an IAT SEC code and Customer hereby agrees to abide by all of the Rules related to IAT Entries.

Restricted

(e) Customer agrees that in the case of a non-Consumer Account, Customer shall enter into an agreement with the Receiver whereby the Receiver agrees to abide by the Rules in effect from time to time.
(f) Customer acknowledges that it has reviewed and understands Rules related to exceptions to the Rules for outbound IAT Entries and Customer understands and agrees that laws, regulations, and rules of the country in which the Receiver is located shall govern the matters listed within that subsection. Customer further acknowledges that Customer understands how such laws, regulations and rules differ from the Rules.
(g) IAT Entries must be authorized as provided in the Rules. The form and content of the authorization, including whether such authorization may be oral, electronic, or written, shall be governed by the laws and payment system rules of the receiving country.
(h) Customer hereby indemnifies Bank from and against any and all resulting claims, demands, losses, liabilities, or expenses, including attorneys' fees and costs, resulting directly or indirectly from Customer's origination of an IAT Entry."

6. Settlement for Entries. Customer agrees to maintain with Bank one or more designated Deposit Accounts during the term of the Agreement (the "Account" or "Accounts") for settlement purposes, as designated in Section I of the Service Schedule. All Entries must be settled in the Accounts. Customer acknowledges that the Rules provide that payment of an Entry by the RDFI to the Receiver is provisional until receipt by the RDFI of final settlement for such Entry. Customer understands that, if such settlement is not received, the RDFI will be entitled to a refund from the Receiver of the amount credited and Customer will not be deemed to have paid the Receiver the amount of the Entry. Customer also agrees to send all Entries to Bank in an "unbalanced file format". This means Customer will not include any offset or balancing transactions in any of the Entries Customer initiates. If Customer does not send Customer's Entries in an unbalanced file format, Bank may suspend transmission of Customer's ACH Entries. Unless Prefunding is required and the "Prefunding" check box is selected in the set up form at the beginning of the Service Schedule, in which case the terms of Section 8 shall control, Settlement for Customer's Entries will occur as follows, provided, however, that Bank in its sole discretion may require Prefunding at any time and debit Customer's Account in accordance with the terms of Section 8:

a) Credit Entries. Bank will charge the Account on the Settlement Date for the total amount of Customer's Credit Entries. Customer agrees to have on deposit in the Account on the Settlement Date sufficient available funds to cover the total amount of Customer's Credit Entries. If Customer does not make such funds available on settlement date, Customer agrees that Bank may setoff against any of Customer's other accounts with Bank or against any of Customer's other property in Bank's possession.

b) Debit Entries. Bank will credit Customer's Account on the Settlement Date for funds Bank receives in settlement for Customer's Debit Entries. These funds will be available to Customer on the Settlement Date; however, if any Debit Entries are returned to Bank in accordance with the Rules, or if any Debit Entries originated by Customer were unauthorized, Bank reserves the right to charge the amount of such Debit Entries to the Account or to setoff against Customer's other account(s) or property in Bank's possession. Notwithstanding the forgoing or any provision in any other agreement between Bank and Customer or any disclosure to the contrary, Bank may, in its sole discretion, delay the availability of these funds for a period of time beyond the Settlement Date.

7. Entry Limits: Before Customer sends an Entry to Bank for processing, Bank will establish Entry Limits ("Limits") for Customer's Credit and Debit Entries. These Limits are the maximum dollar amount of accumulated ACH Credits and Debits for which settlement has not yet occurred and which, subject to the terms and conditions of the Agreement, may be outstanding at any one time. There are separate Limits for Credit Entries and Debit Entries and the Limits are designated in Section I of the Service Schedule.

Bank may modify Customer's Limits at Bank's sole discretion at any time. These modifications are effective immediately and may be implemented prior to Customer's receipt of notice of the newly established Limits. Customer may contact Bank at any time to verify Customer's current Limits. Customer agrees not to exceed the Limits. Customer acknowledges that the Limits are solely for the protection of Bank and its assets and that files containing Entries in excess of the Limits may or may not be processed at Bank's sole discretion.

8. Prefunding Requirements. If Prefunding is required by Bank, and the "Prefunding" box is selected in the set-up form at the beginning of the Service Schedule, or if Bank in its sole discretion elects to require Prefunding, the following terms will apply. As used in this section, the term "Prefunding" shall refer to the practice of debiting Customer's Account for all Credit Entries on the date such batches are received for processing by Bank, which shall be settlement for such Entries. Where Prefunding is sufficient to cover the entire Credit Entry or Entries, the Settlement Date shall occur upon the debiting of the Account.

a) Procedures for Prefunding

i. Customer shall send ACH Credit Origination file(s) ("Credit File(s)") to Bank according to procedures established under the Agreement.

ii. Customer shall ensure that on the date of submission of any Entries for Bank processing, Customer's Account has a sufficient opening available balance to pay in full all such Entries. In determining the sufficiency of the available balance in the Account, Bank shall be entitled to, but not be required to, consider intraday transactions, such as deposits or ACH credits.

iii. Bank shall process the Credit File(s) on the date of receipt and determine on that day whether the Account contains sufficient funds to pay the amount of the Credit Entry or Entries in the Credit File(s).

iv. If sufficient funds exist, then Bank shall cause the Account to be debited for the total amount of the Credit File(s) and shall thereafter process in accordance with Bank's standard procedures for Credit Entries.

v. If sufficient funds do not exist at the time of Bank's review of the Account to cover the total amount of the Credit File(s), then Bank shall delete the Credit File(s) from its operating system and no further attempt shall be made to process the Credit File(s).

b) Definition of Date of Receipt. Date of Receipt is the date Customer submits ACH Entries to Bank for processing, provided Bank is open for business on that date and the applicable deadline for the receipt of ACH entries has not passed. If any Entries are received on a date Bank is not open for business, or if the daily processing deadline for ACH has passed. Then such Entries shall be considered to have been received on the next date Bank is open for business.

c) Limit of Liability.

i. Bank shall not be liable to Customer or any other party for claims of delayed receipt or non-receipt of payments where such delay or non-receipt arises from Bank's proper enforcement of Prefunding procedures. Relative to such claims Customer agrees to hold Bank harmless from any and all legal actions, damages, and costs, including but not limited to late fees, fees charged by other banks, interest, legal fees, or penalties, including penalties imposed by the U.S. Government or any other governmental entity with respect to ACH tax payments.

ii. Bank shall not be liable to Customer or any party if Bank suspends transactions according to the Prefunding procedures outlined herein if Customer's Account receives, on the day of deletion of the Credit File(s), sufficient funds which Bank is not aware of because Bank has not had a reasonable opportunity to post such intra-day deposits or credits. Bank's Prefunding procedure is based on Customer's opening available balance in Customer's designated Account.

iii. Customer acknowledges that the Rules provide guidelines for the timeliness of submission of ACH Entries relative to the Effective Entry Date , and that Customer's failure to follow such guidelines may result in Bank's having insufficient time to perform the Prefunding procedures described herein. In such case, Customer will be solely liable for any claims, losses, actions, or penalties arising from Bank's rejection of Customer's Entries.

d) Notices.

i. Bank shall notify Customer in the event a Credit File(s) has been deleted due to Customer's failure to satisfy Prefunding requirements.

ii. In an effort to minimize the consequences to Customer of deletion of a Credit File(s), Bank, while not obligated to do so, shall use reasonable efforts to contact Customer by telephone or other means to advise Customer of such balance deficiency. Bank encourages Customer to monitor Account activity proactively and to contact Bank immediately if it appears transactions have not been processed according to Customer's expectation.

9. Customer Warranties. Customer warrants to Bank that for each Entry Customer submits to Bank for processing, (1) Customer has obtained all authorizations from the Receiver which are required by the Rules, by Regulation E or other applicable law and the Agreement and such authorizations are still valid and have not been revoked by operation of law or otherwise; (2) if required to be in writing, Customer will retain all such authorizations for a period of six years after their termination or revocation, or for such longer period as may be required by the Rules or applicable law, and provide a copy to Bank, upon request, within five days; (3) each Entry has been submitted with Customer's authorization and in accordance with all terms of the Agreement, including applicable security procedures and Prefunding requirements; (4) each Entry is for an amount which, as of the Settlement Date, will be due and owing, has been specified to be paid or is a correction of a previously transmitted erroneous Entry; and (5) each Entry also conforms in all other respects to the Rules and applicable law. Customer hereby indemnifies and agrees to defend Bank against and hold Bank harmless from any liability arising out of Customer's breach of the warranties in this section, the Rules or of any other provision of the Agreement or any act or omission of Customer or any other person acting on Customer's behalf.

10. Additional Customer Warranties and Agreements for Selected Standard Entry Classes. NACHA, in its role of ensuring the safety, security, and viability of the ACH network has determined that certain single-use or limited-use consumer authorizations have the potential to increase risk in the ACH system and compromise system effectiveness by increasing the incidence of returned entries. Therefore, to qualify as an Originator of such Entries Customer hereby warrants to Bank that for each such ACH Entry submitted for processing, Customer has obtained all authorizations from the Receiver as required by the Rules, by Regulation E or other applicable law, and the Agreement. Customer also makes the additional warranties to Bank that Bank makes to each RDFI and ACH Operator under the Rules for the respective SEC codes for Entries originated by Customer. Customer hereby indemnifies and holds Bank harmless from any liability arising out of Customer's breach of these warranties.

11. Security Procedures. In addition to, and without limiting the generality of, the security procedure provisions in the General Terms, Customer agrees to implement and comply with any and all security procedures for Service transactions that are agreed to between Customer and Bank, and Customer acknowledges and agrees that such security procedures are commercially reasonable security procedures under applicable law for the transactions and activity Customer intends to effect through the Service.

Customer further agrees as follows with respect to the following ACH initiation channels:

a) Direct On-line Transmission: Customer shall provide Bank one or more email addresses, as Bank may require (each such email address, a "Confirmation Email Address"), with respect to which such representatives of Customer who are authorized by Customer both to authenticate Service transactions and to cancel the execution of Service shall have access. Customer shall be solely responsible for determining which of Customer's representatives shall have access to any Confirmation Email Address and for establishing Customer's own internal procedures and policies for access to and use of any Confirmation Email Address and for acting upon Confirmation Notices (as hereinafter defined). Customer represents, warrants, and agrees that no person who is not authorized by Customer both to authenticate Service transactions and to cancel the execution of Service transactions on behalf of Customer shall have access to any Confirmation Email Address. As soon as practicable after receiving each Entries file from Customer pursuant to Service processes and procedures, Bank shall transmit to each Confirmation Email Address a confirmation of receipt of the file, which confirmation shall include Entry totals for the file and other identifying information ("Confirmation Notice"). Each Entries file transmitted to Bank and each Entry within the file shall for all purposes be deemed correct, authentic, and authorized by Customer for execution, and Customer shall be legally bound by and liable for Bank's processing and execution thereof, unless (i) Customer shall contact Bank's Service operations center at the telephone number provided in the Confirmation Notice during its normal business hours and instruct Bank to cancel the execution of the file, providing such information as Bank may require to identify the file specifically, within thirty (30) minutes after the transmission of the Confirmation Notice or before Bank's next processing update after the expiration of such thirty (30) minute period, and (ii) Bank shall have a reasonable opportunity to act upon Customer's instruction. Customer may obtain current information about Bank's processing update times by calling Bank's Service operations center. Customer authorizes Bank to act upon the cancellation instructions of any person who is reasonably believed by Bank to be a representative of Customer and who provides such information as Bank may require to identify specifically the Entries file that is to be cancelled. Customer agrees to keep each Confirmation Email Address current and updated with Bank at all times. Each Confirmation Email Address shall be deemed correct and authorized for the receipt of Confirmation Notices unless and until Customer shall have provided corrective information to Bank in writing and Bank shall have had a reasonable opportunity to act thereon. Bank shall have no obligation to re-send, re-transmit, or otherwise deliver any Confirmation Notice that Bank has transmitted to any Confirmation Email Address and that has been returned "undeliverable" or otherwise rejected for delivery, and no such return or rejection of a Confirmation Notice shall be deemed an instruction from Customer to cancel the execution of any file or any Entry.

b) iTreasury ACH: Customer will initiate a request via iTreasury ACH to Bank via the Internet. All iTreasury ACH customers are required to check the file status of all initiated ACH batches to ensure they have received the "Submitted" status for processing. Bank is not responsible for batch initiation timeliness. Customer will be responsible for same day verification of ACH batch status. Transactions initiated through iTreasury are further subject to the terms and conditions of the iTreasury Service Schedule.

c) Metavante Touchtone Cash-Concentration: Customer will initiate entire transaction via Touchtone Cash Concentration system using the location ID and passwords assigned to Customer during setup. Customer will be responsible for same-day verification of ACH batch status. Transactions initiated through Touchtone Cash Concentration are further subject to the terms and conditions of applicable agreements governing such service.

12. Authorized and Unauthorized Entries. Any Entry (including a request for cancellation, amendment, or reversal of an Entry) or other communication delivered to Bank that purports to have been submitted or authorized by Customer in accordance with the Rules shall be effective and binding upon Customer even if the Entry was not in fact authorized by Customer and notwithstanding any resolution, any dual or multiple signature requirement identified on any signature cards, or other documents relating to the affected Customer Account(s) that purport to limit authority over the Customer Account(s), whether currently on file or submitted or modified in the future, provided Bank has accepted the Entry in compliance with the Rules, reasonably believes it to have been submitted or authorized by Customer, and has acted in good faith. If any Entry received by Bank is, in fact, submitted or authorized by Customer (or any authorized representative of Customer), it shall be effective as Customer's Entry whether or not (i) Bank complies with the Rules and/or the Agreement with respect to the Entry, (ii) the Entry is erroneous in any respect, (iii) the error, if any, could be detected by Bank, or (iv) Bank processes, transmits or settles the Entry even though one or more of the conditions therefore, as set forth herein, is not satisfied. If Customer discovers an erroneous or unauthorized Entry, Customer shall immediately notify Bank, as well as notify the affected Receiver(s), and shall confirm such notification in writing. Upon receiving such notice, Bank will use reasonable efforts on behalf of Customer to correct the erroneous Entry in a manner consistent with the Rules, but Bank shall in no event be liable to Customer in the event that Bank is unable to correct the erroneous Entry. If Customer fails to notify Bank or the affected Receiver(s) of any erroneous Entry, Customer will be liable for any losses Bank may incur. Customer agrees that Bank has no obligation or duty to detect errors with respect to Entries submitted by Customer. However, if Bank detects an error with respect to an Entry delivered to Bank, Bank will exercise reasonable efforts to give Customer notice of such error, and Customer agrees to furnish to Bank corrections in a format and on a medium prescribed by Bank. Bank reserves the right to suspend or cancel Customer's ability to perform transactions hereunder if Bank suspects any unauthorized or fraudulent transactions. Customer agrees to take any reasonable actions requested by Bank to prevent unauthorized transactions or to correct errors.

13. Amendment of the Rules. Amendments to the Rules or applicable laws and regulations which govern transactions hereunder shall become effective as to the Agreement upon the effective date stipulated for such amendments by the authority promulgating such amendments.

14. Data Retention. Customer agrees to retain data and records relating to any and all Entries originated by Customer for a period of six years after the date each Entry is transmitted and shall, upon request by Bank, furnish a copy of such data and records to Bank.

15. Additional Terms and Conditions.

a) Recording Conversations. Bank may, but is not required to, record any conversations Bank has with Customer or with any of Customer's representatives.

b) Information Disclosure. Some of the Services covered by this Article may be provided to Customer with the participation or assistance of one or more of Bank's affiliates. Customer agrees that Bank may disclose to such affiliates any information Customer provides to Bank to the extent required for the delivery of these Services.

c) Confirmation; Account Reconciliation. Bank will provide notice of all ACH Entries to Customer's Account on Customer's periodic Account statement. If Customer uses Bank's information/balance reporting services, Customer can also receive notice through various mailed reports or terminal printouts. Customer is responsible for detecting and reporting to Bank any discrepancy between Customer's records and the records Bank provides to Customer. If Customer does not detect and notify Bank of such a discrepancy within 30 days of Customer's receipt of any terminal printout, mailed report or periodic statement ("Report"), whichever is received first, then Customer will not be entitled to interest from Bank on any amount refundable to Customer.

d) Alternative Transfer of Funds. Solely at Bank's option, Bank may elect to accomplish the movement of funds requested by Customer's Entries via wire transfer. In the event that Bank elects this option, Customer agrees to execute and be bound by Bank's standard wire transfer agreement and to comply with Bank's normal wire transfer procedures. Should Bank elect this option, Bank will attempt to send the wire or wires on the Effective Entry Date specified in Customer's file(s). If Customer's Account does not contain sufficient collected balances to fund the wire, or if the receiving institution returns any drawdown wire, Bank may reject the Entry or Entries without liability to Customer. If Bank rejects an Entry, Bank will make reasonable efforts to notify Customer the same day. Bank will not be liable to Customer for Bank's rejection of an Entry, or for interest on the amount of a rejected Entry, regardless of the amount of Customer's Account balance. Except for the method of delivery, which will be governed by the provisions of Bank's wire transfer agreement, and the foregoing terms for the execution of transactions against collected balances, Bank's election of this option will not affect any other provision of this Article, the General Terms, or the Documentation, including but not limited to provisions related to the Limits.

e) Use of Third Party Service Providers. If Customer uses a third party service provider to deliver Customer's files to Bank or to perform any other actions in connection with the Services provided hereunder , that third party will be considered Customer's agent. All terms of the Agreement will apply to the actions or failure to act of such third party service provider and Customer will be legally bound by all acts and omissions of such third party service provider. Customer agrees to cause any such third party service provider to execute any agreements or other forms Bank may specify prior to conducting any transactions on Customer's behalf.

16. Responsibilities as a Third Party Payment Processor. Customer agrees that, if Customer uses the ACH Service provided by Bank to initiate any ACH Entries for Customer's clients or any person or entity other than Customer (a "Client"), the following provisions shall apply:

a) Payment Processing. By providing payment processing services to third parties, Customer is considered a "Third Party Payment Processor." Customer acknowledges that, as a regulated financial institution, Bank is expected to monitor the payment processing services it provides, either directly to Bank's customers or indirectly through a Third Party Payment Processor. Customer agrees to provide Bank and any regulatory agency having jurisdiction over Bank (a "Regulatory Agency") with such information and reasonable assistance as may be necessary for the Bank or a Regulatory Agency to evaluate Customer's payment processing activities. Customer acknowledges and agrees that, by initiating any ACH Entry for a Client, Customer may be subjecting itself to the jurisdiction of such Regulatory Agencies. Customer also agrees that it shall not use the ACH Service to provide payment processing services to any other Third Party Payment Processor unless Bank, in its sole discretion, agrees in writing that the Service may be so used.

b) Customer's Clients. At Bank's request, Customer shall provide Bank with a written list identifying each Client for which Customer then initiates ACH Entries using the ACH Service (the "Client List"), and also shall provide an updated Client List upon request. Customer agrees to provide Bank with any information about a Client that Bank may request in order to identify the Client or to understand the type and extent of the Client's business. In the event that Bank, in its sole discretion and at any time, determines that any Client is unacceptable to Bank, Bank shall notify Customer. Bank's notice may (i) prohibit Customer from using any Account or Service to perform payment processing for that Client, or (ii) place conditions on Customer's use of any Account or Service to perform payment processing for that Client.

c) Additional Information. Customer acknowledges that, as a condition to allowing Customer to initiate or to continue initiating ACH Entries for Clients, Bank may require Customer (i) to provide Bank with additional information about Customer and its Clients upon request; and/or (ii) to enter into a Payment Processing Addendum under which Customer shall periodically provide Bank with specified information about Customer and its Clients.

d) Applicable Laws. Customer shall comply with any and all applicable federal, state, and local laws, statutes, ordinances, orders, codes, rules, regulatory guidance, regulations that govern or relate the payment processing services provided by Customer to Clients (including without limitation all consumer protection laws and all laws restricting business with any individual, entity or country identified on any list of Specially Designated Nationals or sanctioned countries that is issued from time to time by the Office of Foreign Asset Control of the United States Department of the Treasury (collectively, the "OFAC List")), as they may be amended from time to time ("Applicable Laws"). Customer shall comply with and bear the costs required by any change in Applicable Laws. Customer agrees not to take any action that shall render Bank liable for any violations of Applicable Laws.

e) Prohibited Clients. Bank, in its sole discretion, may determine not to provide payment processing services, directly or indirectly, to particular types of business. Bank may provide Customer with its list of any types of businesses for which Bank will not provide payment processing services (the "Prohibited Business List"), and Customer agrees not to use any Account or Service to perform payment processing for any Client that is engaged in a type of business included on Bank's current Prohibited Business List.

f) Covenants, Representations and Warranties of Customer. Customer covenants, represents and warrants that:

i. Customer (A) is not identified on the OFAC List, (B) is not foreign-based, and (C) has no foreign-based affiliates that provide any payment processing services using a Regions Account.

ii. Customer shall not provide payment processing services to, transmit payments to, employ or subcontract with, or otherwise conduct business with any individual, entity or country identified on the OFAC List. Customer shall implement and comply with internal policies and procedures reasonably designed to assure that Customer meets this obligation, including without limitation procedures to screen against the OFAC List. In the event Customer determines that, notwithstanding its policies and procedures, Customer has conducted business with any individual, entity or country identified on the OFAC List, Customer shall notify Bank as soon as practicable, but in any event no less than five (5) days of making this determination.

Restricted

iii. Customer does not and shall not contract with any third party to procure new Client relationships (i.e. an Independent Sales Organization (also referred to as an ISO) or gateway arrangement).

iv. Customer has secured and will maintain any licenses, permits, registrations or other authorizations (a "License") from the applicable governmental authorities that Customer must have in order to provide its payment processing services in compliance with Applicable Law. Upon request, Customer will provide Bank with a copy of the License for each jurisdiction in which Customer does business or an opinion of counsel acceptable to Bank that no License is required in that jurisdiction.

g) Audit, Monitoring and Compliance.

i. Customer acknowledges that Bank is subject to examination and audit by Regulatory Agencies. Customer further acknowledges that such federal and state Regulatory Agencies having supervision over Bank may require access to Customer's facilities in order to examine, audit, or investigate the compliance of this Addendum with all Applicable Laws. Customer agrees to cooperate fully with respect to all such examinations, audits, and investigations. Customer agrees to notify Bank as soon as practicable of any formal or informal request by any Regulatory Agencies having supervision over Bank to examine records pertaining to Bank, Clients, or this Addendum, if Customer is not prohibited by law from notifying Bank.

ii. To the fullest extent permitted by Applicable Law, Customer shall notify Bank promptly if: (A) Customer learns that any governmental agency believes or suspects that this Addendum or any act or omission of Bank or Customer in connection with or pursuant to this Addendum may violate any Applicable Laws; (B) Customer learns that any person, entity, or governmental agency is contemplating private action or enforcement action of any kind against Customer or Bank in connection with this Addendum or the payment processing services that Customer provides to Clients; (C) Customer learns of a data breach involving Customer's or any of its agents' systems used for payment processing, in which case Customer shall notify Bank within twenty-four (24) hours of learning of the breach; (D) Customer experiences a material adverse change in its financial condition; or (E) Bank (either through its own representatives or by employing third parties), at any time and upon reasonable prior written notice, shall have the right to audit and examine (i) Customer's compliance with this Addendum any and all Applicable Laws, which may include access to Customer's premises or facilities, and (ii) Any Client's compliance with the NACHA Rules, as provided more fully in Subsection h below.

h) Third-Party Sender, Initiation of ACH Entries On Clients' Behalf. Customer agrees that, if it initiates ACH Entries for Clients, Customer is considered a Third Party Sender and agrees to be bound by the terms of this Section. Terms capitalized in this Section shall have the meaning provided in the Agreement or the NACHA Rules.

i. By initiating an Entry on behalf of a Client, Customer authorizes Bank to initiate the Entry on that Client's behalf to the Receiver's account.

ii. Customer confirms its agreement to be bound by the NACHA Rules, and agrees to comply with all of its provisions regarding Third Party Senders, including, but not limited to, the requirements for Customer: (A) to provide Bank, within two (2) days of Bank's request, with any information that Bank reasonably considers necessary to identify each Originator for which Bank transmits entries, (B) to make payment to Bank for all Credit Entries initiated and for all Debit Entries that are returned by the RDFI, (C) to retain and to deliver to Bank upon request any records, documentation and other data regarding any Entries that Customer initiated as a Third Party Sender; and (D) not to initiate Entries that the laws of the United States or any Applicable Laws.

iii. Customer agrees to comply with any restrictions that Bank has placed on the types of Entries that Customer may initiate on behalf of Clients.

iv. Customer agrees that, before initiating any Entry on a Client's behalf, Customer will have entered into an agreement with that Client which satisfies the requirements of the NACHA Rules (an "Originator Agreement"). Among other requirements, the Originator Agreement must provide that the Client (A) agrees to be bound by the NACHA Rules and to assume the responsibilities of an Originator under the NACHA Rules; (B) agrees not to initiate Entries that violate the laws of the United States or any Applicable Laws; (C) acknowledges Bank's right to suspend or terminate its ACH Service for breach of the NACHA Rules and as otherwise provided in the Agreement and this Addendum; and (D) acknowledges Bank's right to audit the Client's compliance with the Origination Agreement and the NACHA Rules. Customer agrees to indemnify Bank from and against any and all claims, demands, losses, liabilities, and expenses (including attorneys' fees and costs), that result directly or indirectly from the failure of that Client to perform its obligations as an Originator under the NACHA Rules.

v. Customer agrees that, by December 31 each year and at its own expense, Customer will conduct or have conducted an annual audit of its compliance with the NACHA Rules in accordance with Appendix Eight of the Rules.

vi. Customer shall have the responsibility to (I) handle all returned Entries, Notifications of Change (NOCs), and rejected Entries; (II) notify the Receiver of any reversing Entry; and (III) detect and correct any errors.

vii. Customer represents and warrants that it will initiate ACH Entries only from accounts located in the United States.

ix. Prior to originating any ACH transaction on behalf of another party, Customer shall provide Bank with all requested information for purposes of Bank registering Client as a Third-Party Sender with NACHA. Customer shall promptly notify Bank of any changes to the information provided in connection with the Third-Party Sender registration.

ix. If Customer acts as a Third-Party Sender with respect to the initiation of entries for another Third-Party Sender which has authority to act on behalf of an Originator ("Nested Third-Party Sender"), Customer shall require that such Nested Third-Party Sender agrees in a written agreement to be bound by the NACHA Rules, agrees to comply with all of its provisions regarding Third Party Senders and contains all the applicable provisions as set forth in Section 16(h), inclusive of but not limited to the requirements of Origination Agreement. Further, Customer will provide these written agreements for Nested Third-Party Senders upon Bank's request.

i) Fees and Other Charges. In addition to the fees and charges for use of the ACH Service, Customer also agrees to pay any fines and penalties arising from or related to Customer's use of the ACH Service to provide payment processing for Clients or failure to comply with this Section, including without limitation any fines or penalties imposed on Bank in connection with Customer's acts or omissions.

Article III. Positive Pay Service

1. Statement of Service. This Article describes Bank's Positive Pay Services whereby Bank and Customer follow the processes and procedures described herein in order to authorize and/or confirm the payment or return of checks presented for payment against Customer's account(s). The Service systems are not designed to detect or prevent fraud due to paperless entries (to include ACH, Wire, and EFT) to the account. If a Positive Pay account is funded by an ACH, Wire, EFT, or any other paperless entry and there are no funds available to be deposited to the Positive Pay Account, the Bank will not be required to pay any checks presented against the account.

2. Same Day Positive Pay and Next Day Positive Pay.

a) In the Same Day Positive Pay Service and the Next Day Positive Pay Service, Bank will match checks that are presented for payment to a file of issued checks Customer provides to Bank and generate an exception report indicating discrepancies between the issued checks and the checks being presented for payment. As used in this Article, the following terms shall have the following meanings with respect to Same Day Positive Pay and Next Day Positive Pay:

(i) Conforming Check means, as applicable:

(A) with respect to Same Day Positive Pay and Next Day Positive Pay, any check presented to Bank for payment which bears an encoded check serial number and an encoded amount which match the description of an outstanding item in the Issue File;

(B) with respect to the Payee Name Verification Service, any check presented to Bank for payment which bears an encoded check serial number, an encoded amount, and a payee name which match the description of an outstanding item in the Issue File, and – only with respect to the Zoning feature of the Payee Name Verification Service, and only if Customer has elected to enable said feature – a matching payee name which is in the same zone on the presented check as the payee name zone that Customer has predefined in writing with Bank; and,

(C) whether or not Customer has elected the Payee Name Verification service, and only with respect to over-the-counter transactions through Bank's Teller Positive Pay System where Customer has elected to furnish payee names in the Issue File along with other required information, any check presented to Bank for payment which bears an encoded check serial number, an encoded amount, and a payee name which match the description of an outstanding item in the Issue File.

(ii) Issue File means a list, as updated from time to time in accordance with Bank's rules and guidelines, in an electronic readable format prescribed by Bank, of Customer's duly issued checks, describing each check by its serial number and amount. If Customer has elected the Payee Name Verification service, or if Customer has not elected the Payee Name Verification service and desires verification of payee name in connection with over-the-counter transactions through Bank's Teller Positive Pay System, the Issue File must also include the payee name for each check.

(iii) Non-Conforming Check means any check presented for payment to Bank which does not bear all information required for a Conforming Check.

b) In connection with Same Day Positive Pay and Next Day Positive Pay, Customer shall deliver to the Bank the Issue File, or update thereto, by data transmission to the Bank prior to disbursing checks to payees. In the event that the Customer cannot generate the Issue File, the Customer is responsible for notifying Bank. Issue Files received by 7:30 AM CST/CDT on the date of check(s) disbursement will be loaded and available for Teller Positive Pay System. In determining which of the Customer's checks drawn on the Bank have been duly issued, all items presented over-the counter on Same Day Positive Pay and Next Day Positive Pay accounts will be subject to verification from the Customer's Issue File through Bank's Teller Positive Pay system. If the item presented for payment over-the-counter is determined by Bank to be a Non-Conforming Check in any respect, the item presented will not be honored and the transaction will be terminated. Non-Conforming Checks presented over-the-counter are not subject to the notification and pay/return decision procedures otherwise described herein for Non-Conforming Checks.

c) Any Conforming Check presented to Bank shall be deemed properly payable with respect to the Customer's signature and the amount of the check, and in the case of over-the-counter transactions through Bank's Teller Positive Pay System where Customer has furnished payee names in the Issue File, or if Customer has elected the Payee Name Verification Service, also with respect to the payee, and if Customer has elected to enable the Zoning feature of the Payee Name Verification Service, also with respect to the payee name being printed in the zone Customer has predefined with Bank. The Bank shall be under no obligation to verify the Customer's signature or the absence of any alterations thereon. Likewise, the Bank shall be under no obligation to verify the payee name on the check in comparison with the Customer's Issue File except in the case of over-the-counter transactions through Bank's Teller Positive Pay System where Customer has furnished payee names in the Issue File, or where Customer has elected the Payee Name Verification service.

d) In the event a Non-Conforming Check is presented to the Bank (other than presentment over-the-counter), Bank shall notify the Customer by facsimile transmission or online of such Non-Conforming Check. For Same Day Positive Pay, the Bank's notice shall be given by 3:30pm CST/CDT on the day of presentment of the Non-Conforming Check. For NextDay Positive Pay, the Bank's notice shall be given by 10:00am CST/CDT on the next banking day following posting of the check. If Bank systems or communications failure occurs, the Bank may notify the Customer by telephone.

The Customer shall instruct the Bank to Pay or Return (No Pay) the Non-Conforming Check(s) at the following times:

1. For SameDay Positive Pay Customers - no later than 1:00 p.m. CST/CDT on the next banking day after the Bank's notification to Customer.

2. For NextDay Positive Pay Customers - no later than 2:00 p.m. CST/CDT on the same day of the Bank's notification to Customer.

Customer's instructions shall be delivered according to the elections in the Service Schedule. If Customer has elected to deliver instructions via iTreasury, and if iTreasury is inoperable, Customer may deliver instructions via fax (205-261-6449) or via telephone (800-787-3905). Absent any contrary timely instruction from the Customer, and subject to any default elections made in the Service Schedule, the Bank will pay the Non-Conforming Check(s), and, in so doing, the Bank shall incur no liability to Customer for improperly paying the item(s). Paid item(s) omitted from the Customer Issue File will be subject to a paid-no-issue fee per item(s) paid. Customer agrees that if Bank acts in accordance with the procedures set forth in this Article and the Service Setup in paying or returning item(s), Bank will be deemed to have exercised ordinary care.

e) Notwithstanding any term or provision herein to the contrary, if Customer has elected the Payee Name Verification service, Customer acknowledges and agrees that Bank will not verify a check payee name in the event a presented check is deemed a Non-Conforming Check due to a discrepancy in either the encoded check serial number or the encoded amount. In such cases, Customer shall bear any and all risk of payee name mistake or alteration in the event Customer's instructions call for Bank to pay the Non-Conforming Check.

f) In order to stop payment on a check included in the Issue File, the Customer shall deliver a stop payment order via telephone, iTreasury, or in writing prior to the presentment of the item. A cancel or void in the Issue File should only be used if a check has not been disbursed. Bank's system will not recognize cancels as stop payments. If a stop payment order is placed after an item has been memo posted to Bank's system, the stop payment will not be placed. Stop payment orders are subject to the terms and conditions of the deposit agreement governing Customer's account.

g) In connection with Same Day Positive Pay or Next Day Positive Pay, Customer may elect Stale Date Verification whereby Customer may request that the Bank return unpaid any checks which are presented for payment a specified number of days following the date listed on the Customer's check(s). Customer must specify the number of days Customer selects in the Service Schedule. All checks presented for payment after the selected number of days following the date shown on the check will be returned as "refer to maker" until this service is cancelled by the Customer. The Bank is not obliged to honor any stale date notice on the Customer's check unless the Customer has selected Stale Date Verification. Any claimed loss from the payment of checks not in accordance with the time limits listed by Customer in the Service Schedule will be governed by the same legal principles as those concerning improper payment over a binding stop payment.

3. Reverse Positive Pay. In the Reverse Positive Pay Service, the Customer does not submit issue information, and the Bank reports to the Customer all checks presented for payment to the Bank on the previous banking day by serial number and amount. Customer must notify the Bank via email or online via iTreasury to an address provided to Customer by Bank by 11:00 AM CST/CDT with instructions to return those checks which Customer does not desire to pay. Any check as to which Customer does not timely and properly provide non-payment instructions will be deemed approved for payment by Customer, and if Customer does not notify Bank by the specified time with any non-payment instructions, all checks will be considered as approved for payment by Customer. Reverse Positive Pay does not protect against fraudulent items that are cashed at a banking office, and for that reason the Bank recommends Same Day Positive Pay or Next Day Positive Pay. Reverse Positive Pay does not replace Bank's standard check processing procedures, which may cause a check to be dishonored even if Customer's instructions or the default procedures do not otherwise require Bank to return such check. If the Customer chooses to use Reverse Positive Pay, Customer accepts all risk of loss associated with Bank's payment of fraudulent items presented for payment over the counter at banking branch, except as may be attributable to the Bank's lack of good faith or gross negligence.

4. No Check Positive Pay Service. The No Check Positive Pay Service is designed for customers who do not intend to draw checks on their accounts. In the No Check Positive Pay Service, Bank and Customer do not exchange information about issued and presented checks according to the processes and procedures described herein with regard to other Positive Pay Services, and Bank automatically returns all checks presented and posted against Customer's account. If Customer has enrolled an account in the No Check Positive Pay Service , Customer releases Bank from any and all liability, including (without limitation) liability for wrongful dishonor, and agrees to indemnify Bank and hold Bank harmless from and against any and all damages, losses, fines, fees, taxes, legal expenses, and/or actions at law, related to or arising from the return or dishonor of any check that actually is authorized by Customer and/or that otherwise would be properly payable with respect to Customer's account.

5. Other Terms and Conditions.

Restricted

a) Customer is responsible for providing and maintaining an updated list of Customer personnel authorized to make pay/no pay decisions on items to the Bank ("Authorized Personnel"). Information provided on the Service Schedule will remain in effect until an appropriate Customer representative otherwise notifies the Bank in writing of a change in the list of Authorized Personnel.

b) Customer acknowledges that notwithstanding the return of checks by the Bank in accordance with Customer's instructions in connection with the Service, the Customer may be subject to claims for payment by the payee of any check or by a holder in due course of a check.

c) If Customer has enrolled for Bank's Commercial Check Imaging service and/or Bank's Reconcilement service, Customer hereby agrees that the terms and conditions of such services supplement the terms of this Article. This Article shall control over any inconsistencies between this Article and the Commercial Check Imaging Service Schedule and the Reconcilement Service Schedule as to the provision of the Service described in this Article.

d) Customer shall be responsible for ensuring that all checks and Issue Files issued by Customer in connection with this Service meet Bank's quality standards and specifications. Without liability to any party, and without limiting any other right or remedy available to Bank, Bank shall be entitled to cease or suspend the Service, in whole or in part, in Bank's sole and absolute discretion and with or without notice to Customer, if the quality of the checks, including (but not limited to) the quality of the magnetically encoded characters on the face of each check and the quality and legibility of the payee name, or the quality of the Issue File do not meet Bank's standards and specifications, or if the checks otherwise cannot be processed on Bank's equipment, or if Customer shall otherwise fail to properly perform its duties, obligations, and responsibilities in connection with the Service, or shall commit any act or omission which impairs Bank's ability to provide or prevents Bank from providing the Service. Customer further acknowledges and agrees that if Customer has enrolled in the Payee Name Verification service and fails to meet Bank's quality standards, requirements and specifications for the printing of payee names on checks, then Bank, at its option and notwithstanding any other term or provision of this Article, may treat and process as a Conforming Check any check which bears an encoded check serial number and encoded amount which matches the description of an outstanding item in Customer's Issue File without regard the payee name on the check, and Customer shall bear and assume all risk as to any discrepancy, error, or nonconformity with respect to the payee name. Bank may charge, and Customer agrees to pay, a fee for the manual examination of any checks that do not meet Bank's quality standards, requirements and specifications for the printing of payee names on checks in connection with the Payee Name Verification service.

e) The types of exceptions identified using the Service are strictly limited to the exception definitions herein, according to the service level Customer has elected. Nothing in this Article shall be construed as relieving Customer of its normal due diligence responsibilities regarding the examination of account statements and individual checks to detect exceptions outside the scope of the Service provided to Customer hereunder (including, but not limited to, alteration of payee information if such information is not otherwise verified in connection with the Service). Bank shall not be liable for any loss arising from Customer's failure to exercise due diligence.

f) Customer shall accept liability to any party and hold the Bank harmless for any damages, losses, fines, fees, taxes, legal expenses, or actions at law arising from the return (dishonor) of any check if such return resulted from the correct application of the Customer's pay/return instructions.

g) The Bank will not be liable to Customer or anyone else if Bank refuses to pay suspect items presented at Bank teller lines. If for any reason, voluntarily or involuntarily, Customer is suspended from Teller Positive Pay and items presented at Bank's teller lines are paid, Customer agrees that Bank will not be liable to Customer for paying any fraudulent item during the suspension of Teller Positive Pay service. Customer agrees that Bank will have exercised ordinary care in providing positive pay services in any case of fraudulent activity on Customer's account.

h) Any check that is paid in accordance with the Service shall be considered properly payable under the Uniform Commercial Code and Customer agrees that Bank shall have no liability to Customer for paying items in accordance with the Service. Bank's liability to Customer for any presented check erroneously paid by Bank in breach of this Article ("Bank's Wrongful Honor") shall be limited to the lesser of the amount of the wrongfully paid check or Customer's actual damages resulting from Bank's payment of the check. Bank retains the right to assert the defense that Customer has sustained no actual damages because Bank's Wrongful Honor discharged for value an indebtedness of Customer. Nothing herein shall constitute a waiver or limitation of the rights of Bank under the Uniform Commercial Code ("UCC"). Bank's liability for wrongful dishonor of a check presented to Bank for payment shall be limited to the damages for wrongful dishonor recoverable under UCC Articles 3 and 4; provided, however, that Bank shall have no liability to Customer for wrongful dishonor when Bank, acting in good faith, returns a presented check: (i) that it reasonably believed was not properly payable; or (ii) if required to do so by the service of legal process on Bank or the instructions of regulatory or government authorities or courts.

Article IV. Integrated Payables Service

1. Description of Service. This Article describes Bank's Integrated Payables Service, whereby Customer may execute certain payment transactions via the Internet and/or via other methods of electronic data exchange to electronically streamline the exchange of payments, remittance and other information between Customer and Bank and Customer and its business associates. The Service functions and transactions elected by Customer, and other details and technical specifications regarding Customer's use of the Service, are indicated in the Service Schedule, which constitutes a part of the Service Terms.

2. Definitions. The following definitions apply when the following terms are used in this Article:

"Customer Material" means the data, software, files, designs, plans, specifications, improvements, works or other materials provided by or on behalf of Customer for storage on or inclusion in the Service or User Guide.

Restricted

"Service Terms" means, collectively, all terms, provisions, conditions governing the Service that are imposed by Bank and/or its Third Party Service Provider, including (without limitation) this Article, the General Terms, and any applicable Service Schedule, Customer Profile, and/or User Guide.

"Vendor Agreement" means any terms, conditions, contract, license, or any other agreement entered into or agreed to by and between Bank and any Third Party Service Provider with respect to the Service or any feature, function, or element thereof.

Other terms may be defined elsewhere in this Article. Capitalized terms used in this Article and not defined in this Article shall have the meanings ascribed to them in the General Terms.

3. Other Agreements. When this Service is used to access other Bank services, products, or payment facilities (including, without limitation, Bank's ACH service, Bank's wire transfer service or Virtual Purchasing Card service), the terms, conditions, and agreements governing such other services, products, and payment facilities, including any applicable Article of Part 2 of this Master Agreement, ("Service Agreements") remain in full force and effect, except as expressly modified or amended by the Service Terms. Such other Service Agreements are hereby incorporated by reference and made a part hereof. Customer agrees to promptly execute and deliver to Bank any documentation required by Bank to evidence Customer's agreement to Bank's terms and conditions for services, products, and payment facilities accessed and used by Customer through the use of the Service; provided, that Customer's use of the Service to use, access, and/or perform other Bank services, products, or transactions automatically constitutes Customer's acceptance of and agreement to any and all terms, conditions, and provisions in effect and imposed by Bank at the time of Customer's use or performance of such services and transactions without the execution of any related documentation by Customer. Termination of a Service Agreement of a Service selected by Customer (Check Printing, ACH, Wire, Positive Pay, Virtual Purchasing Cards) shall terminate the use of such Service under this Article. Customer agrees to be bound by and to comply with any and all User Guides, instructional materials or technical information relating to the use of the Service that is made available to Customer by Bank or its Third Party Service Provider in connection with the Service, as amended from time to time. Customer acknowledges and agrees that Bank, in Bank's sole and absolute discretion, may engage Third Party Service Providers in connection with the Service. Bank's provision of the Service to Customer is subject to, and Customer shall be bound by, all applicable terms, provisions, or conditions of any Vendor Agreement between Bank and any Third Party Service Provider, and in the event of a conflict between the terms of this Article and the applicable terms of any Vendor Agreement, the terms of such the Vendor Agreement shall govern and control. Customer acknowledges and agrees that Customer is not a third party beneficiary of any Vendor Agreement and shall not have any direct claims or recourse against any Third Party Service Provider, except to the extent expressly permitted by the terms of the Vendor Agreement and subject to all limitations and disclaimers provided in such Vendor Agreement.

4. Additional Customer Obligations and Responsibilities. Customer agrees that Customer (i) shall use the Service and User Guide only in the ordinary course of Customer's internal business operations, (ii) shall not use the Service in violation of the Service Terms, (iii) shall not use the Service to conduct any type of service bureau or time-sharing operation or to provide remote processing, network processing, network telecommunications or similar services to any person, whether on a fee basis or otherwise, and (iv) shall ensure that the Service is used only by Customer's Authorized Users in accordance with the User Guide. In the event of any error in connection with the Service or any Service transaction, Customer shall provide to Bank or its Third Party Service Provider reasonably detailed documentation and explanation, together with underlying data, to substantiate any error and to assist Bank or its Third Party Service Provider in diagnosing, reproducing and correcting the error. Customer shall use any modifications, revisions, and updates in the Service and User Guide, including changes in programming languages, rules of operation and screen or report format, as and when they are implemented and/or made available by Bank or its Third Party Service Provider. Customer agrees to devote all equipment, facilities, personnel and other resources reasonably necessary to implement the Service and to be trained in the use of the Service, and neither Bank nor any Third Party Service Provider shall be responsible for any delays or additional fees and costs associated with Customer's failure to timely perform such obligations.

5. Customer Material. Customer hereby grants to Bank and its Third Party Service Provider a non-exclusive, worldwide, royalty free license to modify, copy, use or otherwise include the Customer Material in the Service and User Guide. Customer represents and warrants that (i) Customer and its Authorized Users have full legal right to grant to Bank or its Third Party Service Provider the right to use the Customer Material for inclusion in the Service or the User Guide, (ii) the Customer Material complies with all applicable law and does not infringe upon any United States patent, copyright, trade secret or other proprietary right of any person, and (iii) Customer has obtained all necessary assignments or licenses and waivers of moral rights from its employees and/or contractors, including the right to modify any applicable work contained in the Customer Material and to associate any applicable work contained in the Customer Material with any product or service. Customer agrees to indemnify and defend Bank and its Third Party Service Provider against any third party claim alleging a breach of the foregoing representations and warranties or an infringement of a United States patent, copyright, trademark, trade name, trade secret or other proprietary right of any person.

6. Inaccurate Information. Bank is not responsible for any inaccuracies in payment instruction caused by errors in data or information provided by Customer. Customer is responsible for ensuring that the data, information and instructions submitted by Customer for transactions executed through the Service are accurate and complete. Any dispute to payment transactions initiated through the Service in accordance with Customer's instruction will be resolved in accordance with the applicable dispute resolution process.

7. Customer Payees. Customer is solely responsible for scheduling and initiating any and all Service transactions sufficiently in advance of applicable due dates. Bank and its Third Party Service Provider disclaim any and all representations or warranties, express or implied, that any transaction executed through the Service will be timely and/or properly received, processed, and applied by any counterparty to such transaction. For any payments to a counterparty, Customer is responsible for confirming that the counterparty is the proper party that Customer intends to pay. Customer assumes all risk relating to the timely and proper scheduling, initiation, processing, transmission, receipt, and application of Service transactions, and Customer releases Bank and its Third Party Service Provider from any and all claims, liabilities, and/or damages related thereto or arising or resulting therefrom. Except for those losses caused directly by Bank's or its Third Party Service Provider's gross negligence or willful wrongful acts, Customer agrees to indemnify, defend, and hold Bank and its Third Party Service Provider harmless from and against any and all losses, costs, suits, damages, claims, liabilities, and expenses (including, without limitation, reasonable attorneys' fees) arising from or related in any way to any relationships, claims, or disputes between Customer and any and all counterparties to transactions executed by Customer through the Service (including, without limitation, payees of payment transactions executed through the Service).

Restricted

8. Adjustment to Account; Checks. Bank reserves the right to adjust, debit, or credit Customer's account in the amount of any requested Service transaction on the date that the transaction is initiated through the Service or any time thereafter. In the event Customer directs that any Service payment transaction be made by check or draft, Customer authorizes Bank and/or its Third Party Service Provider to execute a check or draft drawn on Customer's account for the purpose of executing such transaction, notwithstanding any resolution, signature card, or other document filed with Bank that purports to limit authority or signatory capacity over any of Customer's accounts, whether currently on file or submitted or modified in the future. Upon request by Bank or its Third Party Service Provider, Customer shall promptly submit one or more facsimile signatures, in such form or format as Bank or its Third Party Service Provider may require, for application to checks or drafts executed through the Service.

9. Modification of Service Transactions. Bank and its Third Party Service Provider shall have no obligation to permit Customer to amend, modify, cancel, or stop payment on Service transactions after Customer has initiated or submitted such transactions for execution through the Service. In the event Bank or its Third Party Service Provider shall permit Customer to amend, modify, cancel, or stop payment on Service transactions, Customer must act within applicable deadlines established by Bank or its Third Party Service Provider for such purposes and otherwise afford Bank and its Third Party Service Provider a reasonable opportunity to respond to instructions to amend, modify, cancel, or stop payment on Service transactions; provided, that in no event shall Bank or its Third Party Service Provider have any liability to Customer or any counterparty to Customer's Service transaction if Bank or its Third Party Service Provider shall fail to execute or timely execute any instruction to amend, modify, cancel, or stop payment on such Service transaction.

10. Security Procedures. In addition to, and without limiting the generality of, the security procedure provisions in the General Terms, each User on the Regions Integrated Payables website will be required to log into the system using a User Name and Password. At initial log in, the User will be required to register an SMS enabled mobile phone number. At each subsequent log in the User will be sent an SMS Text Message containing a one-time Password. The User must enter that one-time Password to complete the login process. The User Name, Password and one-time Password constitute the Security Devices necessary for login. Customer is responsible for keeping the mobile phone number(s) up to date.

Article V. iTreasury Service

1. Statement of Service. This Article describes Bank's iTreasury Service, whereby Customer may review account transactions and information and perform certain transactions and banking services via the Internet. The Service functions and transactions elected by Customer are indicated in Section I of the Service Schedule.

2. Other Agreements. When the Service is used to access other Bank services, the terms, conditions, and agreements governing such other services remain in full force and effect, except as expressly modified or amended by the terms of this Article or other written terms or procedures imposed by Bank with respect to the Service. Customer agrees to promptly execute and deliver to Bank any documentation required by Bank to evidence Customer's agreement to Bank's terms and conditions for services accessed and used by Customer through the use of the Service; provided, that Customer's use of the Service to use, access, and/or perform other Bank services or transactions automatically constitutes Customer's acceptance of and agreement to any and all terms, conditions, and provisions in effect and imposed by Bank at the time of Customer's use or performance of such services and transactions without the execution of any related documentation by Customer. Customer agrees to be bound by and to comply with any and all instructional materials or technical information relating to the use of the Service that is made available to Customer by Bank in connection with the Service, as amended from time to time.

3. Service Availability. Customer acknowledges that the Service may from time to time be unavailable during periods of maintenance and testing. Customer further acknowledges and agrees that the performance and completion of Service transactions are subject to Bank's business days and hours of operation, Bank's published policies and procedures, the hours of operation of departments within Bank performing Service transactions, applicable law, the provisions of this Article and the General Terms, and the provisions of other Bank customer agreements governing specific transactions to be performed under this Article—including, without limitation, any other applicable Articles in Part 2 of this Master Agreement—and Customer agrees that Bank shall not be liable for any delay in the processing or settlement of Service transactions resulting from the foregoing.

4. Definitions of Key Terms. Terms not otherwise defined herein shall have the meaning ascribed to those terms in the General Terms. Unless otherwise indicated, the following terms used in this Article and/or the Service Schedule shall have the following meanings:

> "System Administrator" means a Customer-specified individual or multiple individuals who serve as Bank's point of contact for issues related to the use of the Service, and who administers Customer's policies and procedures regarding the use of the Service. Through the assignment of User IDs and issuance of Security Devices, an Administrator designates the individuals who may access the Service and governs the features, functions, and accounts to which each individual User may have access.
>
> "Dual Administration" means an optional security enhancement by which Customer requires a second System Administrator to approve all changes to users, included but not limited to new user creation, entitlement or permissions additions or changes, additions or changes in account access, and/or changes or additions of dollar limits for transactional services.
>
> "User ID" means a unique code representing one authorized user of the service. Each User ID is associated with a System Administrator-defined profile which limits the user's access to only those features, functions, and accounts (collectively, the user's "entitlements") designated by System Administrators.
> "Password" means a user-selected or Bank designated code which is associated within the Service with the user's User ID. To access the Service, a user must provide his or her User ID and the exact Password associated with that specific User ID.

5. iTreasury Transfer Module. Customer acknowledges and agrees that the iTreasury Transfer Module will allow Customer to transfer funds to and from all of the accounts listed in the Information Reporting Account Information section of the Service Schedule, subject to the terms, conditions, and provision of this Article and the General Terms.

Restricted

6. Security Procedures. In addition to, and without limiting the generality of, the security procedure provisions in the General Terms, Bank and Customer agree that certain Security Procedures described herein and in the Comprehensive User Guide shall be used in conjunction with this Service. Bank may require additional security authentication for certain Services described in this Article and/or the Service Schedule. The System Administrator designated by the Customer or to those parties who are authorized by the Customer to set up a User's designated device to receive the authentication from time to time. The System Administrator shall have the sole responsibility to designate the device to appropriate users , and the System Administrator will assign the Services to which such parties shall have access. Users will setup their own personal authentication for use with the device. The Bank will consider itself authorized to perform all transactions described in this Article and/or the Service Schedule if a transaction request is accompanied by the Customer's designated Security Devices. The Customer agrees to safeguard the Security Devices and agrees to release the Bank from liability where unauthorized access to or use of the Services occurs through the use of the Security Devices.

7. iTreasury Alerts Module. The iTreasury Alerts Module gives Customer the ability to set up messages ("Alerts") to be sent by the Service to one or more Customer designated email addresses to notify Customer of specific transactions, situations, or events. For example, Customer can request an Alert to be sent when an Account has reached a certain balance or a check has been processed. Customer can configure Alerts by selecting and configuring each type of Alert. Customer acknowledges that Alerts are generated and sent through an automated process based on conditions set by Customer. Therefore, Customer is responsible for inputting accurate information when setting up Alerts, and Bank shall not be responsible for any losses, damages or expenses that may occur as a result of the improper setup of an Alert or is not processed as a result of factors beyond Bank's reasonable control.

Article VI. RTP Send Service

1. Statement of Service. This Article states the terms and conditions on which Customer may send immediate funds transfers via the RTP System which is facilitated by The Clearing House Payments Company ("TCH"). Customer understands and agrees that all RTP Payments are final and irrevocable. Additional terms and procedures for the use of the RTP Send Service may be set forth in other documentation provided by the Bank, such as Service Instructions, Service Schedules or User Guides ("Documentation"). Customer agrees the Documentation constitutes part of the agreement between Customer and Bank for the provision of the RTP Send Service and to follow this Article and all Documentation in the initial setup and ongoing use of the RTP Send Service.

2. Compliance with Rules and Laws. Customer understands and agrees that all funds transfers using the RTP Send Service are subject to the RTP System Operating Rules ("Rules"), as the same may from time to time be amended. Customer agrees to comply with all applicable federal and state laws and regulations governing transfers to be performed hereunder, as the same may from time to time be amended. Customer agrees that it shall send only RTP Payments that comply with the laws of the United States, including, without limitation, the anti-terrorism and anti-money laundering programs administered by the U.S. Treasury Department's Office of Foreign Asset Control.

3. Definitions. Capitalized terms used in this Article that are not defined in this Article shall have the meanings ascribed to them in the Rules. Capitalized terms not otherwise defined herein shall have the meanings ascribed to them in the General Terms.

4. Payment Instruction. Customer may submit to Bank a Payment Instruction to order payment to a Receiver whose account is located in the United States of America. Customer shall submit such instructions to Bank in accordance with the Documentation. Bank may establish processing times on each business day (each a "Processing Window") within which it will accept Payment Instructions from Customer. Bank may require Customer to deliver Payment Instructions to Bank by a specified time ("Cut-off Time") on the date Customer wants to make an RTP Payment. Bank reserves the right to impose, change or eliminate any Processing Window or Cut-off Time at any time in its sole discretion and without advance notice to Customer. Any applicable Processing Window or Cut-off Times will be set forth in the Documentation.

Upon receipt of a Payment Instruction, Bank will send a Payment Message to instruct payment to the Receiver. A Payment Instruction is received by Bank when the electronic transmission is completed, Bank is satisfied that applicable security procedures have been followed and Bank has successfully completed all applicable fraud and risk screening. Any Payment Instruction provided after the Cut-off Time will be considered received at the start of the next Processing Window, if applicable, or the next business day. If Bank receives a Payment Instruction from Customer after any applicable Cut-off Time, Bank will send the Payment Message on the date the Payment Instruction is received.

Customer agrees that Bank has no obligation to accept Payment Instructions and therefore may reject any such instructions submitted by Customer. Bank may reject Payment Instructions which do not comply with the requirements of this Article, including applicable security procedures, fraud and risk screening, funds availability or Limits (as defined below), or for which Bank has reason to believe Customer has breached one or more of the warranties Customer made to Bank with respect to such instructions. Bank may also reject a Payment Instruction (with subsequent notice of rejection being forwarded to Customer) without liability to Customer if, in Bank's reasonable judgment, executing the Payment Instruction would cause Bank to violate any applicable law, any regulation or the Rules. If Bank rejects any Payment Instruction under this paragraph, Bank will use reasonable efforts to notify Customer the same day. In any case, Bank will notify Customer no later than the next business day after rejecting any Payment Instruction. Bank shall have no liability to Customer for rejection of a Payment Instruction or for failure to notify Customer of a rejection and shall not be liable to pay any interest to Customer even if the amount of Customer's payment order is fully covered by a withdrawable credit balance in Customer's Account or Bank has otherwise received full payment from Customer.

If Customer asks Bank to amend or cancel a Payment Instruction and Customer's request complies with applicable security procedures, Bank may elect to comply with Customer's request if Bank has not yet sent the Payment Message. However, Bank is not obligated to act on such request nor will Bank be liable to Customer if Bank does not cancel or amend the Payment Instruction. Customer agrees to indemnify and hold Bank harmless from and against any and all claims, demands, losses, liabilities and expenses, including reasonable attorneys' fees and costs, resulting from compliance with Customer's cancellation or amendment request.

If a Payment Message is cancelled by TCH or rejected by the Receiving Participant, Bank will immediately make available to Customer any information regarding the status of the RTP Payment. Bank will have no obligation to retransmit the Payment Message unless Bank is required to do so by the Rules. Unless Bank is required by the Rules to retransmit the Payment Message, Customer must provide a new Payment Instruction to Bank. In the event a Payment Message is cancelled by TCH or rejected by the Receiving Participant, Bank will credit the Account in the amount of the cancelled or rejected payment.

5. Message Information. To the extent required by the Rules, Bank shall immediately make available to Customer any information regarding the status of the RTP Payment and shall make available to Customer any information contained in a Payment Message, Payment Message Response or a Non-Payment Message.

6. Settlement for RTP Payments. Customer agrees to maintain with Bank one or more designated Deposit Accounts (the "Account" or "Accounts") for settlement purposes, as set forth in the Documentation. All RTP Payments must be settled from the Account to which the Payment Instruction relates. For each Payment Instruction, Bank will debit the Account on the date it receives the Payment Instruction in the amount of the RTP Payment. Customer agrees to have on deposit in the Account sufficient available funds to cover the amount of the RTP Payment. If Customer does not make such funds available, Customer agrees that Bank may setoff against any of Customer's other accounts with Bank or against any of Customer's other property in Bank's possession.

7. RTP Payment Limits. Bank may establish, or may require Customer to establish, limits on the maximum amounts for RTP Payments ("Limits"). Limits may include, but are not limited to, a maximum amount for each RTP Payment or all RTP Payments sent on each business day. Any applicable Limits established by Bank will be set forth in the Documentation. Bank may modify any such Limits in its sole discretion at any time. These modifications are effective immediately and may be implemented prior to Customer's receipt of notice of the newly established Limits. Customer may contact Bank at any time to verify Customer's current Limits. Any Limits established by Customer will be set forth in Documentation. Customer agrees not to exceed the Limits. Customer acknowledges that the Limits are solely for the protection of Bank and its assets and that Payment Instructions to send funds in excess of the Limits may or may not be executed in Bank's sole discretion.

8. Customer Warranties. Customer warrants to Bank that for each Payment Instruction Customer submits to Bank, (1) the Payment Instruction has been submitted with Customer's authorization and in accordance with all terms of this Article and the General Terms, including applicable security procedures; (2) the Receiver's account is located in the United States of America; and (3) the Payment Instruction complies with the Rules and applicable law. Customer hereby indemnifies and agrees to defend Bank against and hold Bank harmless from any liability arising out of Customer's breach of the warranties in this section or of any other provision of this Article or the General Terms or any act or omission of Customer or any other person acting on Customer's behalf.

9. Security Procedures. In addition to, and without limiting the generality of, the security procedure provisions in the General Terms, Customer agrees to implement and comply with any and all security procedures for Service transactions that are agreed to between Customer and Bank, and Customer acknowledges and agrees that such security procedures are commercially reasonable security procedures under applicable law for the transactions and activity Customer intends to effect through the Service. Bank and Customer agree that such security procedures shall include multi-factor authentication.

Customer further agrees as follows with respect to submitting Payment Instructions via iTreasury. Customer will initiate a request via iTreasury to Bank via the Internet. All iTreasury customers are required to check the status of each Payment Instruction to ensure they have received the "Submitted" status for processing. Bank is not responsible for Payment Instruction timeliness. Customer will be responsible for same day verification of Payment Instruction status. Transactions initiated through iTreasury are further subject to the terms and conditions of the Documentation.

Bank reserves the right to change the payment channels available for submitting Payment Instructions. Information and requirements related to each available payment channel is set forth in the Documentation.

10. Authorized, Unauthorized and Erroneous Payments. Any Payment Instruction (including a request for cancellation or amendment of a Payment Instruction) or other communication delivered to Bank that purports to have been submitted or authorized by Customer in accordance with the security procedures shall be effective and binding upon Customer even if the Payment Instruction was not in fact authorized by Customer and notwithstanding any resolution, any dual or multiple signature requirement identified on any signature cards, or other documents relating to the affected Customer Account(s) that purport to limit authority over the Customer Account(s), whether currently on file or submitted or modified in the future, provided Bank has accepted the Payment Instruction in compliance with the Rules, reasonably believes it to have been submitted or authorized by Customer, and has acted in good faith. If any Payment Instruction received by Bank is, in fact, submitted or authorized by Customer (or any authorized representative of Customer), it shall be effective as Customer's Payment Instruction whether or not (i) Bank complies with the Rules and/or this Article and the General Terms with respect to the Payment Instruction, (ii) the Payment Instruction is erroneous in any respect, (iii) the error, if any, could be detected by Bank, or (iv) Bank executes or settles the Payment Instruction even though one or more of the conditions therefore, as set forth herein, is not satisfied. If Customer discovers an erroneous or unauthorized Payment Instruction, Customer shall immediately notify Bank, as well as notify the affected Receiver(s), and shall confirm such notification in writing. Upon receiving such notice, Bank may attempt to correct the erroneous Payment Instruction in a manner consistent with the Rules. Bank is not obligated to correct such Payment Instruction and Bank shall in no event be liable to Customer in the event that Bank is unable to correct the erroneous or unauthorized Payment Instruction. If Customer fails to notify Bank or the affected Receiver(s) of any erroneous or unauthorized Payment Instruction, Customer will be liable for any losses Bank may incur. Customer agrees that Bank has no obligation or duty to detect errors with respect to a Payment Instruction submitted by Customer. However, if Bank detects an error with respect to a Payment Instruction delivered to Bank, Bank will exercise reasonable efforts to give Customer notice of such error, and Customer agrees to furnish to Bank corrections in a format and on a medium prescribed by Bank. Bank reserves the right to suspend or cancel Customer's ability to perform transactions hereunder if Bank suspects any unauthorized or fraudulent transactions. Customer agrees to take any reasonable actions requested by Bank to prevent unauthorized transactions or to correct errors.

a) Request for Return of Funds. In connection with an erroneous or unauthorized RTP Payment, Customer may request that Bank submit a Request for Return of Funds. Customer understands that a Receiving Participant is not required to return funds upon receipt of a Request for Return of Funds. If a Receiving Participant returns some or all of the funds, Bank will credit the Account in the amount of the returned funds. If Bank offers an indemnity to the Receiving Bank in connection with a Request for Return of Funds, Customer agrees to indemnify Bank against any and all claims, demands, losses, liabilities and expenses, including reasonable attorneys' fees and costs, in connection with Customer's

Request for Return of Funds. If a Receiving Participant rejects a Request for Return of Funds, Bank will notify Customer. Customer agrees that all that all RTP Payments are final and irrevocable, and that Bank is not obligated to act on a Customer's request that Bank submit a Request for Return of Funds.

11. Additional Terms and Conditions.

a) Recording Conversations. Bank may, but is not required to, record any conversations Bank has with Customer or with any of Customer's representatives.

b) Information Disclosure. Some of the Services covered by this Article may be provided to Customer with the participation or assistance of one or more of Bank's affiliates or other third parties. Customer agrees that Bank may disclose to such affiliates and third parties any information Customer provides to Bank to the extent required for the delivery of these Services.

c) Confirmation; Account Reconciliation. Bank will provide notice of all RTP Payments to Customer's Account on Customer's periodic Account statement. If Customer uses Bank's information/balance reporting services, Customer can also receive notice through various mailed reports or terminal printouts. Customer is responsible for detecting and reporting to Bank any discrepancy between Customer's records and the records Bank provides to Customer. If Customer does not detect and notify Bank of such a discrepancy within 30 days of Customer's receipt of any terminal printout, mailed report or periodic statement ("Report"), whichever is received first, then Customer will not be entitled to interest from Bank on any amount refundable to Customer.

Morgan Stanley Institutional Liquidity Funds

Government Portfolio

Investment Objective

The Morgan Stanley Institutional Liquidity Funds (MSILF) Government Portfolio seeks preservation of capital, daily liquidity and maximum current income.

Investment Philosophy

We believe that a conservatively managed portfolio of liquid, high-quality debt securities issued by the U.S. government may maximize current income while preserving capital and liquidity.

Investment Process

The management team follows an investment process that seeks to select maturities based on the shape of the money market yield curve and on expectations as to future shifts in the level and shape of the curve, taking into consideration such factors as current short-term interest rates, Federal Reserve policy regarding interest rates and U.S. economic activity.

Fund Highlights

The MSILF Government Portfolio offers the following benefits:

Security: the fund is rated AAAmmf by Fitch, AAAm by S&P, and Aaa-mf by Moody's, reflecting the credit quality, diversification and security of the fund.

Liquidity: competitive trading deadlines and same-day access give you flexibility and control.

Yield: provides a competitive rate of return.

DEFINITIONS

Unsubsidized yield The unsubsidized yield reflects what the yield would have been had a fee and/or expense waiver not been in place during the period shown. Total return A measure of a fund's performance that encompasses all elements of return: dividends, capital gain distributions, and changes in net asset value. Total return is the change in value of an investment over a given period, assuming reinvestment of any dividends and capital gain distributions, expressed as a percentage of the initial investment. Weighted average life measures the weighted average of the maturities of the portfolio's individual holdings. Weighted average maturity measures the weighted average of the maturities of the portfolio's individual holdings, taking into account reset dates for floating rate securities. Yield definitions The 7-day current yield is an annualized net yield which assumes dividends are not reinvested in the fund. The 30-day effective yields are annualized net yields that describe 1-year earnings assuming dividends are reinvested at the average rate of the last 30 days. The 7-day simple yield describes the annualized income earned over the last 7 days.

IMPORTANT RATINGS DISCLOSURES

Ratings represent the opinions of the rating agency as to the quality of the securities they rate. Standard & Poor's, Moody's, Fitch and NAIC ratings rate the investment quality of the fund's shares. Independent rating agency ratings include, but are not limited to, a regular analysis of a fund's liquidity, diversification, operational policies and internal controls, its management characteristics and the creditworthiness of its assets.

Ratings are not intended as a recommendation and are subject to change. Ratings are relative and subjective and are not absolute standards of quality. The portfolio's credit quality does not remove market risk.

Fitch Ratings' money market fund ratings are an opinion as to the capacity of a money market fund to preserve principal and provide shareholder liquidity. Money market fund ratings are distinguished from the long-term credit-rating scale by the 'mmf' rating subscript and range from 'AAAmmf' to 'Bmmf'. For more information, please visit: http://www.fitchratings.com/creditdesk/public/ratings_defintions/index.cfm.

Standard & Poor's money market fund ratings are forward-looking opinions about a fixed-income fund's capacity to maintain stable principal (net asset value). When assigning a principal stability rating to a fund, Standard & Poor's analysis focuses primarily on the creditworthiness of the fund's investments and counterparties, and also its investments maturity structure and management's ability and policies to maintain the fund's stable net asset value. For more information, please visit: https://www.spglobal.com/ratings/en/credit-ratings/about/understanding-credit-ratings.

Moody's Investors Services Inc.'s money market fund ratings are opinions of the investment quality of shares in mutual funds and similar investment vehicles which principally invest in short-term fixed income obligations. As such, these ratings incorporate Moody's assessment of a fund's published investment objectives and policies, the creditworthiness of the assets held by the fund, the liquidity profile of the fund's assets relative to the fund's investor base, the assets' susceptibility to market risk, as well as the management characteristics of the fund. RISK CONSIDERATIONS

You could lose money by investing in the Fund. Although the Fund seeks to preserve the value of your investment at $1.00 per share, it cannot guarantee it will do so. An investment in the Fund is not a bank account and is not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other government agency. The Fund's sponsor is not required to reimburse the Fund for losses, and you should not expect that the sponsor will provide financial support to the Fund at any time, including during periods of market stress.

Market values can change daily due to economic and other events (e.g. natural disasters, health crises, terrorism, conflicts and social unrest) that affect markets, countries, companies or governments. It is difficult to predict the timing, duration, and potential adverse effects (e.g. portfolio liquidity) of events. The prices of fixed income securities respond to interest rate changes. Indeed, prices tend to be inversely affected by changes in interest rates. Accordingly, the portfolio is subject to interest rate risk, and in a rising interest rate environment, portfolio shares can decline in value.

Morgan Stanley Institutional Liquidity Funds (MSILFs) MSILFs are institutional mutual funds offering seven different cash management portfolios.

Fund adviser The Morgan Stanley Institutional Liquidity Funds (MSILFs) are managed by Morgan Stanley Investment Management, Inc.

MSILF returns are net of fees and assume the reinvestment of all dividends and income. Returns for less than one year are cumulative (unannualized). MSILF returns are reported for Investor class shares. Performance for the other classes will differ. The Portfolio's "Adviser" and "Administrator," Morgan Stanley Investment Management Inc., has agreed to reduce its advisory fee, its administration fee and/or reimburse the Portfolio's Investor Class so that Total Annual Portfolio Operating Expenses, excluding certain investment related expenses, taxes, interest and other extraordinary expenses (including litigation), will not exceed 0.25%. The fee waivers and/or expense reimbursements will continue for at least one year or until such time as the Board of Trustees of Morgan Stanley Institutional Liquidity Funds (the "Fund") acts to discontinue all or a portion of such waivers and/or reimbursements when it deems such action is appropriate.

Where the net expense ratio is lower than the gross expense ratio, certain fees have been waived and/or expenses reimbursed. These waivers and/or reimbursements will continue for at least one year from the date of the applicable fund's current prospectus (unless otherwise noted in the applicable prospectus) or until such time as the fund's Board of Trustees acts to discontinue all or a portion of such waivers and/or reimbursements. Absent such waivers and/or reimbursements, returns would have been lower. Expenses are based on the fund's current prospectus, in effect as of the date of this fact sheet. For information on the applicable fund's current fees and expenses, please see the fund's current prospectus.

This material must be preceded or accompanied by a prospectus for the Morgan Stanley Institutional Liquidity Funds. The prospectus contains information about the funds, including the investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses. For an additional copy of the prospectus, please visit www.morganstanley.com. Please read the prospectus carefully before investing.

The 7-Day yield is the average income return over the previous seven days, assuming the rate stays the same for one year and that dividends are reinvested. It is the Fund's total income net of expenses, divided by the total number of outstanding shares and includes any applicable waiver or reimbursement. Absent such waivers or reimbursements, the returns would have been lower. The 7-Day Yield Without Reductions is the yield without applicable waivers or reimbursements. Voluntary waivers and/or reimbursements may be discontinued any time.

Expenses, Fees & Loads

The Exp Ratio (Net) – Financial Statement reflects certain voluntary reimbursements and waivers which are not included in the Exp Ratio (Net) – Prospectus, and may be discontinued at any time. There is a contractual cap on the expenses borne by the fund, which indicates the maximum level of expenses (with certain exceptions) that the fund would pay; the respective contract expires on 07/31/2026.

Investment Objective

Seeks to obtain as high a level of current income as is consistent with the preservation of principal and liquidity within the limitations prescribed for the fund.

Strategy

The Adviser normally invests at least 99.5% of the fund's total assets in cash, U.S. Treasury securities and/or repurchase agreements for those securities. Investing in compliance with industry standard regulatory requirements for money market funds for the quality, maturity, liquidity and diversification of investments. The Adviser stresses maintaining a stable $1.00 share price, liquidity, and income. In addition the Adviser normally invests at least 80% of the fund's assets in U.S. Treasury securities and repurchase agreements for those securities.

Risk

You could lose money by investing in the fund. Although the fund seeks to preserve the value of your investment at $1.00 per share, it cannot guarantee it will do so. An investment in the fund is not a bank account and is not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other government agency. Fidelity Investments and its affiliates, the fund's sponsor, is not required to reimburse the fund for losses, and you should not expect that the sponsor will provide financial support to the fund at any time, including during periods of market stress. The fund will not impose a fee upon the sale of your shares.

Ratings Information

Standard & Poor's and Moody's money market fund ratings rate the investment quality of the fund's shares and range from AAAm/Aaa-mf (highest) to Dm/C-mf (lowest). Independent rating agency fund ratings include, but are not limited to, a regular analysis of a fund's liquidity, sensitivity to market risk, diversification, operational policies, and internal controls; its management characteristics; and the creditworthiness of its assets. Ratings are not intended as a recommendation and are subject to change.

NAIC (National Association of Insurance Commissioners) is an organization of insurance regulators from the 50 states, the District of Columbia, and the five U.S. territories. It was created by state insurance regulators in 1871 to coordinate regulation of multistate insurers and, when appropriate, to provide a forum for the development of uniform policy. The Securities Valuation Office (SVO), a division of NAIC, may rate a money market mutual fund either "Exempt" or "Class 1." These ratings determine how an insurer can classify its money market fund investments in its regulatory filings with state insurance departments. Mutual funds that have not been rated by the SVO are treated as equity investments for regulatory purposes, with asset valuation reserve requirements as high as 30%.

Definitions

Annualized Turnover Rate is the lesser of amounts of purchases or sales of long-term portfolio securities divided by the monthly average value of long-term securities owned by the fund. Daily Market Value The market value per share of a fund is computed by adding the total market value of the fund's investments, cash and other assets, subtracting the fund's total liabilities, and dividing the result by the total number of shares outstanding. Exp Ratio (Net) – Financial Statement is an annualized figure that reflects amounts reimbursed by Fidelity or reductions from brokerage service or other expense offset arrangements, if any, and is updated as the annual or semiannual information is available. This number may include certain voluntary waiver and caps which may not be included in the prospectus net expense ratio. Exp Ratio (Net) – Prospectus Expense ratio is a measure of what it costs to operate an investment, expressed as a percentage of its assets, as a dollar amount, or in basis points. These are costs the investor pays through a reduction in the investment's rate of return. For a mutual fund, the gross expense ratio is the total annual fund or class operating expenses directly paid by the fund from the fund's most recent prospectus after any fee waiver and/or expense reimbursements that will reduce any fund operating expenses. This ratio also includes Acquired Fund Fees and Expenses, which are expenses indirectly incurred by a fund through its ownership of shares in other investment companies, This number does not include any fee waiver arrangement or expense reimbursement that may be terminated without agreement of the fund's board of trustees. If the investment option is not a mutual fund, the expense ratio may be calculated using methodologies that differ from those used for mutual funds. Exp Ratio (Gross) – Prospectus Expense ratio is a measure of what it costs to operate an investment, expressed as a percentage of its assets, as a dollar amount, or in basis points. These are costs the investor pays through a reduction in the investment's rate of return. For a mutual fund, the gross expense ratio is the total annual fund or class operating expenses directly paid by the fund from the fund's most recent prospectus (before waivers or reimbursements). This ratio also includes Acquired Fund Fees and Expenses, which are expenses indirectly incurred by a fund through its ownership of shares in other investment companies. If the investment option is not a mutual fund, the expense ratio may be calculated using methodologies that differ from those used for mutual funds. Liquid Assets Daily A taxable money market fund is required to hold at least 25% of its portfolio in daily liquid assets that can be readily converted to cash in one business day. Daily liquid assets include: cash, direct obligations of the U.S. Government, securities that will mature or are subject to a demand feature exercisable and payable within one business day, and receivables from sales of portfolio securities due within one business day. Liquid Asset Weekly A money market fund is required to hold at least 50% of its portfolio in weekly liquid assets that can be readily converted to cash in five business days. Weekly liquid assets include: cash, direct obligations of the U.S. Government, certain U.S. Government securities issued at a discount with a remaining maturity of 60 days or less, securities that will mature or are subject to a demand feature that is exercisable and payable within five business days, and receivables from sales of portfolio securities due within five business days. Weighted average maturity This is a weighted average of all the maturities of the securities held in a fund. WAM for money market funds can be used as a measure of sensitivity to interest rate changes. Generally, the longer the maturity, the greater the sensitivity. WAM for money market funds is based on the dollar-weighted average length of time until principal payments must be paid, taking into account any call options exercised by the issuer and any permissible maturity shortening devices such as demand features and interest rate resets. For bond funds, WAM can be used as a measure of sensitivity to the markets. Generally, the longer the maturity, the greater the sensitivity. The WAM calculation for bond funds excludes interest rate resets and only takes into account issuer call options if it is probable that the issuer of the instrument will take advantage of such options. Weighted average life For money market funds, this is the weighted average of the life of the securities held in a fund or portfolio and can be used as a measure of sensitivity to changes in liquidity and/or credit risk. Generally, the higher the value, the greater the sensitivity. WAL is based on the dollar-weighted average length of time until principal payments must be paid, taking into account any call options exercised by the issuer and any permissible maturity shortening features other than interest rate resets. For money market funds, the difference between WAM and WAL is that WAM takes into account interest rate resets and WAL does not. WAL for money market funds is not the same as WAL of a mortgage- or asset-backed security. Yield The percentage of return an investor receives, based on the amount invested or on the current market value of holdings.

Parent Group, Group Master or Individual Account #

Section shows account type and account number.

First three #s represent the bank #:

- 0001 = AL, MS, LA, and TX
- 0053 = AR, IL, IN, IA, KY, MO, and TN
- 0060 = GA, NC, and SC
- 0092 = FL

Second two #s represent the application #:

- 00 = Parent Group or Master Account
- 01 = Individual Account

Balances, *Reserves, Earnings Allowance

1 Avg Ledger Balance minus Avg Float = Avg Collected Balance
2 Negative Collected Balance occurs when company uses uncollected funds during the month but does not mean that the company was necessarily overdrawn in the ledger balance which generates an NSF Charge.
3 Positive Collected Balance minus Reserve Requirement = Avg Net Collected Balance
4 Avg Positive Collected Balance x 10% = Reserve Requirement * No reserve req.
5 Positive/Average Net Collected Balance x Earnings Rate divided by the # of days per year x # days per month = Total Earnings Credit Allowance

Service Charges

1 Charge for services x # days in the month divided by # days in the year x Earnings Rate = Balance Required (Collected Balance Required)

2 Negative Collected Balance x Overdraft Rate x # days per month divided by # days in the year = Interest on Overdraft

Net Charges for Services

Shows net difference between total service charge and total earnings credit allowance. If service charge exceeds earnings allowance, net charge is shown. If earnings allowance exceeds total service charge, net charge for services appears as a zero on the statement.

Balance Summary

If Excess (Deficit) Balance is negative, a line called Additional Reserves Required is added to calculate total balance deficit. Additional reserves required to support service charges include allowances for reserves.

1 Avg Collected Balance – Reserve Requirement = Avg. Net Collected Balance
2 Avg. Net Collected Balance – Collected Balance Requirement = Excess (Deficit) Net Collected Balance
3 Total Balance Deficit minus Excess (Deficit) Net Collected Balance = Additional Reserve Requirement
4 Excess (Deficit) Net Collected Balance + Additional Reserve Required = Total Balance Deficit

Wire Transfer Agreement Package

Revised July 2022

1. Introduction. Regions Bank offers funds transfer services to its clients under the terms and conditions set forth in this funds transfer agreement and the exhibits described below. Funds transferred via Regions Bank's iTreasury Service are subject to the terms and conditions set forth in this funds transfer agreement, the exhibits described below, and the Master Agreement for Treasury Management Services ("Master Agreement"). Throughout this funds transfer agreement, Regions Bank is referred to as "we" "us,", or "our", the funds transfer services that we offer are referred to as the "services," this funds transfer agreement and any exhibits attached hereto are together referred to as the "agreement" and the person or entity using the services is referred to as "you", or "your."

When you sign this funds transfer agreement, you are agreeing to be bound by the terms and conditions of the agreement. The agreement is a legally binding contract that can only be changed as provided below.

2. Definitions. The following words or terms have the designated meanings for purposes of the agreement:

· "agreement" means this funds transfer agreement and if funds are transferred via our iTreasury Service, also includes the Master Agreement

· "authorized account" means the account(s) that you have designated on the applicable exhibit to the agreement that is in effect at the relevant time to be used as a settlement source of debits for any payment orders that we execute on your behalf. If you have failed to designate at least one account, then any account that you maintain with us or any of our affiliates is an authorized account.

· "authorized representative" means a person authorized by any resolution or other document to execute and deliver the funds transfer agreement (and/or –any exhibits to the agreement) and/or to send payment orders and other funds transfer communications to us on your behalf (including each person identified as an authorized representative on applicable exhibits to the agreement that are in effect at the relevant time). "Authorized representative also includes an Authorized User as that term is defined in the Master Agreement. Any person who gives us the applicable PIN will be deemed to be one of your authorized representatives.

· "available funds" means funds that are on deposit in an authorized account and that are, subject to any amount limitations, available for withdrawal under our funds availability schedule for funds transfers.

· "business day" means a day other than a day (A) that is not a "business day" as defined in Federal Reserve Board Regulation CC, 12 CFR Part 229 or (B) on which commercial banks in Birmingham, Alabama are closed.

· "floor limit" means the amount designated by you as the call back verification limit on the applicable exhibit to the agreement that is in effect at the relevant time. We at our sole discretion may set an undisclosed floor limit that we determine and may change periodically without giving you notice. If you do not designate any such amount, an undisclosed dollar amount that we determine and may change periodically without giving you notice. Verification will be performed by contacting an Authorized Approver listed in Exhibit 4 other than the Authorized Representative who initiated the transfer.

· "PIN" means the personal identification number that we give to each of your authorized representatives (as identified in applicable exhibits to the agreement).

· "automatic standing payment order" means a payment order for which the authorized account, beneficiary information, frequency and method for calculating the payment order amount remain constant and are listed on the applicable exhibit to the agreement that is in effect at the relevant time. If you do not complete, sign and give us an exhibit that provides the required information for one or more automatic standing payment orders, we will not process payment orders for you as automatic standing payment orders.

· "repetitive payment order" means a payment order for which the authorized account and beneficiary information remain constant and are listed on the applicable exhibit to the agreement that is in effect at the relevant time, but for which the date and amount vary. If you do not complete, sign and give us an exhibit that provides the required information for one or more repetitive payment orders, we will not process payment orders for you as repetitive payment orders.

· "security procedures" means the procedures that are described in the agreement (including any applicable exhibits) and/or that are in effect at the relevant time that are to be used for verifying the authenticity of payment orders and other funds transfer communications that we receive in your name. Those security procedures vary with the type of payment order or funds transfer communication we receive.

· "security device" means, without limitation, any code, password, personal identification number, user identification technology, token, certificate, or other element, means, or method of authentication or identification used in connection with a security procedure.

In addition, words or phrases that are defined in Article 4A of the Uniform Commercial Code or "UCC" have the defined meanings when used in the agreement.

3. Deposit Account Agreement. You acknowledge and agree that any demand deposit account you maintain with us is an integral part of the services offered by us and that all transactions initiated or processed pursuant to this agreement are subject to our terms and conditions governing accounts in effect from time to time (the "deposit agreement"). The deposit agreement, including, without limitation, any and all terms thereof relating to ARBITRATION AND WAIVER OF JURY TRIAL, which terms shall govern any disputes between you an us arising out of this agreement, is expressly incorporated herein by reference; provided that the terms and conditions of this agreement shall control over any inconsistent terms and conditions of the deposit agreement with respect to the services contemplated by this agreement. You acknowledge that you have signed and executed all agreements, resolutions, signature cards and forms governing your demand deposit account required by us. If you have not signed the foregoing forms required by us, by signing any of this agreement, you acknowledge that you have read the contents of and agree to be bound by the terms of those forms, agreements and documents, and adopt and ratify, as an authorized signatory(s), the signature(s) of any person(s) who has signed a signature card or any check on your account.

4. Sending Us Payment Orders. You may send us payment orders only by one of the methods described in the agreement and/or in the applicable exhibits that are in effect at the relevant time. You must indicate the method(s) that you intend to use to send us payment orders each time you complete, sign and give us an agreement. You agree that we are not required to reject a payment order we receive by a method that you have not indicated on the version of the agreement that is in effect at the relevant time, but we reserve the right to do so at our discretion. Each payment order that you send us must comply with the requirements of the agreement, contain sufficient data and comply with any written instructions or restrictions that you have given us.

5. Execution or Acceptance of Payment Orders. You authorize us to execute or accept any payment order that we receive in your name, but agree that we are not obligated to execute or accept any particular payment order. If we decide to execute or accept a payment order that we receive in your name, we will verify that payment order in accordance with the security procedures. If we receive a payment order on a funds transfer business day before the cutoff time for funds transfers that we have established and that is in effect on that day, we will use reasonable efforts to process the payment order that day. If we receive a payment order after the cutoff time or on a day that is not a funds-transfer business day, we will generally not process it until the next funds-transfer business day, but we may, in our sole discretion and as an accommodation to you, process such a payment order on the day that we receive it. We may execute or accept payment orders that we receive from you and those that we receive from other customers in any order that we select. You agree that we may execute or accept a payment order on the funds-transfer business day on which we receive that payment order, regardless of any instructions you may have given us to the contrary.

6. Security Procedures and PINs.

(a) We will verify all payment orders and other funds transfer communications we receive in your name in accordance with the relevant security procedures agreed to between you and us. You represent that you have carefully considered the circumstances of your use of this service and the transactions and activity that you will effect through the service, and you acknowledge and agree that the security procedures, including (without limitation) any security devices used in connection therewith, constitute commercially reasonable security procedures under applicable law in light of your circumstances and the type, number, size and frequency of payment orders you contemplate sending us. You authorize us to accept or execute any payment order initiated using applicable security procedures unless and until you have notified us, according to notification procedures prescribed by us, that the security procedures or any security device has been stolen, compromised, or otherwise become known to persons other than an authorized representative and until we have had a reasonable opportunity to act upon such notice. You agree that the initiation of a payment order using applicable security procedures constitutes sufficient authorization for us to accept or execute such payment order notwithstanding any particular signature requirements identified on any signature card or other documents relating to your account, and you agree and intend that the submission of payment orders using the security procedures shall be considered the same as your written signature in authorizing us to execute such transaction. You acknowledge and agree that you shall be bound by any and all payment orders effected through the service through the use of such security procedures, whether authorized or unauthorized, and by any and all payment orders otherwise initiated by authorized representatives, to the fullest extent allowed by law. You acknowledge that the security procedures are designed to verify the authenticity of payment orders and other funds transfer communications that we receive. You further acknowledge and agree that the security procedures are not designed to detect errors in the payment order made through the service and that you bear responsibility for detecting and preventing such error. As a result, you agree that we have no liability for failing to detect any error or duplication in any payment order or other funds transfer communications that we receive.

(b) You agree to keep all security procedures and security devices protected, secure, and strictly confidential and to provide or make available the same only to authorized representatives. You agree to instruct each authorized representative not to disclose or provide any security procedures or security devices to any unauthorized person. We assume no responsibility to discover or audit for any possible breach of security by your employees, agents or representatives, or unauthorized disclosure. Upon our request, you shall designate a security administrator to whom we may distribute security devices and with whom we may otherwise communicate regarding security procedures. Your system administrator shall have responsibility to distribute security devices to your authorized representative and to ensure the proper implementation and use of the security procedures by your authorized representative. Notwithstanding the foregoing, we may, in our sole discretion, send the PIN directly to the authorized representative to whom the PIN is assigned. Where you have the ability to change or modify a security device from time to time (e.g., a password or PIN), you agree to change security devices frequently in order to ensure the security of the security device. You agree to notify us immediately, according to notification procedures prescribed by us, if you believe that any security procedures or security device has been stolen, compromised, or otherwise become known to persons other than authorized representatives or if you believe that any payment order is unauthorized or in error. In the event of any actual or threatened breach of security, we may issue you a new security device or establish new security procedures as soon as reasonably practicable, but we shall not be liable to you or any third party for any delay in taking such actions.

(c) You agree that we may rely upon any written signature if in good faith believed by us to be the genuine signature of your authorized representative. Each authorized representative is authorized to issue payment orders and any authorized representative may act alone. You agree to notify us immediately, according to notification procedures prescribed by us, if the authority of any authorized representative shall change or be revoked. You shall recover and return to us any security devices in the possession of any authorized representative whose authority to have the security device has been revoked.

(d) We reserve the right to modify, amend, supplement, or cancel any or all security procedures, and/or to cancel or replace any security device, at any time and from time to time in our discretion. We will endeavor to give you reasonable notice of any change in security procedures; provided that we may make any change in security procedures without advance notice to you if we, in our judgment and discretion, believe such change to be necessary or desirable to protect the security of our systems and assets. Your implementation and use of any changed security procedures and/or continued use of the service after any change in security procedures shall constitute your agreement to the change and your agreement that the applicable security procedures, as changed, are commercially reasonable and adequate for the purposes intended.

(e) In the event of the breach of any applicable security procedure, you agree to assist us in determining the manner and source of the breach. Such assistance shall include, but shall not be limited to, providing us or our agent access to your systems, computer hardware and software, storage media and devices, and any other equipment or device that was used or may have been used in breach of the security procedure. You further agree to provide to us any analysis of such systems, computer hardware and software, storage media and devices, and other equipment or devices, or any report of such analysis, performed by you, your agents, law enforcement agencies, or any other third party. Your failure to assist us shall be deemed an admission by you that the breach of the security procedure was caused by a person who obtained access to your transmitting facilities or who obtained information facilitating the breach of the security procedure from you and not from a source controlled by us.

7. Physical and Electronic Security.

(a) You are solely responsible for providing for and maintaining the physical, electronic, procedural, administrative, and technical security of data and systems in your possession or under your control. We are not responsible for any computer viruses (including, without limitation, programs commonly referred to as “malware,” “keystroke loggers,” and/or “spyware), problems or malfunctions resulting from any computer viruses, or any related problems that may be associated with the use of an online system. Any material downloaded or otherwise obtained through the use of any electronic service is obtained at your own discretion and risk, and we are not responsible for any damage to your computer or operating systems or for loss of data that results from the download of any such material, whether due to any computer virus or otherwise. You are solely responsible for maintaining and applying anti-virus software, security patches, firewalls, and other security measures with respect to your operating systems, and for protecting, securing, and backing up any data and information stored in or on your operating systems. We are not responsible for any errors or failures resulting from defects in or malfunctions of any software installed on your operating systems.

(b) b) You acknowledge and agree that it is your responsibility to protect yourself and to be vigilant against e-mail fraud and other internet frauds and schemes (including, without limitation, fraud commonly referred to as “phishing”). You agree to educate your authorized representatives, agents, and employees as to the risks of such fraud and to train such persons to avoid such risks. You acknowledge that we will never contact you by e-mail in order to ask for or to verify account numbers, security devices, or any sensitive or confidential information. In the event you receive an e-mail or other electronic communication that you believe, or have reason to believe, is fraudulent, you agree that neither you nor your authorized representatives, agents, and employees shall respond to the e-mail, provide any information to the e-mail sender, click on any links in the e-mail, or otherwise comply with any instructions in the e-mail. If you suspect fraud or attempted fraud, please see Exhibit 10 for appropriate contact information. fForward any suspected fraudulent or suspicious e-mail to phishing@regions.com or as we otherwise may direct. You agree that we are not responsible for any losses, injuries, or harm incurred by you as a result of any electronic, e-mail, or internet fraud.

8. Limitation Amount and Restrictions. You may establish limitations for authorized representatives with respect to payment order amounts by designating the amount in Exhibit 4 as applicable. Additionally, the System Administrator may establish amount limitations for Authorized User(s) initiated via Bank’s iTreasury Service. We will reject and not process any payment order that exceeds the limitation amount that you establish (“Customer Limitation”). Your designation of a limitation amount does not require us to accept or execute a payment order that is issued in an amount less than the Customer Limitation and does not impact or effect our right to reject any payment order. We reserve the right to establish from time to time, in our sole discretion, limitations and restrictions with respect to payment order amounts, frequency of payment orders, the types of accounts that are eligible as authorized accounts, and other matters relating to this service based on factors deemed significant by us in its sole discretion (“Bank Limitations”). In the event that the Customer Limitation exceeds the Bank Limitation, the Bank Limitation that we establish shall control. You agree to abide by and be bound by all limitations and restrictions imposed from time to time by us, and you acknowledge and agree that such limitations and restrictions are for our the sole protection.

9. Your Obligations for Accepted Payment Orders. You agree to be bound by, and authorize us to debit the authorized account for, any payment order, whether or not authorized by you, that was issued in your name and accepted by us in compliance with the security procedures. You also agree to be bound by, and authorize us to debit the authorized account for, any payment order issued in your name and executed or accepted by us without complying with the security procedures if (a) you or one of your authorized representatives actually authorized the payment order or (b) you are bound by the payment order under the law of agency. In that regard, we are authorized to rely on any information or documents provided by you that indicate the identity of those persons who are authorized to act on your behalf and you agree to promptly notify us in writing of any changes in your authorized representatives by signing a document in form and content satisfactory to us.

10. Cancellation or Amendment of Payment Orders. You may ask us to amend or cancel a payment order provided that (a) the payment order was not “pre-advised” (meaning that you instructed us to advise a third party of the payment order with a future value date) or was not otherwise irrevocable under applicable law, (b) we receive your request at a time and in a manner affording us a reasonable opportunity to act on the request before we execute the payment order (but in no event later than our cutoff time, as in effect on the banking day prior to the designated transfer date) and (c) you follow the applicable security procedures. You do not have any right to amend or cancel a payment order once we have executed or accepted it. Although we are under no obligation to do so, we may, solely as an accommodation to you, attempt to cancel or amend an executed payment order by sending a reversal request or amendment through the funds transfer system. In such case, you represent and warrant to us that either (x) the payment order was unauthorized or (y) because of a mistake by a sender in connection with the payment order, a payment order was issued that (i) is a duplicate of a payment order that you previously issued, (ii) orders payment to a beneficiary not entitled to receive the payment from you or (iii) orders payment in an amount greater than the amount the beneficiary is entitled to receive from you. If we attempt to cancel or amend a payment order as described above, the reversal request or amendment must be agreed to by each financial institution that has accepted a payment order related to the funds transfer order at issue before it will be acted upon and we will have no liability if a cancellation or amendment is not effected. You agree to indemnify and hold us harmless from and against any and all claims, demands, losses, costs, damages, fees, expenses and other liabilities (including, without limitation, attorneys’ fees and the costs of litigation, arbitration or other dispute resolution) resulting from, as a consequence of or in any manner in connection with your request to cancel or amend a payment order and, upon our request, you will provide us with a separate indemnity agreement and bond in the form and amount that we request.

11. International Payments. Fund transfers to beneficiaries outside of the United States may be paid to the beneficiary either in the foreign currency of the country to which the funds are transferred, in U.S. dollars, or in other currency, according to our policies and procedures, the policies and procedures of the beneficiary's bank, and/or the policies and procedures of any intermediary banks participating in the transaction, subject to applicable exchange rates. You specifically agree that if we receive a payment order in your name requesting that we effectuate payment in U.S. dollars, we may, in our discretion, prior to or upon execution of the transaction, convert the U.S. dollar amount to the currency of the destination country at our exchange rate in effect at the time of conversion. If we receive a payment order in your name requesting that we effectuate payment in a currency other than U.S. dollars, we will debit the authorized account for the U.S. dollar equivalent of the amount of foreign currency to be paid at our rate of exchange in effect on that day. It is your responsibility to advise your beneficiary of the possibility and effect of currency conversions in the course of the execution of a payment order. We will make any refunds of U.S. dollar denominated payment orders to you in the U.S. dollar amount. Refunds of payment orders denominated in a foreign currency will be in the amount of U.S. dollars that can be bought for the foreign currency amount at our rate of exchange in effect on the day of the refund. You bear all risk of loss due to fluctuations in the rate of exchange. No transfer fees will be refunded.

12. Prohibited Transactions. You agree not to use or attempt to use the services (a) to engage in any illegal purpose or activity or to violate any applicable law, rule or regulation, (b) to breach any contract or agreement by which you are bound, or (c) to engage in any internet or online gambling transaction, whether or not gambling is legal in any applicable jurisdiction, or (d) to engage in any transaction or activity that is not specifically authorized and permitted by this agreement. You acknowledge and agree that we have no obligation to monitor your use of the services for transactions and activity that is impermissible or prohibited under the terms of this agreement; provided, however, that we reserve the right to decline to execute any transaction or activity that we believe violates the terms of this agreement.

13. Rejection of Payment Orders. We have the right to reject any payment order that we receive for any reason. You agree that we have no duty to notify you that we have rejected a payment order or that a payment order is not accepted. However, if we reject or fail to execute a payment order, we may attempt to notify you in writing or by telephone. Any notice that we give you is effective when we send it. If we fail to give you notice of a rejection or failure to execute a payment order, we will not be liable to you for damages or interest for failing or refusing to honor a payment order even if you have paid us for, or there were sufficient available funds in the authorized account to pay for the payment order in question.

14. Identifying Numbers. You are solely responsible for correctly identifying the parties in a payment order, including the intermediary bank (if you designate one), the beneficiary and the beneficiary's bank. You must identify all of these parties by number, name and address. You acknowledge that, in executing a payment order, we may rely exclusively on the identifying number for any bank, or beneficiary's account contained in the payment order. If a payment order identifies any bank or the beneficiary by both a name and an identifying (or bank account) number and the name and number identify different persons, execution of the payment order, payment to the beneficiary and cancellation or amendment of the payment order may be made solely on the basis of the identifying number. You are responsible for any losses relating to any such inconsistency.

15. Funds Transfer Systems. You may designate in a payment order the particular funds transfer system and the intermediary banks that we are to use in executing a payment order. If you do not designate any of this information, we will choose the funds transfer system and intermediary banks to execute the payment order. Moreover, if we in good faith determine that it is not feasible to follow any designation that you have made or that following any such designation would unduly delay execution of the payment order, we may use any funds transfer system to execute a payment order that we select without giving you prior notification. Each funds transfer system may be governed by its own operating rules and regulations and payment orders or cancellations or amendments, including but not limited to, Federal Reserve Board Regulation J with regard to FEDWIRE, sent through a funds transfer system are subject its rules and regulations, including all interbank compensation rules governing the settlement of claims for compensation or adjustments of errors between member banks. You agree to be bound by any rules then in effect governing the use of any system through which the funds may be transmitted. Each funds transfer and/or communication system that we select in executing a payment order will be considered your agent.

16. Customer As Beneficiary. If you are the beneficiary of a payment order, except for FEDWIRE, any credit we give you is provisional until we receive final payment. If we do not receive final settlement for any payment made to you by us, you acknowledge and agree that you are obligated to us for the amount of the payment order and we are authorized to charge your account(s) for any amount paid to you. If we credit your account for a funds transfer naming you as beneficiary, such credit entry to your account is not acceptance of the funds transfer by us until one hour after the opening of business on the funds transfer business day after the credit entry is made to the account. Notwithstanding the foregoing, we may make the funds available to you at an earlier time at our option. Unless otherwise agreed in writing between you and us, we have no obligation to notify you of receipt of a funds transfer naming you as beneficiary even if payment for the funds transfer to you is made by credit to your account or the payment order directs payment to an account. Demand by you for payment of a payment order for which we are obligated to pay you must be made in writing and delivered to us.

17. Debits and Overdrafts. Nothing in the agreement and no course of dealing between you and us constitutes a commitment on our part to lend you money or obligates us to extend any credit to you or otherwise advance funds to you to pay for any payment order. As a result, you agree that we have no duty to execute a payment order that exceeds the amount of the available funds contained in an authorized account. If you send us more than one payment order for an authorized account at or about the same time and the authorized account does not contain enough available funds to cover all of those payment orders, we may execute those payment orders in any order we select, even if that order results in fewer payment orders being executed than another order. If we elect, in our sole discretion, to execute one or more payment orders that exceed the balance of available funds in an authorized account, we may debit the authorized account for the amount of all payment orders that we execute, even if the debit creates or increases an overdraft in the authorized account. In that event, you agree to deposit sufficient available funds to cover the overdraft into the authorized account by the close of that funds-transfer business day. Any overdraft existing at the close of a funds-transfer business day is immediately due and payable without notice or demand, together with interest at the rate set forth below. In addition, each payment order we receive in your name that exceeds the available balance in an authorized account is subject to a fee, whether we execute the payment order or not.

18. Setoff. You agree that we may, without making a prior demand or giving you notice, obtain payment of any amount you owe us under the agreement by debiting any authorized account or other account that you maintain with us or any of our affiliates and you also agree that we may setoff any obligations you owe us against any amount that we or our affiliates owe you. In addition, you grant us a security interest in any account that you maintain with us to cover any obligations that you owe us.

19. Fees. You agree to pay fees for all services in accordance with our fee schedule in effect from time to time and to reimburse us for any direct or indirect transfer expenses we incur in connection with providing the services to you.

20. Rate of Compensation to You. In the event that we are liable to you for interest compensation under the agreement or by applicable law, interest will be calculated on the basis of the average federal funds rate for the period involved.

21. Rate of Compensation to Us. Whenever you are obligated to pay us compensation in the form of interest under the agreement or applicable law, that interest will be payable at the lower of (a) the lowest rate you pay on established lines of credit with us or (b) 120% of the commercial base rate established by Regions Financial Corporation and in effect at the relevant time.

22. Damages. Our liability to you is limited to actual damages that you incur and are (a) recoverable under the provisions of Article 4A of the UCC and (b) not otherwise restricted or limited by the terms of the agreement. In that regard, you agree to the maximum extent permitted by law that we will never be liable to you for any indirect, consequential, special, punitive or exemplary losses or damages, without regard to the form of your claim or action or whether your claim is in contract, tort or otherwise, and even if we knew such losses or damages were possible or likely. If we reimburse you for any losses or damages, you agree to transfer all of your rights relating to the transactions in question to us and to assist us in any efforts or legal actions that we may take to recover those amounts from any third party.

23. Cooperation. In the event that we are entitled under the law governing mistake and restitution to recover from any beneficiary all or any part of a funds transfer made to such beneficiary hereunder, you shall upon our request but without expense to us testify in any legal proceedings and otherwise take any action necessary to assist or enable us to recover from such beneficiary.

24. Prompt Notification of Errors or Discrepancies. We will send or make available to you an advice and/or periodic statement(s) that will give you information reasonably identifying each payment order that we received in your name and executed. You must examine each advice and/or periodic statement promptly after it is sent or made available and notify us in writing within a reasonable time (not to exceed 30 calendar days) of any unauthorized, duplicate, erroneous or erroneously executed payment orders. If you fail to notify us in a timely fashion, we are not obligated to compensate you for any interest on the amount of the unauthorized, duplicate, erroneous or erroneously executed payment order. In addition, you are precluded from asserting any claim whatsoever against us with respect to a payment order unless you notify us in writing that the payment order was unauthorized, duplicate, erroneous or erroneously executed within 30 calendar days after we send or make available to you an advice or periodic statement reasonably identifying that payment order. You acknowledge that this provision shortens the period within which you are required to give us notice of an unauthorized, duplicate, erroneous or erroneously executed payment order under Article 4A of the UCC, and you expressly agree to be bound by that shortened period to the maximum extent permitted by law.

25. Force Majeure. Except as otherwise provided in Article 4A of the UCC, you agree that we will not be liable for any error, delay or failure to perform that is caused by fire, natural disaster, strike, civil unrest, terrorism, failure of computer or communication facilities, the acts or omissions of any third party (including any Federal Reserve Bank, clearinghouse or funds transfer system, or any circumstance beyond our reasonable control).

26. Indemnity. Except as may be limited by the Article 4A of the UCC or other applicable law, you agree to defend, indemnify, protect and hold us and our officers, directors, employees, attorneys, agents and representatives harmless from and against any and all liabilities, claims, damages, losses, demands, fines (including those imposed by any Federal Reserve Bank clearinghouse or funds transfer system), judgments, disputes, costs, charges and expenses (including attorneys' fees and the costs of litigation, arbitration or other dispute resolution) which relate in any way to (a) your failure to comply with all the terms and conditions of the agreement, (b) the failure of the representations and warranties that you make to us to be true and correct in all material respects at anytime, (c) any instructions you give us or (d) the services or the agreement and (e) our enforcement of our rights and remedies under the agreement against you.

27. Consent. You consent to our disclosure to government authorities of information concerning you and transactions under the agreement that we believe to be appropriate or necessary to fulfill legal recordkeeping and reporting

28. Notice of Credits. We will not give you telephonic or other notice of incoming credits unless you make a written request for that service in advance. If you make such a request, we will use reasonable efforts to provide you such notice, but will have no liability for failure to notify you or for incorrect or untimely notification.

29. Recordings. You agree that all telephone conversations or data transmissions between you and us or any of our respective agents made in connection with the agreement may be recorded and retained by us or our agents by the use of any reasonable means. You also acknowledge that we are not required to record any such conversation or data transmissions and agree that we will not have any liability for failing to do so.

30. Amendments and Service Notifications. We may change or add to the terms of the agreement by giving you ten days' written or electronic notice of the changed or new terms. Any other amendment to the agreement must be in writing and signed by both you and us.

(a) You agree that we may send notifications regarding changes in the terms of this agreement and other notifications regarding our funds transfer service to you in electronic form, either by posting such information, disclosures, and notices at our website at Regions.com or by transmitting them, or notice of the availability thereof at our website, to any e-mail address that you have provided in connection with your use of our financial products and services. You shall be deemed to have received electronic notices one (1) day after we post them at our website or transmit them, or notice of the availably thereof at the applicable website, to your e-mail address, as applicable, whether or not you have retrieved them by that time. You agree to frequently and regularly retrieve your e-mail and review posted messages and information at our website to ensure that you are aware of current terms, conditions, and information relating to our funds transfer services. We reserve the right at any time, in our discretion, to mail to your address that appears in our records, or otherwise transmit to you pursuant to any other method to which you have agreed in connection with you account(s) with us, paper copies of any information, disclosures and/or notices relating to our funds transfer services in lieu of or in addition to electronic versions thereof.

31. Assignment. You may not assign or transfer the agreement, or any of your rights hereunder, in whole or in part, whether voluntarily, involuntarily or by operation of law or otherwise, including (without limitation) by merger, consolidation, dissolution, sale of a controlling interest or otherwise, without our prior written acknowledgement and consent, which may be granted or withheld in our absolute discretion. Any such assignment without our prior written acknowledgement and consent shall be void and of no force or effect; provided, that we shall have the right, at our option and discretion, to enforce any of your liabilities, duties, and obligations hereunder against any purported assignee. We may assign this agreement and/or any or all of our rights hereunder, or delegate any or all of our responsibilities or duties hereunder, to any third party or parties in our discretion and without notice to you. Subject to the foregoing, this agreement shall be binding on the parties hereto and their respective successors and assigns

32. Notices. Except as otherwise provided with respect to particular notifications as described elsewhere in this Agreement or in any applicable exhibit to this Agreement, all notices, demands, requests, or other communications which may be or are required to be given, served, or sent pursuant to this Agreement shall be in writing and shall be delivered by personal or hand delivery, facsimile transmission, nationally recognized express overnight delivery service (with charges therefor prepaid), or certified or registered mail, return receipt requested (with postage therefor prepaid). Notices shall be deemed received upon receipt, if hand or personally delivered, the next business day after the notice has been transmitted by facsimile or deposited with a nationally recognized express overnight delivery service, or the third business day after the notice has been deposited with the United States Postal Service. We may transmit notices to such physical address, mailing address, or facsimile number which we reasonably believe to be correct contact information for you based upon any our records. You shall transmit notices to us as follows or as provided in other notification instructions that we may provide to you:

ALBH00112B

Money Transfer Department

Regions Bank P.O. Box 11007

Birmingham, AL 35288

33. No Violations. You warrant to us that neither the agreement nor any transaction contemplated by it will violate any currency exchange control regulations, economic or other sanctions regulations or any other legal restrictions applicable to you or to any of the funds transfer transactions which will be made through your accounts under the agreement. You agree to comply with all applicable laws, rules, procedures and regulations with respect to the use of your accounts with us and your use of the service described in this agreement. We will comply with regulations issued by the U.S. Treasury's Office of Foreign Assets Control ("OFAC"). If any payment order is to a person or entity listed on OFAC's list of Specially Designated Nationals and Blocked Persons, by law we shall not complete the transfer and shall "block" the funds until such time that OFAC issues a written release to us.

34. Authority and Enforceability. If you are an entity, you represent to us that (a) you are duly organized and in good standing under the laws of your jurisdiction of organization, (b) you have full power and authority to enter into the agreement and to perform all of your obligations under it, and (c) the agreement has been duly authorized and is your legal, valid and binding obligation. You agree to provide us satisfactory evidence of these representations and such other documents as we may reasonably require from time to time in order to carry out the purposes of the agreement. We are entitled to rely upon any such evidence that you give us. You also agree that any resolution, signature card or other document relating to the services or your accounts that purports to require the signature of more than one of your authorized officers or other representatives is solely for your internal control purposes and is not binding on us. Without limiting the generality of the prior sentence, you agree that the agreement is effective if signed by only one of your authorized officers or other representatives.

35. Termination. You or we may terminate the agreement by written notice to the other party. Any termination by you will not be effective until we have acknowledged it. Even though the agreement may be terminated, all provisions relating to your indemnification obligations, your obligations concerning confidential information and limitations on our liability will continue to apply and will survive termination. You also continue to be liable for any obligations that you incurred prior to the termination of the agreement, those that you incur in the process of terminating the agreement, and for any outstanding transactions.

36. Entire Agreement. The agreement constitutes the entire agreement and understanding between you and us with respect to the services. It completely replaces any prior written or oral agreements and understandings relating to the services. No representation or statement that is not expressly set forth in the agreement is binding upon us.

37. Other Agreements. The terms and conditions of the agreement are in addition to, and do not modify or otherwise affect, the terms and conditions of any deposit or other written agreement between us, except that the terms of the agreement shall govern with respect to the services contemplated hereby to the extent of any inconsistency.

38. Governing Law. The agreement is governed by and should be interpreted in accordance with the applicable federal laws and the internal laws of the State of Alabama. You consent to the exclusive jurisdiction and venue of any court located in that state.

39. Severability. Any provision of the agreement that is invalid or unenforceable in any jurisdiction will, as to such jurisdiction and to the extent of such invalidity or unenforceability, be deemed replaced with a valid and enforceable provision as similar as possible to the one replaced and all of the remaining provisions of the agreement will remain in full force and effect.

40. No Beneficiaries. The agreement binds and benefits you and us and our respective permitted legal representatives, successors and assigns. The agreement is not for the benefit of any third party, and no third party has any rights against either you or us under the agreement.

41. Headings. The headings used in the agreement are for reference purposes only and should not be considered when interpreting the agreement.

42. Remedies. The rights, powers, remedies and privileges provided for you in the agreement are your sole and exclusive rights, powers, remedies and privileges with respect to the services or any failure by us to perform the services in accordance with the terms of the agreement. The rights, powers, remedies and privileges provided for us in the agreement are in addition to any rights, powers, remedies and privileges with respect to the services or any failure by you to comply with the terms of the agreement that we have under applicable law or otherwise, and we may exercise any or all of those rights, powers, remedies and privileges in any order.

43. No Waiver. A failure or delay in exercising any right, power or privilege in respect of the agreement by us will not be presumed to operate as a waiver, and a single or partial exercise of any right, power or privilege by us will not be presumed to preclude any subsequent or further exercise by us of that right, power or privilege or the exercise by us of any other right, power or privilege.

44. No Strict Construction. In the event an ambiguity or a question of intent or interpretation of the agreement arises, the agreement should be construed as if you and we both drafted the agreement and no presumption or burden of proof favoring or disfavoring any party by virtue of the authorship of any of the provisions of the agreement will apply.

45. Execution. This agreement may be executed electronically with or through the use of digital or facsimile signatures or the use of electronic sounds, symbols, or processes that constitute electronic signatures. Such electronic execution shall have the same legal effect, validity, and enforceability as execution by means of a manually applied or written signature. The executed agreement, or executed signature page thereof, may be exchanged or delivered electronically by facsimile or by email in PDF (portable document format) or other electronic format, and such electronic exchange or delivery shall be as effective as the delivery of an original, manually executed counterpart of the agreement. This agreement has been executed and delivered on your behalf by the person whose name is presented below. That person represents and warrants to us that he or she is your authorized representative and that you have taken all action required by your organizational documents to authorize him or her to execute and deliver this agreement (and any other documents we may require with respect to the services) on your behalf. This agreement supersedes and replaces any and all prior agreements between you and us with respect to the services described in this agreement.

46. Remittance Transfers. This section applies only if you are an individual and only to any remittance transfer you may send. A “remittance transfer” is a payment order you send us primarily for personal, family or household purposes that (a) is to be debited from an authorized account that is a consumer account, and (b) is to be received by the beneficiary outside of the United States. Notwithstanding any provisions of this Agreement to the contrary, any remittance transfer you send will be subject to the federal Electronic Funds Transfer Act and the regulations implementing that Act (the “EFT Act”). The EFT Act may limit some of our rights described above, and also provides you with certain rights not described above. When you request a remittance transfer, you will receive disclosures about the terms of that transfer. As described in the disclosures for each transfer, you may cancel a remittance transfer and receive a refund of any amount you paid. As also described in the disclosures, you have the right to report any error with a remittance transfer, in which case we will investigate and, if we determine an error occurred, will correct the error promptly. If you think there has been an error with your remittance transfer, you must contact us within 180 days of the date that funds were to be made available to the beneficiary. Please contact us at 800-REGIONS if you have any question about a remittance transfer you have sent.

This Exhibit governs the electronic initiation and transmission of batched payment orders by _____ (the "Customer") to Regions Bank (the "Bank") or to Bank's Auxiliary Provider, as that term is defined in the Integrated Payables Service Schedule by and between Bank and Customer, which is hereby incorporated by reference. This Exhibit supplements the Wire Transfer of Funds Agreement between the Customer and the Bank. Should there be a conflict between the terms of this Exhibit and the Wire Transfer of Funds Agreement, the terms of this Exhibit shall take priority.

1. The Customer agrees to furnish all equipment and data terminals on the Customer's premises, as may be specified by the Bank, which are necessary to gain access to the Bank's funds transfer services. The Customer shall be solely responsible for the selection and continued maintenance, use and operation of all such equipment and terminal during the term of this Exhibit. The Bank shall under no circumstances be responsible for any malfunctions or breakdowns in the Customer's equipment which may result in Customer's inability to access the funds transfer services.

2. The Customer agrees to strictly follow all procedures for this service, which may be issued from time to time by the Bank or Auxiliary Provider and any amendments to such procedures. The Customer specifically agrees to use all necessary Identification codes and necessary passwords to gain access to and use of the funds transfer services or to transmit batched payment orders to Bank. The Customer is solely responsible for preserving the confidentiality of the Customer identification code and the passwords. The Customer acknowledges and agrees that any funds transfer request which is transmitted along with an appropriate identification code and password and Security Credentials, as that term is defined in the Regions Integrated Payable Service Client Set Up Form, if sent to Auxiliary Provider, will be conclusively presumed to be a proper transfer authorization by the Customer. Neither the Bank nor the Auxiliary Providers shall have responsibility for the accuracy or completeness of the data received from the Customer's data terminal or any data terminal so long as the appropriate identification code and password received by the Bank and the Security Credentials, if received by Auxiliary Provider, match those of the Customer.

3. The Customer acknowledges that the Bank's liability under this Exhibit shall be limited, as provided in Section 8 of Wire Transfer of Funds Agreement.

4. All charges for services under this Exhibit shall be in accordance with the Bank's normal pricing policies as issued by the Bank from time to time. All such charges shall be assessed to the Customer as provided for in Section 7 of the Wire Transfer of Funds Agreement.

5. The Bank may terminate the services provided under this Exhibit any time upon written notice to the Customer. The Customer may terminate the services under this Exhibit upon ten (10) days written notice to the Bank. In the event of termination by the Bank or by the Customer, the Customer shall remain liable for all charges incurred through the date of termination.

Wire Transfer Agreement Package

Revised July 2022

1. Introduction. Regions Bank offers funds transfer services to its clients under the terms and conditions set forth in this funds transfer agreement and the exhibits described below. Funds transferred via Regions Bank's iTreasury Service are subject to the terms and conditions set forth in this funds transfer agreement, the exhibits described below, and the Master Agreement for Treasury Management Services ("Master Agreement"). Throughout this funds transfer agreement, Regions Bank is referred to as "we" "us,", or "our", the funds transfer services that we offer are referred to as the "services," this funds transfer agreement and any exhibits attached hereto are together referred to as the "agreement" and the person or entity using the services is referred to as "you", or "your."

When you sign this funds transfer agreement, you are agreeing to be bound by the terms and conditions of the agreement. The agreement is a legally binding contract that can only be changed as provided below.

2. Definitions. The following words or terms have the designated meanings for purposes of the agreement:

· "agreement" means this funds transfer agreement and if funds are transferred via our iTreasury Service, also includes the Master Agreement

· "authorized account" means the account(s) that you have designated on the applicable exhibit to the agreement that is in effect at the relevant time to be used as a settlement source of debits for any payment orders that we execute on your behalf. If you have failed to designate at least one account, then any account that you maintain with us or any of our affiliates is an authorized account.

· "authorized representative" means a person authorized by any resolution or other document to execute and deliver the funds transfer agreement (and/or –any exhibits to the agreement) and/or to send payment orders and other funds transfer communications to us on your behalf (including each person identified as an authorized representative on applicable exhibits to the agreement that are in effect at the relevant time). "Authorized representative also includes an Authorized User as that term is defined in the Master Agreement. Any person who gives us the applicable PIN will be deemed to be one of your authorized representatives.

· "available funds" means funds that are on deposit in an authorized account and that are, subject to any amount limitations, available for withdrawal under our funds availability schedule for funds transfers.

· "business day" means a day other than a day (A) that is not a "business day" as defined in Federal Reserve Board Regulation CC, 12 CFR Part 229 or (B) on which commercial banks in Birmingham, Alabama are closed.

· "floor limit" means the amount designated by you as the call back verification limit on the applicable exhibit to the agreement that is in effect at the relevant time. We at our sole discretion may set an undisclosed floor limit that we determine and may change periodically without giving you notice. If you do not designate any such amount, an undisclosed dollar amount that we determine and may change periodically without giving you notice. Verification will be performed by contacting an Authorized Approver listed in Exhibit 4 other than the Authorized Representative who initiated the transfer.

· "PIN" means the personal identification number that we give to each of your authorized representatives (as identified in applicable exhibits to the agreement).

· "automatic standing payment order" means a payment order for which the authorized account, beneficiary information, frequency and method for calculating the payment order amount remain constant and are listed on the applicable exhibit to the agreement that is in effect at the relevant time. If you do not complete, sign and give us an exhibit that provides the required information for one or more automatic standing payment orders, we will not process payment orders for you as automatic standing payment orders.

· "repetitive payment order" means a payment order for which the authorized account and beneficiary information remain constant and are listed on the applicable exhibit to the agreement that is in effect at the relevant time, but for which the date and amount vary. If you do not complete, sign and give us an exhibit that provides the required information for one or more repetitive payment orders, we will not process payment orders for you as repetitive payment orders.

· "security procedures" means the procedures that are described in the agreement (including any applicable exhibits) and/or that are in effect at the relevant time that are to be used for verifying the authenticity of payment orders and other funds transfer communications that we receive in your name. Those security procedures vary with the type of payment order or funds transfer communication we receive.

· "security device" means, without limitation, any code, password, personal identification number, user identification technology, token, certificate, or other element, means, or method of authentication or identification used in connection with a security procedure.

In addition, words or phrases that are defined in Article 4A of the Uniform Commercial Code or "UCC" have the defined meanings when used in the agreement.

3. Deposit Account Agreement. You acknowledge and agree that any demand deposit account you maintain with us is an integral part of the services offered by us and that all transactions initiated or processed pursuant to this agreement are subject to our terms and conditions governing accounts in effect from time to time (the "deposit agreement"). The deposit agreement, including, without limitation, any and all terms thereof relating to ARBITRATION AND WAIVER OF JURY TRIAL, which terms shall govern any disputes between you an us arising out of this agreement, is expressly incorporated herein by reference; provided that the terms and conditions of this agreement shall control over any inconsistent terms and conditions of the deposit agreement with respect to the services contemplated by this agreement. You acknowledge that you have signed and executed all agreements, resolutions, signature cards and forms governing your demand deposit account required by us. If you have not signed the foregoing forms required by us, by signing any of this agreement, you acknowledge that you have read the contents of and agree to be bound by the terms of those forms, agreements and documents, and adopt and ratify, as an authorized signatory(s), the signature(s) of any person(s) who has signed a signature card or any check on your account.

4. Sending Us Payment Orders. You may send us payment orders only by one of the methods described in the agreement and/or in the applicable exhibits that are in effect at the relevant time. You must indicate the method(s) that you intend to use to send us payment orders each time you complete, sign and give us an agreement. You agree that we are not required to reject a payment order we receive by a method that you have not indicated on the version of the agreement that is in effect at the relevant time, but we reserve the right to do so at our discretion. Each payment order that you send us must comply with the requirements of the agreement, contain sufficient data and comply with any written instructions or restrictions that you have given us.

5. Execution or Acceptance of Payment Orders. You authorize us to execute or accept any payment order that we receive in your name, but agree that we are not obligated to execute or accept any particular payment order. If we decide to execute or accept a payment order that we receive in your name, we will verify that payment order in accordance with the security procedures. If we receive a payment order on a funds transfer business day before the cutoff time for funds transfers that we have established and that is in effect on that day, we will use reasonable efforts to process the payment order that day. If we receive a payment order after the cutoff time or on a day that is not a funds-transfer business day, we will generally not process it until the next funds-transfer business day, but we may, in our sole discretion and as an accommodation to you, process such a payment order on the day that we receive it. We may execute or accept payment orders that we receive from you and those that we receive from other customers in any order that we select. You agree that we may execute or accept a payment order on the funds-transfer business day on which we receive that payment order, regardless of any instructions you may have given us to the contrary.

6. Security Procedures and PINs.

(a) We will verify all payment orders and other funds transfer communications we receive in your name in accordance with the relevant security procedures agreed to between you and us. You represent that you have carefully considered the circumstances of your use of this service and the transactions and activity that you will effect through the service, and you acknowledge and agree that the security procedures, including (without limitation) any security devices used in connection therewith, constitute commercially reasonable security procedures under applicable law in light of your circumstances and the type, number, size and frequency of payment orders you contemplate sending us. You authorize us to accept or execute any payment order initiated using applicable security procedures unless and until you have notified us, according to notification procedures prescribed by us, that the security procedures or any security device has been stolen, compromised, or otherwise become known to persons other than an authorized representative and until we have had a reasonable opportunity to act upon such notice. You agree that the initiation of a payment order using applicable security procedures constitutes sufficient authorization for us to accept or execute such payment order notwithstanding any particular signature requirements identified on any signature card or other documents relating to your account, and you agree and intend that the submission of payment orders using the security procedures shall be considered the same as your written signature in authorizing us to execute such transaction. You acknowledge and agree that you shall be bound by any and all payment orders effected through the service through the use of such security procedures, whether authorized or unauthorized, and by any and all payment orders otherwise initiated by authorized representatives, to the fullest extent allowed by law. You acknowledge that the security procedures are designed to verify the authenticity of payment orders and other funds transfer communications that we receive. You further acknowledge and agree that the security procedures are not designed to detect errors in the payment order made through the service and that you bear responsibility for detecting and preventing such error. As a result, you agree that we have no liability for failing to detect any error or duplication in any payment order or other funds transfer communications that we receive.

(b) You agree to keep all security procedures and security devices protected, secure, and strictly confidential and to provide or make available the same only to authorized representatives. You agree to instruct each authorized representative not to disclose or provide any security procedures or security devices to any unauthorized person. We assume no responsibility to discover or audit for any possible breach of security by your employees, agents or representatives, or unauthorized disclosure. Upon our request, you shall designate a security administrator to whom we may distribute security devices and with whom we may otherwise communicate regarding security procedures. Your system administrator shall have responsibility to distribute security devices to your authorized representative and to ensure the proper implementation and use of the security procedures by your authorized representative. Notwithstanding the foregoing, we may, in our sole discretion, send the PIN directly to the authorized representative to whom the PIN is assigned. Where you have the ability to change or modify a security device from time to time (e.g., a password or PIN), you agree to change security devices frequently in order to ensure the security of the security device. You agree to notify us immediately, according to notification procedures prescribed by us, if you believe that any security procedures or security device has been stolen, compromised, or otherwise become known to persons other than authorized representatives or if you believe that any payment order is unauthorized or in error. In the event of any actual or threatened breach of security, we may issue you a new security device or establish new security procedures as soon as reasonably practicable, but we shall not be liable to you or any third party for any delay in taking such actions.

(c) You agree that we may rely upon any written signature if in good faith believed by us to be the genuine signature of your authorized representative. Each authorized representative is authorized to issue payment orders and any authorized representative may act alone. You agree to notify us immediately, according to notification procedures prescribed by us, if the authority of any authorized representative shall change or be revoked. You shall recover and return to us any security devices in the possession of any authorized representative whose authority to have the security device has been revoked.

(d) We reserve the right to modify, amend, supplement, or cancel any or all security procedures, and/or to cancel or replace any security device, at any time and from time to time in our discretion. We will endeavor to give you reasonable notice of any change in security procedures; provided that we may make any change in security procedures without advance notice to you if we, in our judgment and discretion, believe such change to be necessary or desirable to protect the security of our systems and assets. Your implementation and use of any changed security procedures and/or continued use of the service after any change in security procedures shall constitute your agreement to the change and your agreement that the applicable security procedures, as changed, are commercially reasonable and adequate for the purposes intended.

(e) In the event of the breach of any applicable security procedure, you agree to assist us in determining the manner and source of the breach. Such assistance shall include, but shall not be limited to, providing us or our agent access to your systems, computer hardware and software, storage media and devices, and any other equipment or device that was used or may have been used in breach of the security procedure. You further agree to provide to us any analysis of such systems, computer hardware and software, storage media and devices, and other equipment or devices, or any report of such analysis, performed by you, your agents, law enforcement agencies, or any other third party. Your failure to assist us shall be deemed an admission by you that the breach of the security procedure was caused by a person who obtained access to your transmitting facilities or who obtained information facilitating the breach of the security procedure from you and not from a source controlled by us.

7. Physical and Electronic Security.

(a) You are solely responsible for providing for and maintaining the physical, electronic, procedural, administrative, and technical security of data and systems in your possession or under your control. We are not responsible for any computer viruses (including, without limitation, programs commonly referred to as “malware,” “keystroke loggers,” and/or “spyware), problems or malfunctions resulting from any computer viruses, or any related problems that may be associated with the use of an online system. Any material downloaded or otherwise obtained through the use of any electronic service is obtained at your own discretion and risk, and we are not responsible for any damage to your computer or operating systems or for loss of data that results from the download of any such material, whether due to any computer virus or otherwise. You are solely responsible for maintaining and applying anti-virus software, security patches, firewalls, and other security measures with respect to your operating systems, and for protecting, securing, and backing up any data and information stored in or on your operating systems. We are not responsible for any errors or failures resulting from defects in or malfunctions of any software installed on your operating systems.

(b) b) You acknowledge and agree that it is your responsibility to protect yourself and to be vigilant against e-mail fraud and other internet frauds and schemes (including, without limitation, fraud commonly referred to as “phishing”). You agree to educate your authorized representatives, agents, and employees as to the risks of such fraud and to train such persons to avoid such risks. You acknowledge that we will never contact you by e-mail in order to ask for or to verify account numbers, security devices, or any sensitive or confidential information. In the event you receive an e-mail or other electronic communication that you believe, or have reason to believe, is fraudulent, you agree that neither you nor your authorized representatives, agents, and employees shall respond to the e-mail, provide any information to the e-mail sender, click on any links in the e-mail, or otherwise comply with any instructions in the e-mail. If you suspect fraud or attempted fraud, please see Exhibit 10 for appropriate contact information. fForward any suspected fraudulent or suspicious e-mail to phishing@regions.com or as we otherwise may direct. You agree that we are not responsible for any losses, injuries, or harm incurred by you as a result of any electronic, e-mail, or internet fraud.

8. Limitation Amount and Restrictions. You may establish limitations for authorized representatives with respect to payment order amounts by designating the amount in Exhibit 4 as applicable. Additionally, the System Administrator may establish amount limitations for Authorized User(s) initiated via Bank’s iTreasury Service. We will reject and not process any payment order that exceeds the limitation amount that you establish (“Customer Limitation”). Your designation of a limitation amount does not require us to accept or execute a payment order that is issued in an amount less than the Customer Limitation and does not impact or effect our right to reject any payment order. We reserve the right to establish from time to time, in our sole discretion, limitations and restrictions with respect to payment order amounts, frequency of payment orders, the types of accounts that are eligible as authorized accounts, and other matters relating to this service based on factors deemed significant by us in its sole discretion (“Bank Limitations”). In the event that the Customer Limitation exceeds the Bank Limitation, the Bank Limitation that we establish shall control. You agree to abide by and be bound by all limitations and restrictions imposed from time to time by us, and you acknowledge and agree that such limitations and restrictions are for our the sole protection.

9. Your Obligations for Accepted Payment Orders. You agree to be bound by, and authorize us to debit the authorized account for, any payment order, whether or not authorized by you, that was issued in your name and accepted by us in compliance with the security procedures. You also agree to be bound by, and authorize us to debit the authorized account for, any payment order issued in your name and executed or accepted by us without complying with the security procedures if (a) you or one of your authorized representatives actually authorized the payment order or (b) you are bound by the payment order under the law of agency. In that regard, we are authorized to rely on any information or documents provided by you that indicate the identity of those persons who are authorized to act on your behalf and you agree to promptly notify us in writing of any changes in your authorized representatives by signing a document in form and content satisfactory to us.

10. Cancellation or Amendment of Payment Orders. You may ask us to amend or cancel a payment order provided that (a) the payment order was not “pre-advised” (meaning that you instructed us to advise a third party of the payment order with a future value date) or was not otherwise irrevocable under applicable law, (b) we receive your request at a time and in a manner affording us a reasonable opportunity to act on the request before we execute the payment order (but in no event later than our cutoff time, as in effect on the banking day prior to the designated transfer date) and (c) you follow the applicable security procedures. You do not have any right to amend or cancel a payment order once we have executed or accepted it. Although we are under no obligation to do so, we may, solely as an accommodation to you, attempt to cancel or amend an executed payment order by sending a reversal request or amendment through the funds transfer system. In such case, you represent and warrant to us that either (x) the payment order was unauthorized or (y) because of a mistake by a sender in connection with the payment order, a payment order was issued that (i) is a duplicate of a payment order that you previously issued, (ii) orders payment to a beneficiary not entitled to receive the payment from you or (iii) orders payment in an amount greater than the amount the beneficiary is entitled to receive from you. If we attempt to cancel or amend a payment order as described above, the reversal request or amendment must be agreed to by each financial institution that has accepted a payment order related to the funds transfer order at issue before it will be acted upon and we will have no liability if a cancellation or amendment is not effected. You agree to indemnify and hold us harmless from and against any and all claims, demands, losses, costs, damages, fees, expenses and other liabilities (including, without limitation, attorneys’ fees and the costs of litigation, arbitration or other dispute resolution) resulting from, as a consequence of or in any manner in connection with your request to cancel or amend a payment order and, upon our request, you will provide us with a separate indemnity agreement and bond in the form and amount that we request.

11. International Payments. Fund transfers to beneficiaries outside of the United States may be paid to the beneficiary either in the foreign currency of the country to which the funds are transferred, in U.S. dollars, or in other currency, according to our policies and procedures, the policies and procedures of the beneficiary's bank, and/or the policies and procedures of any intermediary banks participating in the transaction, subject to applicable exchange rates. You specifically agree that if we receive a payment order in your name requesting that we effectuate payment in U.S. dollars, we may, in our discretion, prior to or upon execution of the transaction, convert the U.S. dollar amount to the currency of the destination country at our exchange rate in effect at the time of conversion. If we receive a payment order in your name requesting that we effectuate payment in a currency other than U.S. dollars, we will debit the authorized account for the U.S. dollar equivalent of the amount of foreign currency to be paid at our rate of exchange in effect on that day. It is your responsibility to advise your beneficiary of the possibility and effect of currency conversions in the course of the execution of a payment order. We will make any refunds of U.S. dollar denominated payment orders to you in the U.S. dollar amount. Refunds of payment orders denominated in a foreign currency will be in the amount of U.S. dollars that can be bought for the foreign currency amount at our rate of exchange in effect on the day of the refund. You bear all risk of loss due to fluctuations in the rate of exchange. No transfer fees will be refunded.

12. Prohibited Transactions. You agree not to use or attempt to use the services (a) to engage in any illegal purpose or activity or to violate any applicable law, rule or regulation, (b) to breach any contract or agreement by which you are bound, or (c) to engage in any internet or online gambling transaction, whether or not gambling is legal in any applicable jurisdiction, or (d) to engage in any transaction or activity that is not specifically authorized and permitted by this agreement. You acknowledge and agree that we have no obligation to monitor your use of the services for transactions and activity that is impermissible or prohibited under the terms of this agreement; provided, however, that we reserve the right to decline to execute any transaction or activity that we believe violates the terms of this agreement.

13. Rejection of Payment Orders. We have the right to reject any payment order that we receive for any reason. You agree that we have no duty to notify you that we have rejected a payment order or that a payment order is not accepted. However, if we reject or fail to execute a payment order, we may attempt to notify you in writing or by telephone. Any notice that we give you is effective when we send it. If we fail to give you notice of a rejection or failure to execute a payment order, we will not be liable to you for damages or interest for failing or refusing to honor a payment order even if you have paid us for, or there were sufficient available funds in the authorized account to pay for the payment order in question.

14. Identifying Numbers. You are solely responsible for correctly identifying the parties in a payment order, including the intermediary bank (if you designate one), the beneficiary and the beneficiary's bank. You must identify all of these parties by number, name and address. You acknowledge that, in executing a payment order, we may rely exclusively on the identifying number for any bank, or beneficiary's account contained in the payment order. If a payment order identifies any bank or the beneficiary by both a name and an identifying (or bank account) number and the name and number identify different persons, execution of the payment order, payment to the beneficiary and cancellation or amendment of the payment order may be made solely on the basis of the identifying number. You are responsible for any losses relating to any such inconsistency.

15. Funds Transfer Systems. You may designate in a payment order the particular funds transfer system and the intermediary banks that we are to use in executing a payment order. If you do not designate any of this information, we will choose the funds transfer system and intermediary banks to execute the payment order. Moreover, if we in good faith determine that it is not feasible to follow any designation that you have made or that following any such designation would unduly delay execution of the payment order, we may use any funds transfer system to execute a payment order that we select without giving you prior notification. Each funds transfer system may be governed by its own operating rules and regulations and payment orders or cancellations or amendments, including but not limited to, Federal Reserve Board Regulation J with regard to FEDWIRE, sent through a funds transfer system are subject its rules and regulations, including all interbank compensation rules governing the settlement of claims for compensation or adjustments of errors between member banks. You agree to be bound by any rules then in effect governing the use of any system through which the funds may be transmitted. Each funds transfer and/or communication system that we select in executing a payment order will be considered your agent.

16. Customer As Beneficiary. If you are the beneficiary of a payment order, except for FEDWIRE, any credit we give you is provisional until we receive final payment. If we do not receive final settlement for any payment made to you by us, you acknowledge and agree that you are obligated to us for the amount of the payment order and we are authorized to charge your account(s) for any amount paid to you. If we credit your account for a funds transfer naming you as beneficiary, such credit entry to your account is not acceptance of the funds transfer by us until one hour after the opening of business on the funds transfer business day after the credit entry is made to the account. Notwithstanding the foregoing, we may make the funds available to you at an earlier time at our option. Unless otherwise agreed in writing between you and us, we have no obligation to notify you of receipt of a funds transfer naming you as beneficiary even if payment for the funds transfer to you is made by credit to your account or the payment order directs payment to an account. Demand by you for payment of a payment order for which we are obligated to pay you must be made in writing and delivered to us.

17. Debits and Overdrafts. Nothing in the agreement and no course of dealing between you and us constitutes a commitment on our part to lend you money or obligates us to extend any credit to you or otherwise advance funds to you to pay for any payment order. As a result, you agree that we have no duty to execute a payment order that exceeds the amount of the available funds contained in an authorized account. If you send us more than one payment order for an authorized account at or about the same time and the authorized account does not contain enough available funds to cover all of those payment orders, we may execute those payment orders in any order we select, even if that order results in fewer payment orders being executed than another order. If we elect, in our sole discretion, to execute one or more payment orders that exceed the balance of available funds in an authorized account, we may debit the authorized account for the amount of all payment orders that we execute, even if the debit creates or increases an overdraft in the authorized account. In that event, you agree to deposit sufficient available funds to cover the overdraft into the authorized account by the close of that funds-transfer business day. Any overdraft existing at the close of a funds-transfer business day is immediately due and payable without notice or demand, together with interest at the rate set forth below. In addition, each payment order we receive in your name that exceeds the available balance in an authorized account is subject to a fee, whether we execute the payment order or not.

18. Setoff. You agree that we may, without making a prior demand or giving you notice, obtain payment of any amount you owe us under the agreement by debiting any authorized account or other account that you maintain with us or any of our affiliates and you also agree that we may setoff any obligations you owe us against any amount that we or our affiliates owe you. In addition, you grant us a security interest in any account that you maintain with us to cover any obligations that you owe us.

19. Fees. You agree to pay fees for all services in accordance with our fee schedule in effect from time to time and to reimburse us for any direct or indirect transfer expenses we incur in connection with providing the services to you.

20. Rate of Compensation to You. In the event that we are liable to you for interest compensation under the agreement or by applicable law, interest will be calculated on the basis of the average federal funds rate for the period involved.

21. Rate of Compensation to Us. Whenever you are obligated to pay us compensation in the form of interest under the agreement or applicable law, that interest will be payable at the lower of (a) the lowest rate you pay on established lines of credit with us or (b) 120% of the commercial base rate established by Regions Financial Corporation and in effect at the relevant time.

22. Damages. Our liability to you is limited to actual damages that you incur and are (a) recoverable under the provisions of Article 4A of the UCC and (b) not otherwise restricted or limited by the terms of the agreement. In that regard, you agree to the maximum extent permitted by law that we will never be liable to you for any indirect, consequential, special, punitive or exemplary losses or damages, without regard to the form of your claim or action or whether your claim is in contract, tort or otherwise, and even if we knew such losses or damages were possible or likely. If we reimburse you for any losses or damages, you agree to transfer all of your rights relating to the transactions in question to us and to assist us in any efforts or legal actions that we may take to recover those amounts from any third party.

23. Cooperation. In the event that we are entitled under the law governing mistake and restitution to recover from any beneficiary all or any part of a funds transfer made to such beneficiary hereunder, you shall upon our request but without expense to us testify in any legal proceedings and otherwise take any action necessary to assist or enable us to recover from such beneficiary.

24. Prompt Notification of Errors or Discrepancies. We will send or make available to you an advice and/or periodic statement(s) that will give you information reasonably identifying each payment order that we received in your name and executed. You must examine each advice and/or periodic statement promptly after it is sent or made available and notify us in writing within a reasonable time (not to exceed 30 calendar days) of any unauthorized, duplicate, erroneous or erroneously executed payment orders. If you fail to notify us in a timely fashion, we are not obligated to compensate you for any interest on the amount of the unauthorized, duplicate, erroneous or erroneously executed payment order. In addition, you are precluded from asserting any claim whatsoever against us with respect to a payment order unless you notify us in writing that the payment order was unauthorized, duplicate, erroneous or erroneously executed within 30 calendar days after we send or make available to you an advice or periodic statement reasonably identifying that payment order. You acknowledge that this provision shortens the period within which you are required to give us notice of an unauthorized, duplicate, erroneous or erroneously executed payment order under Article 4A of the UCC, and you expressly agree to be bound by that shortened period to the maximum extent permitted by law.

25. Force Majeure. Except as otherwise provided in Article 4A of the UCC, you agree that we will not be liable for any error, delay or failure to perform that is caused by fire, natural disaster, strike, civil unrest, terrorism, failure of computer or communication facilities, the acts or omissions of any third party (including any Federal Reserve Bank, clearinghouse or funds transfer system, or any circumstance beyond our reasonable control).

26. Indemnity. Except as may be limited by the Article 4A of the UCC or other applicable law, you agree to defend, indemnify, protect and hold us and our officers, directors, employees, attorneys, agents and representatives harmless from and against any and all liabilities, claims, damages, losses, demands, fines (including those imposed by any Federal Reserve Bank clearinghouse or funds transfer system), judgments, disputes, costs, charges and expenses (including attorneys' fees and the costs of litigation, arbitration or other dispute resolution) which relate in any way to (a) your failure to comply with all the terms and conditions of the agreement, (b) the failure of the representations and warranties that you make to us to be true and correct in all material respects at anytime, (c) any instructions you give us or (d) the services or the agreement and (e) our enforcement of our rights and remedies under the agreement against you.

27. Consent. You consent to our disclosure to government authorities of information concerning you and transactions under the agreement that we believe to be appropriate or necessary to fulfill legal recordkeeping and reporting

28. Notice of Credits. We will not give you telephonic or other notice of incoming credits unless you make a written request for that service in advance. If you make such a request, we will use reasonable efforts to provide you such notice, but will have no liability for failure to notify you or for incorrect or untimely notification.

29. Recordings. You agree that all telephone conversations or data transmissions between you and us or any of our respective agents made in connection with the agreement may be recorded and retained by us or our agents by the use of any reasonable means. You also acknowledge that we are not required to record any such conversation or data transmissions and agree that we will not have any liability for failing to do so.

30. Amendments and Service Notifications. We may change or add to the terms of the agreement by giving you ten days' written or electronic notice of the changed or new terms. Any other amendment to the agreement must be in writing and signed by both you and us.

(a) You agree that we may send notifications regarding changes in the terms of this agreement and other notifications regarding our funds transfer service to you in electronic form, either by posting such information, disclosures, and notices at our website at Regions.com or by transmitting them, or notice of the availability thereof at our website, to any e-mail address that you have provided in connection with your use of our financial products and services. You shall be deemed to have received electronic notices one (1) day after we post them at our website or transmit them, or notice of the availably thereof at the applicable website, to your e-mail address, as applicable, whether or not you have retrieved them by that time. You agree to frequently and regularly retrieve your e-mail and review posted messages and information at our website to ensure that you are aware of current terms, conditions, and information relating to our funds transfer services. We reserve the right at any time, in our discretion, to mail to your address that appears in our records, or otherwise transmit to you pursuant to any other method to which you have agreed in connection with you account(s) with us, paper copies of any information, disclosures and/or notices relating to our funds transfer services in lieu of or in addition to electronic versions thereof.

31. Assignment. You may not assign or transfer the agreement, or any of your rights hereunder, in whole or in part, whether voluntarily, involuntarily or by operation of law or otherwise, including (without limitation) by merger, consolidation, dissolution, sale of a controlling interest or otherwise, without our prior written acknowledgement and consent, which may be granted or withheld in our absolute discretion. Any such assignment without our prior written acknowledgement and consent shall be void and of no force or effect; provided, that we shall have the right, at our option and discretion, to enforce any of your liabilities, duties, and obligations hereunder against any purported assignee. We may assign this agreement and/or any or all of our rights hereunder, or delegate any or all of our responsibilities or duties hereunder, to any third party or parties in our discretion and without notice to you. Subject to the foregoing, this agreement shall be binding on the parties hereto and their respective successors and assigns

32. Notices. Except as otherwise provided with respect to particular notifications as described elsewhere in this Agreement or in any applicable exhibit to this Agreement, all notices, demands, requests, or other communications which may be or are required to be given, served, or sent pursuant to this Agreement shall be in writing and shall be delivered by personal or hand delivery, facsimile transmission, nationally recognized express overnight delivery service (with charges therefor prepaid), or certified or registered mail, return receipt requested (with postage therefor prepaid). Notices shall be deemed received upon receipt, if hand or personally delivered, the next business day after the notice has been transmitted by facsimile or deposited with a nationally recognized express overnight delivery service, or the third business day after the notice has been deposited with the United States Postal Service. We may transmit notices to such physical address, mailing address, or facsimile number which we reasonably believe to be correct contact information for you based upon any our records. You shall transmit notices to us as follows or as provided in other notification instructions that we may provide to you:

ALBH00112B

Money Transfer Department

Regions Bank P.O. Box 11007

Birmingham, AL 35288

33. No Violations. You warrant to us that neither the agreement nor any transaction contemplated by it will violate any currency exchange control regulations, economic or other sanctions regulations or any other legal restrictions applicable to you or to any of the funds transfer transactions which will be made through your accounts under the agreement. You agree to comply with all applicable laws, rules, procedures and regulations with respect to the use of your accounts with us and your use of the service described in this agreement. We will comply with regulations issued by the U.S. Treasury's Office of Foreign Assets Control ("OFAC"). If any payment order is to a person or entity listed on OFAC's list of Specially Designated Nationals and Blocked Persons, by law we shall not complete the transfer and shall "block" the funds until such time that OFAC issues a written release to us.

34. Authority and Enforceability. If you are an entity, you represent to us that (a) you are duly organized and in good standing under the laws of your jurisdiction of organization, (b) you have full power and authority to enter into the agreement and to perform all of your obligations under it, and (c) the agreement has been duly authorized and is your legal, valid and binding obligation. You agree to provide us satisfactory evidence of these representations and such other documents as we may reasonably require from time to time in order to carry out the purposes of the agreement. We are entitled to rely upon any such evidence that you give us. You also agree that any resolution, signature card or other document relating to the services or your accounts that purports to require the signature of more than one of your authorized officers or other representatives is solely for your internal control purposes and is not binding on us. Without limiting the generality of the prior sentence, you agree that the agreement is effective if signed by only one of your authorized officers or other representatives.

35. Termination. You or we may terminate the agreement by written notice to the other party. Any termination by you will not be effective until we have acknowledged it. Even though the agreement may be terminated, all provisions relating to your indemnification obligations, your obligations concerning confidential information and limitations on our liability will continue to apply and will survive termination. You also continue to be liable for any obligations that you incurred prior to the termination of the agreement, those that you incur in the process of terminating the agreement, and for any outstanding transactions.

36. Entire Agreement. The agreement constitutes the entire agreement and understanding between you and us with respect to the services. It completely replaces any prior written or oral agreements and understandings relating to the services. No representation or statement that is not expressly set forth in the agreement is binding upon us.

37. Other Agreements. The terms and conditions of the agreement are in addition to, and do not modify or otherwise affect, the terms and conditions of any deposit or other written agreement between us, except that the terms of the agreement shall govern with respect to the services contemplated hereby to the extent of any inconsistency.

38. Governing Law. The agreement is governed by and should be interpreted in accordance with the applicable federal laws and the internal laws of the State of Alabama. You consent to the exclusive jurisdiction and venue of any court located in that state.

39. Severability. Any provision of the agreement that is invalid or unenforceable in any jurisdiction will, as to such jurisdiction and to the extent of such invalidity or unenforceability, be deemed replaced with a valid and enforceable provision as similar as possible to the one replaced and all of the remaining provisions of the agreement will remain in full force and effect.

40. No Beneficiaries. The agreement binds and benefits you and us and our respective permitted legal representatives, successors and assigns. The agreement is not for the benefit of any third party, and no third party has any rights against either you or us under the agreement.

41. Headings. The headings used in the agreement are for reference purposes only and should not be considered when interpreting the agreement.

42. Remedies. The rights, powers, remedies and privileges provided for you in the agreement are your sole and exclusive rights, powers, remedies and privileges with respect to the services or any failure by us to perform the services in accordance with the terms of the agreement. The rights, powers, remedies and privileges provided for us in the agreement are in addition to any rights, powers, remedies and privileges with respect to the services or any failure by you to comply with the terms of the agreement that we have under applicable law or otherwise, and we may exercise any or all of those rights, powers, remedies and privileges in any order.

43. No Waiver. A failure or delay in exercising any right, power or privilege in respect of the agreement by us will not be presumed to operate as a waiver, and a single or partial exercise of any right, power or privilege by us will not be presumed to preclude any subsequent or further exercise by us of that right, power or privilege or the exercise by us of any other right, power or privilege.

44. No Strict Construction. In the event an ambiguity or a question of intent or interpretation of the agreement arises, the agreement should be construed as if you and we both drafted the agreement and no presumption or burden of proof favoring or disfavoring any party by virtue of the authorship of any of the provisions of the agreement will apply.

45. Execution. This agreement may be executed electronically with or through the use of digital or facsimile signatures or the use of electronic sounds, symbols, or processes that constitute electronic signatures. Such electronic execution shall have the same legal effect, validity, and enforceability as execution by means of a manually applied or written signature. The executed agreement, or executed signature page thereof, may be exchanged or delivered electronically by facsimile or by email in PDF (portable document format) or other electronic format, and such electronic exchange or delivery shall be as effective as the delivery of an original, manually executed counterpart of the agreement. This agreement has been executed and delivered on your behalf by the person whose name is presented below. That person represents and warrants to us that he or she is your authorized representative and that you have taken all action required by your organizational documents to authorize him or her to execute and deliver this agreement (and any other documents we may require with respect to the services) on your behalf. This agreement supersedes and replaces any and all prior agreements between you and us with respect to the services described in this agreement.

46. Remittance Transfers. This section applies only if you are an individual and only to any remittance transfer you may send. A “remittance transfer” is a payment order you send us primarily for personal, family or household purposes that (a) is to be debited from an authorized account that is a consumer account, and (b) is to be received by the beneficiary outside of the United States. Notwithstanding any provisions of this Agreement to the contrary, any remittance transfer you send will be subject to the federal Electronic Funds Transfer Act and the regulations implementing that Act (the “EFT Act”). The EFT Act may limit some of our rights described above, and also provides you with certain rights not described above. When you request a remittance transfer, you will receive disclosures about the terms of that transfer. As described in the disclosures for each transfer, you may cancel a remittance transfer and receive a refund of any amount you paid. As also described in the disclosures, you have the right to report any error with a remittance transfer, in which case we will investigate and, if we determine an error occurred, will correct the error promptly. If you think there has been an error with your remittance transfer, you must contact us within 180 days of the date that funds were to be made available to the beneficiary. Please contact us at 800-REGIONS if you have any question about a remittance transfer you have sent.

Call Back Verification for Telephone Initiated Payment Orders. Customer MUST select a floor limit or reject the call back verification.

Bank's Security Procedure for Telephone Initiated Non-repetitive Payment Orders includes a call back on Payment Orders in excess of a floor limit established by Customer.

Customer Selected Floor Limit: _____Bank may also call back on any repetitive/semi-repetitive or non-repetitive wire based upon Bank's defined Security Procedures regardless of Customer's Floor Limit.

Payment Orders in excess of the Floor Limit require a minimum of 2 PIN holders to process the Payment Order.

By checking the box below, Customer may reject Bank's Security Procedures and thereby select Customer's Security Procedure which does not include the call back verification.

☐ Customer hereby rejects Bank's call back verification procedure.

This Exhibit governs the electronic initiation and transmission of batched payment orders by _____ (the "Customer") to Regions Bank (the "Bank") or to Bank's Auxiliary Provider, as that term is defined in the Integrated Payables Service Schedule by and between Bank and Customer, which is hereby incorporated by reference. This Exhibit supplements the Wire Transfer of Funds Agreement between the Customer and the Bank. Should there be a conflict between the terms of this Exhibit and the Wire Transfer of Funds Agreement, the terms of this Exhibit shall take priority.

1. The Customer agrees to furnish all equipment and data terminals on the Customer's premises, as may be specified by the Bank, which are necessary to gain access to the Bank's funds transfer services. The Customer shall be solely responsible for the selection and continued maintenance, use and operation of all such equipment and terminal during the term of this Exhibit. The Bank shall under no circumstances be responsible for any malfunctions or breakdowns in the Customer's equipment which may result in Customer's inability to access the funds transfer services.

2. The Customer agrees to strictly follow all procedures for this service, which may be issued from time to time by the Bank or Auxiliary Provider and any amendments to such procedures. The Customer specifically agrees to use all necessary Identification codes and necessary passwords to gain access to and use of the funds transfer services or to transmit batched payment orders to Bank. The Customer is solely responsible for preserving the confidentiality of the Customer identification code and the passwords. The Customer acknowledges and agrees that any funds transfer request which is transmitted along with an appropriate identification code and password and Security Credentials, as that term is defined in the Regions Integrated Payable Service Client Set Up Form, if sent to Auxiliary Provider, will be conclusively presumed to be a proper transfer authorization by the Customer. Neither the Bank nor the Auxiliary Providers shall have responsibility for the accuracy or completeness of the data received from the Customer's data terminal or any data terminal so long as the appropriate identification code and password received by the Bank and the Security Credentials, if received by Auxiliary Provider, match those of the Customer.

3. The Customer acknowledges that the Bank's liability under this Exhibit shall be limited, as provided in Section 8 of Wire Transfer of Funds Agreement.

4. All charges for services under this Exhibit shall be in accordance with the Bank's normal pricing policies as issued by the Bank from time to time. All such charges shall be assessed to the Customer as provided for in Section 7 of the Wire Transfer of Funds Agreement.

5. The Bank may terminate the services provided under this Exhibit any time upon written notice to the Customer. The Customer may terminate the services under this Exhibit upon ten (10) days written notice to the Bank. In the event of termination by the Bank or by the Customer, the Customer shall remain liable for all charges incurred through the date of termination.

FACTS WHAT DOES REGIONS DO WITH YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION?

REGIONS

Why?	Financial companies choose how they share your personal information. Federal law gives consumers the right to limit some but not all sharing. Federal law also requires us to tell you how we collect, share and protect your personal information. Please read this notice carefully to understand what we do.
What?	The types of personal information we collect and share depend on the product or service you have with us. This information can include: • Social Security number and income • Account balances and transaction history • Payment history and credit history
How?	All financial companies need to share customers' personal information to run their everyday business. In the section below, we list the reasons financial companies can share their customers' personal information, the reasons Regions chooses to share, and whether you can limit this sharing.

Reasons we can share your personal information	Does Regions share?	Can you limit this sharing?
For our everyday business purposes such as to process your transactions, maintain your account(s), respond to court orders and legal investigations or report to credit bureaus	Yes	No
For our marketing purposes to offer our products and services to you	Yes	No
For joint marketing with other financial companies	Yes	No
For our affiliates' everyday business purposes information about your transactions and experiences	Yes	No
For our affiliates' everyday business purposes information about your creditworthiness	Yes	Yes
For our affiliates to market to you	Yes	Yes
For nonaffiliates to market to you	No (although, we may share aggregate information that does not contain personal identifiers)	We don't share personal information

To limit our sharing	• Call 1.800.240.2948 – our menu will prompt you through your choice(s). For TTY/TDD, call 1.800.374.5791 for assistance with making a written election. • Visit a Regions branch. • Talk to your assigned financial advisor, if applicable. Please note: If you are a new customer, we can begin sharing your information 30 days from the date we provide this notice. When you are no longer our customer, we continue to share your information as described in this notice. However, you can contact us at any time to limit our sharing.
To limit direct marketing contact	• Call 1.800.734.4667 to speak with a Regions Banker. • Visit a Regions branch. • Talk to your assigned financial advisor, if applicable. Please note: Direct marketing is email, postal mail and telephone marketing. Even if you limit direct marketing, we may still contact you to service your account or as otherwise allowed by law.
Questions?	Call 1.800.734.4667, or visit our Privacy & Security section at www.regions.com.

Who we are
Who is providing this notice?	This notice is provided by Regions Bank and other companies with the Regions name.

What we do

How does Regions protect my personal information?	To protect your personal information from unauthorized access and use, we use security measures that comply with federal law. These measures include computer safeguards, secured files and secured buildings. Our internal policies and procedures provide additional safeguards for the protection of customer information and prohibit employees from accessing customer information except for legitimate business purposes.
How does Regions collect my personal information?	We collect your personal information, for example, when you: • open an account or apply for a loan • make deposits or withdrawals from your account, or use your credit or debit card • provide account information We also collect your personal information from others, such as credit bureaus, affiliates or other companies.
Why can't I limit all sharing?	Federal law gives you the right to limit only: • sharing for affiliates' everyday business purposes – information about your creditworthiness • affiliates from using your information to market to you • sharing for nonaffiliates to market to you State laws and individual companies may give you additional rights to limit sharing. See the "Other important information" section for your rights under state law.
What happens when I limit sharing for an account I hold jointly with someone else?	Your choices will apply individually unless you tell us otherwise.

Definitions

Affiliates	Companies related by common ownership or control. They can be financial and nonfinancial companies. Our affiliates include companies with the Regions name and financial companies such as Regions Investment Management, Inc., a registered investment advisor, and Regions Investment Services, Inc., a licensed insurance agent.
Nonaffiliates	Companies not related by common ownership or control. They can be financial and nonfinancial companies. Regions does not share personal information with nonaffiliates so they can market to you.
Joint marketing	A formal agreement between nonaffiliated financial companies that together market financial products or services to you. Our joint marketing partners include financial companies such as insurance companies and product and service marketing companies.

Other important information

You may have other privacy protections under some state laws. We will comply with applicable state laws as to information about you, including medical information. Accounts with California or Vermont addresses will be treated as if you opted out of joint marketing arrangements.

For Vermont residents only: We will not disclose information about your creditworthiness to our affiliates and will not disclose your personal information, financial information, credit report or health information to nonaffiliated third parties to market to you, other than as permitted by Vermont law, unless you authorize us to make those disclosures. Additional information concerning our privacy policies can be found at https://www.regions.com/about-regions/privacy-security or call 1.800.240.2948.

For Nevada residents only: We are providing you this notice under state law. You may be placed on our internal Do Not Solicit List by following the directions in the "To limit direct marketing contact" section. Nevada law requires we provide the following contact information: Bureau of Consumer Protection, Office of the Nevada Attorney General, 555 E. Washington St., Suite 3900, Las Vegas, NV 89101; phone number, 702.486.3132; email, BCPINFO@ag.state.nv.us.

Do Not Call Policy

This notice serves as the Regions Do Not Call Policy required by the Telephone Consumer Protection Act. Our associates receive training on how to document and process opt outs for telephone marketing calls. Consumers who request to no longer receive these calls will be placed on our internal Do Not Call list. Regions will not contact any consumer on the federal or state Do Not Call registries, unless allowed by law.

Section II: ADDITIONAL TERMS AND CONDITIONS

1. Acceptance of Terms and Conditions. By using and/or enrolling for the service described in this Service Schedule (the "Service"), Client accepts and agrees to all terms, conditions, and provisions set forth in this Service Schedule. Client further accepts and agrees to all terms, conditions, and provisions of the Master Agreement for Treasury Management Services (the "Master Agreement") and acknowledges and agrees that this Service Schedule constitutes a part of the Master Agreement. Client acknowledges and agrees that the terms of this Service Schedule and the terms of the Master Agreement are subject to amendment by Regions Bank ("Bank") from time to time, as described in the Master Agreement.

2. Statement of Service. This Service Schedule describes Bank's ACH Positive Pay Services whereby Bank and Client exchange information according to the processes and procedures described herein in order to authorize and/or confirm the payment or return of ACH Debit or Credit Transactions presented for payment against Client's account(s). As used herein, "ACH Debit or Credit Transaction(s)" shall refer to certain electronic funds transfers which settle within a bank or between banks according to specified rules and procedures governed by the Federal Reserve and the National Automated Clearing House Association ("NACHA") and which have the intended result of removing funds from Client's demand deposit account(s). The Service systems are not designed to detect or prevent fraud due to other types of paperless entries (to include Wire, and EFT) to the account. This Service is applicable to Client's accounts designated in Section I ("Account(s)"). If an Account(s) does not have sufficient available funds to pay an ACH Debit Transaction, Bank will not be required to pay any ACH Debit Transactions presented against the Account.

3. Regions ACH Positive Pay Website. As part of this Service, Regions has established the Regions ACH Positive Pay Website ("ACH Positive Pay") that will be used by Client to make inquiries and to provide pay or return instructions to Bank on various ACH Debit and/or Credit Transactions. Instructions for access to and how to use ACH Positive Pay are contained in the ACH Positive Pay User Guide ("User Guide") which is hereby incorporated by reference and made a part hereof. Client shall designate an "Account Group Admin" in Section I. In accordance with the User Guide, the Account Group Admin shall designate those persons authorized to have access to ACH Positive Pay ("User(s)"). Other than for periods of time for maintenance, acts of God, power outages, and other similar force majeure events described in the Master Agreement, ACH Positive Pay will be available to Client twenty-four (24) hours a day, seven days a week. Client has reviewed the security procedures described in the User Guide and the Master Agreement and agrees that the security procedures are commercially reasonable.

4. ACH Positive Pay Notification Condition. Client may select the conditions under which a notification will be emailed to Client ("Notification Condition"). The Notification Condition options currently available to Client are listed in the User Guide. The Notification Condition options may be changed from time to time and such changes will be made available to Client in the User Guide. The Notification Condition option may be selected to be applicable to all Accounts, or Client may select and designate different Notification Condition options for different Accounts. Client agrees to follow the instructions contained in the User Guide to select the Notification Condition option and to provide information to Bank about an ACH Debit and/or Credit Transaction that is required by the Notification Condition. Based on the Notification Condition option selected by Client, Bank shall send an email notifying Client that an ACH Debit and/or Credit Transaction meeting the Notification Condition has been presented for payment. Bank recommends that Client select the Notification Condition option "Notify for all ACH Debits. or Credits" This option provides Client with the opportunity to receive a notification on each day on which ACH Debit and/or Credit Transactions are presented and the opportunity to review all such ACH Debit and/or Credit Transactions that are presented for payment. Without regard to the Notification Condition selected by Client, all ACH Debit Transactions presented for payment shall be available for review on ACH Positive Pay by the time specified in Section I of this Service Schedule ("Review Time"). At some time prior to the Review Time, if ACH Debit and/or Credit Transactions have posted to the Account(s) and based on the Notification Condition selected by Client, Bank shall send an email to Client Positive Paying Client to the fact that ACH Debit and /or Credit Transactions have posted to the Account(s).

At some point in time after the Review Time, and before the cut-off time designated in Section I ("Cut-Off"), Client shall use ACH Positive Pay to indicate which ACH Debit and/or Transactions should be paid or credited and which Transactions should be dishonored and returned. Client agrees that if Client does not use ACH Positive Pay to give instructions to Regions as to whether to leave the ACH Debit Transactions paid or to return the ACH Debit Transactions, then Bank may execute the applicable Default Decision with respect to such ACH Debit Transactions as specified in Section I. In other words, if Client does not instruct Bank to return any or all of the ACH Debit Transactions contained on ACH Positive Pay for any given day by the Cut-Off, Bank shall pay or return all of the ACH Debit Transactions for that day according to the applicable Default Decision(s) specified in Section I. Client acknowledges and agrees that if paid, the ACH Debit Transactions may not be returned and shall remain paid. Bank shall determine, in its sole discretion, the Return Reason Code, as that term is defined in the NACHA Operating Rules ("Rules"), to be used to when returning ACH Debit Transactions. Notwithstanding the forgoing, if an Account(s) does not have sufficient available funds to pay an ACH Debit Transaction, Bank will not be required to pay any ACH Debit Transactions presented against the Account.

If Client selects a Notification Condition whereby Client provides information about an ACH Debit Transaction, Bank will match ACH Debit Transactions that are presented for payment to a file of ACH Debit Transactions Client provides to Bank ("Approved Debits"). If discrepancies exist between the Approved Debits and the ACH Debit Transactions being presented for payment, Bank shall send Client an email notification that there are discrepancies. If discrepancies exist, Client must provide pay or return instructions to Bank by the Cut-Off. Any ACH Debit Transaction that conforms to the Approved Debit presented to Bank shall be deemed properly payable, will be paid by Bank, and no email notification will be sent to Client.

5. Other Terms and Conditions.

a. Client is responsible for providing and maintaining an updated list of the Account Group Admin. Information provided on the Set-Up will remain in effect until an appropriate Client representative otherwise notifies the Bank in writing of a change in the Account Group Admin.

b. Client acknowledges that notwithstanding the return of ACH Debit or Credit Transactions by the Bank in accordance with Client's instructions in connection with the Service, the Client may be subject to claims for payment by the Receiver, as that term is defined in the Rules.

c. Without liability to any party, and without limiting any other right or remedy available to Bank, Bank shall be entitled to cease or suspend the Service, in whole or in part, in Bank's sole and absolute discretion and with or without notice to Client if Client shall fail to properly perform its duties, obligations, and responsibilities in connection with the Service, or commit any act or omission which impairs Bank's ability to provide or prevents Bank from providing the Service.

d. Nothing in this Service Schedule shall be construed as relieving Client of its normal due diligence responsibilities regarding the examination of account statements and individual ACH Debit Transactions to detect exceptions outside the scope of the Service provided to Client hereunder. Bank shall not be liable for any loss arising from Client's failure to exercise due diligence.

e. Client shall accept liability to any party and hold the Bank harmless for any damages, losses, fines, fees, taxes, legal expenses, or actions at law arising from the return (dishonor) of any ACH Debit Transaction if such return resulted from the correct application of the Client's pay/return instructions.

f. Any ACH Debit Transaction that is paid in accordance with the Service shall be considered properly payable and Client agrees that Bank shall have no liability to Client for paying ACH Debit Transactions in accordance with the Service.

Security Procedures Exhibit

All fund transfers are subject to the Security Procedures as referred to in the Master Agreement and this Exhibit. Terms not otherwise defined in this Exhibit shall have the meaning ascribed to those terms in the Master Agreement. The undersigned ("Customer") acknowledges and assumes responsibility for the System Administrator establishing funds transfer limits for authorized users within iTreasury. In addition to Security Procedures to gain access to the system to initiate/approve fund transfers, the Customer understands and agrees that the authorization of any funds transfer will be verified pursuant to the following security procedures:

- Out of Band authentication – After Customer has submitted the funds transfer instruction and before Bank accepts or executes the funds transfer, Bank will call the telephone number provided by Customer or send an SMS Text message to the mobile phone number provided by Customer to Bank and Customer must enter their security code to release the funds transfer.
- Payment Activity Review - Customer is responsible for reviewing iTreasury each Banking Day and notifying Bank of any suspect funds transfer. If Customer believes any approved funds transfer received by Bank to be erroneous, Customer must notify Bank immediately.
- Dual Control – One authorized User with sufficient initiation entitlements must input the transaction information, and at least one other authorized User with sufficient approval entitlements must approve the transaction before it is released and processed. Two users are needed for dual control and Customer must designate users and entitlements. Dual Control set by the Bank at the Company Level is the recommended Security Procedure but dual control may alternately be managed directly by Customer through a designated administrator who will entitle at least two (2) Authorized Users to separately enter and approve funds transfers. The Customer Dual Control entitlements may be changed at any time by the administrator and will be solely subject to the entitlements maintained by the administrator using their secure OnePass logon credentials.

Select Dual, Single Approval, No Change or Not Apllcable for each payment type:

Payment Type	Dual Control Set by Bank at Company Level *	Dual Control Set by Customer's Administrator	Single Approval	No Change to existing Payment Type	Not Applicable (Indicates client does not use this payment type)
Domestic and International Wire Initiation	◉	○	○	○	○
ACH Origination	◉	○	○	○	○
Account Transfers	◉	○	○	○	○
Real Time Payments Not Available for Small Business	◉	○	○	○	○
Loan Payment & Loan Draw	◉	○	○	○	○

*Dual Control set by the Bank at the Company level is recommended as it cannot be bypassed by Customer's Administrator.

 By selecting "single approval", Customer is opting out of recommended Dual Control security procedure.

Customer acknowledges that Bank has made available and offered commercially reasonable Security Procedures to Customer. If instead of accepting and following the Security Procedures offered by Bank Customer elects to use some other security procedure, Customer will be bound by any payment order or other instruction issued in Customer's name and accepted by us in compliance with that non-standard security procedure that Customer elected, whether authorized or unauthorized, and Customer further agrees that the elected non-standard security procedures are commercially reasonable for Customer. Bank may, at its option, refuse to accept Customer's non-standard security procedures, in which case, Bank shall refuse to accept fund transfers initiated/approved by Customer. Customer may not opt out of the security procedures required to gain access to the system to initiate/approve any fund transfers or out of band authentication.

By signing this exhibit, Customer further acknowledges that it has been informed of “Regions Best Practices for Online Security” and has access to the information on regions.com/onlinesecurity. Customer understand that best practices for online security may change from time to time and it is Customer’s responsibility to stay informed of online security best practices.

Section II. ADDITIONAL TERMS AND CONDITIONS:

1. Acceptance of Terms and Conditions. By using and/or enrolling for the service described in this Service Schedule (the "Service"), Customer accepts and agrees to all terms, conditions, and provisions set forth in this Service Schedule. Customer further accepts and agrees to all terms, conditions, and provisions of the Master Agreement for Treasury Management Services (the "Master Agreement") and acknowledges and agrees that this Service Schedule constitutes a part of the Master Agreement. Customer acknowledges and agrees that the terms of this Service Schedule and the terms of the Master Agreement are subject to amendment by Regions Bank ("Bank") from time to time, as described in the Master Agreement.

2. Statement of Service. This Service Schedule describes Bank's Commercial Sweep Service, whereby Bank will from time to time transfer funds between Customer's Sweep Account and the Sweep Investment.

3. Definitions. The following definitions apply when the following terms are used in this Service Schedule:

Banking Day means any day that Bank is open for full service banking functions, excluding weekends and holidays.

Target balance means the collected balance amount designated by Bank to remain in Customer's Sweep Account.

Sweep Account means the demand deposit account established by Customer and designated as the "Sweep Account" in Section I

Sweep Investment means an investment product or Customer loan account, as applicable, indicated in Section I of this Service

4. FDIC Insurance. Some of the Sweep Investment options may consist in whole or in part of securities or other nondeposit investment products. Securities and nondeposit investment products are not insured by the FDIC, are not a deposit or other obligation of, or guaranteed by, Bank, and are subject to investment risks, including possible loss of the principal amount invested.

It is important that Customer understands the unique nature of deposit insurance coverage associated with: Customer's Sweep Investment option. As of July 2009, FDIC rules and regulations require Bank to annually disclose to Customer the status of Customer's funds in the unlikely event of a bank failure. At the time of a financial institution's normal end-of-day processing on the day of failure, funds remaining in the Customer's deposit account would be treated as a deposit for FDIC insurance purposes.

Money Market Mutual-Funds - At the time of a bank's normal end-of-day processing on the day of failure, current FDIC procedures would attempt to block the proposed sweep of funds into the Money Market Mutual Fund. Instead, funds should remain in the deposit account and be treated as a deposit for insurance purposes. Therefore, in the event of a bank failure, funds remaining in the deposit account will be FDIC insured. Any funds currently housed in the Money Market Mutual Fund on the day of failure, would not be FDIC insured.

Regions Working Capital Sweep - Funds that have been swept into the Regions Working Capital Sweep account would be treated as a deposit for insurance purposes. Therefore, in the event of a bank failure, swept funds would be FDIC insured according to FDIC rules and regulations. Customer should consult Customer's relationship manager or visit www.fdic.gov for current rules and regulations.

5. Appointment as Agent. Customer appoints Bank, and Bank's designees, as Customer's agent for the purpose placing orders, transferring funds, and taking such other actions on Customer's behalf as are reasonably necessary in Bank's judgment and discretion to perform the Service.

6. Daily Processing.

a) All checks, drafts, ACH, or other demand items drawn by the Customer on or payable from the Sweep Account must be in a format approved by the Bank and shall contain such routing transit number and other information as Bank may require.

b) The Customer agrees to have on deposit in the Sweep Account and/or Sweep Investment on each Banking Day an amount in funds immediately available for withdrawal which is equal to or greater than the sum of checks and/or demand items presented for payment against the Sweep Account on each such Banking Day.

c) In the event that the Sweep Account and/or the Sweep Investment fails to contain on any Banking Day cash or funds immediately available for withdrawal sufficient to pay checks and/or demand items presented against the Sweep Account on such Banking Day, Bank may, at its sole option and discretion, elect to do any one or more of the following: (i)pay any one or all of the checks and/or demand items presented for payment against the Sweep Account subject to the Bank's standard overdraft policies and charges; (ii) dishonor any one or all of checks and/or demand items presented for payment against the Sweep Account and return same to the presenter thereof; or (iii) if the Bank has extended to the Customer a special line of credit pertaining to the Sweep Account, the Bank may pay one or all of the checks and/or demand items presented for payment against such Sweep Account and cause any such payment to be charged to such line of credit pertaining to such Sweep Account considering such amount to be a drawn thereunder, subject to all terms and conditions thereof.

d) The Sweep Investments available in connection with the Service are identified in Section I of this Service Schedule. Bank reserves the right to add or remove Sweep Investments at any time in its sole and absolute discretion without notice to Customer. Customer authorizes and directs Bank, without notice to Customer, to transfer funds to or from the Sweep Account or to or from the Sweep Investment as necessary to maintain in Customer's Sweep Account the target balance designated in Section I of this Service Schedule.

e) Customer acknowledges and agrees that only net collected funds (collected funds less applicable reserve requirement) in the Sweep Account which exceed Customer's Target Balance will be available for transfer to the Sweep Investment. Uncollected funds will not be available for transfer to the Sweep Investment.

7. Investment Sweep Disclosures. Customer acknowledges and agrees all Sweep Investments are subject to all federal and state rules and regulations governing and/or applicable to that investment. The Customer acknowledges and agrees that certain Sweep Investments may be subject to separate terms and conditions and/or may involve the participation of third parties. Customer agrees to be bound by any and all separate terms, conditions, and provisions governing any applicable Sweep Investment and agrees that such terms, conditions and provisions are incorporated herein and made a part hereof to the extent that Customer has elected any Sweep Investment governed thereby. Customer agrees to promptly execute and deliver any instruments or agreements required by Bank to further evidence Customer's assent to separate terms and conditions that may govern any Sweep Investment elected by Customer. The Customer understands that Customer is responsible for determining Customer's eligibility to participate in the Sweep Investment under all applicable laws and regulations. Bank makes no representation or warranty that any of the Sweep Investments are lawful investments for the Customer. The Customer agrees to indemnify and hold harmless Bank from any liability or loss incurred as a result of unlawful participation by Customer in the Service or investment by Customer any Sweep Investment. The Customer understands that, in rendering the Service, the Bank is merely providing a Treasury Management service to the Customer that consists of the transfer by Bank of Customer's funds to and from a Sweep Account and a Sweep Investment chosen by Customer in Customer's discretion. Customer shall not look to Bank for, and Bank hereby disclaims to provide to Customer, any managerial or investment advice whatsoever. Bank shall not be responsible for, and Customer releases Bank from any and all liability and claims related to or arising out of, the performance of any Sweep Investment elected by Customer in connection with the Service. Customer assumes and shall bear all risk as to the performance of any Sweep Investment.

8. Reasonable Efforts to Invest. Customer acknowledges that certain Sweep Investments may require minimum transfer amounts or investments which exceed amounts available to Customer for investment and that Bank may be unable from time to time to invest funds in the Sweep Investment or to place orders to redeem the Sweep Investment because of the unavailability of Sweep Investments or otherwise. Bank will endeavor to make transfers to and from the Sweep Account and the Sweep Investment such that the Target Balance will be approximately maintained; provided, however, that Bank shall have no liability whatsoever to Customer, and Customer releases Bank from any and all liability, whether for lost income or otherwise, for any deviation of actual balances in the Sweep Account from the Target Balance or for any failure of Bank to transfer funds to the Sweep Investment, except to the extent wholly caused by Bank's gross negligence or willful misconduct. In order to fill Sweep Investment orders under this and similar agreements, the Bank may place block orders to purchase and redeem Sweep Investments based on estimated needs across all accounts. These purchase and redemption orders will then be allocated to specific accounts based upon actual account balances. In some cases the actual purchase and redemption needs of accounts in total may exceed the size of the block orders, in which case the Bank will seek to allocate purchase and redemption orders across accounts in a fair and equitable manner, in Bank's judgment and discretion. If this occurs, the amount of Sweep Investments purchased or redeemed for the Customer's account may be less than the amount needed to return the Sweep Account to the Target Balance. In that event, the Sweep Account balance will be larger or smaller than the Target Balance.

9. No Requirement to Sweep to or from the Account. Bank is not required to sweep amounts to or from Customer's Sweep Account (a) if the collected balance in Customer's Sweep Account and Sweep Investment selection, or the available credit on the line of credit, or some combination thereof, is not sufficient to restore the Sweep Account to the Target Balance; (b) if the amount of the sweep is less than the minimum sweep amount Bank establishes from time to time, in its discretion, for Customer's sweep selection; (c) if the amount of the sweep would exceed Bank's internal aggregate limit for Customer's sweep selection; or (d) if Customer is in breach of any term or provision of this Service Schedule, the Master Agreement, or any separate agreement or instrument governing any applicable Sweep Investment.

10. Changing Sweep Selection. If Customer requests Bank to change the Sweep Investment selection, Bank may initiate such transfers and/or redemptions as are necessary to effect the request. Bank may require Customer to make or verify the request in writing, but is under no obligation to do so and may act upon the oral instructions of Customer or its representative. Bank will have a reasonable time after receipt of notice to effect the change.

11. Right of Setoff. Without limiting any other rights or remedies available to Bank, Customer agrees that Bank's right of setoff with respect to the Sweep Account shall apply to any balances in Customer's Sweep Investment.

Section II. ADDITIONAL TERM AND CONDITIONS:

1. Acceptance of Master Agreement for Treasury Management Services. By executing the Client Profile and Client's use of the service described herein, Regions Bank ("Regions" or "Bank") and the company indicated above ("Client") agree to Client's use of Bank's Information Reporting Service. This Service Schedule hereby becomes a part of the Master Agreement for Treasury Management Services ("Master Agreement") and, together, the Service Schedule and Master Agreement constitute one "Service Agreement," the terms and conditions of which shall be binding upon both parties and shall govern the establishment and continued use by Client of the Information Reporting service. Client acknowledges the receipt of a copy of the current Master Agreement.

2. Statement of Service. Subject to the terms and conditions of this Service Schedule, Regions shall provide the Information Reporting service to Client. Depending upon the service selected by Client, the Service enables Client to review information about the balances and transactions in their account(s) with Bank. From time to time Bank, in its discretion, may add and/or eliminate types of accounts that are eligible for Information Reporting Service transactions.

3. Other Agreements. When the Information Reporting Service is used to access other Bank services, any agreements governing such other services remain in full force and effect and may contain terms and conditions in addition to the terms and conditions of this Agreement. Nothing in this Agreement shall be construed as altering or canceling any such terms and conditions. Examples include but are not limited to any agreements establishing and governing services such as depository accounts, wire transfers, or ACH Origination.

4. Service Hours. Bank will provide selected data to Client with respect to balances and/or transactions on the accounts specified by Client. Client acknowledges and agrees that the performance and completion of Information Reporting Service transactions are subject to Bank's business days and hours of operation, Bank's published policies and procedures, the hours of operation of departments within Bank performing Information Reporting Service transactions, applicable law, the provisions of this Information Reporting Service Agreement, and the provisions of other Bank Client agreements governing specific transactions to be performed under this Information Reporting Service Schedule, and Client agrees that Bank shall not be liable for any delay in the processing or settlement of Information Reporting Service transactions resulting from the foregoing.

Section II. ADDITIONAL TERMS AND CONDITIONS:

1. Acceptance of Terms and Conditions. By using and/or enrolling for the service described in this Service Schedule (the "Service"), Client accepts and agrees to all terms, conditions, and provisions set forth in this Service Schedule. Client further accepts and agrees to all terms, conditions, and provisions of the Master Agreement for Treasury Management Services (the "Master Agreement") and acknowledges and agrees that this Service Schedule constitutes a part of the Master Agreement. Client acknowledges and agrees that the terms of this Service Schedule and the terms of the Master Agreement are subject to amendment by Regions Bank ("Bank") from time to time, as described in the Master Agreement.

2. Statement of Service. Subject to the terms and conditions of this Service Schedule, Regions shall provide to Client the Wholesale Lockbox service, in which Client causes to be delivered to

a) Collection of mail according to Bank's collection standard as modified from time to time
b) Opening and extraction of mailed payments plus related enclosures
c) Endorsement of checks on behalf of Client (Endorsement standard available to Client upon request.)
d) Deposit to account designated by Client
e) Outsort non-processable items (for example, incomplete checks, checks with unacceptable payees, correspondence, invoices, etc.) on a reasonable efforts basis for delivery to Client in the Return Package.

3. Acceptable Payees. Bank shall process payments drawn to the order of any "payee" name designated by Client herein. Bank shall be entitled to process payments hereunder when the payee name represents a reasonable variation of the above-designated payee name(s), the possibility of misspelling or abbreviation being understood between the parties. Payments drawn to the order of payee names not designated by Client, as determined solely by Bank, shall be returned to the remitter unprocessed, and Client agrees to indemnify, defend, and hold harmless Bank from and against any and all claims, losses, and liability related to or arising out of the return by Bank of such payments.

4. Obligation of Client. Client agrees to provide Bank with unrestricted and exclusive access to Client's designated lockbox(s) in order that Bank might receive all remittance documents. Client hereby agrees to furnish all data, documents, information and materials and to perform all such acts and to make appropriate personnel, records, and facilities available to Bank, all within such time and in such form or manner as may reasonably be necessary in order to enable Bank to perform the required Services.

5. Role of Bank. Bank acts hereunder as Agent for Client with specific respect to Payment Processing. Therefore, claims, disputes, and causes of action related specifically to Bank's actions

a) Conditional, stale-dated (older than six months), and future-dated remittances processed through the lockbox or remittances which bear any legend or notation such as "Paid in Full." The high-speed nature of lockbox processing will not allow for segregating these types of payments. Bank will be in no way responsible for payments of this nature which are deposited into Client's account. Client will be responsible for notifying its payors to send directly to Client any payments which should not be processed through the lockbox given the limitations stated above.

b) The deposit of checks or other items made payable to multiple parties. If Bank deposits a check or item made payable to multiple parties, Client agrees to indemnify and hold Bank harmless from and against any loss, liability, cost, damage, expense (including, but not limited to, reasonable legal and accounting fees and expenses) arising from such deposit or claims asserted against the Bank by any joint payee of the check or any other third party as a result of the handling or deposit of the check.

6. Notification to Remitters. It is the sole and exclusive responsibility of Client to notify its payors that remittance checks should be mailed to Client using the remittance address assigned by Bank.

7. Amount of Payment. If there is a variance between the numeric and written amounts on any check processed hereunder, Bank shall process such items on the basis of the written amounts. Adjustments made with respect to such items shall be between the Client and the remitter and shall not be Bank's responsibility.

8. Returned Checks. Returned checks or disputed items previously credited to the Client's account will be promptly debited from Client's account.

9. Procedures for Remittance Imaging.

a) If the Remittance Imaging Service is selected by Client as directed in Section I, Bank will make the transaction information and images available to Client based on the established delivery method and schedule. Bank will exercise due diligence in entering such information; provided, however, Bank will not be liable for any losses, damages or expenses incurred by Client as a result of unavailable, inaccurate, incomplete or outdated information. Client acknowledges that the information provided is for purposes of ready reference only.

b) Client agrees and acknowledges that if Client selects the image-only archive option (no return package delivered), paper copies of the documents will be maintained by Bank for two business days following the day the documents are processed by the Bank. Bank will make all reasonable efforts to make clear copies of such documents. Client agrees that if it selects the image-only archive option, it assumes all liabilities relating to unclear images, including but not limited to losses arising from disputes with its Clients. Client shall contact Bank as soon as possible but not later than twenty four (24) hours following the discovery of an unsatisfactory image. Client is aware that the remittance items that will be destroyed instead of being mailed to Client include, but are not limited to, checks that are made payable to an inappropriate payee but are otherwise valid. Client agrees to indemnify and hold the Bank harmless from any claims that may be asserted against the Bank in relation to such destruction.

c) Bank will furnish to Client, upon request, a User Guide, which explains the operation of the online system, plus User Codes and password(s). Client will be responsible for designating a System Administrator. The Bank will grant system privileges to other users within Client's organization. Client will be responsible for maintaining the confidentiality of User Codes and Passwords. Bank will assume that access to the online system using Client's User Codes and passwords are by authorized users of the Client.

d) Client acknowledges that Bank's ability to provide access to Remittance Images is conditioned upon the continued operation and availability of computers and associated communications networks. In the event that access to this computer/communications system is suspended or terminated for any reason, Bank will not be responsible or liable for its inability to provide information or images.

e) The hardware and peripheral equipment required to access Remittance Images are to be provided by Client. The maintenance of such equipment is the responsibility of Client.

10. Foreign Items. Bank will make reasonable efforts to forward all foreign items to Bank's International Department for collection. A notice will be provided in the remittance detail that a foreign item has been received and submitted for collection. Notwithstanding any provision in the Agreement to the contrary, these funds will not be available until the collection effort is completed, at which time, Bank will notify Client that funds are available.

11. Notices. To specify any change in the level of service, such as to add or delete a specific processing feature, Client must contact Client's Relationship Manager or Treasury Management Services Representative at Bank. To exchange information with Bank to report errors or to inquire about specific transactions processed hereunder, Client must contact Bank's Treasury Management Services Client Support Department, the contact information for which has been separately published. Otherwise, all notices shall be governed as specified in the Master Agreement.

12. Contract Services. Client acknowledges that Bank shall be entitled to employ or contract with third parties to assist Bank in the provision of the Services contemplated by this Service Schedule.

Suggested Banking Services

Treasury Management Services at Regions Bank

Regions Bank has offered many of its treasury management services for more than 35 years. We offer a wide array of products and services for our commercial, corporate, government and institutional banking clients. Following is information regarding the services we provide and our goals around service and meeting client needs.

Outstanding Service

In addition to the advice and guidance that your Regions Relationship Manager and Treasury Management Officer will provide, you can also expect personalized, responsive and knowledgeable assistance from our award-winning client services team. Regions Client Services is comprised of a fully staffed team of cross-trained and experienced financial services professionals who are dedicated to helping you get the maximum benefit from your Treasury Management Services.

Regions has been recognized repeatedly by Greenwich Associates as a leader in treasury management for the ease of use of our services, innovation in product development and for excellence in customer service.

Solutions That Help Your Business Grow

With Regions Treasury Management Services, you will enjoy multiple benefits:

Improved Cash Flow Management

Regions Quick Deposit® – Conveniently make deposits from the comfort of your office while streamlining the task of processing daily check deposits. Quick Deposit also allows you to take advantage of an extended ledger deposit deadline as compared to branch deposits. With this extended deadline, you have more time to make additional deposits, allowing those funds to be available a full business day earlier. Additionally, take advantage of Regions Quick Deposit Mobile to make check deposits on the go using your smart phone or tablet.

Automated Clearing House (ACH) Origination (Domestic and International) – Use ACH to pay vendors and others electronically by transferring funds directly to their accounts. As an added convenience to employees, you can also use ACH to disburse payroll electronically. By doing so, you will not only reduce the costs and eliminate the posting delays associated with checks, but you'll also see how these direct transfers improve cash flow predictability. Plus, leverage the ACH network to send payroll, pension and other recurring payments internationally to select destination countries using Regions iTreasury® and direct transmission.

Wire Transfer Services – Move collected funds directly from your Regions account to another institution – and with same-day settlement for domestic or international transfers requested by the applicable cutoff time. Also, gain greater flexibility for providing funding to a remote location, settling vendor accounts or repaying borrowed funds.

Lockbox Services – Get faster access to your receivables with multiple collection points, resulting in lower borrowing costs and enhanced investment opportunities. Have payments deposited directly into your account to expedite processing, improve cash flow and relieve bookkeeping overload.

Regions Integrated Payables – Predict, protect and optimize liquidity while migrating accounts payable disbursements to electronic payments with an automated, end-to-end payments solution. Streamline payments – whether by check, ACH, wire or commercial card – to expedite cash flow, capital allocation and the tracking of intraday liquidity. Employees benefit as well with included online account management tools.

Regions Integrated Receivables – Optimize the receivables process and expedite payment posting by allowing transaction-specific data to be downloaded in a daily receivable file. Regions Integrated Receivables provides a consolidated data file containing received payment types including ACH, wire transfer and lockbox. Additionally, Integrated Receivables maintains a long-term (seven-year) archive of payment records that facilitates research and issue resolution with search, download and audit report features.

Regions BillerXchange® – Facilitate faster payments and improve internal billing and posting processes with Regions BillerXchange. A feature-rich, scalable electronic bill presentment and payment solution, BillerXchange enables Regions clients (billers) to present bills to their customers (payers) electronically and capture both the payment and remittance data via a client-branded web application that is linked to the client's website. Secure and simple to use, Regions BillerXchange is a cost-effective platform for businesses of all sizes. The solution also enhances your customer's experience by providing the convenience of online payment acceptance.

Comprehensive Information Reporting

Regions iTreasury – Manage all of your banking needs online with this secure and convenient tool. You will have fast access to your account balance and transactions, special reports and account transfers – along with electronic payments – allowing for improved decision making and business insight. Plus, flexible administration capabilities and the module design allow you to select only the components and functions that are relevant for your business.

Advanced Expense Management

Regions Commercial Card Program – Simplify and integrate purchasing and accounts payable, replacing paper-based processes with automated vendor and supplier payments. A commercial card program can eliminate inefficient processes, save time and drive value to your bottom line. Consider a commercial card program if you want to better manage your spending or re-engineer existing, stand-alone payments by consolidating purchase transactions through a single, integrated card solution.

Regions Intersect® – Streamline payment processing operations and gain greater business intelligence through automated accounts payable and expense management with Regions Intersect. The online platform offers a single, secure login portal for convenient, comprehensive management of your commercial card program. And with Regions Intersect, you can consolidate the functionality of multiple commercial card applications into a single card solution.

Skylight® PayOptions™ Program – Control payroll expense and increase employee participation in direct deposit while reducing check expense, risk and outsourcing. If you employ hourly workers, contracted employees or employees who are unbanked or geographically disbursed, this turnkey solution could save you time and money. Distribute Skylight ONE Cards on-site and easily fund payroll via ACH. Employees benefit as well with included online account management tools.

The Latest in Fraud Prevention Tools

Positive Pay Services – Increase protection against check fraud and enjoy the peace of mind that our array of award-winning fraud protection tools can bring. Positive pay services are among the strongest and most immediate controls available to detect and help prevent checkfraud.

Regions ACH Alert – Prevent unauthorized ACH debits with our low-cost, effective safeguard. ACH Alert automatically monitors ACH debit activity and alerts you of potentially fraudulent transactions based on the parameters you set. There is no fee for returning unauthorized items, and ACH Alert maintains a record of activity and return decisions for ease of future research.

Liquidity Management Options

A comprehensive approach to liquidity is paramount to achieving your treasury management objectives. Our array of liquidity management solutions can help optimize the value of your cash.

Through analysis of your operating cycle, we will consult with you to find the right mix of solutions to fit your unique business needs. Whether your primary concern is balancing the safety of your investment mix, maximizing yield or simply using earnings credit to offset fees, we will help you maximize the potential of your operating cash, working capital and investments*.

Regions offers a full array of liquidity management solutions, including Regions Liquidity Manager® – a customizable and secure web-based trading platform that delivers institutional money market funds across a diverse group of fund families, enabling you to buy, sell and view money market mutual fund positions from one convenient location.

Global Trade Services

The Regions suite of global trade services is complemented by personal attention from bankers who share your interest in conducting business around the world. Benefit from Regions' solid understanding of global markets and rely on the knowledge of our global trade specialists to provide the financing you need to open new markets, improve cash flow and mitigate risk, regardless of where your business trades. Providing trade finance services since 1921, Regions is one of the most active Ex-IM Bank lenders in the U.S.

Review Your Working Capital

Working capital is one of the most powerful and least understood means of improving cash flow and profitability. It has become increasingly important to understand your working capital due to rapidly changing regulatory requirements, intense investor scrutiny and the historically low interest rate environment. If you lack a strong understanding of this financial metric or have not reviewed your working capital recently, you could be missing key opportunities to maximize cash, reduce risk, manage cost and efficiency, and achieve strategic benefits.

Your Regions Treasury Management Officer or Relationship Manager will work with to provide a working capital assessment to find out what you may be missing.

Integrated Payables

The most efficient means of disbursement is through the utilization of Integrated Payables. Regions Integrated Payables is a comprehensive integrated payables solution that allows clients to simplify and optimize the payables process. Regions Integrated Payables enables clients to securely deliver a consolidated file containing all outgoing payment types:

- Checks
- ACH
- Wire Transfer
- Commercial Card (purchasing card)

Regions will process each payment in the consolidated file as instructed and will provide status updates to the client throughout the process. The client can also manage their payment jobs from start to finish through the Regions Integrated Payables Payment Center.

Regions has partnered with FIS, a leader in the field of integrated payables, to deliver this product to our clients. Clients may ask their vendors to register with FIS' PayNetExchange Vendor Web Portal to receive electronic notice of payments and to participate in Check to Commercial Card (purchasing card) conversion or Check to ACH conversion. Vendors can also download remittance information in a variety of standard formats.

Regions Integrated Payables Payment Center is a Web-based application that allows clients to manage their payments files from start to finish. Clients can:

- upload payment files to Regions (for larger files, a secure FTP option is available)
- review payment files and payment details
- hold files or transactions based on administrative rights or dollar amount
- release files for processing
- check job status
- view reports on completed jobs
- view historical payments for research

The Regions Integrated Payables Payment Center is also a resource for the client to perform payment research. The website maintains image copies of all payments made and provides the ability to search the payment database by check number, vendor, date or amount.

How Region Bank Integrated Payables Works

Clients send a single file containing all payment types to Regions. They can either upload the file through the Regions Integrated Payables Payment Center, or for larger files, through a secure FTP channel. The client can choose to review the file and the payment details via the Payment Center prior to processing.

Once the file has been released for processing, the Wire Transfer transactions will be sent to Regions' Wire Transfer Department and the ACH transactions will be batched and sent to Regions' ACH Department for processing. The Commercial Card transactions will be sent to SunGard's Vendor Web Portal, PayNetExchange, and an email will be sent to the vendor notifying them that card payments are available for processing. The client can view the status of card payments on Regions Integrated Payables Payment Center. The status will indicate whether the card has been used and the total payment amount. This will help the client to reconcile their card payments.

The remaining check payments will be sent to the FIS Print facility for printing. A Payee Positive Pay file will be generated for those clients choosing Payee PositivePay.

Regions Integrated Payables provides the optimal solution for any type of check, including:

- A/P Checks – Eliminates the hassles of producing checks to vendors, service providers and other trading partners.

- Rebate and Refund Checks – Manages rebates and refunds efficiently. Whether the payment is made by check, wire transfer, purchasing card or by ACH, the client's vendors and payees can be notified of the payment via email. Additionally, the remittance advice is made available for online retrieval as a PDF or in the payee's preferred Accounts Receivable data format for direct download, eliminating the need to re-key remittance information. If the remittance data is 200 lines or less, it will be sent to the vendor by secure email, and if it is over 200 lines, the vendor will need to access the PayNetExchange Vendor Portal to view or download the data.

Features and Benefits of Regions Integrated Payables

- Improves security and offers Web-based control over payments with straight-through processing from the client's ERP system
- Simplifies payment processing operations and allows flexibility
- Provides acknowledgement of file receipt and online tracking of payment files
- Allows for complete online review of file detail prior to payment release

COMMERCIAL CARD AGREEMENT

Customer Name: City of Fernandina Beach
Date: 12/11/2025

THIS COMMERCIAL CARD AGREEMENT (the "Agreement") is made and entered into as of the date set forth above by the business whose name is set forth above ("Company") with Regions Bank ("Bank"). This Agreement contains the terms and conditions under which Bank will issue credit cards at Company's request (each, a "Card"). □

1. CARDS TO BE ISSUED TO COMPANY

Company has requested Bank to establish a credit card account that may be accessed in the following manner:

- Through "Physical Cards", which are actual Cards that may be used to make a purchase of goods and services (a "Purchase") from those merchants that accept Visa cards as a method of payment (a "Merchant"). Physical Cards may be issued either for a designated use (for example, a Fleet Card to purchase fuel or maintenance services for one or more of Company's vehicles) or to a Cardholder (for example a Travel Card for travel-related expenses or a Purchasing Card). A "Cardholder" means the individual whose name a Card is issued to or who is designated by the Company as being authorized to use a Card. The Company acknowledges that this definition of a Cardholder is for the purpose of this Agreement only and may not apply with respect to other commercial cards services or features including the Visa Corporate Liability Waiver or Travel Insurance programs. At Company's option, Physical Cards issued to Cardholders also may be used to obtain cash from Bank, another financial institution, a non-financial financial institution, or automated teller machine that accepts the Card (a "Cash Advance").
- At Company's option, through one or more "Ghost Cards", each of which is a unique number for a Card account that is issued without any actual Card and may be used only for Purchases with a specific Merchant. For each Ghost Card, Company must identify each employee of Company who is authorized to use that Ghost Card (an "Authorized User") with each Merchant at which that Ghost Card may be used.
- At Company's option, through one or more "Virtual Cards", each of which is unique, randomly issued number for a Card account that may be used only a single time generally and only to make Purchases electronically using the Software (as defined in Section 15 below). When Company requests Bank to issue a Virtual Card, Company must designate the Merchant at which the Card will be used and the total amount that may be charged to that Card.

Physical Cards, Ghost Cards and Virtual Cards may be collectively referred to as "Commercial Cards" or "Cards."

Except as otherwise provided in Section 9 below, all Purchases and Cash Advances on Company's Cards will be billed to Company through a central account (a "Central Account"). At Company's option, Bank may establish additional Central Accounts to facilitate Company's management of expenses charged to its Cards. For each Card, Bank will establish a subaccount (a "Subaccount") to the Central Account. Although fees and charges may be billed to a Central Account, all Purchases and Cash Advances must be charged to a Subaccount.

2. COMPANY SETUP FORM

Company, through its duly authorized representative, has completed and submitted to Bank a set up form for each Central Account, which is attached to and incorporated into this Agreement (each the "Set Up Form"). Among other information provided on the Set-Up Form, Company has designated the options it has chosen regarding Cards to be issued under this Agreement, including Company's billing and payment cycles, and whether Company has requested Virtual Cards, has requested Individual or Company Billing (as defined in Section 9 below), and has chosen to permit any Cardholder to obtain Cash Advances with a Physical Card. The Set-Up Form also includes Bank's current Fee Schedule and Revenue Sharing Schedule for Commercial Cards.

3. ISSUANCE OF PHYSICAL CARDS

Company must designate a minimum of at least ten (10) Cardholders who each will receive a Physical Card. On the Set Up Form Company has designated the initial Cardholders and Authorized Users for Physical Cards. Company must follow Bank's procedures (as they may be modified from time to time by Bank in its sole discretion) to designate additional Cardholders and Authorized Users. Company agrees to notify Bank immediately, by telephone, followed by prompt written notice, if (a) any Physical Card is lost, stolen or subject to unauthorized use, or (b) Company terminates a Cardholder's or Authorized User's authority to use a Physical Card.

4. COMPANY'S RESPONSIBILITY FOR USE OF COMMERCIAL CARDS

All Commercial Cards shall at all times remain the property of Bank, may be canceled by Bank at any time, and must be surrendered by Company on Bank's demand. Company accepts complete responsibility for all transactions on all Commercial Cards issued at the request of Company's Commercial Card Administrators (as defined below), and for all charges and fees due under this Agreement. Company also accepts complete responsibility for assuring that all use of its Commercial Cards complies with the requirements of this Agreement. □

Company must designate a two (2) Commercial Card Administrators (together, the "Commercial Card Administrators"). Company has designated the initial Commercial Card Administrators on the Set Up Form, and Company agrees to notify Bank immediately, by telephone, followed by prompt written notice, of any changes related to a Commercial Card Administrator. The Commercial Card Administrators are responsible for managing Company's use of the Cards through the online card management system made available by Bank (the "Card Management System"). Among other responsibilities, the Commercial Card Administrators shall provide notice to Bank of any changes to the information provided in the Set Up Form and to any other information with respect to the Cardholders or the use of Commercial Cards, including without limitation, any limits Company may place on the transaction type, amount or frequency permitted for Commercial Card use generally and/or by any Cardholder or Authorized User. □

Company is responsible for reviewing all billing statements and other transaction activity reports made available through the Card Management System and for reporting any errors and unauthorized transactions on the Commercial Cards. Bank shall have no obligation to provide Company with statements or other reports of any transactions occurring more than twenty-four (24) months prior to the date any such report is requested.

5. LIMITATIONS ON USE OF COMMERCIAL CARDS

The Commercial Cards may be subject to various limitations regarding transaction type, amount and frequency, as agreed upon in writing between Company and Bank. Company agrees that these limitations are reasonable and fully meet the needs of Company for security and control over its Commercial Cards, while at the same time affording the Cardholders and any Authorized Users sufficient access to the Cards. Company acknowledges that, under the rules governing the processing of Visa card transactions, transactions in an amount below certain floor limits established will not be subject to prior authorization or approval at the point-of-sale and will, therefore, bypass the routine authorization process for transaction approval. Company accepts full responsibility for payment of all such transactions, even if any such transaction does not comply with any transaction limitations agreed upon in writing between Company and Bank

6. PERMISSIBLE PURPOSES FOR USING COMMERCIAL CARD ACCOUNT

Business Purposes Only: Each Commercial Card may be used solely for Company's business purposes (and not for any personal, family or household purpose), and Company agrees to so advise each Cardholder and Authorized User. Company's obligations under this Agreement, however, shall not be affected or limited if any balances are incurred for non-business purposes.

No Illegal Transactions: No Commercial Card may be used for any illegal transaction. Company agrees that the Commercial Cards will be used only for transactions that are legal where they are conducted. For example, Internet gambling transactions may be illegal in some states. Display of a Visa logo by an online merchant does not mean that an Internet transaction is legal anywhere it may be conducted. Bank may charge a Commercial Card for such transactions, and will not be liable for any illegal transaction. Bank may deny authorization of any transactions identified as Internet gambling. Company agrees that Commercial Cards will not be used to conduct transactions in any country or territory, or with any individual or entity that is subject to economic sanctions administered and enforced by the U.S. Department of the Treasury's Office of Foreign Assets control (or OFAC). Use of Commercial Cards in those countries may be blocked. Company accepts full responsibility for payment of all such transactions, even if any such transaction does not comply with the limitations provided in this Section.

7. ANNUAL FEE; OTHER FEES

In return for the services provided to Company by Bank under this Agreement, Company agrees to pay a nonrefundable annual fee for each Physical Card issued under this Agreement. The amount of the annual fee is set forth on the Fee Schedule included as part of the Set Up Form, and will be charged to the Central Account or, if Company has selected Individual Billing, to each Commercial Card during the first billing cycle after the Effective Date of this Agreement and during the same month of each subsequent year. Company also agrees to pay the other fees set forth on this Fee Schedule. Bank may change the amount and terms of the annual fee and any other fees (including without limitation the Cash Advance Fee and Late Fee provided below) by providing written notice of the change to Company as provided in Section 18.

8. CASH ADVANCES

If Company has selected the option to obtain Cash Advances on any Physical Cards, Company agrees to pay a fee for each Cash Advance provided under this Agreement. Cash Advances include any and all advances to obtain cash or cash equivalents, whether in person, through an ATM, or by any other means whatsoever, including without limitation using Commercial Cards to make tax payments. The Cash Advance Fee will be in addition to any other charge or fee that may be imposed by a third party in connection with any Cash Advance, such as a fee charged for using a ATM that is not operated by Bank.

9. PERIODIC BILLING

Individual Billing: If Company selected Individual Billing for Travel Cards, at the end of each billing cycle in which a Travel Card Subaccount has a closing credit or debit balance of more than $1, Bank shall furnish to the Cardholder a billing statement reflecting all transactions posted to that Subaccount, all fees and charges imposed on that Subaccount under this Agreement, and any credits to that Subaccount (an "Individual Statement"). With Individual Billing, Company may not receive any billing statements, but all activity on each Travel Card will be provided to Company through the Card Management System, and Company remains obligated for payment in full of the amount billed on each Individual Statement by the Payment Due Date (as defined below) for that Statement.

Company Billing: At the end of each billing cycle in which any Subaccount has a closing credit or debit balance of more than $1, Bank shall furnish to Company a billing statement reflecting all transactions posted to all Subaccounts, all fees and charges imposed under this Agreement, any credits to the Central Account or any Subaccount, and the total payment due for all Subaccounts (the "Company Statement"). If Company has chosen to receive Individual Billing for Travel Cards, an amount billed to an Individual Statement will be included on the Company Statement only if that amount is not paid by Payment Due Date.

For all Billing Statements: Among other information, the Company Statement and each Individual Statement will show the total balance owed on the Central Account or Subaccount, as applicable (the "New Balance") and the date by which Bank must receive payment of the New Balance (the "Payment Due Date").

10. PAYMENT IN FULL REQUIRED FOR EACH BILLING CYCLE

Regardless of the billing option that Company selects, Company agrees to pay or have paid the New Balance in full on or before the Payment Due Date shown on each Company Statement or Individual Statement, as applicable. Unless Bank agrees otherwise in writing, Company authorizes Bank to debit Company's deposit account designated in the Set Up Form for the New Balance shown on each Company Statement and for any other fees, charges or amounts under this Agreement when due. Company further agrees that its failure to pay the full amount owed under this Agreement on or before any Payment Due Date (which includes its failure to have sufficient funds in its designated deposit account for the amount owed on any Payment Due Date) will constitute a breach of this Agreement for which Bank may, without prior notice to Company, immediately suspend or terminate Company's ability to use Commercial Cards.

11. LATE FEE

If any New Balance on an Individual Statement or Company Statement is not paid in full within five (5) days of the Payment Due Date, Company shall pay a Late Fee equal to the greater of (a) $10 or (b) one and one-half percent (1.5%) of that portion of the New Balance that remains unpaid.

12. CREDIT LIMIT

Bank, in its sole discretion, shall establish a total credit limit for Company (the "Company Credit Limit"). If Company has selected the option for Cash Advances, Bank may designate that only a portion of the Company Credit Limit and any Individual Credit Limit is available for Cash Advances. If Bank makes this designation, any reference in this Agreement to the Company Credit Limit shall be considered a reference to both the total credit limit and any limits on Cash Advances, unless otherwise specified. If the total Cash Advances charged to the Central Account exceed the designated limit on Cash Advances, Company will be considered to have exceeded Company Credit Limit for all purposes of this Agreement. Company promises to keep the amount of credit outstanding under this Agreement at all times below the applicable Company Credit Limit. Subject to the requirements of applicable law, Bank at any time may increase or decrease Company Credit Limit (including the portion available for Cash Advances) to be effective immediately, whether in response to a request by Company or otherwise. Bank will notify Company in writing if such a change occurs.

With the approval of Bank, Company may designate activity limits and an individual credit limit for each Cardholder and Authorized User (an "Individual Credit Limit"), which always will be contingent upon availability of credit under Company's Credit Limit. If Company has selected the option for Cash Advances, Bank may designate that only a portion of any Individual Credit Limit is available for Cash Advances. If Bank makes this designation, any reference in this Agreement to the Individual Credit Limit shall be considered a reference to both the total Individual Credit Limit and any limits on Cash Advances, unless otherwise specified. If the total Cash Advances charged to a Subaccount exceed the designated limit on Cash Advances, the Subaccount will be considered to have exceeded the Individual Credit Limit for all purposes of this Agreement. Company agrees to advise each Cardholder and Authorized User of the Individual Credit Limit and any activity limits applicable to that Subaccount, including but not limited to restrictions relating to the maximum number of transactions or maximum total dollar amounts permitted during a specified period of time. Company understands that once an applicable Individual Credit Limit or an activity limit is reached with respect to that Subaccount, Bank has no obligation to honor further uses of the Card associated with that Subaccount until Bank has received sufficient payment on the Subaccount, the applicable time period has expired, or Company has notified Bank of a change to the Subaccount restrictions and Bank has had a reasonable opportunity to act on that notice.

When a payment is made on the Central Account or any Subaccount, Bank will apply that payment as of the date that Bank receives it, but Bank may delay increasing the credit available under this Agreement for up to ten (10) days while that payment is processed. Bank does not have to honor any Purchase or Cash Advance that would cause the outstanding balance on the Central Account or Subaccount (including interest and fees) to exceed the applicable Company or Individual Credit Limit. If Bank does so, this Agreement also will apply to any credit Bank extends in excess of the applicable Credit Limit, and Company agrees to pay this excess amount immediately. If Bank honors requests for credit over the applicable Credit Limit on one or more occasions, it does not mean that Bank must honor future overlimit requests.

13. UNAUTHORIZED USE OF THE ACCOUNT

Company agrees to call Bank immediately at 1-888-934-1087 if Company or any Cardholder or Authorized User knows or suspects that any Card is lost or stolen, or that any Subaccount is otherwise subject to unauthorized use. At Bank's request, Company agrees to provide written confirmation of that report. As used in this Agreement, "unauthorized use" means the use of any Card by a person other than a Cardholder or an Authorized User who does not have actual, implied or apparent authority for such use, and from which Company receives no benefit. Company will be liable for all unauthorized use.

14. ERRORS AND BILLING DISPUTES

Company agrees to review promptly each Company Statement and to instruct each Cardholder and Authorized User to review promptly each Individual Statement. If Company or any Cardholder or Authorized User believes that a Statement is incorrect or needs additional information about a transaction shown on a Statement, Company agrees to notify Bank in writing within sixty (60) days of the date of the billing statement on which any error or disputed charge first appeared and at the address provided on that statement. If Company does not notify Bank within this time period, Company waives any rights with respect to the disputed amount to the fullest extent permitted by law. Company's notice must include the following information: both Company' name and the name of the Cardholder or Authorized User; the Subaccount Number; the dollar amount of any dispute or suspected error; the reference number for any questioned transaction; and a brief description of the dispute or alleged error.□

15. SOFTWARE

Company will use the Card Management System to manage the Account and Cards and use the software and other related services approved by Bank and accessible via the Internet to request and receive cards or to make Purchases electronically (collectively, "Software""). The required Software may be provided to Company directly by Bank or any other service provider designated by Bank in its sole discretion (a "Software Provider"). If Company has requested to receive Virtual Cards on the Set Up Form, Company also has identified the specific Software that Company will use with its Virtual Cards. Company's use of the Software is subject to the terms of this Section and any terms and conditions provided on the website hosting the Software (the "Website Terms of Use"). □

License to Use Software. By issuing Cards to Company, Bank grants to Company a non-exclusive, worldwide right and license in the Software identified in the Set Up Form to use the Software exclusively for the purpose of making purchases using Company's Cards (the "License"), subject to the terms, conditions, and/or limitations set forth in this Section.

Company acknowledges and agrees that: (i) the scope of the License and rights granted to Company is expressly limited to those required for Company to fulfill the stated purpose of the grant, and that any and all rights which are not expressly granted to Company in this Section shall remain vested in Bank or the Software Provider (as applicable). □

Company acknowledges and agrees that Bank and/or any Software Provider shall retain the right, in its reasonable business judgment, to revoke or suspend the License granted to Company and/or to suspend Company's access to the Software in the event that it reasonably believes that Company's use of the Software: (A) is in violation of state, federal, or international law or outside the scope of the License provided; (B) will subject Bank or the Software Provider (as applicable) to legal liability for which it may incur material damages; and/or (C) Company's use of the Software exceeds the rights granted to Company under the License. Company's License to use the Software shall terminate automatically upon termination of Bank's agreement to provide Cards to Company.

The License and rights granted to Company Bank under this Section are and shall otherwise be deemed to be, for purposes of Section 365(n) of the U.S. Bankruptcy Code, licenses of rights to "intellectual property" as defined under Section 101 (35A) of the U.S. Bankruptcy Code.

Security Procedures for Use of Software. Bank may make available to Company certain procedures, including the use of identification codes, passwords, log-on identifications, personal or location identification numbers, repetitive codes, encryption, tokens and other security devices, systems and software (collectively, the "Security Procedures") that are designed to verify the authenticity of instructions, orders and other communications sent by Company using the Software (each, a "Communication"). Bank has no obligation to act on any Communication that fails to comply with the Security Procedures, and may refuse to act on any Communication where Bank reasonably doubts its authenticity or compliance with the Security Procedures. Bank is entitled to act on any Communication that Bank receives which is sent in Company's name and in compliance with the Security Procedures, and Bank has no obligation to verify the content of such Communication, establish the identity of the person giving it, or await any confirmation of that Communication by Company. Bank shall have no liability for acting on, and Company shall be bound by, any Communication sent in Company's name, whether or not that Communication actually was authorized by Company.

Bank reserves the right to issue new Security Procedures and/or to cancel or change any Security Procedures from time to time. Whenever the Security Procedures include the assigning to Company of any confidential password, logon identification, identification code, personal or location identification number, repetitive code, token or similar security device (a "Security Device"), Company shall not disclose any Security Device except to employees or agents authorized to act for Company in connection with the Cards issued to Company, and agrees to instruct its authorized employees and agents to do the same. Company shall implement such safeguards as are reasonably necessary to ensure the confidentiality and integrity of each Security Device, and shall immediately notify Bank if the confidentiality or integrity of any Security Device is breached or threatened. To the fullest extent permitted by law, Company shall be solely responsible for the safekeeping of all Security Devices and assumes all risk of the disclosure or inadvertent use of any Security Device by any party whatsoever, whether such disclosure or use results from Company's negligence, deliberate acts or otherwise. Bank shall not be liable for any loss or damage resulting from fraudulent, unauthorized or otherwise improper use of any Security Devices.

Company also agrees that the use of these Security Procedures constitutes a commercially reasonable security procedure for Company's use of Cards. Company agrees to be bound by all Communications that are initiated in Company's name and in compliance with the Security Procedures, regardless of whether or not Company actually authorized the Communication. Bank's records demonstrating any Communication's compliance with the Security Procedures shall be deemed conclusive proof that the Communication received by Bank was authorized by Company and that Company is bound by that Communication.

Company agrees that the purpose of the Security Procedures is to verify the authenticity of Communications transmitted to Bank in Company's name, and not to detect an error in the transmission or content of any Communication. Company acknowledges that no security procedure for the detection of such errors has been agreed upon by Bank and Company, and that Bank has no obligation to investigate or discover, and shall not be liable for, errors by Company. If any Communication sent in Company's name and in compliance with the Security Procedures contains any error, to the full extent allowed by law Company shall be liable for, and shall indemnify Bank or any Software Provider (as applicable) against any claims, losses and expenses Bank may incur that arise from or relate to the erroneous Communication. Company also agrees that Bank will not be liable for any loss that Company may incur as a result of someone else using the Security Device, either with or without Company's knowledge. Company understands it could be held liable for losses incurred by Bank or another party due to someone else using your Security Device.

Acceptable Use. Company agrees to use the Software only as expressly provided by the License for its own business, and not directly or indirectly for the use or benefit of any other person, and only in compliance with all applicable laws, including, without limitations, copyright, trademark, obscenity and defamation laws and those related to data privacy and the transmission of technical or personal data. Company may not use the Software for spamming, chain letters, junk mail or distribution lists to contact any person who has not given specific permission to be included in such list.

Indemnification. Company agrees to indemnify and hold Bank and/or any Software Provider (as applicable) harmless against all costs and expenses (including reasonable attorneys' fees) that each may incur in connection with any third party claim or action that arises from or relates to (i) Company's acts, omissions or misrepresentations under the License and/or any Online Terms, regardless of whether any acts or omissions are a breach of the License and/or any Online Terms, and/or (ii) Company's use of the Software, regardless of whether such use is in accordance with the License, any Online Terms, or applicable law.

16. THIRD PARTY PRODUCTS AND SERVICES

From time to time and in its sole discretion, Bank may make available one or more products or services provided by third parties for use in connection with Commercial Cards, such as software that enables Company to manage card settings and expenses charged to Commercial Cards. These services are not under the control of Bank and Company will be provided third party website addresses at implementation. The provider of these websites applies encryption technology to its websites to assist in the protection of the Company's information. If Company chooses to obtain such third party product or service, Company acknowledges that transactions conducted over the internet and information transmitted over the internet may be subject to interception by outside parties not under the control of the Bank or the provider of the website. In this regard, Company assumes the risk of such occurrences and releases the Bank from liability for any activity of this nature.

The Company will be issued an ID and password to gain entry into these websites. Company agrees to protect, secure and preserve the ID and password and the confidentiality of the ID and password. Company further agrees to follow all procedures issued by Bank from time to time involving the use of any Internet related products. Company acknowledges that data presented within the website on a particular day is information posted by the website provider as of the close of provider's prior business day. Any third party product or service that Company chooses to receive will be subject to the fees provided in the Fee Schedule, which may be payable to Bank, rather than the third party. Company releases Bank from liability for any claims that arise from or relate to Company's use of any such third party product or service unless such claim is proven to result directly from Bank's gross negligence or willful misconduct.

17. TRANSACTIONS IN FOREIGN CURRENCIES

For any transaction on a Commercial Card in a foreign currency, the transaction amount will be converted by Visa International into a U.S. dollar amount in accordance with the operating regulations or conversion procedures in effect at the time the transaction is processed. Currently, those regulations and procedures provide that the currency conversion rate to be used is either (1) a wholesale market rate or (2) a government-mandated rate in effect one day prior to the processing date. The currency conversion rate in effect on the processing date may differ from the rate in effect on the transaction date or posting date. The same conversion process and fee may apply if any Foreign Transaction is reversed or credited back to the Subaccount. The amount (in U.S. dollars) of any credit associated with a particular foreign transaction is likely to differ from the original amount (in U.S. dollars) of the Card transaction due to differences in the applicable exchange rates, which may vary daily. For any transaction that is (1) made in a foreign currency or (2) processed outside of the United States, Company agrees to pay any Foreign Transaction fee imposed by Visa. The current fees are provided in the Fee Schedule, but Visa may change these rates at any time and without prior notice

18. NOTICES

Except as otherwise expressly provided in this Agreement, all notices, requests and other communications provided for hereunder must be directed to the other party at the respective addresses indicated in this Agreement and must be either (1) in writing, by first class mail, postage prepaid, (2) via facsimile, (3) via e-mail, or (4) hand delivered. Delivery shall be deemed to have occurred within three days of mailing if sent by mail, on the date of confirmation if sent by facsimile or e-mail, or on the date of delivery if hand-delivered. Either party may, by notice to the other, change its address set forth in this Agreement. Company's address for notices is set forth at the end of this Agreement. Bank's address for notices is:

19. NONUSE OF SERVICE

In the event that Company does not use the services to be provided under this Agreement for a period of six (6) months or longer, Bank may terminate Company's ability to use the services described in this Agreement without any advance notice to Company.

20. TERMINATION

Company may terminate this Agreement at any time by providing written notice to Bank and surrendering all outstanding Commercial Cards to Bank. Except as otherwise provided by law, Bank may terminate this Agreement and/or deactivate Company's Commercial Cards at any time, without prior notice to Company.

This Agreement shall be automatically be terminated without notice to Company (i) if there is a death of a guarantor or any owner or officer of Company; (ii) if Company files a petition in bankruptcy, petitions or applies to any tribunal for the appointment of a custodian, receiver or trustee for it or a substantial part of its assets or commences any proceeding under any bankruptcy, dissolution or reorganization law or statute, or if any such proceeding is filed against it, and such petition, application or proceeding remains undismissed for a period of thirty (30) days or more; (iii) if Company becomes insolvent or generally does not pay its debts as they become due or makes a general assignment for the benefit of creditors; (iv) if Company has any substantial part of its property become subject to any levy, seizure, assignment, application for sale for or by any creditor or governmental agency; or (v) if Company fails to maintain its corporate, partnership or other business existence in good standing; or (vi) if Company, without the prior written consent of Bank, consolidates or merges with or into or acquires the stock of any other corporation or entity, sells or otherwise transfers all or substantially all of its assets, permits the sale or transfer of a material ownership interest in Company, or otherwise materially changes or permits to be materially changed its organization or corporate or ownership structure. Termination of this Agreement and/or deactivation of any Commercial Cards, for any reason shall not terminate Company's obligation to pay Bank for all amounts due under the Agreement (including, without limitation, amounts which post to the Commercial Cards) or any other Company obligation which survives such termination according to the terms of this Agreement or by implication. Upon termination, all amounts owed under this Agreement shall become immediately due and payable.

21. CHANGES TO THIS AGREEMENT

To the fullest extent permitted by applicable law, Bank may modify, add to, delete from or otherwise change any of the terms of this Agreement (including without limitation the fees and charges provided under this Agreement) at any time and from time to time in Bank's discretion upon written or electronic notice to Company, including (without limitation) by including notice with or on Company's account statement or by posting notice on Bank's official web site at http://www.regions.com or any subsequent official Bank web site. Company agrees that a summary of any change in the terms is sufficient notice. Any changes made by Bank shall be effective as provided in Bank's notice. Company agrees that advance notice is not required for any changes to the Card Management System or any other administrative or operational features and elements applicable to Cards (including, without limitation, security limits and restrictions) or for any changes that are in Company's favor.

22. INDEMNIFICATION

Company agrees to indemnify and hold Bank harmless from any and all liability and expense, including reasonable attorneys' fees incurred by Bank in connection with this Agreement or the performance of its duties hereunder unless the actions which give rise to the indemnity obligation are solely the result of Bank's gross negligence or willful misconduct. The terms and provisions of this Section shall survive the termination of this Agreement and/or deactivation of any Commercial Cards, for any reason.

23. LIMITATION OF BANK'S LIABILITY

Bank's duties and responsibilities are limited to those described in this Agreement. Bank will be responsible for loss sustained by Company only to the extent that such loss is caused by Bank's gross negligence or willful misconduct. In any case, liability will extend only to the resulting actual direct loss, and not to any incidental, consequential, indirect or special loss or damage. Further, Bank will not be responsible for any loss or damage resulting from any delay in the performance or any failure to perform any of its other responsibilities under this Agreement which is caused by an act of God, fire or other catastrophe, electrical, computer or system failure, acts or failures to act by Company or by third parties, or any other cause beyond Bank's reasonable control.

Visa Liability Waiver Program. Subject to applicable terms and conditions, Company may be eligible for coverage under Visa Liability Waiver Programs which provides coverage against employee misuse of the Card. Company should consult with Visa Liability Program brochures available upon request from Regions for terms and conditions of coverage. Company acknowledges that Regions is not responsible for providing any form of liability protection program on Company's behalf and that Regions makes no representations or warranties regarding any such program that may be offered by third parties.

24. COMPLIANCE WITH ANTI-MONEY LAUNDERING LAWS AND REGULATIONS

Company represents and warrants that it is and will remain in compliance with all applicable anti-money laundering laws and regulations, including (without limitation) the U.S. Bank Secrecy Act, as amended by Title III, International Money Laundering and Anti-Terrorist Financing Act of 2001, of the USA PATRIOT Act of 2001, as may be amended from time to time. Company shall from time to time promptly provide Bank with such information and documentation as Bank may request (including, without limitation, names of proposed Cardholders, names of existing Cardholders, and other identifying information relating to such proposed and existing Cardholders), and otherwise shall fully cooperate with Bank as Bank deems necessary, in order to screen and clear Cardholders against the Specially Designated Nationals list (the "SDN List") of Office of Foreign Asset Control and/or to ensure compliance with applicable anti-money laundering laws and regulations. In the event Bank shall at any time determine that any existing Cardholder or proposed Cardholder cannot be cleared against the SDN List, Bank shall have the right to withhold or delay the issuance of, or to suspend or deactivate, any related Card until Company provides such information as may be necessary for Bank to clear such proposed or existing Cardholder against the SDN List. Bank reserves the right to require Company at any time and from time to time (i) independently to screen and clear proposed or existing Cardholders against the SDN List, (ii) to certify to Bank that such Cardholders have been screened and cleared against the SDN List, and (iii) to deny Card use for any transactions to any proposed or existing Cardholder as to whom Company does not or cannot provide such certification. Without limiting or diminishing any other right or remedy of Bank under this Agreement, Bank shall have the right to withhold or delay the issuance of, or to suspend or deactivate, any Card or Cards in the event Company shall fail to comply fully and faithfully with the terms and provisions of this Section 24 or in the event that Bank shall deem itself at risk for any violation of applicable anti-money laundering laws or regulations.

25. BENEFICIAL OWNERSHIP

If Company is a Legal Entity Customer, Company agrees to provide Bank with all information, documentation, and certifications that Bank requests about Beneficial Owners pursuant to 31 C.F.R. §1010.230. Company represents and warrants that the most recent of such information, documentation, and certifications submitted to Bank remains true and accurate. Further, Company certifies and confirms that Company will notify Bank immediately—and in no event no later than at any renewal—should Company have any change to its Beneficial Owners or any other person(s) or entity(ies) having any direct or indirect equity interest in Company. Nothing in this paragraph shall be construed to obligate Bank to renew this Agreement. "Legal Entity Customer" has its meaning set forth in 31 C.F.R. § 1010.230(e) and includes a corporation, limited liability company, or other entity that is created by a filing of a public document with a Secretary of State or similar office, a general partnership, and any similar business entity formed under the laws of a foreign jurisdiction that opens an account.

26. ARBITRATION

"Any controversy, claim, dispute or issue related to or arising from (i) the interpretation, negotiation, execution, assignment, administration, repayment, modification, or extension of this Agreement; (ii) any charge or cost incurred under this Agreement; (iii) the collection of any amounts due under this Agreement; (iv) any alleged tort related to or arising out of this Agreement; or (v) any breach of any provision of this Agreement, shall be settled by arbitration in accordance with the Commercial Arbitration Rules of the American Arbitration Association (the "AAA Rules").

Any disagreement as to whether a particular dispute or claim is subject to arbitration under this paragraph shall be decided by arbitration in accordance with the provisions of this paragraph. Commencement of litigation by any person entitled to demand arbitration under this paragraph shall not waive any right that person has to demand arbitration with respect to any counterclaim or other claim that may be made against that person, whether in, relating to, or arising out of such litigation, or otherwise. The Expedited Procedures of the AAA Rules shall apply in any dispute where the aggregate of all claims and the aggregate of all counterclaims each are in an amount less than $500,000. The arbitrator(s) may award all remedies that a court could award."

Judgment upon any award rendered by the arbitrator(s) in any such arbitration may be entered in any Court having jurisdiction of the dispute. Any demand for arbitration under this Agreement shall be made no later than the date when any judicial action upon the same matter would be barred under any applicable statute of limitations. Any dispute as to whether the statute of limitations bars the arbitration of such matters shall be decided by arbitration in accordance with the provisions of this paragraph. The locale of any arbitration proceedings under this Agreement shall be in Birmingham, Alabama, or such other location as is mutually acceptable to Company and Bank.□

The arbitrator(s) in any such arbitration shall establish such reasonable procedures as may be necessary for the reasonable exchange of information between the parties prior to such arbitration. Any arbitration under this paragraph shall be on an individual basis between the parties to this Agreement only and shall not be commenced by or on behalf of a class of persons, it being the intention of the parties that there shall be no class action arbitration under this Agreement. Company and Bank specifically acknowledge and agree that this Agreement evidences a "transaction involving commerce" under the Federal Arbitration Act, and both Company and Bank each hereby waive and relinquish any right to claim otherwise. With respect to disputes submitted to arbitration, Company and Bank each waive all rights to a trial by jury.

27. FINANCIAL INFORMATION

Company shall deliver, upon request, to Bank as soon as available, and in any event not later than three (3) months after the end of each fiscal year of Company, Company's audited financial statements prepared by independent certified public accountants acceptable to Bank. Company further agrees to provide to Bank from time to time such other information regarding the financial condition of Company as Bank may reasonably request.

28. LIABILITY FOR TAXES

Company acknowledges that certain sales, use and other taxes may be required in conjunction with certain purchases made using the Commercial Cards. Company agrees to be liable for all such taxes and further agrees to indemnify Bank against any claim, or any expense associated with such a claim, for payment of any taxes. The terms and provisions of this Section shall survive the termination of this Agreement and/or deactivation of any Commercial Cards, for any reason.

29. GOVERNING LAW

This Agreement shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the State of Alabama and applicable federal law.

30. HEADINGS

The headings and captions contained in this Agreement are included only for convenience of reference and do not define, limit, explain or modify this Agreement or its interpretation, construction, or meaning.

31. VALIDITY

The holding of any provision of this Agreement as invalid, illegal, or unenforceable, in whole or in part, shall not affect the other provisions of this Agreement, which shall remain in full force and effect.

32. ASSIGNMENT AND BINDING EFFECT

Company may not assign or transfer this Agreement, the Central Account, any Subaccount, or any Commercial Card without Bank's prior written acknowledgement and consent, which may be granted or withheld in Bank's absolute discretion. Bank may assign this Agreement and/or any or all of Bank's rights hereunder, or delegate any or all of Bank's responsibilities hereunder, to any third party or parties in Bank's discretion and without notice to Company. Subject to the foregoing, this Agreement shall be binding on Company and Bank and their respective successors and assigns.

33. MERGER OF AGREEMENTS

This Agreement constitutes the entire agreement between the parties hereto concerning the subject matter hereof. All prior and/or contemporaneous agreements or understandings concerning the subject matter hereof, whether oral or written, are merged into this Agreement.

34. COLLECTIONS

Company agrees to pay all costs of collecting or attempting to collect any amounts due under this Agreement and all costs of defending any claim asserted against Bank arising out of or in connection with this Agreement, which costs shall include, without limitation, attorneys' fees and costs. The terms and provisions of this Section shall survive the termination of this Agreement and/or deactivation of any Commercial Cards.

35. REMEDIES; WAIVER

The rights, remedies, and recourse afforded to Bank with respect to the enforcement of this Agreement, whether arising in law or in equity, are cumulative and concurrent and may be exercised by Bank in such order and in such manner as Bank may determine in Bank's sole and absolute discretion. No delay or omission by Bank in exercising any right or remedy under this Agreement or applicable law shall impair such right or remedy or be construed as a waiver of any such right or remedy. Any single or partial exercise of a right or remedy shall not preclude further exercise of that right or remedy or the exercise of any other right or remedy. No waiver shall be valid unless in writing and signed by Bank. A waiver on any one occasion shall not be construed as a bar or waiver of any rights or remedies on future occasions. Where this Agreement or applicable law permits Bank to take action, or not to take action, in Bank's discretion on any matter, any action or inaction on Bank's part with respect to such matter shall not obligate Bank to repeat such action or inaction with respect to similar matters that may subsequently arise. Except as otherwise required by the express terms and provisions of this Agreement, no notice to or demand on Company in any case shall entitle Company to any other or further notice or demand in similar or other circumstances.

36. SIGNATURE AND DELIVERY

Electronic and PDF signatures are deemed equivalent to original signatures for purposes of this Agreement. This Commercial Card Agreement may be issued, executed and then delivered by sending PDF or other copies hereof via email or other electronic means and in one or more counterparts, each of which shall be (i) an original, and all of the counterparts of which taken together shall constitute one and the same agreement, (ii) a valid and binding agreement and fully admissible under state and federal rules of evidence and (iii) enforceable under UCC Section 3-309, UCC Section 3-604, or any other similar statute (with any provision thereunder to the contrary being waived hereby), without regard to any loss or destruction of any written counterpart hereof, the parties hereto agreeing that the possession or maintenance of an executed and delivered, scanned, electronic or digital version hereof shall constitute possession hereof and shall not constitute the destruction hereof and shall not result in the discharge of any obligation evidenced hereby, notwithstanding UCC Section 3-604 or any other similar statute. If this Commercial Card is issued via electronic signature in electronic format, it shall also constitute a "transferable record" under UETA and/or ESIGN or other equivalent, applicable law.

1. Calculation

- Any transactions that have been defined by Visa as Negotiated Large Ticket (or VPP Large Ticket) transactions will be assigned a Fee Program Indicator of "VLT" All VLT transactions are exempted from revenue share eligibility.
- All purchases, irrespective of Visa classification or the rates at which they earn basis points of revenue share, are included in the "Net Volume" Calculation used to determine qualifying basis points of Standard revenue share.

2. Definitions

- "Large Ticket Purchases" refer to transactions processed at a reduced interchange rate because the merchant participates in a special program operated by Visa, wherein participating merchants pay to process certain larger transactions with enhanced data elements at discounted rates
- "Level II Purchases" refer to transactions processed for merchants at reduced interchange rates because the data transmission contains enhanced data elements as determined by Visa.
- "Level III Purchases" refer to transactions processed for merchants at reduced interchange rates because the data transmission contains enhanced data elements as determined by Visa.
- "Net Volume" means the total US dollar amount of purchases on the Commercial Card account, less any credits for returns or other adjustments.
- "Standard Purchases" refer to transactions for which certain standard data elements, including but not limited to total purchase amount, date of purchase, merchant category code, merchant name, city/state, debit/credit indicator, date on which the charge/credit was processed, processing/transaction reference number, and other items as determined by Visa are included in the data transmission.
- "Visa Preferred Partner Purchases" refer to transactions processed for merchants that qualify for a reduced interchange rate because the merchant participates in a special program operated by Visa,

Any capitalized terms not specifically defined herein shall have the meaning as set forth in the Commercial Card Agreement.

3. Visa rules and individual merchants, not the Bank, determine whether each transaction will be classified as Standard, Level II, Level III, Negotiated/Visa Preferred Partner (VPP), or Large Ticket. Visa rules may change from time to time.

4. No revenue share will be paid to the Customer on purchases for which the Bank earns interchange revenue at a discounted rate due to merchant participation in the Visa Preferred Partner Program (VPP). Large Ticket purchases, Level III purchases, and VPP purchases earn revenue sharing at different basis point rates than Standard purchases but are included in the annual Net Volume calculation used to determine the volume tier and basis point rate applicable to Standard Purchases.

5. Cash advances are neither eligible for revenue sharing nor included in the Net Volume used to determine the Standard revenue sharing rate used to calculate revenue sharing amount.

6. Any revenue sharing earned by Company for purchases made on its Commercial Cards during a given year will be paid no later than March of the following year. The Company's Commercial Card account must be open, active, and in good standing at the time of payment to be eligible for this revenue; in addition, the Bank reserves the right not to pay the Company if Net Volume in the year for which revenue share was earned does not equal at least 50% of the Net Volume accumulated by the same Customer for the prior calendar year. For purposes of clarification, the Net Volume requirement to receive revenue share will begin as a qualification requirement for the first full calendar year of the program.

7. The Bank offers revenue sharing based on anticipated compensation to be provided from Visa and reserves the right to change the amounts provided in this schedule without notice to Company if co

8. The terms of this Schedule are expressly incorporate into the Commercial Card Agreement as if fully setout therin and thus are subject to change by the Bank as provided in the Commercial Card Agreement.

9. Company's Billing Period/Payment Period will be Monthly/15 Days unless another period is designated below:

For detailed terms of the Now Savings account, see the Regions Now Savings Pricing Schedule. For terms of the Now Card and check cashing services, see the Now Banking Fees and Charges Pricing Schedule. Other products and services described in this Guide may be subject to separate terms and conditions.

*Payment, service and funds availability depends on certain factors, including the service selected, the selection of delayed delivery options, special terms applicable to each service, biller cutoff times or posting procedure, biller failure to properly or timely credit funds sent, amount sent, destination country, currency availability, regulatory issues, consumer protection issues, identification requirements, delivery restrictions, agent location hours and differences in time zones. Additional restrictions may apply. See payments forms for terms and conditions.

 Western Union also makes money from currency exchange. When choosing a money transmitter, carefully compare both transfer fees and exchange rates. Fees, foreign exchange rates and taxes may vary by brand, channel and location based on a number of factors. Fees and rates subject to change without notice.

MEMBER FDIC © 2018 Regions Bank. This document is not an offer or contract and does not amend any applicable customer agreement, the terms of which govern and control. Please refer to the pricing schedule or the applicable customer agreement or disclosure for additional details or pricing. All loans, lines of credit and credit cards are subject to credit approval. For accounts opened in Iowa, certain account fees are subject to Iowa State Tax of 6%, which will be assessed at the time the fee is charged, unless exempt.

[1] Regions Relationship Rewards allows you to earn points that can be redeemed for cash, merchandise, travel, gift cards and more. When you enroll your Regions checking account, you can earn points for having certain accounts and using certain Regions products and services. When you have a Regions Relationship Rewards Credit Card, you automatically earn points for qualifying purchases on your Card. See regions.com/relationshiprewards for details.

[2] Mobile Banking and Regions Mobile Deposit require enrollment in Online Banking and are subject to terms and conditions. Compatible device required. Carrier's message and data fees may apply.

[3] To enroll in Online Statements or Bill Pay, you first must enroll in Online Banking, which requires you to have a Social Security or Tax Identification Number or use alternative enrollment procedures available by visiting a branch.

[4] Safe deposit boxes subject to availability, and discount applies to one box per account. Receive an additional 10% discount when your safe deposit box payment is auto debited from your Regions checking or savings account.

[5] Overdraft Protection allows you to link your Regions checking account to a Regions savings account, money market account, credit line or credit card account. If one or more transactions would overdraw your checking account, we will automatically transfer money to your checking account from your linked account, as provided in the Regions Deposit Agreement. If the checking account still has an insufficient available balance to pay an overdraft item, even after we transfer/advance available funds from the funding account, we may return the item or pay it into overdraft. On each day that funds are transferred, your checking account will be charged a transfer fee, as provided in the Regions pricing schedule for that account. Transfers from another deposit account are subject to transaction limits and excessive withdrawal fees. Funds transferred from a credit line or credit card account will accrue interest at the interest rate provided in the agreement for that account. Credit lines and credit cards are subject to credit approval. See your checking account Pricing Schedule for additional details.

[6] A monthly automatic transfer of funds of at least $10 from your Regions checking account to your LifeGreen Savings account for the 12 calendar months that precede the month of your account opening anniversary is required to earn a 1% annual savings bonus. The bonus is based on the average monthly balance for the 12 calendar months that precede the month of your anniversary date and is paid to your LifeGreen Savings account on the business day following the anniversary of account opening. Maximum annual savings bonus of $100. Your LifeGreen Savings account must be open on the date the annual savings bonus is paid to receive the annual savings bonus. As of July 26, 2012, Annual Percentage Yield for Regions LifeGreen Savings account was 0.01%. This rate may change after the account is opened, and fees could reduce the earnings on the account.

[7] For the monthly fee waiver, we count all ACH direct deposits that post to your account during the account statement period, excluding the last day of the period. ACH direct deposits that post on the last day of the statement period are counted in the following statement period.

[8] If you have a LifeGreen Checking for Students account and do not meet the age requirement, your account will be converted to the standard LifeGreen Checking account and must meet the normal criteria in order to avoid the Monthly Fee. One account holder must be the age of majority.

[9] This fee has been temporarily discontinued pending system modifications. We will notify you before the fee is reinstated.

[10] Based on current eAccess Account period for CheckCard activity and most recent credit card account statement for credit card activity.

[11] ATM fees charged by owners/operators of non-Regions ATMs may apply.

[12] For the average monthly balance, we add the opening posted balances for each day in the statement period, then divide the total by the number of days in the statement period. Your account statement only shows the ending posted balances and an average balance reflected by those ending posted balances. The average balance shown on the account statement is not used for purposes of the monthly fee waiver. The ending balance for any day is the opening balance for the next day.

[13] To qualify for combined balances in relation to the monthly fee waiver, the primary (person listed first on the account) or secondary (person listed second on the account) owner of the checking account must be the primary or secondary owner of the related deposit accounts. The primary or secondary owner of the checking account must be the primary owner of related credit accounts. See pricing schedule for other requirements. Balances determined at the beginning of the last day of your checking account statement period.

[14] Qualifying first-lien home mortgage loans must be serviced by Regions, must not be past due or in default and do not include home equity loans or home equity lines of credit, or construction, manufactured housing and business loans.

[15] Good standing means you are not past due or in default under your credit agreement.

[16] If you make a monthly deposit of at least $5 to your Regions Now Savings account, you will earn (a) a $1 monthly builder bonus to your Regions Now Savings account if you make no withdrawal from your Regions Now Savings account that same month, and (b) a 1% annual savings bonus (up to $100) if you make deposits to your account each calendar month, beginning with the account opening month. Bonus will be credited to your Regions Now Savings account by the second business day of the month following each month the bonus is earned (for the annual bonus), and your Regions Now Savings account must be open on the date the bonus is paid to receive the bonus. A Regions Now Savings account is available only to the primary owner of a Now Card. $10 minimum deposit is required to open the account. As of July 26, 2012, Annual Percentage Yield for Regions Now Savings account was 0.01%. This rate may change after the account is opened, and fees could reduce the earnings on the account.

[17] Payment, service and funds availability depends on certain factors, including the service selected, the selection of delayed delivery options, special terms applicable to each service, biller cutoff times or posting procedures, biller failure to properly or timely credit funds sent, amount sent, destination country, currency availability, regulatory issues, consumer protection issues, identification requirements, delivery restrictions, agent location hours and differences in time zones. Additional restrictions may apply. See payments form for terms and conditions.

[18] Western Union makes money from currency exchange. When choosing a money transmitter, carefully compare both transfer fees and exchange rates.

ADDENDUM TO SERVICE AND DEPOSIT AGREEMENTS FOR GOVERNMENT OR PUBLIC ENTITY CUSTOMERS

This Addendum to Service and Deposit Agreements for Government or Public Entity Customers ("Addendum") supplements and modifies the terms of the Master Agreement for Treasury Management Services (including any Customer Profile, Service Schedules, or other service terms) ("Master Agreement"), Deposit Agreement ("Deposit Agreement"), and/or Wire Transfer of Funds Agreement ("Wire Agreement"), as applicable, between the government or public entity customer identified on the signature page below ("Customer" or "you") and Regions Bank ("Bank", "we" or "us"). Master Agreement, Deposit Agreement, and Wire Agreement may collectively be referred to herein as the "Bank Agreements." Capitalized terms used but not defined in this Addendum shall have the meanings given in the Bank Agreements, as applicable. In the event of a conflict between the terms of this Addendum and the Bank Agreements, the terms of this Addendum shall control.

1. Fees and Payment. If the parties have agreed upon pricing for the Services pursuant to a separate pricing schedule or exhibit ("Negotiated Pricing"), the Negotiated Pricing shall control over Bank's standard fee schedules or Service Schedules. Fees and charges shall be collected as described in the Negotiated Pricing or as otherwise agreed by Bank and Customer.

2. Confidentiality. Customer acknowledges that public disclosure of Bank's Confidential Information, including but not limited to the Bank Agreements, Negotiated Pricing, or any bid submitted by Bank in response to a request for proposal, may put Bank at a competitive disadvantage or otherwise harm Bank's business. To the extent that information or records related to the Services or the Bank Agreements are required to be made available to the public under an open records law applicable to Customer, Customer agrees to limit disclosure of any such information or records that are Confidential Information to the maximum extent permitted by applicable law or the order of any court or governmental authority of competent jurisdiction. For the avoidance of doubt, Customer's disclosure of Confidential Information to the extent required pursuant to an open records law shall not be deemed a breach of Customer's confidentiality obligations under the Bank Agreements.

3. Indemnification. Customer's indemnification obligations under the Bank Agreements shall be limited to the extent required by applicable law based on Customer's status as a government or public entity, and nothing therein shall be deemed to waive or abrogate any defenses or immunities available to Customer under applicable state or local law.

4. Amendments. Bank's rights to amend the Bank Agreements are hereby modified such that Bank agrees that any amendments or modifications to the Bank Agreements, that are inconsistent with the Governing Law set forth in this Addendum shall not be applicable as to Customer. This Addendum, and the Governing Law set forth herein, shall apply to any such modified or amended Bank Agreements. Any modifications or amendments to the terms of this Addendum or to any Negotiated Pricing shall be in a writing signed by both Customer and Bank.

5. Assignment. Bank's right to assign the Bank Agreements or any of its right or obligations thereunder shall be limited to an assignment to its parent company or affiliate or an assignment in connection with a merger, consolidation, acquisition, or sale of all or substantially all of Bank's assets or stocks or a line of Bank's business related to the Services. Bank agrees to provide written notice to Customer in the event of any such assignment and Customer retains the right to terminate the Bank Agreements or any Services thereunder, if Customer objects to the assignment.

6. Arbitration. The arbitration provisions under the Bank Agreements shall be deleted in their entirety.

7. Attorneys Fees; Collection Costs. Any provisions of the Bank Agreements requiring Customer to pay Bank any attorney fees and/or collection costs are only enforceable to the extent permitted pursuant to applicable governing law.

8. Governing Law, Venue. The governing law provision of the Bank Agreements shall be amended to provide that the laws of the state where Customer is located will govern, and the exclusive venue for any legal action or proceeding arising out of or in connection with the Bank Agreements and the Services and transactions thereunder will be any court of proper jurisdiction located in such state.

9. Government Entity. Bank recognizes and acknowledges that Customer is entering the Master Agreement, Deposit Agreement, and/or Wire Agreement as a government agency, political subdivision, municipal corporation, school district, or other governmental or public entity, and as such, any of the Bank Agreements executed by Customer are enforceable against Customer only to the fullest extent permitted pursuant to applicable governing law, including the opinions of the attorney general of the state where Customer is located.

DEPOSIT AGREEMENT

Welcome to Regions Bank. We appreciate your business and we are pleased you are one of our customers. This Agreement contains the following sections:

Section I:	Agreement For Deposit Accounts
Section II:	Time Deposits/Certificates of Deposit
Section III:	Individual Retirement Accounts
Section IV:	Funds Availability Policy
Section V:	Electronic Funds Transfer Disclosure To Our Consumer Customers
Section VI:	Important Information For Our Consumer Customers About Substitute Checks

This Agreement covers any and all deposit accounts you have or have had from time to time with Regions Bank, by whatever name or description, including, but not limited to, checking accounts, savings accounts, money market deposit accounts, time deposit accounts, and certificates of deposit. As used herein, the terms "account," "deposit," and/or "deposit account" shall mean and refer to any such deposit account. Additionally, any BINDING ARBITRATION provisions set forth in this Agreement also apply to any account, contract, loan, credit, transaction, business, contact, interaction or relationship you may have or have had with us from time to time. Further, as used in, or in relation to, or in interpreting any provision of this Agreement as it relates or applies to any BINDING ARBITRATION provisions set forth in this Agreement, the term "account" shall also include any account, other business relationship, interaction or transaction of any nature whatsoever you may hold or have held from time to time with any of us. Notwithstanding the foregoing terms of this paragraph, the BINDING ARBITRATION provisions set forth in this Agreement shall not apply to any account, contract, loan, credit, transaction, business, contact, interaction or relationship that constitutes "consumer credit," as defined in the U.S. Department of Defense regulation implementing the Military Lending Act, 32 C.F.R. §§ 232.3(f)(1) and (f)(2), and under which you are a "covered borrower," as defined in 32 C.F.R. § 32.3(g)(1).

You should read this Agreement carefully and keep it with your other account records. The following terms and definitions apply when used in this Agreement:

Agreement – this Deposit Agreement.

Item – includes, without limitation, a check, draft, negotiable order of withdrawal, note, withdrawal slip, oral payment, transfer or withdrawal order made by telephone or in person, and/or withdrawal, payment or transfer order initiated through an automated teller machine (ATM) or point of sale (POS) terminal or any other electronic device, means or network, and/or a check or draft you have authorized a third party to charge to your account, whether by any manual or any electronic means.

Signature and sign (and derivations of those terms) – include, as the context may require and subject to applicable law, electronic signatures and signing and authenticating electronically as well as written signatures and signing and authenticating in writing.

You, your, yours, depositor, and customer – as the context may require, any person or entity in whose name the account is maintained according to our records, and/or any person or entity that uses the account or is authorized to transact business on the account, by any means whatsoever, including electronically, whether such authority is evidenced by signature cards, organizational resolutions, or otherwise, and/or any person or entity that has a beneficial interest in the account, and/or any such person's or entity's heirs, assignee or successor in interest to the account, including such person's estate, survivors and wrongful death beneficiaries.

We, us, our, ours, and Regions – Regions Bank, and with respect to any BINDING ARBITRATION AND/OR WAIVER OF JURY TRIAL provisions set forth in this Agreement, such terms also mean and refer to Regions Bank and its current and former parent(s), subsidiaries, affiliates, employees, officers, directors, agents, controlling persons and representatives, as well as any other person or company who provides any services in connection with an account, as may exist from time to time.

Other definitions may appear within the remaining text of this Agreement.

►ARBITRATION AND WAIVER OF JURY TRIAL. THIS AGREEMENT CONTAINS PROVISIONS FOR BINDING ARBITRATION AND WAIVER OF JURY TRIAL. YOUR ACCEPTANCE OF THIS AGREEMENT INCLUDES YOUR ACCEPTANCE OF AND AGREEMENT TO SUCH PROVISIONS. WHEN ARBITRATION IS INVOKED FOR CLAIMS SUBJECT TO ARBITRATION, YOU AND REGIONS WILL NOT HAVE THE RIGHT TO PURSUE THAT CLAIM IN COURT OR HAVE A JURY DECIDE THE CLAIM AND YOU WILL NOT HAVE THE RIGHT TO BRING OR PARTICIPATE IN ANY CLASS ACTION OR SIMILAR PROCEEDING IN COURT OR IN ARBITRATION.

SECTION I: AGREEMENT FOR DEPOSIT ACCOUNTS

1. Acceptance Of This Agreement. By signing a signature card when you open an account, by signing any signature maintenance card or other account document for an account, by opening or modifying an account electronically, by depositing funds into, or withdrawing funds from, any account, by being named as a beneficiary or joint owner by an existing owner of an account, by using an account with us, or permitting anyone else to get access to your account through any of our electronic banking services, or by maintaining an account after our sending or providing to you by any reasonable means (including but not limited to: by mail to the mailing address we have for you on our records; by e-mail to the e-mail address we have for you on our records; by making available or publishing on or with the periodic statement of an account; by publishing on our official Web site at http://www.regions.com or any subsequent official Regions Bank website; or by making publicly available at any of our locations at the time you open or modify an account) this Agreement or any amendment(s) to this Agreement or by your receipt of the same by any means, you agree to the terms of this Agreement, as amended. Our agreement with you includes this Agreement, our pricing schedule, funds availability policy as posted, and any supplemental provisions we print concerning your account, which are applicable. All these documents together are a contract between you and us.

We may also provide you with agreements and disclosure statements ("Disclosure Statements") governing certain services associated with your account, including, but not limited to, ATM or debit card services, telephone or online banking services, preauthorized funds transfer services, and wire transfer services. Both this Agreement and the Disclosure Statements govern those services. If, however, any provision of this Agreement conflicts with any provision of a Disclosure Statement, then the conflicting provision of the Disclosure Statement shall prevail with respect to the corresponding service. To the fullest extent permitted by law, we may provide you notices and disclosures by electronic means. You agree that, unless otherwise expressly agreed by us in writing, the deposits in your account are general deposits. You further agree that the relationship between us and you with respect to any account covered by this Agreement, including one titled as a "trust account" or similar designation, is solely that of debtor and creditor, and that we are not acting as your fiduciary.

2. Mutual Arbitration Agreement And Waiver Of Jury Trial.

READ THIS PROVISION CAREFULLY BECAUSE IT HAS A SUBSTANTIAL IMPACT ON HOW DISPUTES AND CLAIMS YOU AND WE HAVE AGAINST EACH OTHER ARE RESOLVED.

For any Claim subject to arbitration (as defined below), neither you nor we (referred to throughout as a "party" or the "parties") will have the right to: (1) have a court or a jury decide the Claim; (2) engage in information-gathering (discovery) to the same extent as in court; (3) participate in a class action in court or in arbitration; or (4) join or consolidate a Claim with claims of any other person. The right to appeal is more limited in arbitration than in court and other rights in court may be unavailable or limited in arbitration. You and we mutually agree that, if either party demands arbitration, the parties will resolve any and all disputes between them exclusively through final, binding, and individual arbitration under the terms of this Mutual Arbitration Agreement, including its pre-arbitration dispute resolution process, instead of filing or proceeding with a lawsuit in court (except as otherwise provided below). However, this Mutual Arbitration Agreement does not cover disputes that, as a matter of law, may not be subject to pre-dispute arbitration agreements.

Whether any controversy is arbitrated or settled by a court, you and we voluntarily and knowingly waive any right to a jury trial with respect to such controversy to the fullest extent allowed by law.

Requirement to Arbitrate. Upon the demand of you or us, any Claim(s) will be resolved by individual (as opposed to class, consolidated, collective, or representative) binding arbitration under the terms specified in this Mutual Arbitration Agreement. A "Claim" subject to arbitration is any claim, cause of action, dispute, or controversy between you and us (other than an Excluded Claim or Proceeding as defined below), whether preexisting, present, or future, which arises out of or relates to the account, this Deposit Agreement, any transaction conducted with us in connection with the account or this Deposit Agreement, any products or services provided by us to you, any aspect of our relationship, or any other demand or request for compensation or damages from or against us, including any Claim involving our current and former officers, directors, employees, agents, representatives, contractors, subcontractors, parent, subsidiaries, affiliates, successors, assigns, any third party that assigned any agreements to us, and any of the respective current and former employees, officers, agents, or directors of such affiliates or third parties. Any such Claim against any of those parties may be joined or consolidated with any related Claim against us in a single arbitration proceeding. "Claim" has the broadest possible meaning and includes initial claims, counterclaims, cross-claims, third-party claims, and federal, state, local, and administrative claims, whether asserted or brought in a direct, derivative, assignee, survivor, successor, beneficiary, or personal capacity. It includes disputes based in contract, tort, consumer rights, fraud, and other intentional torts, a state or the federal Constitution, statute, regulation, ordinance, common law, and equity, and includes claims for money damages and injunctive or declaratory relief, including disputes regarding whether a particular controversy is subject to arbitration, including any claim of unconscionability and any dispute over the enforceability, scope, reach, or validity of this Mutual Arbitration Agreement. "Claim" also includes disputes concerning the use or disclosure of information about you or us, as well as disputes concerning communications involving telephones, cell phones, automatic dialing systems, artificial or prerecorded voice messages, text messages, emails, or facsimile machines, such as alleged violations of the Telephone Consumer Protection Act and other statutes or regulations involving telemarketing.

Neither you nor we waive the right to arbitrate by filing or serving a complaint, answer, counterclaim, motion or discovery in a court lawsuit. In addition, if we become a party in any lawsuit that you have with any third party, whether through intervention by us or by motion or pleading made by you or any third party, subject to controlling law, we may elect to have all claims in that lawsuit between you and such third party to be resolved by BINDING ARBITRATION under this Mutual Arbitration Agreement. Notwithstanding the foregoing terms of this paragraph, this Mutual Arbitration Agreement shall not apply to any account, contract, loan, credit, transaction, business, contact, interaction, or relationship that constitutes "consumer credit," as defined in the U.S. Department of Defense regulation implementing the Military Lending Act, 32 C.F.R. §§ 232.3(f)(1) and (f)(2), and under which you are a "covered borrower," as defined in 32 C.F.R. § 232.3(g)(1).

Excluded Claims and Proceedings. Notwithstanding the foregoing, "Claim" does not include any individual action brought by you or us in small claims court or your state's equivalent court, unless such action is transferred, removed, or appealed to a different court or the matter is not brought on an individual basis (i.e., a class, consolidated, collective, or representative basis), at which point either party has the right to demand arbitration. If a claim is within the jurisdiction of the small claims court where you reside, we or you may at any time choose to take the claim to that court instead of arbitration. We or you may take the claim to small claims court without first filing in arbitration or, after a case is filed in arbitration, a party may send written notice to the opposing party and the arbitration forum that it wants the claim decided by a small claims court. After receiving the notice, the arbitration forum shall administratively close the case without requiring the payment of filing or any other administrative fees.

In addition, nothing in this Mutual Arbitration Agreement prevents you or us from, before, during, or after the pendency of any arbitration proceeding, (1) exercising any lawful rights or using other available remedies to preserve or obtain possession of property, (2) exercising self-help remedies, including set-off as described in the Deposit Agreement section titled "Right Of Setoff; Grant of Security Interest," recoupment, repossession, trustee's sales, and the like or (3) bringing an action (individually, and not on behalf of a class) to obtain provisional or ancillary remedies or injunctive relief (other than a stay of arbitration) to protect the rights or property of the party seeking such relief, such as attachment, garnishment, or appointment of a receiver by a court of competent jurisdiction. However, the arbitrator(s) shall have the power to vacate and/or stay any such proceedings or orders granting provisional or ancillary remedies or injunctive relief, upon application by you or us. The taking by either you or us of any of the self-help remedies or the filing of any action in court, including but not limited to the actions described above, shall not be deemed to be a waiver of the right to elect BINDING ARBITRATION of any Claim upon the filing of a counterclaim, crossclaim, third-party claim or the like by either you or us in response to any such action. Any individual action in court by you or us that is limited to preventing the other party from using a self-help remedy and that does not involve a request for damages or monetary relief of any kind does not constitute a "Claim" that must be arbitrated. The institution and/or maintenance of any such self-help (or protection from self-help) right, action, or litigation shall not constitute a waiver of the right of either of the parties to compel arbitration regarding any other dispute subject to arbitration pursuant to this Mutual Arbitration Agreement.

Federal Arbitration Act. Notwithstanding any choice of law or other provisions in this Deposit Agreement, the parties agree and acknowledge that this agreement evidences a transaction involving interstate commerce and that the Federal Arbitration Act (Title 9 of the United States Code) ("FAA") shall govern its interpretation and enforcement and proceedings pursuant thereto, and the parties waive and relinquish any right to claim otherwise. You and we hereby acknowledge, agree, and stipulate that Regions Bank is a multi-state banking organization engaging in interstate banking and commerce; Regions Bank's deposits are federally insured; the funds deposited in any account flow through interstate commerce; and we regularly use the services of businesses located in other states in opening and administering accounts. The parties expressly agree that this Mutual Arbitration Agreement shall be governed by the FAA even in the event you and/or we are otherwise exempted from the FAA. If for whatever reason the rules and procedures of the FAA cannot apply, the state law governing arbitration agreements in the state in which you reside shall apply.

CLASS, CONSOLIDATED, COLLECTIVE, AND/OR REPRESENTATIVE ACTION WAIVER. The parties mutually agree that if you or we elect to arbitrate a Claim, such Claim will be resolved in individual arbitration. The parties further agree that, to the maximum extent allowable by law, they waive the right to have any Claim brought, heard, administered, resolved, or arbitrated as a class, consolidated, collective, or representative action, and an arbitrator shall not have any authority to hear or arbitrate any class, consolidated, collective, and/or representative action, or to award relief to or for the benefit of anyone but the individual parties in arbitration. The parties also waive the right to bring any claims for public injunctive relief, private attorney general actions, or other non-individualized injunctive relief. This Class, Consolidated, Collective, and/or Representative Action Waiver does not prevent you or us from participating in a settlement of claims on a class-wide, consolidated, collective, or representative basis, to the extent you or we do not exercise a right to opt out of such settlement. Any dispute as to the validity or enforceability of this Class, Consolidated, Collective, and/or Representative Action Waiver shall be decided by the arbitrator. If, after exhaustion of all appeals, any of these prohibitions on class, consolidated, collective, or representative claims or public or non-individualized injunctive relief is found to be unenforceable with respect to a particular claim or with respect to a particular request for relief (such as a request for injunctive relief), then the parties agree that such a claim or request for relief shall be decided by a court after all other claims and requests for relief are arbitrated; provided, however, that the jury trial waiver shall, in any event, remain in full force and effect to the fullest extent permitted by law.

Arbitration Procedures.

(a) Pre-Arbitration Dispute Resolution: The parties agree that good faith informal efforts to resolve a dispute often can result in a prompt, low-cost, and mutually beneficial outcome. As a result, before commencing arbitration, the parties must engage in a good faith effort to resolve any Claim covered by this Mutual Arbitration Agreement by providing a written notice of dispute and participating in an informal dispute resolution conference. The party who wishes to assert a Claim must first give notice to the other party in writing of the intent to initiate arbitration ("Notice of Pre-Arbitration Dispute"). A Notice of Pre-Arbitration Dispute must contain the claimant's name, telephone number, mailing address, and e-mail address, the account number of any account at issue, a factual description of the nature and basis of the dispute, including the basis and amount of any claimed damages, the amount that the claimant is seeking for resolution of the dispute, and the original personal signature of the party (a digital, electronic, copied, or facsimile signature is not sufficient) and, if the claimant is represented by counsel, a signed statement authorizing the other party to share information about the account and the Claim with such counsel. After the Notice of Pre-Arbitration Dispute is provided, the parties will engage in an informal dispute resolution conference by telephone or videoconference to discuss the Claim and see if a resolution can be reached, including through mediation if mutually desired. If either party is represented by counsel, that party's counsel may participate in the conference, but both you and a Regions Bank representative must personally participate in the conference unless you and we agree otherwise in writing. For the protection of your confidential account information, multiple customers cannot participate in the same informal dispute resolution conference unless mutually agreed to by all parties.

The informal dispute resolution conference shall occur within sixty (60) days of receipt of the Notice of Pre-Arbitration Dispute, unless an extension is mutually agreed to by the parties. The parties shall negotiate in good faith to select a mutually agreeable time. Nothing in this Mutual Arbitration Agreement shall prohibit the parties from engaging in informal communications to resolve the initiating party's Claim at any time, including before the informal dispute resolution conference. Engaging in an informal dispute resolution conference is a requirement that must be fulfilled before commencing arbitration. The parties agree that the statute of limitations and any applicable contractual limitations period shall be tolled from the time when a fully complete Notice of Pre-Arbitration Dispute Resolution is received until the completion of the informal dispute resolution conference (or if the parties agree to mediate, until the completion of the mediation).

If you are initiating the Claim, the Notice of Pre-Arbitration Dispute must be clearly marked "Notice of Pre-Arbitration Dispute" and delivered to Regions Bank Legal Department, Attn: Notice of Pre-Arbitration Dispute, Mailcode: ALBH12201B, P.O. Box 11007, Birmingham, AL 35288. If we are initiating the Claim, we will send the Notice of Pre-Arbitration Dispute to the most recent address for you in our files. If any offers of settlement are discussed by the parties, such information about the proposed settlement will not be disclosed in the arbitration. The Pre-Arbitration Dispute Resolution and informal dispute resolution conference requirements are essential in order to give the parties a meaningful chance to resolve Claims informally. If any aspect of these requirements has not been met, the parties agree that a court can enjoin the filing or prosecution of an arbitration, and, unless prohibited by law, no arbitration provider shall either accept or administer the arbitration or assess fees in connection with such an arbitration.

(b) After completion of the informal dispute resolution conference, if the Claim remains unresolved, either you or we may initiate arbitration by submitting a demand for arbitration to the arbitration administrator. The demand must include (1) the name, telephone number, mailing address, and e-mail address of the party seeking arbitration; (2) the account number of any account at issue; (3) a statement of the legal claims being asserted and the factual basis of those claims; (4) a description of the remedy sought and an accurate, good-faith calculation of the amount in controversy, enumerated in United States Dollars (any request for injunctive relief or attorneys' fees shall not count toward the calculation of the amount in controversy unless such injunctive relief seeks the payment of money); (5) the original personal signature of the party seeking arbitration (a digital, electronic, copied, or facsimile signature is not sufficient); and (6) the party's portion of the applicable filing fee. The party initiating arbitration must serve the demand on the other party via certified mail, return receipt requested, or hand delivery. If the party seeking arbitration is represented by counsel, counsel must also provide an original personal signature on the demand for arbitration (a digital, electronic, copied, or facsimile signature is not sufficient). Counsel must also provide a certification that, to the best of counsel's knowledge, information, and belief, formed after an inquiry reasonable under the circumstances, (1) the demand for arbitration is not being presented for any improper purpose, such as to harass, cause unnecessary delay, or needlessly increase the cost of dispute resolution; (2) the claims and other legal contentions are warranted by existing law or by a nonfrivolous argument for extending, modifying, or reversing existing law or for establishing new law; and (3) the factual contentions have evidentiary support, or if specifically so identified, will likely have evidentiary support after a reasonable opportunity for further investigation or discovery. Any demand for arbitration by you must be delivered to Regions Bank Legal Department, Attn: Arbitration Election, Mailcode: ALBH12201B, P.O. Box 11007, Birmingham, AL 35288, and any demand for arbitration by us must be sent to the most recent address for you in our files.

(c) Any arbitration hearing must take place in the federal judicial district that includes your home address at the time we or you file an arbitration demand, unless the parties agree otherwise. If a party files a lawsuit in court asserting any Claim(s) that are subject to arbitration and the other party demands arbitration or files a motion to compel arbitration with the court which is granted, it will be the responsibility of the party bringing the Claim(s) to follow the pre-arbitration dispute resolution procedures and—if the dispute is not resolved—to commence the arbitration proceeding with an arbitration administrator in accordance with this Mutual Arbitration Agreement and the administrator's rules and procedures. Nothing in that litigation shall constitute a waiver of any rights under this Mutual Arbitration Agreement.

(d) The arbitration will be administered by the American Arbitration Association ("AAA") under its Commercial Arbitration Rules or the Consumer Arbitration Rules, as applicable (collectively "Arbitration Rules") in effect at the time the demand for arbitration is filed. In all instances, the arbitrator(s) shall be selected in accordance with Commercial Arbitration Rule R-12, using the procedure for Appointment from the National Roster, unless you and we agree on the arbitrator(s). The AAA will not administratively appoint the arbitrator(s) from the National Roster under any circumstances and regardless of the number of parties or amount of your Claim. The rules and forms of AAA may be obtained at their website, http://www.adr.org. If AAA cannot or will not administer the arbitration in accordance with this Mutual Arbitration Agreement—in whole or in part and for any reason whatsoever or for no reason—the Mutual Arbitration Agreement shall not fail or be invalidated as a result. Rather, in that instance, the parties may agree upon another administrator, or if they are unable to agree, any party to the Claim may then petition a court of competent jurisdiction under 9 U.S.C. § 5 to appoint the arbitrator(s), and the court shall determine the administrator. Upon consideration of a petition to appoint an arbitrator, should the court decline or refuse to appoint the arbitrator(s), then and only then and within 30 days of a final and non-appealable decision on the matter from such court, you and we shall each respectively pick one arbitrator, and those two arbitrators shall then, by mutual agreement and within 30 days of the selection of the second of them, select a third arbitrator. The third arbitrator so selected shall then arbitrate the Claim as the sole arbitrator, except with respect to a Claim for $500,000 or greater, in which case all three arbitrators so selected shall arbitrate the claim together, with the award and all pre-award decisions made by majority vote. In the case of any arbitration not administered by AAA, the arbitrator(s) shall still be bound by all applicable provisions of this Mutual Arbitration Agreement and the Federal Arbitration Act. They further shall administer and conduct the arbitration under the applicable AAA Arbitration Rules, to the extent such rules may be practicably applied to an arbitration not administered by AAA.

No company may serve as administrator if it fails to abide by the terms of this Mutual Arbitration Agreement unless all parties otherwise consent. The arbitration will proceed in accordance with this mutual Arbitration Agreement and the administrator's rules and procedures in effect at the time of commencement of the arbitration, including any streamlined or expedited arbitration rules, but in the event of a conflict between the two, the provisions of this Mutual Arbitration Agreement shall supersede any and all conflicting arbitration administrator's rules or procedures. To the extent there is a dispute over which arbitration provider shall administer the arbitration, only a court (and not an arbitrator or arbitration administrator) can resolve that dispute, and the arbitration shall be stayed until the court resolves that dispute.

(e) In addition to all other requirements in this Mutual Arbitration Agreement, the following provisions shall apply to all arbitrations between the parties: (1) we will pay any costs that are required to be paid by us under the arbitration administrator's rules and procedures, and subject to applicable law. If the arbitrator rules in your favor on any claim presented, we will reimburse you for arbitration filing fees you have paid. Please check with the arbitration administrator to determine the fees applicable to any arbitration you file. The fee and cost schedule in effect at the time you submit your Claim shall apply. The Arbitration Rules permit you to request a deferral or reduction of the administrative fees of arbitration if paying them would cause you extreme hardship; (2) both parties agree not to oppose or interfere with any negotiations or agreements between the other party and the arbitration administrator relating to a party's portion of the fees. The arbitrator, however, may disallow any private agreement between an administrator, on the one hand, and the negotiating party, on the other hand, if the arbitrator believes that the private agreement undermines his or her neutrality as an arbitrator; (3) the arbitrator may issue orders (including subpoenas to third parties) allowing the parties to conduct discovery sufficient to allow each party to prepare that party's claims and/or defenses, taking into consideration that arbitration is designed to be a speedy and efficient method for resolving disputes; (4) in rendering an award, the arbitrator(s) shall apply applicable contract terms, statutes and legal precedent and shall follow the Federal Rules of Evidence, enforce applicable privileges, and employ applicable burdens of proof. All statutes of limitation, defenses, and attorney-client and other privileges that would apply in a court proceeding shall apply in and to the arbitration; (5) except as provided in the Class, Consolidated, Collective, and/or Representative Action Waiver, the arbitrator may award all remedies to which a party is entitled under applicable law and which would otherwise be available in a court of law under the circumstances (including statutory awards of attorneys' and expert witness fees, costs, expenses, and punitive damages) but shall not be empowered to award any remedies that would not have been available in a court of law for the claims presented in arbitration. The arbitrator shall apply state or federal substantive law, or both, as is applicable; (6) the arbitrator may hear motions to dismiss and/or motions for summary judgment; (7) the arbitrator's decision or award, including decisions on any motions to dismiss or motions for summary judgment, shall be in writing with findings of fact and conclusions of law, and shall be consistent with the law of the jurisdiction that applies to the Claim; (8) any finding that a claim or counterclaim violates the standards set forth in Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 11 shall entitle the other party to recover attorneys' fees, costs, and expenses associated with defending against the claim or counterclaim; (9) either we or you may apply to a court of competent jurisdiction for temporary or preliminary injunctive relief on the ground that without such relief the arbitration may be rendered ineffectual; (10) under no circumstances is an arbitrator or court bound by decisions reached in separate arbitrations involving different parties; (11) the arbitrator shall honor all evidentiary privileges recognized by applicable law, including the attorney-client privilege and attorney work product doctrine; and (12) if at any time the arbitrator or arbitration administrator fails to enforce the terms of this Mutual Arbitration Agreement, either party may seek to enjoin the arbitration proceeding in a court of competent jurisdiction, and the arbitration shall automatically be stayed pending the outcome of that proceeding.

(f) The arbitration of any Claim of $500,000 or greater shall be conducted by a panel of three arbitrators, unless you and we agree otherwise. The arbitration of any Claim of a lesser amount shall be conducted by one arbitrator. Unless you and we agree otherwise, each arbitrator must be a practicing attorney with ten or more years of experience or a retired judge. Except as specifically stated herein, the arbitrator will not be bound by judicial rules of procedure and evidence that would apply in a court, or by state or local laws that relate to arbitration provisions or proceedings. A judgment on the award may be entered by any court having jurisdiction.

Survival and Severability. This Mutual Arbitration Agreement shall survive (1) the closing of your account, (2) the termination of any relationship between us, including the termination of this Deposit Agreement, (3) your death, and (4) any bankruptcy to the extent consistent with applicable bankruptcy law. Except as specified in the Class, Consolidated, Collective, and/or Representative Action Waiver, if any portion of this Mutual Arbitration Agreement is found unenforceable, it shall be severed from the Mutual Arbitration Agreement such that the remainder of this Mutual Arbitration Agreement shall be enforceable to the fullest extent permitted by law. A determination that this Mutual Arbitration Agreement is unenforceable or void in its entirety shall have no effect on the validity or enforceability of any other arbitration agreement between or applicable to the parties.

Effect of Arbitration Award. The arbitrator's award shall be final and binding on all parties, except for any right of appeal provided by the FAA. However, if the amount of the Claim exceeds $500,000 or involves a request for injunctive or declaratory relief that could foreseeably involve a cost or benefit to either party exceeding $500,000, any party can, within thirty (30) days after the entry of the award by the arbitrator, appeal the award to a three-arbitrator panel administered by the Administrator. The panel shall be appointed from the national roster as provided by Appellate Rule A-5, except that the AAA shall not unilaterally appoint the arbitrators for the appeal, unless you and we so agree. The appeal shall be governed by the AAA Optional Appellate Arbitration Rules to the extent they are not inconsistent with this Mutual Arbitration Agreement. Any award eligible for appeal shall not be considered final until after the 30-day period for filing the notice of appeal has expired. The panel shall reconsider anew any aspect of the initial award requested by the appealing party. The decision of the panel shall be by majority vote. Reference in this Mutual Arbitration Agreement to "the arbitrator" shall mean the panel if an appeal of the arbitrator's decision has been taken. Any filing fees and other similar and usual administrative costs of such an appeal will be borne by the party taking the appeal subject to a reallocation by the arbitrator panel as justice requires. Any final decision of the appeal panel is subject to judicial review only as provided under the FAA. No arbitration award involving the parties will have any preclusive effect as to issues or claims in any dispute involving anyone who is not a party to the arbitration, nor will an arbitration award in prior disputes involving other parties have preclusive effect in an arbitration between the parties to this agreement.

Impact on Pending Litigation. This Mutual Arbitration Agreement shall not affect your existing rights with respect to any litigation between us and you that is pending in a state or federal court or arbitration as of the date of this Mutual Arbitration Agreement. However, if on such date you were bound by an existing arbitration agreement with us then that agreement shall continue to apply.

Right to Consult with an Attorney. You have the right to consult with private counsel of your choice, at your own expense, with respect to any aspect of, or any Claim that may be subject to, this Mutual Arbitration Agreement.

3. Deposits; Deposit Of Substitute Checks. You can make deposits by mail, in person at our banking offices, using our Convenience Depository Services (as defined below), or otherwise at or through any of our facilities or services that allow you to make deposits. Subject to our right of setoff and other rights afforded to us in this Agreement or by applicable law, each deposit you make with us will become available for withdrawal in accordance with our Funds Availability Policy, as the same may be amended from time to time, and the terms of the deposit facility or service you use, as applicable. If we discover an error or discrepancy in any deposit, we may make correcting entries and notify you of the correction. However, if any errors or discrepancies with respect to a deposit total less than $1 in the aggregate (a "De Minimis Discrepancy"), you acknowledge and agree that we may elect, in our sole and absolute discretion, not to correct such De Minimis Discrepancy, regardless of whether such De Minimis Discrepancy is in our favor or in your favor. You and we waive any and all claims and demands against each other with respect to any De Minimis Discrepancy that we elect not to correct. We also have the right to limit, refuse or return any deposit.

Preprinted deposit slips help us process deposits more quickly and minimize errors. We will not be liable for any errors resulting from the use of a counter deposit slip, whether completed by you or by one of our employees. You are responsible for reconstruction and proof of loss of any items, including checks and other negotiable instruments included in deposits that are lost or stolen in transit before we have received and accepted the deposit. Further, you agree to fully cooperate and assist in the reconstruction of any items, including checks and other negotiable instruments included in the deposits that are lost or stolen after we have received and accepted the deposit. If a deposit contains foreign currency or items that are denominated in a foreign currency, the final credit for the deposit will be based on our exchange rate in effect at the time of conversion to United States Currency pursuant to our policies and procedures. Funds from an item denominated in foreign currency will be made available upon final payment of the item by the drawee or as otherwise disclosed to you at the time of deposit. Exchange rates may fluctuate significantly in a short period of time. You bear all exchange risk related to deposits of foreign currency and items denominated in foreign currency.

You acknowledge that any ATM we operate that accepts deposits, our night depositories, our deposit by mail service and any post-verification deposit service (e.g., daytime deposit drop) that we offer ("Convenience Depository Services") are for your convenience. We are not accountable for deposits made through any Convenience Depository Service until the deposit is actually verified and accepted by our authorized employees. Our records are conclusive proof of what deposits we received from you through any Convenience Depository Service. You expressly understand and agree that each delivery or attempted delivery by you of any deposit or deposit bags shall be at your sole risk at all times, and until we have actually verified and accepted any deposit, the bank-customer relationship of us as debtor and you as creditor shall not arise for such deposit. Instead and prior to our verification and acceptance of such deposit, the relationship shall be deemed that of us as a gratuitous bailee and you as bailor. We shall not be liable for any loss by you in your attempts to use Convenience Depository Services. Any initial or interim credit that you receive with respect to a deposit made through any Convenience Depository Service is subject to verification by us, and we may make adjustments to your account at any time to ensure proper crediting to your account. You agree to comply with our rules in effect from time to time for making deposits using Convenience Depository Services and you agree to use equipment and supplies (e.g., bags and envelopes) that conform to our specifications. You agree to exercise due care in using any Convenience Depository Service (e.g., by properly sealing depository bags, securing night deposit boxes, etc.), and you agree that we are not responsible for any loss or damage you may incur in connection with the use of any Convenience Depository Service unless the loss or damage is the result of our gross negligence or deliberate malfeasance. We may discontinue or suspend any Convenience Depository Service at any time in our discretion without notice to you, except such notice as may be required by applicable law.

You agree that you will not deposit, without our prior written consent, "substitute checks," as defined by federal law, or Image Replacement Documents that purport to be substitute checks and have not been previously endorsed by a bank. If you deposit such an item, you agree to reimburse us for losses, costs and expenses we may incur associated with warranty or indemnity claims. If you provide us with an electronic representation of a substitute check for deposit into your account instead of an original check, you agree to reimburse us for losses, costs and expenses we incur because the substitute check resulting from the electronic representation does not meet applicable substitute check standards and/or causes duplicate payments.

Unless otherwise expressly provided in this Agreement, and in addition to warranties provided elsewhere in this Agreement or provided by law, you acknowledge and agree that you make all applicable Uniform Commercial Code warranties with respect to each item you deposit to your account, and you agree that you do not and will not disclaim any of such warranties. You expressly guarantee and warrant with respect to each item you deposit that such item, whether paper or electronic, is properly payable. If you deposit a "remotely created check," as that term is defined in regulations and/or issuances of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, as amended, you warrant that the person on whose account the remotely created check is drawn authorized the issuance of the check in the amount stated on the check and to the payee stated on the check. If you deposit an "electronically-created item," as that term is defined in regulations and/or issuances of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, as amended, you agree to indemnify us against any and all losses (including, without limitation, losses related to our indemnification obligations to other banks) that result from the fact that (i) the electronic image or electronic information is not derived from a paper check, (ii) the person on whose account the electronically-created item is drawn did not authorize the issuance of the item in the amount stated on the item or to the payee stated on the item, or (iii) a person receives a transfer, presentment, or return of, or otherwise is charged for an electronically-created item such that the person is asked to make payment based on an item or check it has already paid.

You further expressly guarantee and warrant with respect to each item you deposit that all endorsements are valid and that all necessary endorsements are included. You agree to reimburse us for any loss or expense (including reasonable attorneys' fees as permitted by law) that we incur because you fail to endorse an item exactly as it is drawn. In any event if you fail to endorse an item that you cash or submit for deposit, we have the right, but are not obligated, to supply the missing endorsement. We may require that certain government, insurance company and other special types of items be personally endorsed by each of the payees.

If we have reason to believe that any item you have deposited is irregular, unauthorized, or fraudulent in any way, or has any missing or forged signature or endorsement, or should not have been paid or may not be paid by the drawee (any such condition, an "Item Irregularity"), you agree promptly to cooperate with us and to take such action as we may require to correct or resolve to our satisfaction any such Item Irregularity. Such action may include (without limitation) presentation of such evidence that we may request or that otherwise is acceptable to us that all payees or transferees with respect to the item have, in fact, endorsed or authorized the endorsement of the item. Your failure to cooperate with us promptly and as we request shall constitute a breach of this Agreement, and in such event, or in the event another financial institution notifies us of or makes a claim with respect to an Item Irregularity or otherwise indicates that an item you have deposited will not be paid due to any Item Irregularity, we shall have an immediate claim against you and a right (without limitation or preclusion of any other rights or remedies available to us) to place a hold on or charge your account for the amount of any item in question without notice to you. You agree that we may release or remit such amount as we deem appropriate or as required by law for the resolution of the Item Irregularity without notice to you.

We may exercise our rights with respect to the correction or resolution of Item Irregularities notwithstanding the pendency or expiration of any funds availability hold notice we may have provided to you, and we may, in any event, assert our claim against the proceeds of any collected item with respect to which there is an Item Irregularity immediately upon or at any time after the expiration of any funds availability hold period. You agree that we will not be liable to you for any overdrafts or other nonsufficient funds items or transactions on your account in the event we exercise any of our rights with respect Item Irregularities.

A direct deposit is an electronic transfer of funds made by a payor, such as an employer or a government agency, to a payee's bank account through a payment system known as the automated clearing house (ACH). Regions Early Pay is a service whereby we may make funds from direct deposits available to you up to two business days prior to our receipt of the funds for regularly recurring direct deposits made directly to your Regions checking, savings, or money market account, subject to the terms and conditions governing your account. All Regions checking, savings, and money market accounts that meet our criteria for Early Pay are automatically enrolled for the Early Pay service, and there is no fee for the service. You may opt out of the Early Pay service at any time by contacting a Regions banking office or calling 1-800-REGIONS. It may take up to 60 days to process your opt-out request, and we may continue to provide the Early Pay service during that time. We may determine which direct deposits and which deposit accounts qualify for the Early Pay service in our discretion and according to criteria we establish from time to time, and whether a direct deposit qualifies for the service may depend on other factors, such as the time of receipt or terms or coding of a payor's ACH file, fraud prevention restrictions (including restrictions related to the amount of a direct deposit), and other confidential risk considerations. These factors may change from time to time without notice to you. Once a regularly recurring direct deposit starts, it may take up to 60 days for us to determine whether the direct deposit qualifies for the Early Pay service, and our determination may change over time. We do not guarantee that any direct deposit will qualify for the Early Pay service. Any direct deposit that does not qualify for the service will be made available as provided in our funds availability policy. If we make funds from a direct deposit available to you prior to the time we receive the funds from the payor through the ACH, but we are unable to collect part or all of the funds, you will be liable to repay us the funds we made available to you. In this situation, you agree that we may debit your account to recover the funds without prior notice to you, even if the debit transaction overdraws your account. In the event of an overdraft, you agree to pay the applicable overdraft fee as then disclosed in our pricing or fee schedule. We provide the Early Pay service as a courtesy in our sole and absolute discretion, and we may terminate, suspend, or modify the service at any time without notice to you.

4. Collection Of Items. In receiving items for deposit or collection, we act as your collection agent and assume no responsibility beyond the exercise of ordinary care. Special instructions for handling an item are effective only if made in a separate writing and given to us along with the item. Any special instructions are subject to acceptance by us in our sole and absolute discretion, and in any event, you must give us reasonable notice and opportunity to act on any special instructions that you give us. We will not be liable for default or negligence of our correspondents or for loss in transit, and each correspondent will be responsible for its own negligence. Items and their proceeds may be handled in accordance with applicable Federal Reserve rules, clearinghouse rules, funds transfer system rules, and contractual agreements with other financial institutions. All items are credited subject to final payment and our receipt of cash or its equivalent. Without prior notice to you, we may charge back any dishonored item at any time, whether before or after final payment by the drawer's bank, even if doing so results in an overdraft in the account.

We may exercise charge-back whether the item is returned or not, and whether it is returned by electronic or other means. You will be liable for any overdraft created by the charge-back, including applicable overdraft fees. We are authorized to pursue collection of previously dishonored items and, in doing so, we may permit the payor bank to hold an item beyond any applicable deadline.

We may from time to time offer a service whereby we immediately cash checks or other items that we receive from you for collection without regard to insufficient collected or available funds in your account to cover the checks or items at that time. In the event that you use such service, you agree to pay our applicable fees and charges. We reserve all rights of chargeback and other rights and remedies as provided in this Agreement, or as provided by law, in the event such checks or items are dishonored or returned unpaid, or in the event that you breach any warranty or other term of this Agreement with respect to such checks or items, and our immediate cashing of such checks or items in exchange for a fee shall in no way be construed as a waiver of such rights and remedies.

As your agent for collecting your checks, we may "truncate" your paper checks (i.e., convert them into electronic information or images) and present and return them electronically. We may also truncate paper checks that are dishonored by the drawer's bank when we re-present them. Under authority of federal law (commonly called "Check 21"), we may reconvert a truncated check into a paper "substitute check" which is the legal equivalent of the original. For further details, see Section VI – Important Information For Our Consumer Customers About Substitute Checks below.

5. Authorized Signers; Remotely Created Drafts; Facsimile Signatures. You agree that each signer on your account is authorized individually to conduct any and all business with respect to the account and to perform any and all account transactions, subject to this Agreement. Also, you appoint as your attorney-in-fact and/or duly authorized agent each person whose name is recorded as a signer on the signature card for an account to conduct all business with respect to the account (except as restricted herein) including, but not limited to, issuing stop payment orders, depositing funds to the account, closing the account and receiving the balance of funds on deposit, endorsing any item payable to a depositor (or payable jointly to a depositor and any other person) for deposit to the account, and withdrawing funds from the account. You authorize us to honor instructions received by us from any such person, whether such instructions are written, oral (including by telephone) or electronic. Where applicable law requires your concurrence in any transaction or business regarding or affecting your account, you expressly authorize any other signatory on your account to concur on your behalf as your attorney-in-fact or agent, and the authorization of any such transaction or business by any other signatory constitutes your concurrence without any further action or expression on the part of such signatory or on your part. Because our automated check processing precludes us from identifying items that require multiple signatures, you agree that any multiple signature requirement is for your internal purposes only, and you authorize us to debit your account even though the item contains less than the required number of signatures. We may, if we elect to do so, honor items signed in a different form from that set forth on the signature card, or we may refuse to pay any item where the account to be charged is not accurately described or encoded, or the signer's name is in a form different from that on our records of persons authorized to sign. Subject to any other provisions of this Agreement relating to our procedures, conditions, requirements, and discretion as to powers of attorney, and without limitation on the foregoing provisions as to the attorney-in-fact and/or agency status of the other signatories on your account, an authorized signer may appoint one or more attorneys-in-fact to execute items on his or her behalf. An attorney-in-fact may sign his or her own name or the name of the authorized signer for whom he or she is acting. All authorized signers are bound by and subject to the terms and conditions of this Agreement.

Subject to the provisions of applicable law, the authority of any person who has no beneficial ownership interest in the account and who is authorized as a signer on the account and has the designation in the account signature card of additional authorized signatory, convenience signer or personal agent, or a similar designation of representative authority, will survive the disability, incompetency and incapacity of the account owner(s), and we may rely on the authority of any such person until actually notified in writing, in form and substance acceptable to us, of the revocation of such person's authority and given a reasonable opportunity to act upon such notification.

If we pay an item that you have not signed, but you have provided information identifying your account to a seller of property or services who created an item purportedly authorized by you, payment of the item is deemed to be authorized.

If you use a facsimile signature or other form of signature for signing or authenticating items drawn on your account, you assume the entire risk that such facsimile signature or device will be used improperly or by an unauthorized person. We will have no liability to you for paying items signed or authenticated by any person who is not authorized to affix such facsimile signature or use such device or by any person who exceeds his or her authority to do so.

If you have opened your account electronically or have signed or authenticated an account signature card electronically, you agree that any written signature that you apply or cause or direct to be applied to any item drawn on your account is an authorized signature and that we, in paying items drawn on your account, may refer to and rely on such written signatures on authorized items previously drawn against your account for signature verification purposes.

6. Fraud Detection And Deterrence; Identity Theft. Check fraud and identity theft are big problems for banks and their customers. There are several precautions you can and should take to decrease the risk of unauthorized debits to your account. Such precautions include, but are not limited to:

- Safeguarding critical identity information such as your deposit account number.
- Safeguarding checkbooks, unused checks, electronic access devices, ATM and debit card PIN numbers, and facsimile signature machines.
- Reviewing checkbooks, unused checks and online statements for unauthorized activity upon any suspicion that checks may have been stolen.
- Closing your account immediately upon discovery of any known or suspected unauthorized debits.
- Using services that help detect and deter fraud (such as "positive pay"). If we offer you such a product or service, you agree that if you fail to accept and implement it you will be precluded from asserting claims against us for paying any unauthorized debit that could have been avoided by use of the product or service.

You agree to call us immediately at 1-800-REGIONS (734-4667) if you suspect or detect any fraudulent activity or unauthorized transactions in your account, and you agree to cooperate with us to mitigate the effect of any fraudulent or criminal activity affecting your account and to recover any losses you or we may incur as a result of fraudulent or criminal activity affecting your account.

7. Keeping Track Of Your Transactions; Posting And Payment Of Transactions; Limits On Withdrawal; Cashing Checks For Third Parties. For purposes of this Agreement, "available balance," "available funds" and words of similar import mean the balance in your account that is immediately available for the posting, payment, or authorization of payment, withdrawal, or other debit transactions. Funds subject to holds (e.g., funds availability holds or delays, or transaction authorization holds) will not be available for the posting, payment, or authorization of payment, withdrawal, or other debit transactions. The balance available throughout the day for the authorization of payment and withdrawal transactions may increase or decrease as our deposit systems receive or recognize transactions on your account. You acknowledge and agree that you are responsible for keeping track of your available balance and all transactions made on your account to ensure your available balance is sufficient to cover all transactions. If you wish to avoid overdrafts and the return of items due to insufficient funds and associated fees, you should not execute debit transactions that may be presented for payment when your account's available balance is insufficient to cover the transactions. Overdraft and nonsufficient funds fees are determined when transactions are presented for payment. We offer tools and services that can help you monitor your account balance and activity, including the balance of funds currently available for debit or withdrawal debit transactions, and we recommend that you use them. For example, you may keep track of transactions and balances by using Regions Online and Mobile Banking, by calling us at 1-800-REGIONS (734-4667), by using our ATMs, video teller machines and branch facilities, or by enrolling for email and mobile alerts (Regions Online and Mobile Banking services are subject to enrollment requirements and separate terms and conditions).

You agree that we may post transactions to your account and pay items presented for payment in any order and using any methodology or protocol that we choose, and you acknowledge and agree that we may change the posting and payment order, methodology or protocol that we use at any time and from time to time without notice to you. In the event you do not have sufficient available funds in your account to pay all items or withdrawal requests presented to us on a given day, we may pay such items or honor such requests in any order we choose, and we may return items or refuse payment requests in any order we choose. You will be responsible for the payment of any fees that are imposed as a result of our decision-making process, and you agree that we will in no way be liable to you in the event the method and order that we choose to post transactions and pay items result in higher aggregate fees being charged against your account than other methods and ordering protocols that may have been used.

Without limiting our discretion in the choice of transaction processing methods and protocols, and without limiting our right to change such methods and protocols without notice to you, you acknowledge that we may use the following general processing methodology to post transactions to your account:

ACCOUNTS CLASSIFIED AS PERSONAL DEPOSIT PRODUCTS ON OUR DEPOSIT SYSTEM

1. We start with the available balance in your account at the end of our business day.
2. We add available deposits and credits in the following order:
   (i) Closing credits.
   (ii) General deposit and credit transactions (e.g., wire transfers, deposits, ACH credits, etc.).
3. We subtract debits, payments, and withdrawals in the following order:
   (i) Returned deposited items.
   (ii) General debit/withdrawal transactions (e.g., wire transfers, ACH debits, Zelle® payments, checks, etc.) in time order according to time stamps applied to the transactions by our processing systems. Different processing systems may use different logic for setting and applying time stamps, but time stamps generally are based on the time when the processing system receives or recognizes a transaction and may not correspond to the time when you initiate, execute, deliver, submit, or authorize a transaction. If our processing system for some reason does not apply a time stamp to a transaction, the transaction will be assigned a default end-of-day time stamp and will post after all other general debit/withdrawal transactions. In the event multiple debit/withdrawal transactions have the same time stamp (including multiple transactions with the default end-of-day time stamp), electronic items will post before paper items, electronic items with the same time stamp will post in low to high transaction amount, and checks with the same time stamp will post in ascending check number order.
   (iii) Fees generated from our deposit systems.
   (iv) Closing withdrawal.

NON-PERSONAL ACCOUNTS (INCLUDING BUSINESS, COMMERCIAL, PUBLIC FUNDS, NOT-FOR-PROFIT, AND IOLTA/IOTA DEPOSIT PRODUCTS)

1. We start with the available balance in your account at the end of our business day.
2. We add available deposits and credits in the following order:
   (i) Closing credits.
   (ii) General desposit and credit transactions (e.g., wire transfers, deposits, ACH credits, etc.).
   (iii) Non-personal credits generated from our commercial deposit systems.
3. We subtract debits, payments, and withdrawals in the following order:
   (i) ACH settlement.
   (ii) Returned deposited items.
   (iii) Non-personal debits generated from our commercial deposit systems.
   (iv) General debit/withdrawal transactions (e.g., wire transfers, ACH debits, checks, etc.) in time order according to time stamps applied to the transactions by our processing systems. Different processing systems may use different logic for setting and applying time stamps, but time stamps generally are based on the time when the processing system receives or recognizes a transaction and may not correspond to the time when you initiate, execute, deliver, submit, or authorize a transaction. However, all checks will ordinarily receive a time stamp of 11 p.m. Central Time. If our processing system for some reason does not apply a time stamp to a transaction, the transaction will be assigned a default end-of-day time stamp and will post after all other general debit/withdrawal transactions. In the event multiple debit/withdrawal transactions have the same time stamp (including multiple transactions with the default end-of-day time stamp), electronic items will post before paper items, electronic items with the same time stamp will post in low to high transaction amount, and checks with the same time stamp will post in ascending check number order.
   (v) Closing withdrawal.
   (vi) Fees generated from our commercial deposit systems.

With respect to any account, whether a transaction is posted on any given business day may depend on our receipt of the transaction before applicable cutoff times.

Modern bank payment processing systems and operations are complex. You acknowledge that the description of the foregoing processing methodology is general in nature and does not describe in detail or limit in any way all possible processing decisions or protocols that we may make or use within the context of the general methodology. You release us from any and all liability and claims based on the omission of any such possible decision or protocol in particular from the general methodology description. If you have questions about particular transaction processing and posting order matters, please call us at 1-800-REGIONS (734-4667).

If we pay any item that results in an overdraft in your account, you agree to pay us for the amount of the overdraft and to pay our standard overdraft or nonsufficient funds fee then in effect. If we return any item that would have overdrawn your account if the item had been paid, you agree to pay our standard nonsufficient funds or returned item fee then in effect. An overdraft, nonsufficient funds or returned item fee may result from any item presented for payment against insufficient available funds in your account, including a check, in-person withdrawal, ATM withdrawal, debit card transaction or withdrawal by any other manual or electronic means whatsoever. We may charge the amount of any overdraft and/or any overdraft, nonsufficient funds or returned item fee to any account you have with us. All fees are set forth in our pricing schedule. Other provisions of this Agreement may provide additional information regarding overdrafts and overdraft protection.

As you use your account, you should bear in mind that modern payments systems may be more likely to process transactions in real time or near real time. In such a processing environment, if you do not wish to incur overdraft, nonsufficient funds or returned item fees when you write a check or initiate a debit, you should make sure your account contains sufficient available funds at that time (and, in the event of a delay in processing or presentment, at the time the item is presented against your account for payment) to cover the transaction. If you initiate transactions when your account does not contain sufficient available funds and then later make a deposit to cover those transactions, it is likely that those transactions could overdraw your account or be returned for insufficient funds.

We reserve the right to limit the amount of funds that may be withdrawn from your account in cash for various reasons including, without limit, the amount of currency that is available at a particular branch or ATM terminal. This limit is in addition to those set forth in other sections of this Agreement.

We process items with high-speed automated equipment. In order for that equipment to function properly and efficiently, all items drawn against an account or used to withdraw funds from an account must meet certain formatting and other technical specifications. Information concerning these specifications is available upon request. If an item that does not meet these specifications is presented to us, we reserve the right to reject the item, impose a special fee for processing the item, or both. We also reserve the right to refuse a withdrawal or transfer request which is attempted by any manner not specifically authorized for the account in question, which is greater in frequency or number than that specifically permitted for the account in question, or which is for an amount less than any minimum withdrawal or transfer denomination required for the account in question.

Some checks that you originate as paper checks may be truncated (i.e., converted into electronic information or images). The truncated items may be reconverted to substitute paper checks. In either case, we may debit your account for these items, regardless of the form they take. Moreover, we may debit your account for other items that do not qualify under federal law as "substitute checks," including electronic information and Image Replacement Documents, if they are replacements for properly payable items.

Because cashing a check for a person who does not maintain a deposit relationship with us exposes us to additional fraud risks and imposes additional administrative burdens on us, you agree that we may charge a fee for cashing a check for any such person when the check is drawn on your account, deduct the fee from the cash remitted to such person, and/or require a thumbprint or other physical and/or documentary requirements from such persons. We also may provide certain ATM or electronic kiosk check cashing services to persons who maintain deposit or other financial services relationships with us, or we may offer such persons expedited funds availability options with respect to certain check transactions. When these customers use any such service with regard to any check drawn on your account, you agree that we may charge a fee for the service and deduct the fee from the check proceeds. You release us from any and all claims and liability for charging any person a check cashing fee or other fee related to the handling or processing of a check, and/or for refusing to handle, process or pay a check for which the fee is not paid or with respect to which physical or documentary requirements are not satisfied, including (but not limited to) any claims for wrongful dishonor.

8. Interest-Bearing Accounts.

Account Limitations. We reserve the right to ask for seven days' written notice before you may withdraw money from savings and money market deposit accounts and from interest-bearing checking accounts that we designate as, or that are classified in our books and records as, negotiable order of withdrawal (NOW) accounts, as such accounts are defined and described in 12 U.S.C. § 1832, 12 C.F.R. Part 204, and/or other applicable regulations, as amended. You must satisfy any and all eligibility requirements established by federal regulations or us in order to maintain these accounts. Please refer to our pricing schedule for transaction and other fees related to these accounts. There may be other limitations that apply to these accounts.

Payment Of Interest. We have no obligation to pay interest on any deposit, except as required by law or otherwise agreed by us or disclosed to you in writing. For interest-bearing accounts, interest will be paid at the rate and on the interest payment dates we establish from time to time for that type of account. We use the daily balance method to calculate the interest earned on your account. This method applies a daily periodic rate to the collected balance in your account each day. Interest begins to accrue on cash, electronic payments and on deposits of checks drawn on us on the business day the cash or such check is deposited into your account. Interest begins to accrue on your account no later than the business day we receive credit for the deposit of items such as a check you deposited to your account. We will receive credit for checks drawn on other financial institutions based on the general availability schedule established either by the Federal Reserve Bank or its appropriate branch for the district in which we are located. We may not pay interest on funds represented by an item that is returned unpaid. If your account is converted for any reason from an interest-bearing to a non-interest bearing account before interest is credited, you will not receive the accrued interest. To receive interest (or certain rates of interest) on your type of account, you may be required to maintain a minimum balance of collected funds established by us from time to time. The interest rate paid on your interest-bearing account is determined by us, in our sole judgment and discretion. The Interest Rate and Annual Percentage Yield (APY) may vary depending on the type of account, the balance in the account, and other factors. For certain types of accounts, the interest rate and APY may vary as often as every day. The details of these conditions are contained in the pricing schedule.

9. Sub-Accounts. Accounts, whether interest-bearing or non-interest-bearing, may be divided into two sub-accounts: a transaction sub-account to which all financial transactions are posted; and a money-market holding sub-account into which available balances above a preset level are transferred daily. Funds will be retransferred to the transaction sub-account to meet transactional needs. For non-interest bearing accounts, both sub-accounts are non-interest bearing. For interest bearing accounts, both sub-accounts pay the same interest rate. Transfers can occur on any business day. Transfers to the holding sub-account will be made whenever available balances in the transaction sub-account exceed a preset level. Transfers from the holding sub-account to the transaction sub-account will be made whenever transaction sub-account balances fall below a preset level. If banking regulations limit the number of transfers between these types of sub-accounts, all balances in the holding sub-account will be transferred to the transaction sub-account when the limit for any particular period is reached. Both sub-accounts are treated as a single account for purposes of deposits and withdrawals, access and information, tax reporting, fees, etc., except that we reserve the right to require seven days' advance notice before permitting a withdrawal from the holding sub-account. We are required by law to reserve this right.

10. Review Of Statements. You are responsible for exercising reasonable promptness in examining your account statement each statement period, or if provided, originals or imaged copies of cancelled checks, or your account activity through the internet if we provide such access, to determine whether any payment or debit was not authorized because of an alteration of an item or because a signature or endorsement on the item was unauthorized, or for any other discrepancy or reason for which you believe that the debit is not correct. If you discover an unauthorized payment or other discrepancy, you must promptly notify us in writing of the relevant facts. Your report must identify the specific items or debits that you are challenging.

If you fail to comply with your duty to examine your statements and account activity and report errors, discrepancies and unauthorized transactions, in addition to any and all other rights and remedies available to us, we shall have the defenses contained in § 4-406 of the Uniform Commercial Code (UCC), as amended, as adopted in the state in which your account was established. In addition, if your claim involves a series of items containing unauthorized signatures or alterations by the same wrongdoer, or conspiracy of wrongdoers, you shall be precluded from asserting against us any unauthorized signature or alteration by the same wrongdoer or conspiracy of wrongdoers on any item paid in good faith on or after 10 calendar days after the first statement describing the first altered or unauthorized item was sent or made available to you. By this provision, you and we intend to define a reasonable time period for the examination of bank statements for purposes of the "Repeater Rule," or the "Same Wrongdoer" rule as provided in § 4-406(d) of the UCC.

Without regard to the care or lack of care of either you or us, if you fail within 30 calendar days after the statement or item is sent or made available to discover and report with respect to an item (i) your unauthorized signature, (ii) any unauthorized or missing endorsement, or (iii) any alteration on an item, you shall be precluded from asserting against us the unauthorized signature, the unauthorized or missing endorsement or alteration on that item. This absolute preclusion applies (i) to each item that you fail to report within 30 calendar days and (ii) regardless of the legal theory you assert. By this provision, you and we intend to shorten the absolute statutory preclusion period for unauthorized signatures and alterations specified in § 4-406(f) of the UCC and to establish a contractual condition precedent for reporting claims involving unauthorized or missing endorsements.

Except for transactions covered by the Electronic Funds Transfer Act or unauthorized debits involving Substitute Checks, you must report any other problems with your account within 30 calendar days of the date we send or make available the statement or items, failing which you will be precluded from asserting the problem against us, even if we fail to exercise ordinary care in the transaction.

If we provide you with access to your account via the internet, then for purposes of your duty to examine your statements and account activity and report errors, discrepancies and unauthorized transactions, account statements and items will be deemed to be "made available" on the day the subject debit occurred, whether you accessed your account through the internet or not.

If you do not timely receive any account statement, you shall notify us as soon as possible but in no event later than 10 calendar days after such account statement would ordinarily be received by you.

You agree to complete such affidavits and documents we deem necessary to process any claim you make regarding your account. You also agree that you will provide all reasonable cooperation to us in the civil or criminal prosecution of (i) any party responsible for any unauthorized withdrawals from your account or (ii) any party who has made an unauthorized endorsement on any item payable to you if such item was deposited or negotiated by us. Your failure to comply with these procedures may result in a denial of your claim.

We will mail the statement to the address for the account in our records, unless you and we have agreed to a different means for the delivery of statements. You agree to notify us immediately of any change in your mailing address for the delivery of statements. If any statement is returned to us because of an incorrect address, we may suspend sending statements to you until you notify us of your correct mailing address, or we may, at our sole discretion and without obligation, use any source available to us to update and/or validate the accuracy of your mailing address and begin sending statements to such updated and/or validated address. If you have requested us to hold, rather than mail your statements, you must call for them promptly. You will be responsible for the same care in reviewing the statements and related items as if they were mailed.

11. Check Retention Accounts. If you select an account in which checks are truncated or imaged, you authorize us to retain a copy at our expense of all checks, drafts, and/or debit or credit advices for the account. The original documents will be destroyed after they have been copied. The copies will be available for seven (7) years from the date the checks are paid. All copies produced are subject to a copy fee. To produce a copy, we need the account number, the check number, the exact amount of the check, and the date the check was paid. If we can't provide a check copy and you lose money as a result, our liability is limited to any direct loss you sustain up to the amount of the check. You agree to provide any information we require concerning the missing check prior to our payment of your claim, and if you fail to substantiate your claim, we may decline to pay it. You agree that our retention of checks and other items does not alter or waive your responsibility to examine your statements or change the time limits for providing notice to us of forged or altered items, or other errors.

12. Service Charges. You agree to pay all service charges and fees that apply to your account or transactions within or affecting your account. The amounts of charges and fees are subject to change from time to time, and new types of charges and fees may be added and apply to your account from time to time. We will notify you of changes and additions to fees and charges as required by applicable law; otherwise, such changes and additions may be made without notice to you. You acknowledge receipt of our pricing schedule listing current service charges, fees and balance requirements. You further acknowledge that the pricing schedule you have received does not necessarily reflect all possible fees and charges that may apply to your account from time to time. A current pricing schedule is available at our branch offices, and you may request information about any fees and charges applicable to your account from any of our customer service representatives. You agree that we may debit all applicable fees and charges, as well as charges for the purchase of checks, drafts, and other items purchased by you from or through us, to your account when due without further notice. You also agree that we will not be liable for returning items because of insufficient funds that result from debiting your account for these charges. In addition, you agree to pay all expenses, including reasonable attorneys' fees, involved in the collection of fees, charges, overdrafts,or the enforcement of any other of our rights or remedies in relation to your account.

13. Endorsing Items. If you sign, stamp or affix an endorsement to an item that extends into the space reserved for bank endorsements or otherwise cause our endorsement to be obscured, and the return of an item is delayed because of the obscured bank endorsement, you agree to reimburse and hold us harmless against any loss, expense and cost we may incur because of your endorsement. You authorize us to debit any such amount against your account without further notice to you.

14. Information-Sharing. If you are a consumer who has obtained a financial product or service from us that is used primarily for personal, family or household purposes, you should refer to our privacy notice for a description of our information sharing policies and practices. You may request a copy of our privacy notice from any of our customer service representatives. Provisions regarding the sharing of consumer account information are also set forth in Section V – Electronic Funds Transfer Disclosure to Our Consumer Customers. Otherwise, you agree that we may disclose information as necessary or convenient to perform our obligations and responsibilities in relation to your account, or to the extent not prohibited by law. If you authorize or direct a third party to request information from us about your account or your other banking relationships with us, you acknowledge and agree that we may charge a fee for furnishing the information to such party.

15. Verification. You authorize us to investigate or reinvestigate at any time any information provided by you in connection with your application for or use of any account, and to request reports from credit bureaus and consumer reporting agencies for such purposes and for any other purpose permissible under applicable law. In order for us to verify that you continue to qualify and meet eligibility requirements for your account, or to fulfill our policies and procedures with respect to the monitoring of accounts, or to comply with the requirements of applicable law or regulation, we may from time to time request you to confirm information you have provided to us or to provide us with additional information. You agree to confirm information or to provide additional information as we may request and within 30 days after our request. Pending your compliance with our request, you agree that we may, in our discretion and without closing your account, limit or suspend your access to your account, refuse to permit withdrawals or transfers from or deposits to your account, or take such other action as we deem appropriate or legally required, all in our judgment and discretion and without limiting or waiving any other rights or remedies available to us, and without any liability to you (including, without limitation, any liability for any claim for wrongful dishonor of any item).

16. Automated Clearinghouse. From time to time, you may be a party to an Automated Clearinghouse (ACH) entry that may be credited or charged to your account. You agree to be bound by applicable automated or other clearinghouse rules and regulations then in effect. Some checks that you give to a merchant may be converted by the merchant into ACH debit entries, in which case they will be collected electronically and charged against your account much more quickly than a paper check. This means that (a) you will have a reduced right to stop payment, (b) you need to make sure that your account has sufficient collected funds to cover the debit, and (c) you will not receive any copy of a cancelled check with your monthly statement. If a merchant uses a blank check to initiate a debit entry at the point of sale, the merchant should return the voided check to you. You should treat the voided check with care because someone else who obtains possession of it could use the information to initiate additional debits against your account. A merchant who receives your check by mail should give you notice of the conversion but will destroy the original check. Whether your check is converted at the point of sale or at the merchant's lockbox, a description of the transaction will appear on your monthly statement from us. For further information on ACH transfers, see Section V – Electronic Funds Transfer Disclosure to Our Consumer Customers.

17. Wire Transfers. We have established rules and security procedures for initiating and receiving funds transfers to the extent they are not subject to the Electronic Fund Transfer Act or Regulation E. These include a requirement that you sign a Funds Transfer Agreement before we initiate certain funds transfers. In the event you do not execute our Funds Transfer Agreement and in consideration of our handling your funds transfers, you agree to abide by our established rules and security procedures for funds transfers which include, without limitation, the following:

Governing Rules. You agree to be bound by any rules then in effect governing the use of any system through which the funds may be transmitted including, but not limited to, Federal Reserve Board Regulation J with regard to FEDWIRE.

Notice. We will not give telephonic notice to you of incoming credits unless you make a written request for the service in advance. If so requested, we will use reasonable efforts to provide such notification, but shall have no liability for failure to notify or for incorrect or untimely notification. You will receive confirmation of executed funds transfer payment orders in the periodic statements provided by us to you. If you believe we have failed to properly credit or debit a transfer to you, you agree to promptly notify your account officer or banking representative at the branch where you do your principal business of all of the relevant facts. If you fail to notify us within 30 days of the mailing of the statement reflecting the debit caused by a wire transfer, the debit is deemed to be authorized.

Final Payments. Except for FEDWIRE funds transfers, any credit we give you is provisional until we receive final payment. If we do not receive final payment, you agree that we may reverse the credit to your account or that you will otherwise reimburse us if funds in your account are not sufficient.

Compensation. In the event we shall be liable to you for the delay or improper completion of funds transfer as a result of our error, our liability shall be limited to payment for loss of interest on the use of the funds. Interest shall be calculated on the basis of the average Federal Funds rate for the period involved. Any such compensation will be paid, in our option, by either (a) a lump sum payment of cash, or (b) a credit to your account with us.

Use of Account Numbers. You are notified and agree that if your payment order in a funds transfer identifies any bank or the beneficiary by both a name and an identifying (or bank account) number and the name and number identify different persons, execution of the payment order, payment to the beneficiary, or cancellation of the payment order may be made solely on the basis of the identifying number. We shall have no liability for failing to detect any error contained in any payment order sent by you to us.

By using any of our funds transfer services, you acknowledge and agree that our methods and procedures for the authorization and authentication of funds transfers constitute commercially reasonable security procedures under applicable law.

Unless we have otherwise expressly agreed with you in writing, if we receive a funds transfer denominated in foreign currency for credit to your account, we may, in our discretion, prior to or upon acceptance of the transaction, convert the transaction to the U.S. dollar equivalent at our exchange rate in effect at the time of conversion pursuant to our policies and procedures. Exchange rates may differ depending on the amount of the transaction. Exchange rates may fluctuate significantly in a short period of time. You bear all exchange risk related to funds transfers denominated in foreign currency.

18. Assignment. Accounts are transferable only on our records, and except as expressly provided in this Agreement, you may not assign or transfer your account (whether as security for a debt or otherwise) or this Agreement, or any of your rights therein or thereunder, without our written acknowledgement and consent, which may be granted or withheld in our absolute discretion. In the event we acknowledge and consent to the transfer or assignment of any account, such account will remain subject to our right of setoff and our other rights and remedies hereunder with respect to obligations incurred and defaults, events, and/or circumstances occurring or existing both before and/or after the transfer or assignment. We may assign this Agreement and/or any or all of our rights hereunder, or delegate any or all of our responsibilities hereunder, to any third party or parties in our discretion and without notice to you, subject to the requirements of applicable law. Subject to the foregoing, this Agreement shall be binding on the parties hereto and their respective successors and assigns.

19. Insufficient Funds And Overdrafts. If an item is presented for payment on your account at a time when there is an insufficient balance of available funds in your account to pay the item in full, you agree to pay us our charge then in effect for items drawn against insufficient or unavailable funds, whether or not we pay the item. Overdraft and nonsufficient funds fees are determined when transactions are presented for payment. If any item is presented again after having previously been returned unpaid by us, you agree to pay this charge for each time the item is presented for payment and the balance of available funds in your account is insufficient to pay the item. You waive notice of the return of any item unpaid and notice of the imposition of any insufficient or unavailable funds charge. At our election, we may pay any item drawn against your account even though the item causes an overdraft to the account. You agree to pay the overdraft amount and applicable fee. If the account is a multi-party account, you agree that all depositors will be personally liable, jointly and severally (and solidarily if applicable), for payment to us of all overdrafts on the account, regardless of which depositor created the overdraft and whether the other depositors knew of the overdraft, participated in activity on the account, or benefited from the overdraft. We are under no obligation to let you overdraw your account. The honoring of past overdrafts will not obligate us to honor overdrafts in the future. You understand that any overdraft in your account may be subject to a security interest that you have granted in the past or will grant in the future to support another debt you owe us.

20. Automated Item Processing. We have adopted collection and payment procedures that allow us to process all items at a lower cost to our customers. These automated procedures involve high-speed automated check processing machines that read information encoded onto each item in magnetic ink. In recognizing this fact, you agree that we may disregard any information on an item drawn on your account other than the signature of the authorized signer, the identification of the drawee bank and payee, the amount of the item, and any other information that appears in magnetic ink at the bottom of the item. We are not bound by any other information on the item, including terms such as "Payee's endorsement required," "Not good for more than $(amount)," "Void if not paid in (number) days," and similar language. You also agree that we do not fail to exercise ordinary care in paying an item solely because our procedures do not provide for the sight examination of any items, or do not provide for sight examination of items below a threshold amount we determine from time to time. We will not be liable for processing errors or delays due to printing inaccuracies or faulty magnetic ink encoding of critical data that result from your use of checks or other items in a form not approved by us in advance. Checks you write may be converted into electronic information or images (truncated) during the check collection and return process. If you elect to have your checks printed by a vendor that has not been approved by us, or you use check stock or features (e.g., security features) that cause critical data to disappear or be obscured upon truncation, or you make your check out in a way (e.g., using a lightly colored ink) that causes critical data to disappear upon truncation, you agree to bear the risk of loss. You also agree to bear the risk of loss if you use check stock that contains printing inaccuracies, faulty magnetic ink, faulty encoding, or duplicate serial numbers.

21. Postdated, Stale And Expiration Date Items. If an item presented for payment against your account is postdated or contains an expiration date, we may pay the item when presented or return it, at our option, and we shall have no liability to you for taking either such action. If a check, instrument, or other draft you have drawn on your account is postdated or contains an expiration date (a "Dated Check") and you do not wish us to pay such Dated Check prior to its date or after its expiration date, as applicable, you may submit a stop-payment order as provided in this Agreement and the handling of such Dated Check shall be governed by the stop-payment order provisions of this Agreement. You are solely responsible for timely cancelling a stop-payment order on any Dated Check that is postdated if you wish for us to pay such Dated Check on or after its date and prior to the expiration date of the stop-payment order. We shall have the right, at our option and without notice to you, to pay or return any item that is presented for payment against your account more than six months after its date, and we shall have no liability to you for taking either such action.

22. Stopping Payment; No Stopping Payment Of Bank Instruments. If a check, instrument, or other draft you have drawn on your account (a "Check") has not already been paid or verified for payment to the payee, you may ask us to stop payment. You must tell us the exact amount of the Check, the Check number, the date of the Check, the name of the payee, and the full account number on which the Check is drawn. If you produce a Check by computer or in any other manner that does not contain a magnetic-encoded check number, we may not be able to honor the stop-payment order. We must receive your stop-payment order in time to permit us a reasonable opportunity to act on it in the ordinary course of business. If the information you give us is not correct, or if you do not give us other reasonable information we request about the Check, we will not be responsible if we are unable to effect the stop-payment order. Your stop-payment order, whether oral or written, is effective for six (6) months from the original date of the order. After processing your stop-payment order, we will send to you a written STOP PAYMENT REQUEST/SPECIAL PAYING CONFIRMATION indicating the date the stop-payment order was applied and the date of expiration. You may request us to renew any stop-payment order. You must make your renewal request, orally or in writing, prior to the expiration date of the stop-payment order, and you must provide complete information concerning the Check for which the stop-payment order is to be renewed. A renewal of your stop-payment order will be effective for six (6) months from the date we process the renewal request.

Stop-payment requests and renewal requests are subject to the service charges for such items as set out in our pricing schedule at the time of your request. If we refuse to pay any Check pursuant to your stop-payment order, you agree to hold us harmless from all costs and expenses incurred by us, including our attorney's fees, resulting from our refusal to pay the Check. If we recredit your account after paying an item over a valid stop-payment order, you agree to transfer to us in writing all of your rights against the payee or other holder of the item and to assist us in legal action against that person. If we fail to honor a timely and accurate stop-order, we reserve the right not to recredit your account unless you can demonstrate the fact and amount of your loss.

You may request us to cancel any stop-payment order prior to the expiration of the order. You must provide such information as we may reasonably require to cancel the stop-payment order, and we may require you to make your request in writing and acknowledge and attest to your written request before a notary public.

You do not have the right to stop payment on an official check, a cashier's check, a teller's check, a certified check, a money order or a traveler's check you have purchased from us. These are instruments on which the bank itself is or may be obligated. However, if a bank instrument you purchased is lost or stolen, you may obtain a replacement instrument, provided that we have not already paid the lost instrument. To obtain a replacement instrument or get your money back, you must execute such affidavits and indemnification agreements and/or furnish such bonds as we may require in our discretion. In general, your claim will become enforceable in 90 days. Once it becomes enforceable, we will issue a replacement instrument or refund your money if we have not already paid the lost instrument.

We may permit you to attempt to stop payment on items other than Checks. You agree to be bound by and to comply with our rules and procedures, the rules and procedures of participating payment networks, processing systems, and clearinghouses, and applicable law and regulation in the event we permit you to attempt to stop payment on such other items. Checks and other items that are subject to stop payment orders may reduce your available balance when they are presented against your account pending our return of such Checks and other items.

23. Multi-Party Accounts. If your account is a personal account and has more than one owner name on it, we will treat it as a joint tenant account with right of survivorship (to the extent such accounts are recognized under applicable law) unless otherwise expressly designated on the signature card or other account records maintained by us. We may require you to sign additional forms to establish the account. Each depositor of a multi-party account hereby appoints the other(s) as his or her attorney-in-fact and/or duly authorized agent to conduct all business with respect to the account including, but not limited to, issuing stop payment orders, depositing funds to the account, withdrawing funds from the account, entering into any agreement, terms or conditions for the use of other products or services in connection with the account, closing the account and receiving the balance of funds on deposit, and endorsing any item payable to any other depositor (or payable jointly to any other depositor and any other person) and either depositing the item in the account or receiving all or any part of the item in cash. The authority granted herein to each depositor shall extend to any conservator, guardian, or other fiduciary or personal representative of such depositor. Where applicable law requires your concurrence in any transaction or business regarding or affecting your account, you expressly authorize each other depositor on your account to individually concur on your behalf as your attorney-in-fact or agent, and the authorization of any such transaction or business by any such other depositor constitutes your concurrence without any further action or expression on the part of such other depositor or on your part. Subject to any other provisions of this Agreement relating to our procedures, conditions, requirements, and discretion as to powers of attorney, each depositor also may appoint one or more attorneys-in-fact without notice to or consent of any other depositor, and no other depositor will have the authority to revoke or limit the power of attorney made by another depositor. To the extent not prohibited by applicable law, we may, at our discretion, require that all depositors sign the power of attorney before we will recognize it. We are not required to remove a depositor from the title to a multi-party account without the written consent of the other depositor(s). The liability of each depositor on a multi-party account is joint and several (and solidarily if applicable).

24. Formal Trust Account. A formal trust account is an account held by one or more trustees for the benefit of one or more beneficiaries according to a written trust agreement or a will provided to us at the time the account is opened. If the trustee(s) die or are replaced, then we will not release any funds until we are satisfied that all required legal documents have been delivered to us and that all other legal requirements have been met. At our option, as a condition to opening or continuing to maintain a trust account, or to disbursing funds from a trust account, we may require the trustee(s) and/or each beneficiary to execute certain certificates, affidavits, and/or instruments attesting to the terms of the trust, their respective rights therein, and/or such other facts or information as we may require in our discretion. We may accept such certificates, affidavits, and/or instruments in lieu of accepting and/or reviewing a copy of the trust instrument, and in such event we may rely on the information set forth in such certificates, affidavits, and/or instruments (which information shall control in the event of any conflict with the terms of the trust instrument) and we shall not be charged with knowledge of any of the provisions of the trust instrument.

25. "In Trust For" / Payable On Death (POD) Accounts. If an account is opened without a written trust agreement and the account is in the name of one or more depositors for the benefit of one or more beneficiaries, or names one or more POD beneficiaries, all funds in the account will be paid, upon the death of the depositor or surviving depositors, in equal shares to the person or persons then living who are named as beneficiary or beneficiaries (whether an adult or minor) and, unless applicable law expressly provides otherwise, the money in the account will not be inherited by the heirs of the depositor(s) or controlled by the will of the depositor(s). Payment of the account funds to such beneficiary or beneficiaries shall fully release us from all liability. During the lifetime of the depositor(s), any interest of the beneficiary or beneficiaries in such an account shall be deemed for all purposes to be revocable and only the depositor(s) may withdraw funds therefrom. Certain state law restrictions and provisions also may apply.

26. Accounts Established On Behalf Of Others. If you have established an account as a custodian for a minor beneficiary under the applicable state version of the Uniform Transfers to Minors Act or the Uniform Gifts to Minors Act, your rights and duties are governed by the Act. You will not be allowed to pledge the account as collateral for any loan to you. In the event an account is established by a party (i) for or on behalf of a minor (and such account is not established under the Uniform Transfer to Minors Act) or (ii) for or on behalf of another individual who is not the subject of a guardianship or conservatorship as ordered by the Court, we may in our sole discretion pay the funds on deposit in such account to the party establishing the account or, upon request, to the party for whose benefit the account was established. We will not, however, be responsible for our refusal for any reason to pay funds on deposit to a party for whom the account was established. This provision does not apply to accounts established pursuant to a written escrow agreement, accounts established by court-appointed guardians or conservators, or accounts established by a fiduciary under a written agreement.

27. Business/Organization Accounts And Authorized Representatives. We may rely on the classification and form of ownership for a business account, as set forth on the signature card, for all purposes relating to the account. You represent and agree that (a) you have taken all actions necessary to open and maintain the account, (b) all resolutions or other authorizations given by you to us are true, accurate and complete in all respects, (c) all assumed or fictitious names have been registered or filed with the appropriate governmental authorities, and (d) each person whose name is written or printed on the signature card, any resolution or other separate written authorization concerning the account has complete authority involving the account.

The definition of an authorized representative is a representative(s) of the business or organization who has been identified to us as being authorized to sign checks on, make withdrawals from, or otherwise give instructions with respect to your account and has (have) signed a signature card for the account. An authorized representative may also be a person who has been authorized to obtain account information but may not sign checks. An authorized representative also may be any person reasonably believed by us otherwise to be authorized by the business or organization to act on its behalf or any person who may have capacity to act on behalf of the business or organization under the law of agency.

You agree that each authorized representative, except for those who have not been given signing authority by the business or organization but have the authority to obtain information, shall have full authority, subject to the provisions of any signature card or supporting documents, for all actions relating to your account, including, but not limited to, making deposits, making withdrawals, endorsing checks, closing the account, stopping payment, assigning the account, overdrawing the account, and entering into agreements on your behalf for any other products and services we offer that may be used in connection with your account, and each authorized representative may take such actions alone and without participation by any other authorized representative. Any one of the authorized representatives may write checks and/or withdraw money from your account. We may rely on any resolution and/or certification submitted by a party purporting to be an officer, director, member or partner of an organization and may act upon such document and instructions therein. You will be liable for any deficiency in your account regardless of which authorized representative is responsible for its occurrence.

If there is a dispute between any authorized representative(s), or if one of the authorized representative(s) demands that we not allow any other authorized representative to withdraw money from the account, or if there is a dispute about who is authorized to make withdrawals from or give instructions with respect to an account, or if the bank receives a notice from a party who purports to be an officer, director, incorporator, shareholder, member, or partner of a business or organization disputing the rights of any existing authorized representatives to make withdrawals or handle account transactions, we may (but do not have to) refuse to allow any withdrawals or other action by anyone until we are satisfied that the dispute is resolved or the demand or notice is withdrawn. We will not be responsible for any damages you may suffer as a result of our refusal to allow you to withdraw money due to the dispute, demand or notice.

We reserve the right, in our sole and absolute discretion, to require that any in-person cash withdrawal from a business or organization account be made by means of a check that is machine printed with the name of the business or organization, the account number, and our routing/transit number and not to permit such withdrawals by means of a blank countercheck or counter withdrawal slip completed with handwriting. You agree that we shall have no liability to you if we do not permit such a withdrawal by means of a blank countercheck or counter withdrawal slip, nor shall we have any liability to you if we do permit such a withdrawal by means of a blank countercheck or counter withdrawal slip, provided the item otherwise is properly payable according to the terms of this Agreement.

28. Special State Provisions And Disclosures. The following provisions apply to accounts in the states indicated and supplement the other terms and conditions of this Agreement. In the event the following provisions conflict with the other terms and conditions of this Agreement, the following provisions shall control with respect to accounts in the states indicated.

Texas Account Disclosures. The type of account you select may determine how property passes on your death. Your will may not control the disposition of funds held in some of the following accounts. You may choose to designate one or more convenience signers on an account, even if the account is not a convenience account. A designated convenience signer may make transactions on your behalf during your lifetime, but does not own the account during your lifetime. The designated convenience signer owns the account on your death only if the convenience signer is also designated as a POD (Payable on Death) payee or trust account beneficiary. Single-Party Account Without POD (Payable on Death) Designation: The party to the account owns the account. On the death of the party, ownership of the account passes as part of the party's estate under the party's will or by intestacy. Single Party Account with POD (Payable on Death) Designation: The party to the account owns the account. On the death of the party, ownership of the account passes to the POD beneficiaries of the account. The account is not a part of the party's estate. Multiple-Party Account Without Right of Survivorship: The parties to the account own the account in proportion to the parties' net contributions to the account. The financial institution may pay any sum in the account to a party at any time. On the death of a party, the party's ownership of the account passes as a part of the party's estate under the party's will or by intestacy. Multiple-Party Account With Right of Survivorship: The parties to the account own the account in proportion to the parties' net contributions to the account. The financial institution may pay any sum in the account to a party at any time. On the death of a party, the party's ownership of the account passes to the surviving parties. Multiple Party Account With Right of Survivorship and POD (Payable on Death) Designation: The parties to the account own the account in proportion to the parties' net contributions to the account. The financial institution may pay any sum in the account to a party at any time. On the death of the last surviving party, the ownership of the account passes to the POD beneficiaries. Convenience Account: The parties to the account own the account. One or more convenience signers to the account may make account transactions for a party. A convenience signer does not own the account. On the death of the last surviving party, ownership of the account passes as a part of the last surviving party's estate under the last surviving party's will or by intestacy. The financial institution may pay funds in the account to a convenience signer before the financial institution receives notice of the death of the last surviving party. The payment to a convenience signer does not affect the parties' ownership of the account. Trust Account: The parties named as trustees to the account own the account in proportion to the parties' net contributions to the account. A trustee may withdraw funds from the account. A beneficiary may not withdraw funds from the account before all trustees are deceased. On the death of the last surviving trustee, the ownership of the account passes to the beneficiary. The trust account is not a part of a trustee's estate and does not pass under the trustee's will or by intestacy, unless the trustee survives all of the beneficiaries and all other trustees.

We make no representation as to the appropriateness or effect of the ownership and beneficiary designations. Community property laws in your state may affect account ownership designations and the disposition of the account upon the death of a party.

Missouri Account Disclosures. If your account is in Missouri and is a personal account that has more than one name on it, we will treat it as a joint tenant account with right of survivorship (to the extent such accounts are recognized under applicable law) and not as an acount of tenants by the entirety, unless otherwise expressly designated on the signature card or other account records.

Florida Account Disclosures. If your account is in Florida and is in your name and your spouse's name, we will treat it as a joint tenant account with right of survivorship (to the extent that such accounts are recognized under applicable law) and not as an account of tenants by the entireties, unless otherwise expressly designated on the signature card or other account records.

Tennessee Account Disclosures. With respect only to accounts established at our Tennessee branches, all joint accounts are owned by the parties as they have indicated upon the signature card for such account. Upon the death of any joint owner, the ownership of the joint account shall be vested in accordance with the form of ownership so chosen by the parties. In regards to public funds accounts, any qualified public entity of the State of Tennessee that opens a public funds deposit account shall have its deposits secured with the State of Tennessee Bank Collateral Pool established under The Collateral Pool For Public Deposits Act of 1990. A "public entity" is defined as the State of Tennessee, or any of its agencies, or any Tennessee county, Tennessee incorporated municipality and their political subdivisions, or any utility district organized under the laws of the state or interstate compact to which the state is a party. A "public funds deposit account" is defined as any Deposit Account, Time Deposit or Certificate of Deposit a public entity opens with us.

The designation "joint tenants with right of survivorship" on an account means that the deposit account or certificate of deposit shall become the property of each owner as joint tenants, and that the survivor is entitled to all moneys in the account or represented by the certificate even if the first person to die had a will specifically directing disposition to someone else. We may release all moneys in the account or represented by the certificate to, or honor checks or orders drawn by, or withdrawal requests from, the survivor upon the death of any joint tenant.

The designation "additional authorized signatory" on an account means that the person named as additional authorized signatory shall have authority during the lifetime of one (1) or more owners to withdraw moneys from the deposit account or represented by the certificate of deposit. Moneys remaining in the account or represented by the instrument upon the owner's death shall become part of the deceased owner's estate, subject to the deceased person's will or applicable law if the deceased person left no will. We may release all moneys in the account or represented by the certificate to, or honor checks or orders drawn by, or withdrawal requests from, the authorized signatory until notified of revocation of the authority.

Louisiana Account Disclosures. With respect to joint accounts established at our Louisiana branches, we can pay to any one of the joint depositors, or their legal representative(s) (including the legal representative of the estate or succession of a deceased joint depositor), the entire balance of the joint account or any part of the balance of the joint account at any time, including after the death of any joint depositor. Each joint depositor, and his/her legal representative(s), is authorized at any time, including after the death of any joint depositor, to deposit or withdraw money from the joint account by check or item or otherwise, to close the joint account, to order electronic funds transferred to and from the joint account, to stop payment on any check or item drawn on the joint account and to enter into special agreements concerning the joint account. Upon the death of any joint depositor, we have the specific right to pay any or all of the funds on deposit in the joint account to the surviving joint depositor(s) or any one of them and we shall not incur liability to the heirs, successors, legatees or devises of any deceased joint depositor or to any surviving joint depositor for such payment.

You hereby state, acknowledge and agree, that (a) we have not offered or rendered any legal, tax or other advice whatsoever to you, including, without limitation, any advice regarding this account, the opening or maintenance thereof, the distribution of funds therefrom, or the purpose thereof, or any advice regarding successions, inheritance or estate planning; (b) we have fully and completely disclosed to you that we do not offer any such advice; (c) we have advised you to consult with a third-party attorney or other qualified expert should you have any questions regarding your account, the legal consequences thereof, or any other questions related thereto; and (d) you have consulted with such attorneys, accountants and other experts as you deem necessary or appropriate.

29. Power Of Attorney Accounts. Subject to the requirements of applicable law, we have no obligation to accept or recognize a power of attorney. If we elect to recognize and accept a power of attorney, we may require that the power of attorney be executed on a form and/or pursuant to procedures that are acceptable to us and that comply with applicable law. We may require such other evidence of authority, as well as affidavits and indemnifications, as we may deem appropriate. If we accept a power of attorney, any action taken by us shall be binding upon you if we take such action before we receive and have a reasonable opportunity to act upon (a) written revocation of the power of attorney; (b) written notice of death of the principal of the power of attorney; (c) in the event the power of attorney does not survive the disability, incompetency or incapacitation of the principal under applicable law, written notice that the principal has been declared disabled, incompetent or incapacitated; or (d) written notice that a guardian of the principal's person or property has been appointed. Unless otherwise provided in applicable state law, we will not be liable to you for our refusal to allow a transaction requested by an agent or attorney in fact and you agree to indemnify and hold us harmless should any agent or attorney in fact make any claim against us for our refusal to conduct a transaction on your behalf.

30. Fiduciary Accounts. To the maximum extent permissible under applicable law, we have no responsibility or obligation to supervise or monitor the transactions within fiduciary accounts (including, but not limited to, estate accounts, guardianship accounts and trust accounts), or to inquire as to the powers or duties of the depositor(s). The depositor(s), in their individual capacity and jointly and severally (and solidarily if applicable), agree to indemnify and hold us harmless from and against any and all loss, costs, damage, liability, or exposure, including reasonable attorney's fees, we may suffer or incur arising out of any action or claim by any beneficiary or other party with respect to the authority or actions taken by the depositor(s) in handling or dealing with a fiduciary account.

31. Closing Your Account. We may close your account at any time and for any reason or for no reason, with or without advance notice. If we close your account, we will notify you by mail or telephone that we have closed your account; provided that if we allow you to open an account without an initial deposit and you do not timely fund the account, or if we suspect any illegal or fraudulent activity relating to your account, we may close the account without any notice to you. We may (but do not have to) mail you a check for the balance of collected funds in your account, or you may pick up a check for the collected balance at our office. Written notice and a check, if any, will be sent to any address shown on our records for you, or if the account is a multi-party account, any depositor to whom we elect to send it. We may deliver the remaining balance in any business or organization account to any authorized representative listed on our records for the business or organization. Alternatively, at our option and in our discretion, when we close your account we may transfer the balance of collected funds to another account of any owner of the closed account notwithstanding that the ownership of the closed account may not be identical to the ownership of such other account. If you would like to close your account, you must visit one of our banking offices or call our customer service number and ask us to complete a closing withdrawal. If you do not close your account in this way, the account will remain open on our systems and remain subject to the assessment of fees, including any applicable monthly account fee. If your account is subject to a monthly account fee that is charged in advance each statement period, as disclosed in the account disclosures for your particular account, the fee is deemed earned in full at the time it is charged and is not subject to refund or proration in the event you should close your account. Before closing your checking or money market account, be sure that all the checks you have written have cleared. We suggest you not write checks for at least fifteen (15) days before you close your account. Once we have closed your account, we can, without any liability to you or any other party, refuse to (a) honor any items you have written or authorized that are presented to us for payment after we have closed your account, or (b) collect any item you have deposited in the account. We reserve the right to charge an early-account-closing fee when applicable. Any terms regarding any minimum period of time during which your account must remain open will be disclosed to you separately. When an interest-bearing account is closed during a statement period, we may not pay interest on the account for the period between the end of the last statement period and the account closing date. If you call our customer service number to close your account by telephone, and if your account balance is less than $2 (a "Low Dollar Balance") at the time you ask us to close your account, we will transfer the Low Dollar Balance to another account you maintain with us. If you do not maintain another account with us, you agree that we may close your account without paying the Low Dollar Balance to you. In such event, you hereby assign and transfer the Low Dollar Balance to us, and you authorize us to debit the Low Dollar Balance from your account. If you do not maintain another account with us and you want us to pay a Low Dollar Balance to you when you close your account, you must visit one of our banking offices and close your account in person. If, after your account has been closed to further transactions, we determine that a credit is due to the account for any reason (e.g., the refund of a fee charged in error), and the net credit due is less than $1, you hereby waive your claim to such amount and assign and transfer such amount to us. If your account has a balance of $0.00, or if your account remains overdrawn for a certain period of time, our deposit system may place the account into an administrative closed or no-post status. Certain account services and functionality may be unavailable while an account is in an administrative closed or no-post status.

32. Abandoned Or Dormant Accounts. If you do not use your account or notify us in writing of your current mailing address, or if statements or notices we send to you are returned undelivered, your account and deposits may be presumed abandoned after a specified period of time, as provided by applicable law, or may be considered dormant or inactive according to our internal policies and procedures. To the extent not prohibited under applicable law, abandoned or dormant accounts are subject to a reasonable service charge in addition to any usual service charges applicable to the accounts. You may request current information about our abandoned and dormant account charges from any of our customer service representatives. If we consider your account to be inactive or dormant under our policies and procedures, we also may (to the extent not prohibited by applicable law) refuse to pay items drawn on or payable out of the account, stop sending account statements, and/or stop paying interest on the account. Accounts that are presumed to be abandoned will be escheated to the state in which the account is maintained in accordance with applicable law.

33. Adverse Claims To An Account. If there is a dispute between those of you who have signed a signature card or who have been named as a joint owner by an existing account holder for a joint account, or between the authorized representatives who have signed a signature card for a nonpersonal account, or if one of you demands that we not allow other(s) to withdraw money from the account, or if there is a dispute or if a claim is made by any person or entity about who is authorized to make withdrawals from an account or about who owns or is entitled any funds on deposit in an account, we may (but do not have to) refuse to allow any withdrawals by anyone until we are satisfied that the dispute is resolved or the claim or demand is withdrawn. At our option, however, we may place a "hold" on funds until resolution of the controversy, or we may accept an indemnity satisfactory to us, or we may deposit the funds with a court until a court order directs us to do otherwise. If we incur attorneys' fees, costs or expenses to resolve the issues specified in this paragraph, you agree to reimburse us for those sums we incur, including (without limitation) all costs and expenses allowed by state or federal law or regulation and, as applicable, costs of video depositions, fees charged by experts retained by us, fees charged by third-party e-discovery and document management vendors, fees charged by private process servers, and costs of mediation. No interest will be paid by us on funds deposited with a court. We will not be responsible for any damages you may suffer as a result of our refusal to allow you to withdraw money or our refusal to pay checks drawn on your account due to the dispute, demand or claim.

34. Legal Process Affecting Your Account. Should we receive by any means, in any jurisdiction, any legal process or other legal notice that purports to have been issued by or pursuant to the authority of any court or governmental agency for the restriction of account access, or for the withholding, seizure or turnover of account funds, or otherwise affecting your account or records ("Legal Process"), you hereby acknowledge and agree that we may comply with such Legal Process in accordance with the requirements of applicable law and regulation. You further acknowledge and agree that, in complying with Legal Process, we may limit or suspend your access to your account, refuse to permit withdrawals or transfers from or deposits to your account, and/or take such other action as we deem legally required in our judgment and discretion, without regard to the ownership or original source of the funds on deposit and without requirement that the Legal Process name all or any of the account owners or signers. All Legal Process is subject to our right of setoff and security interest. You waive all interest that may otherwise accrue or have accrued on any balance withheld pursuant to or otherwise affected by Legal Process, and you consent to the assessment of an early withdrawal penalty, if applicable. Except to the extent prohibited by applicable law or regulation, we may assess a fee against your account if we are served with Legal Process affecting your account, and you agree that, if allowed by applicable law, we may deduct such fee from your account funds before remitting any funds pursuant to any Legal Process. You also agree to pay any research and copy services fees, in addition to administrative and attorney's expenses we incur in responding to Legal Process affecting your account, except to the extent that such fees and expenses are prohibited by applicable law or regulation. You authorize us to deduct fees and expenses associated with the Legal Process affecting your account from any of your accounts without notice to you, even if such deductions result in overdrafts in any of your accounts. You may request current information about the fees we may charge in connection with Legal Process from any of our customer service representatives. We will not be responsible for any damages you may suffer as a result of our refusal to allow you to withdraw money or our refusal to pay checks drawn on your account due to our lawful compliance with any Legal Process affecting your account, or as a result of any other act or omission in compliance with applicable law or regulation on our part in connection with any Legal Process. No term or provision of this section shall be construed as a waiver of any legally enforceable right you have under applicable law or regulation the waiver of which is prohibited by applicable law or regulation. You may have certain rights and claims of exemption with respect to Legal Process affecting your account, either under the laws of the state where you reside or under the laws of the state from which Legal Process is issued, or both. We recommend that you consult an attorney for advice and guidance regarding such rights and exemptions. You acknowledge and agree that the assertion of any such rights and obligations is solely your responsibility and that we shall have no duty or obligation to assert such rights and obligations or to contest Legal Process on your behalf, subject to the requirements of applicable law or regulation. To the fullest extent permitted by applicable law and regulation, we may act in our own best legal interests in our discretion in connection with any Legal Process affecting your account.

35. Indemnification; Waiver Of Consequential Damages; Correction of Errors. To the extent allowed by law, you waive the right to recover consequential damages for our action or inaction in handling your deposit account. If we take any action with respect to your account in accordance with your instructions or orders, or in accordance with this Agreement, or if you breach any warranty provided in this Agreement or by law, and we incur any loss, liability, damage, cost or expense (including reasonable attorney's fees) as a result of any claim, demand, action, suit or proceeding brought or made by any party, against you or us, or made by you against us, or made by us against you, you agree to indemnify and hold us harmless from and against such loss, liability, damage, cost or expense and to reimburse us for the amount thereof, including (without limitation) all costs and expenses allowed by state or federal law or regulation and, as applicable, costs of video depositions, fees charged by experts retained by us, fees charged by third-party e-discovery and document management vendors, fees charged by private process servers, and costs of mediation. You further agree that we may at any time, without prior notice to you, adjust, correct, or reverse, by debit or credit to your account, any transaction in your account that we believe was made or posted in error.

36. Right Of Setoff; Grant Of Security Interest. You agree that we shall have the right to setoff against any and all funds in your account with us (including any multi-party accounts), and to apply such funds to satisfy any and/or all indebtedness that you owe us and/or any of our affiliates (excluding debt created by a consumer credit transaction under a credit card plan) without any further notice to or demand on you (unless otherwise required by applicable law) and whether the indebtedness to us is now existing or hereafter arising. Unless prohibited by applicable law, we may set off against a multi-party account the full amount of any claim that we have against any one or more of the depositors without regard to the joint or several ownership of the funds on deposit to the account or the original source of those funds and without requirement that the claim be owed to us by all of the depositors rather than only some of them. If your account receives a direct deposit of Social Security or Supplemental Security Income, or any other federal or state benefits exempt from legal process, you consent to our right to exercise setoff against such deposits to satisfy any overdraft and associated fees, or to satisfy any other debt that you owe the bank. If you desire to prevent our exercise of setoff against such deposits, you should arrange not to have them directly deposited into your account.

In addition to our right of setoff, you hereby grant to us a security interest in the account to cover any debt you owe us, of whatever type, whether you are borrower, guarantor or otherwise. This security interest may not apply to your account if (a) it is an IRA or tax-deferred Keogh Retirement Account, (b) the debt is created by a consumer credit transaction under a credit card plan, or (c) your right of withdrawal arises only in a representative capacity.

37. Communication Consent. You agree that Regions and any of its current and former parent(s), subsidiaries, affiliates, employees, officers, directors, agents, controlling persons and representatives, as well as any other person or company who provides any services in connection with an account (each a "Communicator") may monitor and record telephone calls regarding your account to assure the quality of service or for other reasons. You agree that any Communicator may call you, using an automatic telephone dialing system or otherwise, leave you a voice, prerecorded, or artificial voice message, or send you a text, e-mail, or other electronic message to service your account, to collect any amounts you may owe under your account or for other informational purposes related to your account (each a "Communication"). You agree that any Communicator may call or text you at any telephone number that you provide in connection with your account, including cellular telephone numbers, and may send an e-mail to any email address that you provide in connection with your account. You also agree that any Communicator may include your personal information in a Communication. You agree that Regions will not charge you for a Communication, but your service provider may. In addition, you understand and agree that any Communicator may always communicate with you in any manner permissible by law that does not require your prior consent.

You expressly acknowledge and agree that you are providing the foregoing consent to receive Communications from any Communicator as consideration and as a bargained-for term in a legally binding agreement; further, this consent is irrevocable by you to the maximum extent allowed by law. If you wish to revoke your consent to be contacted at any cellular telephone number using an automatic telephone dialing system and/or an artificial or prerecorded message, Regions will consider your request in its sole and absolute discretion, subject to the requirements of applicable law, but you must make your request by calling Regions at 1-888-219-9227, whereby you will identify your name, the account(s) affected by your notice and your cellular telephone number(s). You further agree that if you no longer own a cellular telephone number or if you change a residential telephone number to a cellular telephone number, you will notify Regions immediately by calling the number above.

We may from time to time provide certain SMS/text alert services that you may deactivate or opt out of. It may be necessary in some cases for you separately to deactivate or opt out of these alerts by type or category, and deactivating or opting out of one type or category of alert will not necessarily deactivate or opt you out of other types or categories of alerts you receive.

38. Changing This Agreement. We have the right to change the terms of this Agreement (including the separate sections hereof) and the fees, charges, features, operational elements (including, without limitation, account numbers), and other terms and conditions applicable to your account and services linked to your account. We also have the right to discontinue certain kinds of accounts, in which case we may transfer your funds to another type of account. In addition, we reserve the right to change your account from one account type to another if (i) transactions being conducted in your account are not appropriate for your type of account or (ii) we are required by law or regulation to convert your account to another account type based upon your account activity. We will notify you should your account type be changed. With respect to disclosures required by federal regulations, we will provide prior written notice to you of any change that is not in your favor in accordance with such federal regulations. Except as otherwise required by applicable law, and/or except as otherwise provided in any notice we may furnish, any other changes to this Agreement will be effective on that date which is 10 days after the date notice is given by either posting the notice in our manned offices where deposits are received or including the notice with or on your statement or in a separate mailing, or by any other means or method described in this Agreement. You agree that a summary of the change in terms is sufficient notice. If you do not agree to any change or amendment relating to terms and conditions of this Agreement or your account, you must terminate your account within 10 days after the date notice is given to you of the change or amendment. By using your account after any such change or amendment, you agree to that change or amendment. Subject to any notice requirements provided by applicable law, you agree that we may from time to time in our discretion add to, modify, and/or delete administrative and operational features and elements applicable to your account and/or make any changes that are in your favor without notice to you. This Agreement may not be altered, modified or amended by you in any way without our express written agreement signed by our authorized officer. Any attempt by you to alter, modify or amend this Agreement without our express written agreement signed by our authorized officer shall be void and shall have no legal effect. You acknowledge and agree that no practice or course of dealing between you and us, nor any oral representations or communications by you and/or any of our agents, employees or representatives, which vary the terms and conditions of this Agreement shall constitute a modification or amendment of the terms and conditions of this Agreement. If we elect to send a notice of change by mail or other transmission directed to you and there is more than one person on the signature card or receipt for your account we will only send the notice of change to one of you. You acknowledge and are aware that our current customer agreement, pricing schedule and funds availability policy are available to you upon request at our offices.

39. Effect Of Waiver. We reserve the right to waive the enforcement of any of the terms of this Agreement with respect to any transaction or series of transactions and/or with respect to any of our customers. Any such waiver will not affect our right to enforce any of our rights with respect to other customers, or to enforce any of our rights with respect to other or later transactions. Otherwise, no failure by us to exercise, and no delay by us in exercising, any right or remedy shall operate as a waiver thereof or constitute an amendment of the terms of this Agreement. Where this Agreement or applicable law permits us to take action, or not to take action, in our discretion on any matter, any action, or inaction, on our part with respect to such matter shall not obligate us to repeat such action, or inaction, with respect to similar matters that may subsequently arise.

40. Waiver Of Notice. You waive and agree that we may waive certain legal requirements called presentment, demand for payment, protest, notice of protest and notice of dishonor with respect to any and all items cashed by us or credited to or charged against your account.

41. Notices; Updating Contact Information. Any notice we send you will be considered effective when it is deposited in the U.S. Mail to the address for the account in our records or, at our option, when it is transmitted or made available to you pursuant to any other method to which you have agreed in connection with your account, including, with respect to changes or amendments to this Agreement, any means or method described in this Agreement. You agree to notify us immediately of any change in your name, your residence or mailing address or phone number. We may use any source available to us to update and validate the accuracy of this information, but we have no obligation to do so. If you provide us with an email address, you agree that we may send notices and communications to you electronically at that email address, subject to the requirements of applicable law, and you agree promptly to notify us of any change in the email address. Except to the extent otherwise required by applicable law or regulation, you agree that we are under no obligation to re-send, re-transmit, or otherwise deliver to you any notices or communications that we have transmitted to the email address you have provided and that have been returned "undeliverable" or otherwise rejected for delivery. Unless otherwise provided in this Agreement, notice from you must be in writing. Written notice from you will not be deemed given to us until it has been received by one of our representatives who is authorized by us to consider and act on your notice. If we are required by law or agreement with you to act on any notice you have given to us, you agree that we will have a reasonable opportunity to act. Our failure to act or delay in acting on any notice from you does not constitute our acquiescence in, acceptance or acknowledgement of, or agreement or consent to the terms or substance of your notice. If your account is a multi-party account, we can notify any one of you and the notice will be effective for all of you. Any one of you can notify us, and we will consider it to be notice from all of you.

42. Account Disclosures. Additional terms and conditions are contained in any disclosures provided to you.

43. Force Majeure. You agree that we will not be liable for any loss or damage due to delays or failure to perform resulting from circumstances beyond our reasonable control (such as telecommunication or electrical outages and malfunctions, postal strikes or delays, computer system failures or natural disasters). The time, if any, required for such performance under this Agreement shall be automatically extended during the period of such delay or interruption.

44. Applicable Law. This Agreement and your deposit relationship with us will be governed by the substantive laws (excluding laws of conflict) and regulations of the United States and the state in which your account is established, except that Alabama law will govern the maximum interest rate that may be payable to us. We reserve all of our rights with respect to the preemptive effect of any applicable federal laws and/or regulations. Our rights under this Agreement and applicable law are cumulative and not exclusive.

45. Conflicts With Applicable Law And Disclosures. To the extent this Agreement conflicts with any applicable provision of the Uniform Commercial Code, this Agreement shall control; otherwise, this Agreement supplements but does not displace the Uniform Commercial Code. If any provision of this Agreement conflicts with any applicable disclosure statement we have given you pursuant to the requirements of any law, such as the federal Electronic Fund Transfer Act, the federal Truth-in-Savings Act, the federal Expedited Funds Availability Act, or the Check 21 Act, the provisions of such disclosure statement shall control.

46. Entire Agreement; Other Programs And Services. You agree to be bound by any and all operating rules, circulars and regulations imposed by any networks, funds transfer systems (including, without limitation, the Federal Reserve) and/or clearinghouses in which we participate and/or which process transactions that affect your account. You further agree to be bound by any agreements we have with other financial institutions with respect to the processing or handling of transactions that affect your account. This Agreement constitutes the current and entire general deposit agreement between you and us with respect to the account(s) for which this Agreement has been delivered, and any and all prior general deposit agreements with respect to such account(s) are superseded by this Agreement. Additional and/or specific rules, regulations, disclosures and/or agreements may be applicable to certain or particular accounts or specialized account programs and/or to bank services linked to an account, such as electronic or online banking. You agree that the terms and conditions set forth in such rules, regulations, disclosures and other agreements continue in effect and are intended to be in addition to and not in substitution of the terms and conditions set forth in this Agreement. To the extent there is a conflict, the terms and conditions set forth in such rules, regulations, disclosures and other agreements shall govern unless otherwise required by applicable law, subject, however, to the provisions of the immediately following paragraph.

In the event we provide any operational service to you in connection with any deposit account you maintain with us, and to the extent you have a right to terminate the agreement that governs the provision and use of such operational service (the "Operational Service Agreement"), you may not terminate the Operational Service Agreement without first giving us written notice of termination (i) at least 30 calendar days in advance of the effective date of such termination or (ii) according to the applicable notice interval provided in the Operational Service Agreement (if any), whichever of (i) or (ii) shall result in greater advance notice to us. The terms of this paragraph do not grant you a right of termination with respect to any Operational Service Agreement, but only govern the timing of notification of termination to the extent necessary to qualify the related deposit account as an operational deposit for purposes of liquidity coverage laws or regulations to which we are subject. Whether you have any such right of termination shall be governed by the terms of the Operational Service Agreement or applicable law. In the event of a conflict between the terms of this paragraph and the terms of any Operational Service Agreement, the terms of this paragraph shall govern and control to the extent necessary to qualify your deposit account as an operational deposit. For purposes of this paragraph, the terms "operational deposit" and "operational service" shall have the meanings respectively ascribed to them by 12 CFR Part 249, as amended or as replaced by any successor law, regulation or rule binding on us.

47. Construction Of Agreement. The captions and headings used in this Agreement are for convenience of reference only and shall not be used to limit the applicability or meaning of any provisions of this Agreement. All personal pronouns used in this Agreement, whether used in the masculine, feminine or neuter gender, shall include all other genders where the context so requires. The use of the singular form shall include the plural and the use of the plural shall include the singular where the context so requires. No termination of any account will affect your liability or obligations under this Agreement accruing prior to the date of termination or any provisions of this Agreement which, by their terms or nature, are intended to survive account termination.

48. Severability. If any provision of this Agreement or the application thereof to any persons or circumstances shall irreconcilably conflict with or be invalid or unenforceable under applicable law, such provision shall be deemed automatically reformed and amended to the extent, and only to the extent, necessary to render it valid and enforceable under such applicable law as of the effective date thereof, and such reformed or amended provision shall be binding without necessitating the formal amendment of this Agreement by the procedures specified herein; provided, however, that if such automatic reformation and amendment of such provision shall be unreasonable or impracticable in the context of this Agreement, or shall significantly conflict with the purpose, intent, and/or any other material terms or provisions of this Agreement, then such provision shall be deemed severed from this Agreement with respect to the persons or circumstances as to which such provision shall be invalid or unenforceable. The invalidity or unenforceability of any one or more of the provisions of this Agreement, or the severance of any provision from this Agreement pursuant to the terms of this Agreement, shall not affect the validity or enforceability of the remaining provisions, and such remaining provisions shall continue in full force and effect to the fullest extent permitted by law.

49. Illegal Purposes; Offensive Conduct; Cryptocurrency. You agree not to use your account for any illegal or fraudulent purpose or in breach of any contract or agreement by which you are bound, and you agree to comply with all applicable laws, rules, and regulations concerning your account and/or the use of your account. You agree not to use your account to engage in any internet or online gambling transaction, whether or not gambling is legal in any applicable jurisdiction. We reserve the right to decline any transaction that we believe is an internet or online gambling transaction or a high-risk transaction. If at any time we suspect any irregular, unauthorized, fraudulent or illegal activity in connection with your account, we may, in our discretion and without limiting or waiving any other rights or remedies available to us, freeze the funds in the account and in other accounts you maintain with us, without any liability to you and without notice to you (except such notice as may be required by applicable law), pending resolution of the matters, transactions or activity in question. We reserve the right in our sole and absolute discretion to return or to decline to pay any item presented against your account that we reasonably believe is related to the purchase, sale or exchange of any decentralized, non-fiat virtual currency, cryptocurrency, or any other digital currency or money that relies on distributed ledger or blockchain technology, and you agree that we shall have no liability to you whether we decline to pay or whether we pay any such item. You certify that you have legal capacity under applicable law to enter into this Agreement.

You further agree not to use your account in any way that may, in our judgment, impute to us or make us appear to endorse conduct or activity that could in any way be considered offensive, harassing, defamatory, privacy invading, abusive, threatening, inflammatory, scandalous, harmful, vulgar, obscene, or otherwise objectionable (e.g., by printing offensive messages or symbols on your checks).

50. Customer Identification.

(a) Customer Identification Program. To help the government fight the funding of terrorism and money laundering activities, federal law requires all financial institutions to obtain, verify and record information that identifies each person who opens an account. What this means to you: When you open an account, we will ask for your name, address, date of birth and other information that will allow us to identify you. We may also ask to see your driver's license or other identifying documents.

(b) Beneficial Ownership. To help the government fight financial crime, you understand and agree that federal regulation requires us to obtain, verify and record information about the Beneficial Owners of Legal Entity Customers. If you are a Legal Entity Customer, you agree to provide us immediately with information and documentation that we request about both your Beneficial Owners and any other person(s) or entity(ies) having any direct or indirect equity interest in you. Further, you certify and confirm that you will notify us immediately – and in no event no later than at the renewal of any Time Deposit or Certificate (as defined in Section II: Time Deposits/ Certificates of Deposit) or any other account – should you have any changes to your Beneficial Owners or any other person(s) or entity(ies) having any direct or indirect equity interest in you. Should you fail to notify us of any such change, you confirm and certify to us that the Beneficial Owner and other ownership information previously provided is complete, accurate and up-to-date. Nothing in this paragraph shall be construed to obligate us to renew any Time Deposit or Certificate.

"Beneficial Owner" has its meaning set forth in 31 C.F.R. § 1010.230(d) and includes each individual, if any, who owns, directly or indirectly, 25% or more of the equity interests of a Legal Entity Customer, as well as a single individual with significant responsibility to control, manage or direct a Legal Entity Customer.

"Legal Entity Customer" has its meaning set forth in 31 C.F.R. § 1010.230(e) and includes a corporation, limited liability company, or other entity that is created by a filing of a public document with a Secretary of State or similar office, a general partnership, and any similar business entity formed under the laws of a foreign jurisdiction that opens an account.

51. Telephone Transactions.

VRU Service. Our automated telephone transaction service ("VRU Service") allows you to check account balances, place stop payment requests, order checks, transfer funds among eligible accounts, and access other account information using your touchtone telephone and a personal identification number (PIN). You may activate the VRU Service by visiting one of our branches or by calling us at our customer service number 1-800-REGIONS (734-4667). By requesting us to activate the VRU Service, you authorize and request the creation and issuance of the PIN, and you agree that the use of the PIN for the authorization and authentication of transactions through the VRU Service constitutes a commercially reasonable security procedure under applicable law. You agree to be bound by and to follow any rules, regulations, and instructional materials or guides we impose or provide from time to time in connection with the VRU Service (whether imposed or provided in writing or orally through the VRU Service). Transactions entered through the VRU Service may not result in an immediate transfer of funds or immediate funds availability because of the time required to process the transaction. Any transaction entered through the VRU Service after 6 p.m. Central Time (or such other times as may be disclosed), or on Saturdays, Sundays, or holidays, may not post to your account until we process the transaction the next business day. To the fullest extent permitted by law, and subject to the provisions of Section V – Electronic Funds Transfer Disclosure to Our Consumer Customers, you agree to be bound by all transactions entered through the VRU Service with your PIN. You agree (a) not to provide your PIN to any person or entity not authorized to use the PIN; (b) not to write your PIN on anything likely to fall into the wrong hands, and not to do anything else that would cause or increase the risk of unauthorized or fraudulent use of the PIN; and (c) to keep the PIN in a safe place and to otherwise protect the PIN from fraudulent or unauthorized use. You also agree to notify us at once if you believe that your PIN has been lost, stolen, obtained by an unauthorized person or used fraudulently, or if you believe that any transaction on your account is in error, or if you believe your account has been or may be subject to any fraudulent or unauthorized use whatsoever. The fastest way to notify us is by calling us toll-free at 1-800-REGIONS (734-4667). Subject to notice requirements provided by applicable law, we may cancel, discontinue, suspend, or change the terms of the VRU Service, or expand or reduce the functions thereof, at any time without notice to you.

Other. We have no obligation to effect account transactions requested by telephone and without the use of a PIN or other security procedures we require, and you acknowledge and agree that we have no plan or agreement for such transactions. To the extent we allow such transactions, you acknowledge and agree that such transactions are performed solely as an occasional courtesy and accommodation to you, and such transactions are in any event subject to the terms of this Agreement and our operational rules and policies (including, without limitation, our Funds Availability Policy). If you make a telephone request to one of our customer service representatives to effect an account transaction, you agree to provide such verification information as we may require in our discretion. To fullest extent allowed by law, and subject to the other express provisions of this Agreement, you release us from, and agree to indemnify and hold us harmless as to, any and all claims, liability, damages (including, without limitation, incidental and consequential damages), losses, expenses (including without limitation reasonable attorneys' fees), and/or causes of action relating to or arising out of the performance, nonperformance, or erroneous performance of any account transaction request made to any customer service representative by telephone, whether authorized or unauthorized, and whether or not caused, in whole or in part, by our negligence.

52. Overdraft Protection. With our consent, certain savings and money market accounts, credit card or line of credit accounts, or other accounts as we may designate or permit from time to time (collectively hereinafter the "designated funding account") may be established for use in covering overdrafts on most of our checking accounts and/or on other deposit accounts as we may designate from time to time (collectively hereinafter the "protected account"). You authorize us to transfer funds from or make charges to your designated funding account to cover overdrafts as provided in this section. Subject to the terms, conditions and limitations of this section, if we allow you to use a designated funding account for Overdraft Protection, we will pay any item which constitutes and creates an overdraft in your protected account and we will automatically transfer sufficient funds from your designated funding account (in multiples of the amount designated by us from time to time as transfer increments) to cover the overdraft. If the available credit or balance in your designated funding account is insufficient to cover any overdraft item(s) in your protected account, you accept the risk that we may transfer the maximum amount available in your designated funding account and also return your item(s) unpaid due to insufficient funds or pay the item(s) and create an overdraft in your protected account, and you also accept the risk that we may, in our sole discretion, overdraw your designated funding account in order to provide sufficient funds to cover the overdraft item(s) in your protected account. If (i) more than one item is presented for payment at the same time and (ii) the sum of the items so presented would create an overdraft in your protected account if all of the items were paid and (iii) the available credit or balance in your designated funding account is insufficient to cover the overdraft which would be created by payment of all the items, you agree that we may pay any of the items we choose in any order we choose. We will not be responsible for any loss you may incur due to the transfer of funds, the method used to pay items, the failure to transfer funds, or a mistake in the transfer of funds in connection with an overdraft. You further understand and agree that we are not obligated to link more than one protected account to a designated funding account for the purpose of Overdraft Protection, nor are we obligated to link more than one designated funding account to any protected account. Should you request the linkage of your protected account to a designated funding account, you agree not to use the service until you receive our notice confirming the relationship between the two accounts for the purpose of Overdraft Protection. The notice will contain the account numbers (or truncated account numbers) of the two accounts and will be generated each time you change related accounts or upon termination of the Overdraft Protection service. We may in our discretion, and without obligation, initiate a transfer of funds from your funding account to your protected account (in multiples of the amount designated by us from time to time as transfer increments) to pay any fees that have been assessed against and overdrawn your protected account.

You agree to pay our standard transfer fee for Overdraft Protection then in effect for each transfer of funds from a designated funding account to your protected account in connection with any overdraft item presented against your protected account. In the event we decline or are unable, for any reason whatsoever, to make a transfer from your designated funding account and (i) we return an item unpaid due to insufficient funds in your protected account or (ii) in our sole discretion, we pay the item, thereby creating an overdraft in your protected account, you agree to pay our standard overdraft, nonsufficient funds, and/or returned item fee then in effect, subject to the requirements of applicable law. In the event any transfer from your designated funding account is insufficient to cover overdraft items presented against your protected account (including, but not limited to, a transfer of all remaining available funds from your designated funding account) and (i) we return any item(s) unpaid due to insufficient funds or (ii) in our sole discretion, we pay any item(s), thereby creating an overdraft in your protected account, you agree to pay both our standard transfer fee and overdraft, nonsufficient funds, or returned item fee then in effect, as applicable, subject to the requirements of applicable law. In the event we overdraw your designated funding account in order to provide funds to cover any overdraft item(s) in your protected account, you agree to pay both our standard transfer fee and any fees then effect for an overdraft in your designated funding account.

If your designated funding account is a deposit account, our funds availability policies govern when funds deposited to your designated funding account will be available for covering overdrafts in your protected account. If your designated funding account is a deposit account and all remaining funds are transferred from your designated funding account, you must promptly deposit additional funds in the designated funding account in order to maintain the Overdraft Protection link with your protected account. Otherwise, the Overdraft Protection link between your protected account and your designated funding account will be terminated and you will no longer have Overdraft Protection from that designated funding account. In that event, you must contact us if you wish to reestablish the link between your protected account and your designated funding account. If your designated funding account is a deposit account, we may withhold a nominal amount of funds from any transfer in order to prevent the termination of the link between your protected account and designated funding account, but we have no obligation to do so. Without limiting the other terms and conditions of this section, in the event your Overdraft Protection is cancelled or terminated for any reason, you agree that you will thereafter pay our standard overdraft, nonsufficient funds, or returned item fee, as applicable, in effect for each item presented for payment against your protected account which we, in our sole discretion, (i) return unpaid due to insufficient funds or (ii) pay, thereby creating an overdraft in your protected account, subject to the requirements of applicable law.

Your designated funding account may be subject to separate terms and conditions which govern such account, including the transfer of funds out of such account. The terms of this section do not supersede or replace such separate terms and conditions. Credit accounts that may serve as designated funding accounts are subject to credit approval. We reserve the right to terminate the Overdraft Protection service for your protected account at any time in our discretion, with or without notice to you.

53. Tax Issues. We make no representation as to the tax consequences relating to any deposit or account covered by this Agreement (including, but not limited to, individual retirement accounts). If you have questions concerning the federal or state tax consequences resulting from your purchase, ownership, use, liquidation, withdrawal, or permitted assignment of your account, you should contact your tax advisor.

54. Backup Withholding. Under the federal income tax law, you are subject to certain penalties as well as withholding of tax if: (1) You fail to furnish your certified taxpayer identification number to us each time an account is opened; (2) The Internal Revenue Service notifies us that you furnished an incorrect taxpayer identification number; or (3) We are notified that you are subject to backup withholding under applicable provisions of the Internal Revenue Code.

55. Special Terms Regarding Electronic Funds Transfers For Non-Consumer Accounts. If your account is not established primarily for personal, family, or household purposes, you acknowledge and agree that Section V – Electronic Funds Transfer Disclosure to Our Consumer Customers does not apply to your account or to any electronic funds transfers to or from your account. To the fullest extent permitted by law, you agree that in no event will we be liable to you under this Agreement, or in performing or failing to perform, or in erroneously performing, any electronic transactions, for special, indirect or consequential damages, including, without limitation, lost profits or attorneys' fees, even if we are advised in advance of the possibility of such damages, or for any other damages whatsoever, notwithstanding any other provisions of this Agreement to the contrary. You acknowledge and agree that this Agreement and any other related agreements with us set forth security procedures for electronic banking transactions that are commercially reasonable. You agree to be bound by any and all electronic fund transactions to or from your account, whether authorized or unauthorized, and we shall have no liability to you for any unauthorized electronic fund transaction or inquiry, except as otherwise expressly provided in a written agreement between you and us, or as required by applicable law. You agree that we, in our discretion, may from time to time impose limitations and restrictions on the number, frequency, and dollar amount of electronic transactions, as well as restrictions on the types of available transactions, with or without notice to you. In addition, you agree to comply with any limitations or restrictions that otherwise apply to your account(s) and may affect electronic funds transfers or inquiries.

56. Special Terms For Pass-Through Deposit Insurance Coverage. If you have opened a deposit account on behalf of the beneficial owner(s) of the funds in the account (for example as a trustee, agent, nominee, guardian, executor, custodian or funds held in some other capacity for the benefit of others), those beneficial owners may be eligible for "pass-through" insurance from the FDIC. This means the account could qualify for more than the standard maximum deposit insurance amount (currently $250,000 per depositor in the same ownership capacity). If the account has transactional features, you as the account holder must be able to provide a record of the interests of the beneficial owner(s) in accordance with the FDIC's requirements as specified below.

The FDIC has published a guide that describes the process to follow and the information you will need to provide in the event we fail. That information can be accessed on the FDIC's website at www.fdic.gov/deposit/deposits/brokers/part-370-appendix.html. In addition, the FDIC published an Addendum to the guide, section VIII, which is a good resource to understand the FDIC's alternative recordkeeping requirements for pass-through insurance. The Addendum sets forth the expectations of the FDIC for pass-through insurance coverage of any deposit accounts, including those with transactional features. The Addendum will provide information regarding the records you keep on the beneficial owners of the funds, identifying information for those owners, and the format in which to provide the records to the FDIC upon bank failure. You must be able to provide this information in a timely manner in order to receive payment for the insured amount of pass-through deposit insurance coverage as soon as possible. You will have an opportunity to validate the capability to deliver the required information in the appropriate format so that a timely calculation of deposit insurance coverage can be made; further instructions relating to this opportunity will be communicated at a later time.

You agree to cooperate fully with us and the FDIC in connection with determining the insured status of funds in such accounts at any time. In the event of a bank failure, you agree to provide the FDIC with the information described above in the required format within 24 hours of a bank failure. As soon as a receiver is appointed, a hold will be placed on your account and that hold will not be released until the FDIC determines that you have provided the necessary data to enable the FDIC to calculate the deposit insurance. You understand and agree that your failure to provide the necessary data to the FDIC may result in a delay in receipt of insured funds and may result in legal claims against you from the beneficial owners of the funds in the account. If you do not provide the required data, your account may be held or frozen until the information is received, which will cause a delay when the beneficial owners could receive funds. Despite other provisions in this Agreement, this section survives after a receiver is appointed for us, and the FDIC is considered a third-party beneficiary of this section.

SECTION II: TIME DEPOSITS/CERTIFICATES OF DEPOSIT

The terms and conditions contained in this Section II supplement the other terms and provisions of this Agreement and apply to any time deposit accounts ("Time Deposits") and certificates of deposit ("Certificates") that you have with us, including, as applicable, Time Deposits or Certificates purchased for an Individual Retirement Account. Time Deposits and Certificates are further subject to terms and provisions that may be printed on your Time Deposit receipt or Certificate, and you acknowledge and agree that such terms and provisions are part of this Agreement. In the event of a conflict between the terms set forth herein and the terms and provisions printed on your Time Deposit receipt or Certificate, the terms and provisions printed on your Time Deposit receipt or Certificate will govern and control.

INTEREST ACCRUAL INFORMATION

Interest will begin to accrue on the business day we receive your deposit. We use the daily balance method to calculate the interest on Time Deposits and Certificates. This method applies a daily periodic rate to the principal in the account each day. Interest is compounded daily for all Time Deposits and Certificates.

INTEREST PAYMENT METHOD AND FREQUENCY

You may elect to have your interest deposited into your Regions checking, savings or money market account, sent to you by check, or credited to your Time Deposit or Certificate monthly, quarterly, semiannually, annually or – if the term is 365 days or less – at maturity. Interest on Time Deposits or Certificates with terms of 366 days or longer must be paid or credited at least annually. Your interest payment method and frequency are designated on your Time Deposit receipt or Certificate, as applicable, as well as on your Pre-Maturity and Renewal Confirmation Notices.

ANNUAL PERCENTAGE YIELD (APY)

The APY is a percentage rate reflecting the total amount of interest that would be earned on the account based on the interest rate and the frequency of compounding. The APY assumes interest will remain on deposit until maturity. Any withdrawal will reduce earnings. You must maintain a daily balance equal to the amount of your initial deposit or renewal amount to earn the stated interest rate and APY.

AUTOMATIC RENEWAL

For any renewable Time Deposit or Certificate, your deposit will be automatically renewed for the same term as indicated on your Time Deposit receipt or Certificate, as applicable, and at the interest rate established by us for your type of deposit at the time of each renewal, provided that your type of deposit is still a part of our service offering at the time of renewal. If you allow your Time Deposit or Certificate to automatically renew, it will renew on the date your prior deposit matured. Should you wish to prevent the deposit from being renewed, you must contact us in writing at any time before the maturity date but not later than the grace period defined below. If your type of deposit is not a part of our service offering at the time of renewal, we will notify you accordingly, and the funds will be paid to you or deposited into a different type of account pursuant to this Agreement and our disbursement procedures in effect at that time, and/or pursuant to any option we have given you in our notification to you which you have elected.

PRE-MATURITY NOTICE

For Time Deposits or Certificates with terms greater than thirteen (13) days, a notice will be sent prior to maturity indicating the date on which your deposit will mature. If the term of your deposit is thirteen (13) days or less, you will not receive a notice.

RENEWAL CONFIRMATION NOTICE

For Time Deposits or Certificates with terms greater than thirteen (13) days, a notice will be sent after the grace period on your matured deposit has expired, indicating your new interest rate and maturity date. If the term of your deposit is thirteen (13) days or less, you will not receive a notice.

GRACE PERIOD

For seven to thirty-one (7-31) day Time Deposits and Certificates, you may withdraw all or any part of your deposit without penalty not more than one (1) business day after a maturity date, however, no interest from the date of maturity will be paid on any funds withdrawn in this manner. For Time Deposits and Certificates with terms greater than thirty-one (31) days, you may withdraw all or any part of your deposit without penalty not more than ten (10) calendar days after a maturity date. However, no interest from the date of maturity will be paid on any funds withdrawn in this manner. Any person named on the Time Deposit receipt or Certificate may make withdrawals during a grace period.

NON-AUTOMATICALLY RENEWABLE; FINAL MATURITY NOTICE

A notice will be sent prior to maturity indicating the date on which your deposit will mature. On that date, the principal and any unpaid interest will be disbursed as indicated on your Time Deposit receipt or Certificate.

EARLY WITHDRAWAL
Early withdrawal is withdrawing all or part of the principal of any deposit, prior to maturity, except withdrawals during a grace period as defined above. Early withdrawal is also defined as amending the terms of your Time Deposit or Certificate to reduce the maturity period designated on the Time Deposit receipt or Certificate as the "Term." To the fullest extent allowed by law, we reserve the right not to permit any early withdrawal, and we shall have no obligation to agree to an amendment of the terms of your Time Deposit or Certificate. Whether we permit any early withdrawal or agree to amend the terms of your Time Deposit or Certificate shall be within our sole and absolute discretion.

MULTIPLE OWNERSHIP;
AVAILABILITY OF FUNDS FOR WITHDRAWAL
In the event that any Time Deposit or Certificate is owned by two or more depositors, as indicated in our records, we may allow any depositor, acting alone, to withdraw all or any of the Time Deposit or Certificate funds. Our payment of Time Deposit or Certificate funds to any such depositor is a full discharge of our liability to all depositors in the amount of the payment. However, we reserve the right to require, in our sole and absolute discretion, the signature, assent or acknowledgement of all depositors in connection with any withdrawal of funds from a Time Deposit or Certificate that is not made during the grace period. We reserve the right to refuse your request to withdraw the funds in your Time Deposit or Certificate until such time as the funds used to purchase the Time Deposit or Certificate have become collected funds.

EARLY WITHDRAWAL PENALTY
In the event of any early withdrawal, you must pay the applicable early withdrawal penalty described below, provided that we reserve the right to charge a minimum early withdrawal penalty on any early withdrawal equal to seven days' simple interest on the amount withdrawn at the interest rate being paid on your deposit at the time of withdrawal. Withdrawals made during a grace period are not subject to an early withdrawal penalty, and an early withdrawal penalty may not apply to withdrawals made at certain times during the term of your deposit, as provided below. Also, the early withdrawal penalty may be waived in the event of death of any depositor on the Time Deposit or Certificate, or if any depositor is determined to be legally incompetent by a court or other administrative body of competent jurisdiction. With regard to IRA Time Deposits and Certificates, early withdrawal penalties do not apply if the withdrawal reason was due to: death, total and permanent disability, substantially equal periodic payments, seven day revocation (provided that seven day revocation may result in forfeiture of interest earned), excess contribution, divorce or you are aged 59½ or older. Note that early withdrawal of IRA funds may also be subject to other penalties and tax consequences as provided by applicable law.

As applicable, if you receive periodic distributions of interest or if you have not earned enough interest to pay the required early withdrawal penalty, some or all of the penalty may be deducted from the principal amount of your Time Deposit or Certificate. Any early withdrawal penalty will be payable immediately upon withdrawal.

The following early withdrawal penalties apply:

1. If the term of your deposit is 31 days or less, you must pay an early withdrawal penalty equal to the total amount of interest that would have been earned on the amount withdrawn had such amount remained on deposit for the entire term of the deposit until maturity. The penalty shall be calculated at the interest rate being paid on your deposit at the time of withdrawal.

2. If the term of your deposit is 32 days to and including 364 days, you must pay an early withdrawal penalty equal to (i) all interest earned on the amount withdrawn as of the date of withdrawal or (ii) 1% of the amount withdrawn, whichever is less. However, we may collect a minimum penalty of seven days' simple interest on the amount withdrawn at the interest rate being paid on your deposit at the time of withdrawal.

3. If the term of your deposit is 365 days or more, you must pay an early withdrawal penalty equal to (i) all interest earned on the amount withdrawn as of the date of withdrawal or (ii) 2% of the amount withdrawn, whichever is less. However, we may collect a minimum penalty of seven days' simple interest on the amount withdrawn at the interest rate being paid on your deposit at the time of withdrawal. If the original maturity of your deposit is 730 days or more, no early withdrawal penalty will apply to any withdrawals made during the last 31 calendar days of your deposit term, except for withdrawals made within six days after the date of deposit (if we allow additional deposits during such period) and withdrawals made within six days after any previous partial early withdrawal, which withdrawals will be subject to an early withdrawal penalty equal to seven days' simple interest on the amount withdrawn at the interest rate being paid on your deposit at the time of withdrawal.

TRANSFERABILITY
Time Deposits and non-negotiable Certificates are not transferable. This means that you may not transfer the ownership of your Time Deposit or non-negotiable Certificate to anyone without our written consent, which may be granted or withheld in our sole and absolute discretion. Any transfer is not effective until we have given you written consent and note the transfer in our records. Certificates that are negotiable instruments under applicable law are transferable only upon proper endorsement and registration at the Regions location which initially issued the Certificate.

NEGOTIABILITY
Time Deposits are not negotiable. Certificates may be negotiable, subject to the requirements of applicable law, and the balance will be paid to you or any transferee of a negotiable Certificate only upon proper presentment of the Certificate, with all necessary endorsements, to us. Seven to thirty-one (7-31) day Certificates are not negotiable.

REPORTING INTEREST EARNED
The Internal Revenue Service requires us to report interest, on which you may owe income tax, for the calendar year in which it is paid to you. For Time Deposits or Certificates with terms greater than one (1) year with interest paid at maturity (grandfathered accounts only), we will report the interest your deposit has earned, whether or not it is paid. Each year we will furnish you a statement that reflects the interest paid to you during the preceding year. All interest will be reported as having been earned by the person named first on the account.

ADDITIONAL DEPOSITS
For automatically renewable Time Deposits with maturities greater than thirty-one (31) days, you may make additional deposits only during the grace period defined above, with the exception of the 18 Month Variable Rate IRA as described in this Section II. Additional deposits are not allowed on any Certificate or on automatically renewable Time Deposits with maturities of seven to thirty-one (7-31) days. If you have established an 18 Month Variable Rate IRA Time Deposit, additional deposits of not less than $50 will be accepted. Additional deposits will not extend the maturity date of this deposit.

TERMINATION
If you fail to comply with any terms or conditions of this Agreement, you agree that we may terminate your Time Deposit or Certificate at our discretion, in addition to exercising any other rights or remedies we may have, which we may exercise in our sole and absolute discretion. In this event, we will remit to you any funds held by us, including any interest earned, less any applicable early withdrawal penalties, and we will have no further obligation to you.

ADDITIONAL CONDITIONS SPECIFIC TO CERTIFICATES
Payment of principal and any unpaid interest will be made to you only upon proper presentment of your Certificate.

SECTION III: INDIVIDUAL RETIREMENT ACCOUNTS

The terms and provisions of this Section III supplement the other terms and provisions of this Agreement and apply to any Regions IRA you may have with us. This includes: Traditional IRA, Roth IRA, SEP IRA and Coverdell Education Savings Account. This Section III also applies to deposits covered by this Agreement that are held in qualified retirement plans.

Regions IRAs are further subject to the information and provisions in your Individual Retirement Account and Disclosure Statement, your Roth IRA and Disclosure Statement, your Coverdell Education Savings Account and Disclosure Statement, or your 5305-SA, and on your IRA Deposit Receipt(s) ("Receipt(s)"), and you acknowledge and agree that such information and provisions are part of this Agreement. In the event of a conflict between the terms set forth herein and the terms and provisions of such IRA disclosures statements and/or Receipts, the terms and provisions of such disclosures, statements, and Receipts will govern and control.

INTEREST RATE
The interest rate stated on your Receipt is guaranteed until its original maturity, subject to the exceptions outlined in this Section III.

18-MONTH VARIABLE IRA
The interest rate on this deposit is equal to the discount rate of the new 6-month Treasury bill plus 1/4%. The discount rate of the 6-month Treasury bill is determined by the weekly auction of the Federal Reserve. To this extent, the interest rate and APY earned on this deposit are subject to change weekly and may be deemed variable rates. Fluctuations in the discount rate of the 6-month Treasury bill could cause an interest rate and APY in a subsequent week to be less than the interest rate and APY in an earlier week. This deposit is not available for Roth IRA or Coverdell Education Savings Accounts.

MONEY MARKET IRA
The interest rate on this deposit is set by Regions management in its sole discretion. To this extent, the interest rate and APY earned on this deposit are subject to change daily and may be deemed variable rates.

AUTOMATIC RENEWAL OF DEPOSIT
See Section II of this Agreement for details regarding automatic renewal of your IRA Time Deposit or Certificate. If your deposit is not a part of our service offering at the time of renewal, the funds will be deposited into the Money Market IRA unless we have received different instructions from you in writing.

ADDITIONAL DEPOSITS
You may make additional deposits to your account only during the grace period for Time Deposits or Certificates as defined in Section II except as noted in this Section III.

18-MONTH VARIABLE IRA
Additional deposits of not less than $50 will be accepted. Additional deposits will not extend the maturity date of the deposit.

MONEY MARKET IRA
Additional deposits of not less than $25 will be accepted.

AUTOMATED DEPOSITS
Deposits made to your IRA through payroll deduction or telephone banking will be made as "current year" contributions only.

INTEREST PAYMENT FREQUENCY
Unless otherwise requested, interest will be credited to your IRA account quarterly.

INTEREST AND PRINCIPAL DISBURSEMENTS/WITHDRAWALS
All requests to withdraw funds from the IRA must be done in writing. Please refer to the applicable disclosure statement governing your type of account (Traditional, Roth, or Coverdell Education Savings Account) for possible IRS penalties.

Should you elect to receive interest or principal distributions, your payment method and frequency are designated on your IRA Request for Distribution as well as on your Pre-Maturity and Renewal Confirmation notices.

PAYMENT METHOD
Your interest or principal can be deposited directly into your Regions checking or savings account, or paid by cashier's check. You may be charged a cashier's check fee.

PAYMENT FREQUENCY
You may receive your interest or principal monthly, quarterly, semi-annually or annually.

EARLY WITHDRAWAL PENALTY
You should refer to Section II of this Agreement for applicable terms relating to early withdrawal penalties for IRA Time Deposits or Certificates.

TERMINATION
You may elect to close your account at any time and withdraw your funds less any applicable withdrawal penalties. Notification to close your account must be done in writing. Furthermore, if you fail to comply with any of the terms and conditions of this Agreement, we may terminate your account and resign as custodian of your IRA (refer to your applicable Disclosure Statement or Receipt), in addition to exercising any other rights or remedies we may have, which we may exercise in our sole and absolute discretion. In this event, we will remit to you or your designated successor custodian any funds held by us, including any interest earned, less any applicable early withdrawal penalties. We will have no further obligation to you.

TAX CONSEQUENCES
We make no representation as to the tax consequences relating to any individual retirement account covered by this Agreement. If you have questions concerning the federal or state tax consequences resulting from your purchase, ownership, use, liquidation, or withdrawal of your IRA deposit, you should contact your tax advisor.

SECTION IV: FUNDS AVAILABILITY POLICY

1. Your Ability To Withdraw Funds. Our policy is to make funds from your deposits available to you on the first business day after the day we receive your deposit. Electronic direct deposits will be available no later than the day we receive the deposit. Once they are available, you can withdraw the funds in cash and we will use the funds to pay checks that you have written.

For determining the availability of your deposits, every day is a business day, except Saturdays, Sundays and federal holidays. If you make a deposit on a business day that we are open, we will consider that day to be the day of your deposit. However, if you make a deposit on a day that is not a business day or on a day we are not open, we will consider that the deposit was made on the next business day we are open. Our self-service deposit-taking facilities (e.g., ATMs and night depositories) will display any applicable cutoff times for determining when a deposit is received. If you make a deposit at one of these facilities before the displayed cutoff time on a business day that we are open, we will consider that day to be the day of your deposit. However, if you make a deposit at one of these facilities on a day that is not a business day, or on a day we are not open, or after the displayed cutoff time on a business day we are open, we will consider that the deposit was made on the next business day we are open. This Funds Availability Policy does not apply to mobile and remote deposit capture services. Funds availability terms for such services are set forth in applicable service agreements. This Funds Availability Policy also does not apply to savings accounts or to money market accounts, and we may delay the availability of funds from deposits made to such accounts.

2. Longer Delays May Apply. In some cases, we will not make all of the funds that you deposit by check available to you on the first business day after the day of your deposit. Depending on the type of check that you deposit, funds may not be available until the second (2nd) business day after the day of your deposit. However, the first $275 of your deposits may be available on the first business day.

If we are not going to make all of the funds from your deposit available on the first business day, we will notify you at the time you make your deposit. We will also tell you when the funds will be available.

If your deposit is not made directly to one of our employees, or if we decide to take this action after you have left the premises, we will mail you the notice by the day after we receive your deposit.

If you will need the funds from a deposit right away, you should ask us when the funds will be available.

In addition, funds you deposit by check may be delayed for a longer period under the following circumstances:

- We believe a check you deposit will not be paid.
- You deposit checks totaling more than $6,725 on any one day.
- You redeposit a check that has been returned unpaid.
- You have overdrawn your account repeatedly in the last six months.
- There is an emergency, such as failure of communications or computer equipment.

We will notify you if we delay your ability to withdraw funds for any of these reasons, and we will tell you when the funds will be available. They will generally be available no later than the seventh (7th) business day after the day of your deposit.

3. Special Rules For New Accounts. If you are a new customer, the following special rules may apply during the first 30 days your account is open.

Funds from electronic direct deposits to your account will be available on the day we receive the deposit. Funds from deposits of cash, wire transfers, and the first $6,725 of a day's total deposits of cashier's, certified, teller's, traveler's, and federal, state and local government checks will be available on the first business day after the day of your deposit if the deposit meets certain conditions. For example, the checks must be payable to you. The excess of the above stated checks over $6,725 will be available on the seventh (7th) business day after the day of your deposit. If your deposit of these checks (other than a U.S. Treasury Check) is not made in person to one of our employees, the first $6,725 may not be available until the second business day after the day of your deposit.

Funds from all other check deposits will be available on the seventh (7th) business day after the day of your deposit.

4. Holds On Other Funds (Check Cashing). If we cash a check for you that is drawn on another bank, we may withhold the availability of a corresponding amount of funds that are already in your account. Those funds will be available at the time funds from the check we cashed would have been available if you had deposited it. We have no responsibility for fees assessed by third parties or for any other amounts claimed due to our delaying the availability of funds in the account.

5. Holds On Other Funds (Other Accounts). If we accept for deposit a check that is drawn on another bank, we may make funds from the deposit available for withdrawal immediately but delay your availability to withdraw a corresponding amount of funds that you have on deposit in another account with us. The funds in the other account would then not be available for withdrawal until the time periods that are described elsewhere in this disclosure for the type of check that you deposited. We have no responsibility for fees assessed by third parties or for any other amounts claimed due to our delaying the availability of funds in the other account.

6. Real-Time Electronic Payments. We may participate in certain electronic payment networks that facilitate instantaneous or real-time settlement of funds transfers. Such funds transfers into your account are immediately available for ATM withdrawal and electronic transaction authorization, and if made to your account before 8 p.m. Central Time on a business day will be available in processing that night to cover items presented against your account during that same business day. Such funds transfers made to your account on a day that is not a business day or after 8 p.m. Central Time on a business day will not be available to cover items in nightly processing until the next business day. You should ask us if you need additional information about funds transfers made through these payment networks.

SECTION V: ELECTRONIC FUNDS TRANSFER DISCLOSURE TO OUR CONSUMER CUSTOMERS

(THE DISCLOSURES AND TERMS IN THIS SECTION V ARE APPLICABLE ONLY TO THE EXTENT THAT YOUR ACCOUNT HAS BEEN ESTABLISHED PRIMARILY FOR PERSONAL, FAMILY, OR HOUSEHOLD PURPOSES.)

Certain types of transactions that are handled completely or partially by electronics are subject to the Electronic Fund Transfer Act (EFT Act). The EFT Act, subject to certain exceptions and qualifications, covers funds transfers that are initiated through an electronic terminal, telephone, computer or magnetic tape, including automated clearinghouse (ACH) transactions and preauthorized electronic direct deposits and preauthorized electronic payments to third parties to or from your checking account, other transaction accounts or savings account.

Your rights, protection and liabilities are outlined in the following disclosure in accordance with the EFT Act. Our obligations and liabilities are also summarized for you. Please read and become familiar with all parts of this disclosure. Be sure to retain the telephone numbers and addresses that you may need in order to limit your liability and to resolve problems that you may have concerning electronic transfers. You may contract with us for the provision of a specific electronic funds transfer service (for example, by requesting an ATM or CheckCard, or by enrolling for the use of our online or electronic banking services) and receive separate terms and conditions and EFT Act disclosures pertaining to that service. Such separate terms, conditions and disclosures supplement the terms of this Agreement and the following disclosures.

1. Types Of Available Transfers. Unless you have separately contracted with us for a different or specific electronic funds transfer service or access device for your account(s), the electronic funds transfers described below generally are the only types of transfers that may be available to you.

(a) ACH; preauthorized electronic funds transfers. The following are examples of ACH transactions and/or preauthorized electronic funds transfers:

(i) You may authorize a merchant or other payee to make a one-time electronic payment from your checking account using information from your check to pay for purchases or pay bills. This is known as "electronic check conversion." For instance, assume that you purchase goods from a merchant. You provide the merchant with a voided check which allows the merchant to capture routing, account and serial number information. The transaction is processed electronically through ACH, and your account is debited for the purchase price of the goods.

(ii) You send a check to a merchant who bills you on a periodic basis. The merchant uses the information on the check to process your payment electronically through ACH and your account is debited for the bill.

(iii) You authorize your employer in writing to pay you through direct deposit of your paycheck to your account. You provide your employer with account and routing number information to enable your employer to credit your account. The transfers will take place on a recurring basis, at substantially regular intervals, and will require no further action from you to initiate the transfers. The transfers are processed electronically through ACH, and your account is credited for the amount of your paycheck each payday.

(iv) You give advance written authorization to your telephone company to debit your account electronically each month in the amount of your monthly telephone bill. You provide your telephone company with account and routing number information to enable your telephone company to debit your account. The transfers will take place on a recurring basis, at substantially regular intervals, and will require no further action from you to initiate the transfers. The transfers are processed electronically through ACH, and your account is debited for the amount of your telephone bill each month.

(b) Telephone VRU Service. You may transfer funds among your accounts that are accessible through the VRU Service, our automated telephone funds transfer and account information service. More details about the features and functionality of the VRU Service are provided in Section I of this Agreement.

(c) Electronic Teller Kiosks and Service Units. We may from time to time install electronic teller kiosks and service units in our branches and at other various locations. You may use these electronic terminals to get cash from your account, to transfer funds between certain accounts, to check certain account balances and certain transaction histories, to make deposits to your account, to make payments by check or cash to us, and to perform certain other transactions that you might perform in person with the assistance of a teller at one of our branches. Please note that some of these electronic terminals may have limited functionality and may not be able to perform all of the transactions described above. You should verify that the electronic terminal you are using can perform the transaction you require before attempting the transaction.

(d) Real-Time Electronic Payments. We may participate in certain electronic payment networks that facilitate instantaneous or real-time settlement of funds transfers. You may from time to time arrange for third parties to make funds transfers to your account through these payment networks, subject to the rules of the payment networks. In order for you to send funds transfers to third parties through these payment networks, you may need to enroll for a separate electronic funds transfer service with us or with the applicable payment network. You should ask us if you need additional information about funds transfers made through these payment networks.

2. Limits On Transfers. There may from time to time be limits on the number and dollar amount of electronic funds transfers that you can make. These limits are for security reasons and may change from time to time. There may be additional limitations elsewhere in this Agreement.

Your ability to initiate transactions also may be limited by the terms of other agreements you have with us or as described in other disclosures we have made to you, or by applicable law. You agree to abide by and be bound by all applicable limitations.

3. Right To Receive Documentation Of Transfers.

(a) Terminal transfers. You can get a receipt at the time you make any transfer to or from your account using any electronic terminal (You may need to request and enter into a separate agreement for an ATM card, debit card or check card in order to effect transactions at certain electronic terminals).

(b) Preauthorized credits. If you have arranged to have direct deposits made to your account at least once every sixty (60) days from the same person or company, you can call us to find out whether or not the deposit has been made.

(c) Periodic statements. You will get a monthly account statement for each month in which an electronic funds transfer is made to or from your account. In any case, you will get the statement at least quarterly for each account to which or from which an electronic funds transfer may be made.

4. Your Liability For Unauthorized Transfers; Advisability Of Prompt Reporting. An unauthorized transfer means a transfer from your account that is initiated by another person without your authority to initiate the transfer and from which you receive no benefit. The term does not include any transfer that is initiated by a person who was furnished by you with the means to access your account, unless you have notified us that transfers by that person are no longer authorized and we have had reasonable opportunity to act on that notification.

(a) Tell us AT ONCE if you believe any access device, code, PIN, or other means of electronically accessing your account has been lost or stolen or if you believe that an electronic funds transfer has been made without your permission using information from your check. Telephoning is the best way of keeping your possible losses down. You could lose all your money in your account (plus your maximum overdraft funding amounts). If you tell us within two (2) business days after you learn of the loss or theft, you can lose no more than $50 if someone electronically accessed your account without your permission.

(b) If you do NOT tell us within two (2) business days after you learn of the loss or theft of your access device, code, PIN, or other means of electronically accessing your account, and we can prove we could have stopped someone from electronically accessing your account without your permission if you had told us, you could lose as much as $500.

(c) Also, if your statement shows transfers that you did not make, tell us at once. If you do not tell us within sixty (60) days after the statement was mailed to you, you may not get back any money you lost after the sixty (60) days if we can prove that we could have stopped someone from taking the money if you had told us in time.

(d) If we determine that extenuating circumstances kept you from telling us, we may extend the time periods.

5. Our Liability For Failure To Make Transfers. If we do not properly complete a transfer to or from your account on time or in the correct amount according to our agreement with you, we will be liable for your losses or damages. However, there are some exceptions. We will not be liable, for instance:

(a) If, through no fault of ours, your account does not contain enough money to make the transfer.

(b) If the transfer would go over any existing credit limit on your overdraft line, or other credit account.

(c) If your funds are being held or frozen or are subject to legal process.
(d) If the electronic terminal where you are making the transfer does not have enough cash.
(e) If the electronic terminal (or system) was not working properly and you knew about the breakdown when you started the transfer.
(f) If circumstances beyond our control (such as telecommunication or electrical outages and malfunctions, postal strikes or delays, computer system failures or natural disasters) prevent the transfer, despite reasonable precautions that we have taken.
(g) If you have exceeded the limitations on frequency of transfers or dollar amount of transfers.
(h) If your access device, code, PIN, or other means of electronically accessing your account has been reported lost or stolen, or has been damaged, or if we have reason to believe that a transaction has not been properly authorized or authenticated, or is fraudulent, erroneous, or illegal.
(i) If we do not receive the necessary transfer data from a third party, or if such data is incomplete or erroneous when received by us.
(j) If making the transfer would cause us to violate any law, rule or regulation to which we are subject.
(k) If your account is presumed abandoned under applicable law, or if we consider your account to be dormant or inactive under our policies and procedures.
(l) If any failure on our part was not intentional and resulted from a bona fide error, notwithstanding procedures to avoid such error, except for actual damages (which do not include indirect, incidental, special or consequential damages).

There may be other exceptions to liability stated in this Agreement or other agreements with you or otherwise provided by applicable law.

6. Disclosure Of Account Information To Third Parties. We will disclose information to third parties about your account or the transfers you make:

(a) Where it is necessary for completing transfers, or
(b) In order to verify the existence and condition of your account for a third party, such as a credit bureau or merchant, or
(c) In order to comply with government agency or court orders, or
(d) If you give us your written permission, or
(e) Otherwise in accordance with our privacy notice. You may obtain a copy of our privacy notice at any time by visiting any of our branches or by visiting our website.

7. Right To Stop Payment On Preauthorized Transfers And Procedure For Doing So; Right To Receive Notice Of Varying Amounts; And Our Liability For Failure To Stop Payment.

(a) Right to stop payment and procedures for doing so. If you have directed preauthorized electronic funds transfers from your account, you can stop any of these payments. Here's how: Call us at the number shown below or you can write us at the address shown below in time for us to receive your request three (3) business days or more before the payment is scheduled to be made. If you call, we may also require you to put your request in writing and get it to us within fourteen (14) days after you call.
(b) Notice of varying amounts. If these regular payments may vary in amount, the person you are going to pay will tell you, ten (10) days before each payment, when it will be made and how much it will be. You may choose instead to get this notice only when the payment will differ by more than a certain amount from the previous payment, or when the amount would fall outside certain limits that you set.

(c) Liability for failure to stop payments of preauthorized transfer. If you order us to stop one of these payments three (3) business days or more before the transfer is scheduled, and we do not do so, we may be liable for your losses or damages.

8. What Constitutes A Business Day. For purposes of these disclosures, our business days are Monday through Friday. Holidays are not included.

9. In Case Of Billing Errors Or Questions About Your Electronic Transfers. Telephone us at the telephone number shown below or write us at the address shown below as soon as you can if you think your statement or receipt is wrong or if you need more information about a transfer listed on the statement or receipt. We must hear from you no later than sixty (60) days after we sent the FIRST statement on which the problem or error appeared.

(a) Tell us your name and account number.
(b) Describe the error or the transfer you are unsure about, and explain as clearly as you can why you believe it is an error or why you need more information.
(c) Tell us the dollar amount of the suspected error.

If you tell us orally, we may require that you send us your complaint or question in writing within ten (10) business days. We will determine whether an error occurred within ten (10) business days after we hear from you and will correct any error promptly. If we need more time, however, we may take up to forty-five (45) days to investigate your complaint or question. If we decide to do this, we will credit your account within ten (10) business days for the amount you think is in error, so that you will have the money during the time it takes us to complete our investigation. If we ask you to put your complaint or question in writing and we do not receive it within ten (10) business days, we may not credit your account. For errors involving new accounts, point-of-sale, or foreign-initiated transactions, we may take up to ninety (90) days to investigate your complaint or question. For new accounts, we may take up to twenty (20) business days to credit your account for the amount you think is in error. We will tell you the results within three (3) business days after completing our investigation. If we decide that there was no error, we will send you a written explanation. You may ask for copies of the documents that we used in our investigation.

10. Telephone Number And Address To Be Notified In Event Of Lost, Stolen Or Compromised Access Device, Or Unauthorized Transfer. If you believe that your access device, code, PIN, or other means of electronically accessing your account has been lost or stolen, or compromised, or that someone has transferred or may transfer money from your account, without permission, using information from your check or otherwise, you should call the number below or write to the address provided.

11. Fees. You should refer to our pricing schedule, which is included with other documentation and disclosures we have provided to you in connection with the opening of your account, for information regarding any fees associated with funds transfers covered by the EFT Act. Such fees are subject to change from time to time, and we will provide you with notice of such changes as required by law. The owners/operators of electronic funds transfer systems may charge fees for transactions that are not disclosed in our pricing schedule.

SECTION VI: IMPORTANT INFORMATION FOR OUR CONSUMER CUSTOMERS ABOUT SUBSTITUTE CHECKS

What is a substitute check?

To make check processing faster, federal law permits banks to replace original checks with "substitute checks." These checks are similar in size to original checks with a slightly reduced image of the front and back of the original check. The front of a substitute check states: "This is a legal copy of your check. You can use it the same way you would use the original check." You may use a substitute check as proof of payment just like the original check.

Some or all of the checks that you receive back from us may be substitute checks. This notice describes rights you have when you receive substitute checks from us. The rights in this notice do not apply to original checks or to electronic debits to your account. However, you have rights under other laws with respect to those transactions.

What are my rights regarding substitute checks?

In certain cases, federal law provides a special procedure that allows you to request a refund for losses you suffer if a substitute check is posted to your account (for example, if you think that we withdrew the wrong amount from your account or that we withdrew money from your account more than once for the same check). The losses you may attempt to recover under this procedure may include the amount that was withdrawn from your account and fees that were charged as a result of the withdrawal (for example, bounced check fees).

The amount of your refund under this procedure is limited to the amount of your loss or the amount of the substitute check, whichever is less. You also are entitled to interest on the amount of your refund if your account is an interest-bearing account. If your loss exceeds the amount of the substitute check, you may be able to recover additional amounts under other law.

If you use this procedure, you may receive up to $2,500 of your refund plus interest if your account earns interest within 10 business days after we received your claim and the remainder of your refund (plus interest if your account earns interest) not later than 45 calendar days after we received your claim.

We may reverse the refund (including any interest on the refund) if we later are able to demonstrate that the substitute check was correctly posted to your account.

How do I make a claim for a refund?

If you believe that you have suffered a loss relating to a substitute check that you received and that was posted to your account, please contact us at 1-800-REGIONS (734-4667). You must contact us within 40 calendar days of the date that we mailed (or otherwise delivered by a means to which you agreed) the substitute check in question or the account statement showing that the substitute check was posted to your account, whichever is later. We will extend this time period if you were not able to make a timely claim because of extraordinary circumstances.

Your claim must include –

- A description of why you have suffered a loss (for example, you think the amount withdrawn was incorrect);
- An estimate of the amount of your loss;
- An explanation of why the substitute check you received is insufficient to confirm that you suffered a loss; and
- A copy of the substitute check or the following information to help us identify the substitute check: the check number, the name of the person to whom you wrote the check, and the amount of the check.

SWORN STATEMENT UNDER F.S. SECTION 287.133(3) (A), ON PUBLIC ENTITY CRIMES

THIS FORM SHALL BE SIGNED IN THE PRESENCE OF A NOTARY PUBLIC OR OTHER OFFICER AUTHORIZED TO ADMINISTER OATHS.

1. This sworn statement is submitted with Bid, Proposal or Contract for City of Fernandina Beach, Florida.

2. This sworn statement is submitted by (entity) Regions Bank whose business address is 51 W. Bay St., Jacksonville, FL 32202 and (if applicable) Federal Employer Identification Number (FEIN) is 63-0371391 (If a Sole Proprietor and you have no FEIN, include the last four (4) digits of your Social Security Number: _____.)

3. My name is Jennifer Kirouac and my relationship to the entity named above is Vice President Commercial Banking Relationship Manager.

4. I understand that a "public entity crime" as defined in Paragraph 287.133(a) (g). Florida Statutes, means a violation of any state or federal law by a person with respect to and directly related to the transaction of business with any public entity or with an agency or political subdivision of any other state or with the United States, including, but not limited to, any proposal or contract for goods or services to be provided to any public entity or any agency or political subdivision of any other state or of the United States and involving antitrust, fraud, theft, bribery, collusion, racketeering, conspiracy, or material misrepresentation.

5. I understand that "convicted" or "conviction" as defined in paragraph 287.133(a) (b), Florida Statutes, means finding of guilt or a conviction of a public entity crime with or without an adjudication of guilt, in any federal or state trial court of records relating to charges brought by indictment or information after July 1, 1989, as a result of a jury verdict, non-jury trial, or entry of a plea of guilty or nolo contendere.

6. I understand that an "affiliate" as defined in Paragraph 287.133(1) (a), Florida Statutes, means:

    1. A predecessor or successor of a person convicted of a public entity crime; or

    2. An entity under the control of any natural person who is active in the management of the entity and who has been convicted of a public entity crime. The term "affiliate" includes those officers, directors, executives, partners, shareholders, employees, members, and agents who are active in the management of an affiliate. The City of Fernandina Beach, Florida ownership by one of shares constituting a controlling income among persons when not for fair interest in another person, or a pooling of equipment or income among persons when not for fair market value under a length agreement, shall be a prima facie case that one person controls another person. A person who was knowingly convicted of a public entity crime, in Florida during the preceding 36 months shall be considered an affiliate.

7. I understand that a "person" as defined in Paragraph 287.133(1) (e), Florida Statutes, means any natural person or entity organized under the laws of the state or of the United States with the legal power to enter into a binding contract for provision of goods or services let by a public entity, or which otherwise transacts or applies to transact business with a public entity. The term "person" includes those officers, directors, executives, partners, shareholders, employees, members, and agents who are active in management of an entity.

8. Based on information and belief, the statement which I have marked below is true in relation to the entity submitting this sworn statement. (Please indicate which statement applies)

_x_ Neither the entity submitting this sworn statement, nor any officers, directors, executives, partners, shareholders, employees, members, or agents who are active in management of the entity, nor affiliate of the entity have been charged with and convicted of a public entity crime subsequent to July 1, 1989.

__ The entity submitting this sworn statement, or one or more of the officers, directors, executives, partners, shareholders, employees, members, or agents who are active in management of the entity, or an affiliate of the entity has been charged with and convicted of a public entity crime subsequent to July 1, 1989. (Please attach a copy of the final order.)

____ The person or affiliate was placed on the convicted FIRM list. There has been a subsequent proceeding before a hearing officer of the State of Florida, Division of Administrative Hearings. The final order entered by the hearing officer determined that it was in public interest to remove the person or affiliate from the convicted FIRM list. (Please attach a copy of the final order.)

__ The person or affiliate has not been placed on the convicted FIRM list. (Please describe any action taken by, or pending with, the Department of General Services.)

DRUG-FREE WORKPLACE CERTIFICATION

The below-signed INDIVIDUAL/FIRM certifies that it has implemented a drug-free workplace program. In order to have a drug-free workplace prepare, a business shall:

1. Publish a statement notifying employees that the unlawful manufacture, distribution, dispensing, possession, or use of a controlled substance is prohibited in the workplace and specifying the actions that will be taken against employees for violation of such prohibition.

2. Inform employees about the dangers of drug abuse in the workplace, the business's policy of maintaining a drug-free workplace, any available drug counseling, rehabilitation, and employee assistance programs, and the penalties that may be imposed upon employees for drug abuse violations.

3. Give each employee engaged in providing the commodities or services a copy of the statement specified in paragraph 1.

4. In the statement in paragraph 1., notify the employees that, as a condition of working on the commodities or contractual services that are under proposal, the employee will abide by the terms of the statement and will notify the employer of any conviction of, or plea of nolo contendere to, any violation occurring in the workplace no later than five (5) working days after such conviction.

5. Impose a sanction on, or require fine satisfactory participation in drug abuse assistance or rehabilitation program if such is available in the employee's community, by any employee who is convicted.

6. Make a good faith effort to continue to maintain a drug-free workplace through implementation of this section.

As the person authorized to sign this statement, I Certify that this firm complies fully with the above drug-free workplace requirements.

Payment Methods

Regions Merchant Services is powered by Worldpay. Worldpay provides core processing services for Visa, Mastercard, American Express, and Discover. We also have integrated support for electronic checks. Our solution supports all co-branded Visa/Mastercard products, a private-label gift card, and fleet cards. We support the following card brands and types:

- All major credit card brands: Visa, Mastercard, Discover, and American Express.
- All National and Regional PIN networks: ACCEL, AFFN, Culiance, Jeanie, NYCE, Pulse, Shazam, and STAR.
- Worldpay supports ACH and eCheck.
- We offer many different Alternative Payment Methods, including Apple Pay, Google Pay, Click to Pay (Visa Checkout, Masterpass, and Amex Express Checkout), and Samsung Pay.

Solutioning

Worldpay invests in creating a global partnership strategy that focuses on industry verticals with market-leading eCommerce platforms, system integrators, technology companies, consultancy, and value-added providers. A key focus for partnerships is to build best-of-breed plug-ins/integrations with large eCommerce platforms.

Worldpay pairs industry-leading scale with unmatched integrated technology to take payments into the future and fuel global business growth. The City of Fernandina Beach should no longer piece together different global payment capabilities from different sources. The City of Fernandina Beach will have access to capabilities across the globe through Worldpay.

Worldpay covers more than 99 percent of the global GDP footprint. With our local experience, licenses, and payments expertise, we take the complexity out of entering new markets, whether accepting a new currency or adding the latest digital wallet. With access to approximately 225 markets and nearly 135 currencies, our solutions cover all your sales channels at home and abroad.

These comprehensive capabilities and our proven track record in the education market uniquely position Worldpay to assist the City of Fernandina Beach in attracting and retaining large-scale customers.

Direct Certification Details

Worldpay will work with the City of Fernandina Beach to create a payment environment tailored specifically for your business. When it comes to solutions, we see two different paths that the City of Fernandina Beach could take. The first path would be to have the City of Fernandina Beach come to Worldpay by coding directly to our Native Raft API and using Worldpay's iFrame eProtect. We can also support your business by utilizing one of our semi-integrated card-present solutions, such as triPOS. This will give City of Fernandina Beach full control and design over the tech stack, with Worldpay collecting all the sensitive payment data to keep your website PCI compliant. The benefit of this path is that it allows the City of Fernandina Beach to access a full suite of products, such as Apple Pay, Google Pay, Account Updater, Fraudsight, and OmniToken, to name a few.

©2026 Worldpay, LLC and/or its subsidiaries. All Rights Reserved.

Third-Party Partner

The second path that we could take for your business is connecting to Worldpay through one of our third-party gateway partners that has already been certified to Worldpay. The benefit of using a gateway is that it can offer prebuilt hosted payment pages, shopping carts, plug-ins, and pre-certified EMV devices, as well as other products available for the City of Fernandina Beach that require less integration work. Some of the prominent gateway solutions that are connected to Worldpay are Authorize.net, PayPal Pay Flow Pro, FreedomPay, CyberSource, Express (a Worldpay company), as well as hundreds of other gateways, presenters, partners, and other payment facilitators. Worldpay will work with the City of Fernandina Beach to find the best path for your business, whether it be a direct certification or utilizing a third-party partner of ours.

Card-Present

Below are multiple devices that Worldpay supports, which will allow us the flexibility to craft the right solution to custom fit your needs while delivering a consistent experience across devices and making sure you have access to the most current devices to help reduce PCI scope. Worldpay offers purchase, lease, and reprogram options depending on the best fit for the City of Fernandina Beach.

Commerce360

Commerce360 features a custom, easy-to-use website portal that integrates with GoDaddy's smart point-of-sale options, allowing acceptance of payments across all channels with flexible payment options like digital ordering, touchless payments, mobile wallets, and buy online/pick up in-store, among others.

A custom-curated website designed by GoDaddy gives our customers the ability to sell through online marketplaces like Etsy and Amazon, as well as social media channels. There is also the Smart Terminal App Center with over 70 vertical-specific apps designed for restaurant and employee management, salon scheduling, customer loyalty, and so much more.

Managing channels is also simple, with single sign-on access to the merchant portal. The merchant portal allows customers to view inventory, access in-store and online sales, analyze performance metrics, and more.

The benefits of Commerce360 are:

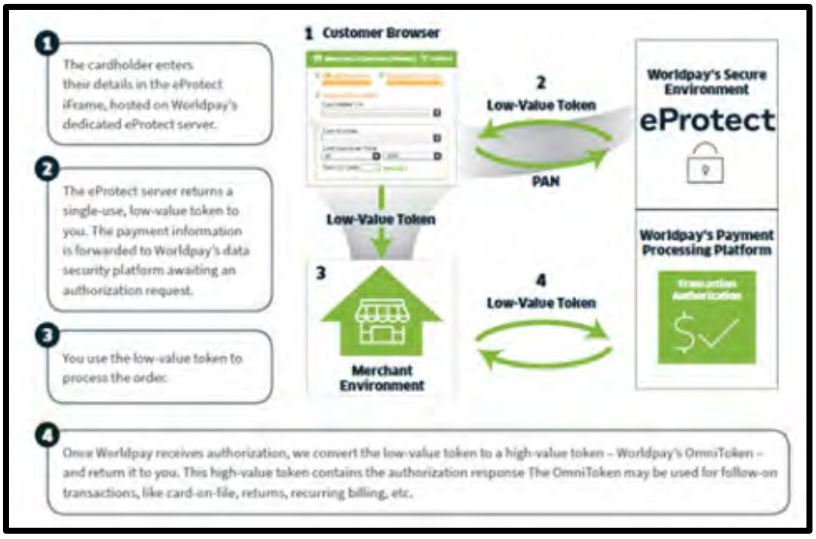
- Increase revenue with efficient inventory tracking across online and in-store.
- Easily reconcile transactions with holistic reporting.
- Meet customer needs by allowing easy checkout both online and in-store.
- Outperform the competition with marketing channels, an online presence, and a smooth checkout experience.

Virtual Terminals

Below is a Virtual Terminal that we would recommend, but we will work with the City of Fernandina Beach to find the best Virtual Terminal.

SlimCD

- SlimCD offers a Desktop, Mobile, Virtual Terminal, Shopping Cart, Creation of Invoices, Text and Email links, Card-Present and Card-Not-Present, accepts ACH, level 2 and 3 processing, and simple integration for developers with hosted payments pages.



©2026 Worldpay, LLC and/or its subsidiaries. All Rights Reserved.

eProtect (iFrame)

Worldpay offers eProtect to resolve your card-not-present challenges. The eProtect solution transfers the risk to Worldpay, reducing the need for PCI-applicable controls. Moreover, no card data is transmitted through your web server, ensuring maximum security.

Integration options are through iFrame, JavaScript, or Mobile API:

- iFrame API - This works by fully hosting fields with PCI-sensitive values. Payment card details, such as primary account number (PAN), expiration date, and CVV2 values, are hosted from our PCI Compliance environment, rather than embedded as code into the checkout page within the customer's environment.
- JavaScript Customer Browser API – This method controls the fields on a checkout page that hold sensitive card data. When a consumer submits their account information, the customer's checkout page calls the eProtect JavaScript to register the provided credit card for a token. The JavaScript validates, encrypts, and passes the account number to our system as the first step in the form submission. The return message includes the Registration ID in place of the account number. No card data is transmitted via the customer's web server.
- Mobile API - eProtect Mobile Native Application allows customers to use the eProtect solution to handle payments without interacting with the eProtect JavaScript in a browser. With the Mobile Native Application, customers POST an account number to our system and receive a Registration ID in response. Our customers can use it in native mobile applications, where the cross-domain limitations of a browser do not apply, to replace payment card data from their web servers.

©2026 Worldpay, LLC and/or its subsidiaries. All Rights Reserved.

Transaction Flow:

1. Cardholder enters their details in the eProtect iFrame, hosted on our dedicated eProtect server.

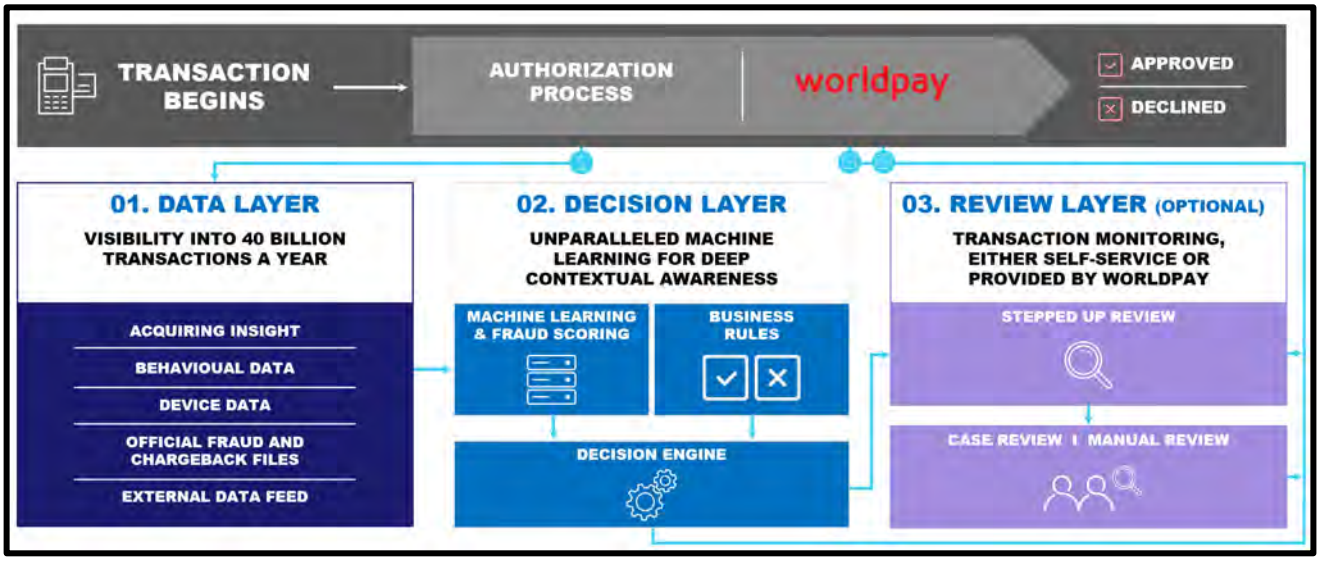
2. The eProtect server returns a single-use, low-value token to you. The payment information is forwarded to Worldpay's data security platform, awaiting an authorization request.

3. You use the low-value token to process the order.

4. Once we receive authorization, we convert the low-value token to a high-value token - Worldpay's OmniToken - and return it to you. This high-value token contains the authorization response. The OmniToken may be used for follow-on transactions, such as card-on-file, returns, recurring billing, etc.

Tokenization

Worldpay's tokenization solution provides City of Fernandina Beach with the ability to replace sensitive card data with tokens and store those details securely within Worldpay's PCI-compliant servers, removing any need for you to store card data. For City of Fernandina Beach eComm, tokenization of card info can be done by the customer's browser/checkout screen through Worldpay's eProtect product. Worldpay's tokenization product (OmniToken) can be leveraged for all payment channels under the City of Fernandina Beach hierarchy. OmniTokens are stored securely on the Worldpay side and provided to the City of Fernandina Beach to store and leverage for future payments. PAN will not be provided back to the City of Fernandina Beach unless requested or by submitting a detoken API call.



Fraud

FraudSight

FraudSight blends our vast transaction data visibility, the latest adaptive behavioral machine learning technology, and an award-winning fraud operations team to arm you for the right fight in fraud prevention. Fraud prevention is all about getting the good transactions through and stopping the bad ones. If your defenses are too weak, you open the door to more fraud and increased fraud costs. However, overly strong defenses lead to false positives and increase the cost of abandoned carts and lost customers. FraudSight accurately sorts the good from the bad and strikes the right balance—one that is good for you and your customers.

FraudSight focuses on the right protection to guard your growth, so you can focus on delivering delightful customer experiences at every interaction point.

Above: FraudSight Solution Architecture

Data Layer

An authorization enters FraudSight via the data layer. The authorization is enhanced with additional data, which FraudSight uses to improve its performance. The data augmentation sources include proprietary Worldpay assets such as Wallet ID and First Party Fraud indicators. Other sources include device ID, behavioral data, and merchant-provided information. The flexible architecture supports additional data feeds as technology evolves and other data sources are identified.

Decision Layer

Once the authorization is enhanced with additional data, it enters the Machine Learning scoring module, which assigns a fraud probability score. Machine Learning is a powerful predictor of fraud and is more effective than a set of static rules common in legacy solutions. The fraud score and the authorization data enter the decisioning engine to determine the appropriate action. Depending on the merchant's needs, the action may be "Approve / Decline" or "Approve / Decline / Send to Manual Review".

The decisioning engine is powered by Worldpay fraud experts who monitor and adapt the system based on the latest trends in the industry to protect all merchants.

Review Layer (optional)

Where appropriate, an authorization can be sent to the Review layer for manual review. In this layer, specialty data providers can be engaged to gain additional insights into the transaction and the consumer to identify whether to approve or decline. A robust case management system is used to house the manual reviews and provide feedback to merchants.

Key Features of FraudSight include:

©2026 Worldpay, LLC and/or its subsidiaries. All Rights Reserved.

- Real-time decisioning of an authorization: FraudSight renders a decision in milliseconds to influence a decision at the time of the authorization. This is the best opportunity to mitigate merchant losses.
- Card Present and Card Not Present support: Consolidate dual fraud systems (one for CP, one for CNP) into a single solution with better visibility and approval rates.
- Multiple Integration Options, including no integration: FraudSight provided fraud management on the authorization, with no additional integration required by the merchant. Merchant-provided data is supported and welcomed to improve performance.
- Managed service offering: With fraud visibility across 1MM merchants, the entire US, 25B transactions, and a team of 120+ fraud professionals, Worldpay is uniquely positioned to manage fraud on your behalf. Merchant-managed fraud is also supported.
- Machine Learning/Data Analytics: Worldpay partnered with Featurespace after conducting an extensive Proof of Concept with several vendors who are household names in the fraud space. While all claim to have the best technology, Worldpay put them to the test to identify who truly is best. We are excited to have them as a partner, as Worldpay is integrating its technology into our environment for a seamless solution for our merchants. Featurespace provides the backbone of our FraudSight solution, including:
    - Machine learning fraud scores
    - Decisioning system
    - Manual review system
- Manual Review system: Manual reviews can be managed by Worldpay or by the merchant
- Best-in-breed technologies: The modular architecture supports a multi-vendor solution, leveraging niche providers to improve overall performance

Implementation

You will have an Implementation Consultant/Project Manager who will guide you as needed throughout the implementation process.

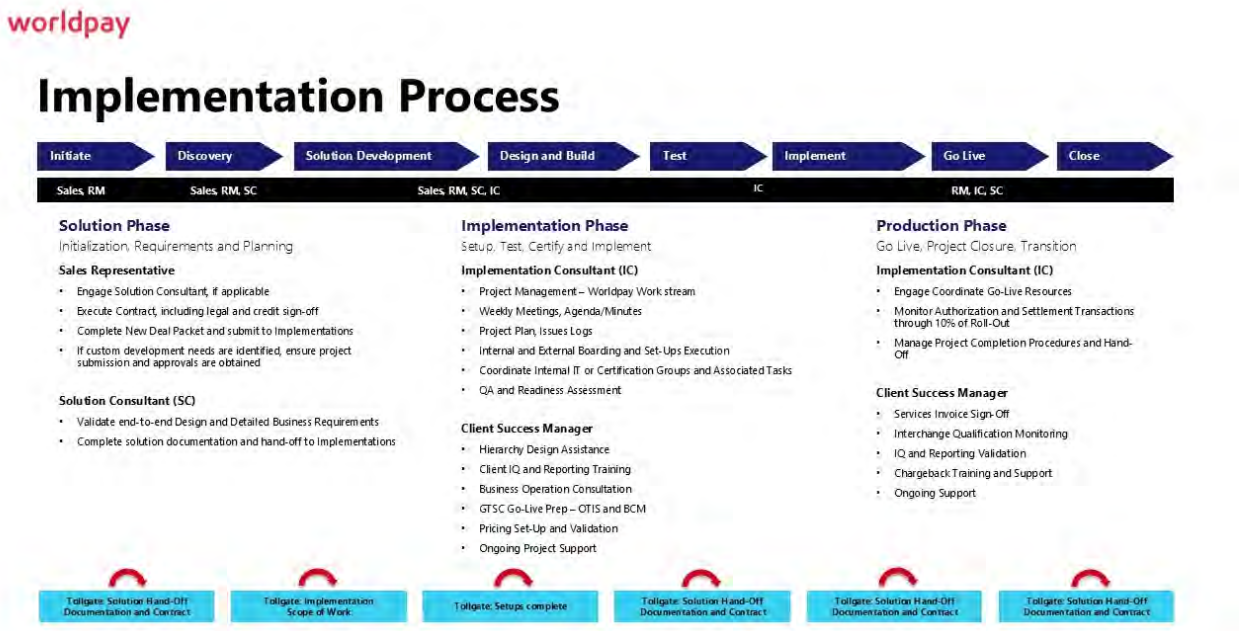
Your Implementation Consultant will ensure that the status of the installation, training, testing, and certification items is discussed and addressed for outstanding issues or anticipated issues to be directed to the appropriate City of Fernandina Beach representatives.

©2026 Worldpay, LLC and/or its subsidiaries. All Rights Reserved.

Implementation is broken up into three segments: solution, implementation, and production phases. Below is an overview of each segment:

Solution Phase

During this phase, the Solutions Team works with the City of Fernandina Beach to plan a solution based on your requirements. After the agreed-upon contracts and documents are signed, Worldpay holds a kick-off call with the City of Fernandina Beach. The Sales Representative introduces your RM and Implementation Team. The Solutions Team instructs the Implementation Team on the needed requirements and recommended solutions; Worldpay builds out a customized timeline and schedule for both parties to follow.



Implementation Phase

The Implementation Team assigns a designated Implementation Consultant during conversion. Worldpay engages product managers as needed and completes the Statement of Work (SOW). Any third party that is involved is engaged to coordinate implementation and activity at this time.

Training and documentation are provided.

Production Phase

In the last stage, the Implementation Consultant and RM work with the City of Fernandina Beach to validate production. Worldpay continues to monitor all activity and validate billing. After all implementation is completed, the Implementation Team transitions the activity over to your RM.

Customer Support

At Worldpay, we are committed to delivering exceptional customer service to our clients around the clock. Our dedicated support team is available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, 365 days a year through a direct support line, ensuring you receive timely assistance whenever you need it. Should your inquiry require urgent attention, our escalation process ensures that your issue is promptly prioritized and addressed by the appropriate specialists. With Worldpay, you can count on reliable, responsive support at every step.

Reporting

iQ

iQ is the latest generation of our customer self-service platform. It is a one-stop portal on which customers can view and act upon all their transactional information, so they can make smarter, more informed business decisions. iQ provides our clients with the tools to efficiently handle their payment processing, so they can spend their time serving their customers.

No other tool in the industry can match iQ's customizable features and functionality. iQ offers a unique, secure experience far beyond what our competitors can provide.

iQ is a robust, easy-to-use, web-based reporting tool designed with you in mind:

- Alerts: Alert users regarding chargebacks, statements, reports, and more.
- Flexible User Management: Effectively control administrative functions such as user setup and profile settings.
- Payment Processing Summary: View snapshots of your payment processing activity and history (up to 36 months of data), as well as provide a way to dive deeper into specific areas of your business.
- Reporting and Search Tool: View key historical reports containing valuable information related to reconciliation, chargebacks, interchange management, fees, fraud, and more! Search by card numbers (full and partial), tokens, date range, or dollar amount to get important details on each transaction, including EMV data - export data to a CSV file or Excel spreadsheet.
- Online Support: Provides online self-service support, including interactive resources, informative industry content, and 'how-to' product content.
- Dispute Processing: Merchants who use iQ can now manage the dispute process through iQ. The process is now paperless, offering a more seamless experience for our merchants.

©2026 Worldpay, LLC and/or its subsidiaries. All Rights Reserved.

They can view and work on draft retrievals and chargebacks using a scanner or by importing the appropriate documentation.

Proactive Notifications that Put You in Control

iQ helps better monitor your business with various types of alerts regarding chargebacks, statements, reports, security question changes, and more. Actionable insights are available at the click of a button, allowing you to gather intelligence that can help you run your business more efficiently.

Analytics and Reporting will Help Drive Business Efficiencies

With iQ, you can view snapshots of your payment processing activity/history (up to 36 months of data) and pull key historical reports containing valuable information related to interchange management, fees, possible fraud, exception handling, etc. Dashboard snapshots provide quick insight into how your business is currently performing and allow you to utilize resources more efficiently.

Our suite of reports can be categorized as follows:

- Financial: Reconciliation, Settlement, Activity, Fees, Reserve, Trending, eCheck (Verifications, Pending Redeposits), and Recurring
- Chargebacks: Chargeback Search, Chargeback Summary, Chargeback Financial, eCheck (NACHA Unauthorized Returns, Returns Summary, Returns Received)
- Operations: Transaction Search, Transaction Summary, Sessions, Virtual Terminal, BIN Lookup, Authorization, Presenter Credentials
- Worldpay Recovery: Account Updater (Repaired Auths, AU Fees, AU Match), Recovery/Recycling Snapshot, Recovery/Recycling Cohort
- Fraud: Snapshot, Post-Deposit Impact, A-B Impact
- Worldpay Insights: Insights Dashboard, FlexMatch

Some of the primary features of our interface are:

- Customizable Date Range
- Unlimited MID Hierarchy structure
- Multiple sub-division fields to track by campaign/geographic region
- One-click download to CSV file/Excel spreadsheet, with subscription options
- Fully paperless chargeback management environment

Statement of Understanding

Worldpay, LLC ("Worldpay", "we", "us") welcomes the opportunity to respond to this Request for Proposal (RFP) / Request for Information (RFI). Worldpay's responses to the Client RFP have been prepared in accordance with Worldpay's understanding of the requirements of the City of Fernandina Beach ("Client" or "you") based on the information provided in the Client RFP. Worldpay's responses to questions posed by the Client in the Client RFP are provided for informational purposes only and do not constitute or give rise to contractual commitments on behalf of Worldpay.

In response to your invitation, we are pleased to submit this proposal for your consideration.

The information contained in or supplied with this proposal is submitted solely for the purpose of evaluating the products and/or services of Worldpay, LLC, and/or its affiliates and subsidiaries (collectively "Worldpay"™). The information contained in or supplied with this proposal, in its entirety, is the confidential and proprietary information of Worldpay, and it may not be copied by or disclosed to any person or entity (other than to the intended recipient), without the prior written consent of Worldpay. With or without Worldpay's prior written consent, Worldpay accepts no liability whatsoever for any consequences arising from the reproduction of the information contained in or supplied with this proposal, or from its disclosure to any person or entity, including to the intended recipient. Worldpay additionally accepts no liability for the use of the information contained in, or supplied with this proposal, by the intended recipient, or by any other person or entity, with or without Worldpay's express prior consent. The intended recipient shall not use any part of the information contained in, or supplied with this proposal, in any way to the competitive disadvantage of Worldpay, and will take all steps necessary to comply with this provision.

This proposal is neither an offer nor intended by Worldpay, upon acceptance by the intended recipient, or otherwise, to create a binding agreement with Worldpay. Such an agreement shall be reflected only by a legally binding contract executed by both parties.

All information contained in this proposal represents Worldpay's best estimates. However, since the actual results in your particular operations may vary from those indicated in the proposal due to variations in software, programs, volume, environment, personnel, and other factors, the final determination that the proposed products and services meet your technical requirements must be yours.

Worldpay has endeavored to provide thorough and helpful responses to questions posed by Client. The contractual terms and conditions under which Worldpay would do business with Client are those expressly set forth in the current Worldpay agreement applicable to the Worldpay products and/or services included in this proposal ("Worldpay Agreement"). If not included in this proposal, a copy of the Worldpay Agreement is available on request.

Worldpay's proposal, including pricing, is based on the Worldpay Agreement, the information provided by you, and the assumptions set forth in our proposal, and any changes to such information or assumptions may, if material, require modification.

The Worldpay Agreement has been drafted with the relevant Worldpay products in mind and is designed to offer a fair balance of risk and responsibilities between the parties, based on Worldpay's long history of successfully contracting with a wide variety of public and private institutions throughout the world. Using the Worldpay Agreement permits us to keep our operational requirements as standardized as possible, including any interoperability concerns for multi-product offerings, considering that we need to provide a similar service to many clients. It is operationally difficult for a provider to accommodate bespoke requirements, especially when our proposal and pricing are, at least in part, based on the economies of scale we can offer. Furthermore, the Worldpay Agreement is designed to work with the majority of Worldpay's products, whether hosted and/or locally installed, as well as any consultancy services, meaning that a Client on the Worldpay Agreement can easily add new products and services without having to renegotiate the underlying terms and conditions.

If Client has included legal terms and conditions in the Client RFP document, Worldpay rejects any express or implied acceptance of such terms and conditions. Upon successful award, Worldpay agrees to negotiate in good faith for the inclusion of additional, mutually acceptable terms and conditions into the Worldpay Agreement.

Further, if Client is an existing client of the Worldpay group, Worldpay will work with Client to determine whether existing terms and conditions in place between the parties can be leveraged for this new opportunity.

Worldpay has every confidence that in the instant case, we will be able to address all terms and conditions to the satisfaction of both parties.

Our proposal is effective and valid for one hundred twenty (120) days from the proposal date hereof.

Please note that references by Worldpay to enhancements, improvements, new releases, or other functional and/or technical items that are not available in general release as of the date of this proposal ("Future Functionality") do not represent commitments on the part of Worldpay that it will develop or deliver any such items. Accordingly, Worldpay does not include in its agreements
